Nothing of Special Interest in the Wheat Market.

Trade Slow and Prices Without Strength—Trade in Barley of Dragging Character.

SAN FRANCISCO, January 28th. There is nothing of special interest in the wheat situation.

Trade in Barley is of dragging character, the spot demand being light, while speculative operations are of small proportions.

Business in Vegetables and Fresh Fruits is light. Apples are weak. Eggs are lower.

THE USEFUL BAMBOO. The Chinese Utilize it in a Variety of Ways. Just go and look at your long, slender bamboo fishing pole and try to fancy what a house would look like built of that sort of thing.

For a bottle he takes a slender pipe and treats it in the same way. In the confusion of building he mislays his knife he just takes a good sharp edge of bamboo, and does just as well for every thing as a slender hand saw.

You have felt the irresistible craving which grips you down, while all your better nature is crying out against it? "That's what."

"You have realized that your habit was hurrying you to the grave at breakneck speed, and yet you have felt that you could not resist it?" "Yes, sir."

"It has robbed you of sleep and robbed you of food, made you bear-eyed, nervous, and physically exhausted?" "Many and many a night, sir, I have gone without sleep just from thinking of it, and it has got to be a common practice to go to bed with spells without eating when the pressure comes."

"You have starved your family and let your children go in rags because of it?" "Well, hardly that. My besetting habit has taken care of my family in pretty good shape."

"You don't mean that you are a dealer?" "The Son of Toil looked puzzled, but he answered, 'No.'"

"Ah, I see you have not yet reached the lowest stage of degradation and you think to escape it. But let me warn you, my friend, you will not, unless you overcome your habit. Resolve to conquer it. You can if you try."

"Well, I don't know. I sometimes think it would be pretty dull living if I should break it off."

"No, no, no! You would be a free man. You would feel such joy as you never before had felt in your life. Your wife would fall on your neck with tears of thankfulness. Come, my friend, the demon has not yet an unbreakable clutch upon you. Sign the pledge never to drink."

"Drink! Why, I never drank a drop in my life. What are you giving us?" "But I thought you said you knew the power of habit; that you had felt the craving which you could not resist; that you had spent nights without sleep and dragged down to an early grave."

"I have, but I ain't the drink habit. What's done all that to me, preacher, is the consarned habit I've had ever since I was a boy of working."—Buffalo Express.

"Were you a bull or a bear?" asked an acquaintance of a speculator. "Neither," he replied; "I was an ass."

THAT "SUDDEN ATTACK." An Error Made Every Day by Highly Respectable Ladies and Gentlemen. A man finds that, when he has bent over to his shoe, it takes him a long time to straighten himself again.

A fair question. Here is the answer: Yes, a great many ailments are preventable if people will use a little forethought. When you are dull, "out of sorts," and find an exertion hard, when, somehow, your food doesn't taste right, and your head is heavy, then is the time to save yourself a fit of sickness.

Take a stimulant, but be careful that you get the right kind. There are many so-called, but the only purely valuable one is Duffy's Pure Malt Whisky. Any druggist or grocer will supply it.

They have learned that in stimulating the depressed functions to their natural activity, Duffy's Pure Malt Whisky throws off disease as soon as the first symptom appears. Its purity has been shown by the most severe tests, and it is as safe as the air we breathe.

Good for convalescents, and all who are exhausted by overwork and hardship.

I can tell you all they make of bamboo. Mats and cordage, kites, fences, bridges, fans, pipes for carrying water over the rice fields, the finest of paper and, in fact, nearly everything they use.

The strongest of all uses is to look part in the Columbian Exposition last year. In the space allotted for their village was one of our ordinary iron water taps. It never occurred to the English shrew, notably Middlesex and Oxfordshire, still call them "taps," dropping the "en." In the time of Mary they were called "peasans," and in the time of Charles I. "pease."

Professor L. H. Bailey is author of the statement that peas have been in cultivation in Europe for more than 2,000 years.

COUGHS AND HOARSENESS.—The irritation that induces coughing is immediately relieved by using Brown's Bronchial Trochets. A simple and safe remedy.

Scientists predict that in a century there will be no disease not curable.

VICTIM OF HABIT. A Temperance Lecturer Miscalculates a Son of Toil. "Habit, habit, habit, how it binds a man with chains of iron!" exclaimed the Temperance Lecturer out of a job, dramatically.

"And that's right, too," commented the Son of Toil. "Ah, my friend, you seem to have had some experience with habits," said the Lecturer.

"You bet I have," replied the other. "That's what causes all the misery of my life."

The Lecturer glowed with pleasure. Here right before him was a hortile example and he proceeded to draw the man out.

"You have felt the irresistible craving which grips you down, while all your better nature is crying out against it?" "That's what."

"You have realized that your habit was hurrying you to the grave at breakneck speed, and yet you have felt that you could not resist it?" "Yes, sir."

"It has robbed you of sleep and robbed you of food, made you bear-eyed, nervous, and physically exhausted?" "Many and many a night, sir, I have gone without sleep just from thinking of it, and it has got to be a common practice to go to bed with spells without eating when the pressure comes."
