

NOT AS SMART AS LITTLE AH SIN.

A Chinaman Sets a Trap and Puts His Foot Into It.

Ah Keung's Contempt for the American Man's Oath—Continuation of the Willey Case.

Ah Keung, a Chinaman who was arrested for selling lottery tickets in a room in the rear of 804 K street, occupied by W. H. H. Willey as a cigar store, is in danger of being sent to State Prison for perjury.

He pleaded guilty in the Police Court on Saturday to having sold lottery tickets, and his sentence was postponed until this morning.

After the case was disposed of that of Willey, for keeping a place where lottery tickets were sold, was taken up. The Chinaman just convicted was the first witness for the prosecution. He denied having sold a lottery ticket to anybody, notwithstanding the fact that he had pleaded guilty. Even if he had not done so he would have been convicted as he was caught in the act by Officer Bagley and another person.

Justice Davis was amazed at the Chinaman's audacity, and as soon as the latter concluded his testimony he was ordered into custody for false swearing.

H. L. Buckley, Willey's attorney, asked that the latter case be dismissed on the ground that the complaint was defective. It alleged that the offense was committed in 1893, and Buckley insisted that prosecution was barred by the statute of limitations.

City Attorney Brown, who had made the mistake in drawing up the complaint, said the date was not important. He said that although the date was wrong in the body of the complaint, the correct date, April 25, 1895, was plainly written on the face of it.

The case was taken under advisement until this morning.

ELECTRICIAN WATKINS' OPINION. His Idea About the Felts Primary Battery—A Wonderful Discovery.

Further inquiry into the merits of the Felts primary battery brought on a conversation with City Electrician R. Watkins, who has charge of the Sacramento fire alarm system, for which he uses a very large battery. His ideas about the Felts battery, which is awakening much attention and creating widespread interest because the whole electrical world is searching for a more economical primary battery possible, are of interest.

Mr. Watkins said, in response to inquiry as to his examination of Professor Felts' batteries, that they are the best, as they are the only real constant batteries in the world. Up to the time of Felts' discovery there was no such thing as a constant battery. We have it, on the authority and in the language of the Scientific American, that there is no such thing as a constant battery; they all require a great deal of care and attention. "I have investigated Professor Felts' discovery in all its details, and find it what it is represented to be in the statements thus far published in the RECORD-UNION.

"There are two types of the Felts batteries—one for lighting, electro-plating, medical purposes and all other uses where amperage or quantity of current is required; the other battery is perfectly adapted to telegraphic and telephonic work.

"The initial cost of these batteries is less than any single and two-fluid batteries in use, while the running cost is but a small per cent. of the cost of other batteries to keep other batteries in good running order.

"While I did not witness the test of the constancy and duration of current from the Felts batteries as by Mr. Fogelsang, an account of which was published in the RECORD-UNION, where they were connected up to galvanometers.

"As to the waste of zinc for the continuous run for five days and nights, the published statement of the druggist, C. J. Peters, who weighed the zinc before and after using, may be relied upon as correct.

"As a whole, I regard the discovery as one of the greatest of this century. Professor Felts has undoubtedly discovered a perfect excitant and depolarizer combined.

"The value of the discovery can hardly be estimated, in view of the fact that the Felts battery will ultimately supplant all other kinds in use, which is saying nothing about the profits to be realized by lighting. This battery alone may be made to yield millions of dollars in dividends. In the hands of large capital, the discovery as a whole can be made one of the most profitable investments known to the commercial world."

HE WAS HEALED.

Jack Williams Prepared for Throat-Cutting, Et Cetera. Officer Goods on Saturday night arrested a man named Jack Williams for being drunk. Williams was found lying on the sidewalk on K street, between Third and Fourth, and when he was taken to the police station two murderous-looking weapons were found on him that proved his standing as a desperado.

One of the weapons was an exceedingly sharp razor, with a rough wooden handle, which dangled by a string around his neck and could be brought into instant use. The other was a knife with a blade over three inches long, set with a spring in the handle.

On the night of the 2d inst. Williams and a man named Daniel Walters were arrested by Officer Douglas, who saw them acting suspiciously at one of the windows in the jail. It was evident they were there for some evil purpose, but as there was no law to fit their case they were discharged after having been locked up for a few days.

DEPARTMENT THREE.

A Case Set for Trial by the Third Superior Judge to-be.

Superior Judge J. E. Frewett of Auburn, Placer County, presiding in Judge Catlin's court on Saturday, overruled the demurrer to the complaint in the case of Almira J. Reichert and Sarah L. Waxmuth against John C. Scroggs, Alexander Scroggs, Jr., and Mary T. Scroggs, children and daughter-in-law of the late Alexander Scroggs—an action for the cancellation and annulment of deeds of the property of the latter executed by him to the defendants. The motion to strike out parts of the amended complaint was granted in reference to certain portions of it and denied in reference to others.

The plaintiffs claimed that their brothers and sister-in-law, Mary T. Scroggs, were trying to divert them of all right, title and interest in the property of their father's estate, which is valued at about $75,000, and which was contained in the deeds executed to the defendants.

The plaintiffs also alleged that the deeds by Alexander Scroggs were obtained by reason of his feebleness and by the undue influence of the defendants, that they would be friendly to them and refuse to care for him if he did not convey his property to them.

Judge Frewett, in setting the case for trial, had in mind the law creating another Judge for this county and made an order that the case be tried on the 4th of next June in Department Three.

The Judge said he presumed that if another courtroom is not fitted up by that time the third Judge can hold court in the Supervisors' room.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Smith-Lieb Dramatic Company begins a four weeks' engagement at the Clunie Opera-house this evening. Its leaders are Carl Smith and Beatrice Lieb, accomplished artists, who will be supported by their own company claimed to be capable throughout. The first piece to be produced is the romantic play, "Hermione," from the French romance, "La Princesse." Its scenes are along the border in the time of the Franco-German war, and the play is semi-military in character. The French occupy the border village, Black Eagle, Sergeant Durand, his wife Hermine, and the leader of the Fifty-second Regiment, are interested with their child Victor, aged 5, at the village inn. Suddenly the Germans surprise the French and drive them out, the Sergeant being taken prisoner. His friend Pablo rescues the child, but Hermine is separated from the party by the machinations of Philippe Le Barra, is accused of their own imprisonment. Fifteen years elapse; the Sergeant has risen to be General, but has lost his eyesight by accident in an engagement, and is living in his Parisian villa. Believing his wife deserted, he has married Germaine, a Countess, and his son has grown up without recollection of his mother. Hermine, escaping from prison, returns to Paris and hunts up her husband and son, but is unable to bring her eyesight back upon them a position unrecognized as lady's maid in the household, and thus is near to death and watches over her sick loves, to protect them from the schemes of the Countess and of Le Barra, when whom there exists an infamous intrigue. Hermine finally, from her point of vantage in the family, manages to bring the two schemers to justice and effect a happy reunion with husband and son.

At the Congregational Church Wednesday evening the popular symphony soloist group of Scheel's famous orchestra of San Francisco will give a concert that promises to be a rich treat. The company includes Bernard Mollema, violin virtuoso; Franz Hill, the Baegel horn player; Louis von der Meiden, Jr., the solo cellist; from the Leipzig Conservatory; James Hamilton Howe, Mrs. Bach, a distinguished organist; Mable Love, prima donna soprano, with Mrs. L. G. Sinner, pianist. Governor and Mrs. Budd, who have taken a great interest in the progress of Miss Love, will attend the concert with a party. Concerning von der Meiden, a San Francisco critic says the master Kuegel, of Leipzig, has had no more distinguished pupil, and adds: "He is an artist whose rare natural talents, combined with his artistic acquirements, make him a great acquisition for California musical circles." Kuegel, the master, himself, is a man of great intellect and high cultivation. The San Francisco press has received her performances with favor only rarely accorded to singers. Mr. Howe, the organist, it may be said that he is a Massachusetts man, a graduate of the New England Conservatory and has the degree of Bachelor of Music. He became instructor and choir leader in the Conservatory, and subsequently went to Europe and observed the systems of several schools. He is a prolific composer and the author of several textbooks, and is known as a lecturer on music also. He is now and for some years has been Chief Instructor of Music in De Pauw University, Indiana, his department having 300 students. Seats for the concert can be reserved at E. C. Eilers & Co.'s music store without extra charge.

REALIZES THE DANGER.

Another Sacramento Paper Speaks for Its Home. (From the Sunday News.) Our morning contemporary is doing good work in battling against the perilous resumption of hydraulic mining, and its facts and figures are incontrovertible. San Francisco is aiding and abetting the dangerous business for the trade that it may bring, but more injury can be done by one year of hydraulic mining than twenty years of such trade could compensate. We think that if the people of Sacramento, and even of the cities reliant upon the harbor of San Francisco, including the metropolis itself, were to realize the danger that the resumption of hydraulic mining portends, there would be such a popular uprising that the peril would speedily disappear.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A NEW MAN.

George S. Scully of 75 Nassau street, New York, says: "For years I have been troubled with rheumatism and dyspepsia and I came to the conclusion to try your pills. I immediately found great relief from their use. I feel like a new man since I commenced taking them, and would not now be without them. The drowsy, sleepy feeling I used to have has entirely disappeared. The dyspepsia has left me and my rheumatism is gone entirely. I am satisfied if anyone so afflicted will give Radway's Pills a trial they will surely cure them, for I believe it all comes from the system being out of order—the liver not doing its work." "July 26, 1893."
