THE WOMEN'S CONGRESS ON THE HOME.

The ladies who are holding a congress in the city of San Francisco, apparently conscious that the strongest indictment brought against the new woman is that she is less domestic than her grandmother, evidently concluded to hedge by giving the home its earliest consideration.

The climate of maternal affection has uniformly been denounced by barren women as unsuited to the rearing of children. The cold, loveless deductions, applicable only to the frigid atmosphere of the orphan asylum or the county infirmary, are the sentiments which meet with applause in women's congresses.

An essay proceeding from an old maid school teacher, or an old bachelor educator, on the subject of "The Home in Education," may be plausible, and from its purely intellectual standpoint its fallacy may be unanswerable.

There are elements of human character which lie dormant until they are brought into being by the consciousness of parentage. No old maid is a perfect woman, since maternity alone can perfect the female character.

As the sun rises in the east, so the life of the childless woman has no capacity for entrance. She has no ticket of admission. It is a climate of which she can have no personal experience, and it is, in short, an element of life comprehended by experience alone.

The divine wisdom of the mother which comes to her with the full rounded maturity of nature, due alone to maternity, makes foolish all the assumed wisdom of the childless woman.

The congress wrestled valiantly with the sacred subject of the home, but unfortunately it committed the most important considerations relating to this great subject to the hands of old maids and home-wreckers. Against the discussion of social, political or economic subjects we enter no protests.

One of the features of the big picnic at Marysville to-day will be a trap-shooting tournament in which many of the most expert shots in the State are expected to compete.

The following counties have settled the second installment of the taxes of 1894 with the State: Siskiyou, $10,065 13; Tillamook, $23,969 97; Trinity, $3,340; Riverside, $22,081 66; Ventura, $10,065 98.

prominent part in the discussion of the home; how to make one; how to control and direct its influence upon the social and political life of the nation; or how to make it simply auxiliary to the work of the schoolteacher.

Meanwhile it is comforting to reflect that children will be born of husbands and wives who will welcome them to homes of indulgence and love; homes where rules of government applicable to orphan asylums or hateful almshouses are unknown.

THE SPIRIT OF THE LAW.

The United States Debris Commission, in its report for 1894, says: The commission is feeling its way by the light of experience to a course of action which shall give the greatest freedom to mining that may be consistent with a due regard to other great interests entrusted to its charge.

The commission has an intelligent and conscientious appreciation of their duties. There can be no doubt of this. But we submit whether the expression, above quoted, embodies accurately the spirit of the law under which they are acting. Their final course of action will surely be expedient, if, as they propose, they find their way by the light of experience—experience which compelled the prohibition of hydraulic mining within the last ten years and which abounds with evidence that the rehabilitation of hydraulic mining (except as a nuisance and a menace) is impracticable under the present regime.

We are not disposed to quibble about words, but if experience of the damage attendant on hydraulic mining has taught us anything, we should say that the commission ought not to regard "the greatest freedom," but rather the greatest restraint upon mining of this kind, that is consistent, as their criterion. There is nothing in the law, whether it be looked for in the decisions of the courts or in the statute, that offers encouragement to freedom in hydraulic mining; in spirit and letter it enjoins restraint. Without the barrier of severe legal restriction every act of hydraulic mining is a trespass. The law is framed so as to make it permissible only when circumscribed and guaranteed to be harmless, requiring it to be watched in all its processes, so that it may do no immediate injury or lay up damage for the future.

COREA asked permission to have incorporated in the Japanese-China peace treaty an allowance of coin from China to Corea, to compensate the latter for damage done by war on her soil; a war provoked by China and in which Corea was but a shuttlecock.

There will be a baseball game to-day at Oak Park, beginning at 3 o'clock sharp, between the Fraternity and Non-Fraternity of the Sacramento High School.

NOTE AND COMMENT.

Come this way Knickerbockers. Over there in the Geneva Valley on the 21st day of sunny, flowery May, down went the mercury in your thermometers below the freezing point and all your fruits perished.

In view of the facts of the terrific explosion at the California Powder Company's works on Tuesday, it may be suggested that there is a wide-open chance for an inventor to devise means to make powder, and yet render blowing up of the works impossible.

The New York man who was fined for failure of his attempt to commit suicide must regard the law of that State with contempt. If imprisonment at hard labor had been the penalty he might think life worth living in obedience to the law.

More Counties Settle. The following counties have settled the second installment of the taxes of 1894 with the State: Siskiyou, $10,065 13; Tillamook, $23,969 97; Trinity, $3,340; Riverside, $22,081 66; Ventura, $10,065 98.

Fruitvale Ranch Sale. This morning, at 10:30 o'clock, D. J. Simmons & Co. will sell at auction the Fruitvale ranch, one mile and a half south of Oak Park, to close the Carroll estate.

EVERYBODY'S COLUMN.

Correspondence of Interest to the General Public. Under this heading the Record-Union will publish short letters from correspondents on topics of interest to the general public.

"Celestial Phenomenon." Eds. RECORD-UNION: I hope it may please you to record in your columns some observations respecting the beautiful and sublime spectacle that appeared in the heavens to-day about 12:45 o'clock.

The attention of the observer was first attracted to a cluster of stars near the ecliptic, and he perceived that it was a part of our solar system. It is no strange sight to see a circle around the sun. But not within the memory of those now living was there been one of such brilliancy as that which lasted more than twenty minutes to-day.

This circle, with a diameter spanning about one-eighth of the heavens, presented all the colors of the rainbow, with but a faint blending of tints and all painted on azure ground of unsurpassed beauty.

The sky was clear, except here and there where a semi-transparent cloud floated leisurely along at a marvelous altitude. One might imagine that some Appelles, after practicing 2,000 years in his celestial retreat, had limned upon the canopy of the upper deep the crystals of a fertile imagination furnished with the gods' inspirations as a survey of the heavens alone can give.

A circle even when shorn of all ornamental dress is still a line of beauty. But the circle displayed in the heavens to-day was by no means the burden of the phenomenon. The area inscribed was very unlike the rest of the heavens in color and appearance. It was a fine blending of purple, crimson and gold, and was much darker than the surrounding azure field.

The circle was partially dual. Far down the slope of the southern sky were seen fragments or arcs of similar color floating in the ether. The gorgeous king of day paled before the unaccountable spectacle. He appeared to have loaned his splendor for the production of something new and attractive.

The laws of nature, philosophy, as we understand them, leave this unexplained display of unsurpassed beauty unexplained. The impression made on all who beheld this wonder of nature will not soon depart. T. J. SCHONOVER. Sacramento, May 22, 1895.

THE ONWARD MARCH

of Consumption is stopped short by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. If you haven't waited long enough for a cure, try this, it's complete recovery and cure.

Although by many believed to be incurable, there is the evidence of hundreds of living witnesses to the fact that, in all its earlier stages, consumption is a curable disease. Not every case, but a large percentage of cases, and we believe, fully 98 per cent, are cured strongly predicted and advised against a trial of "Golden Medical Discovery," but who have been forced to confess that it surpasses in curative power over this fatal malady, all other medicines with which they are acquainted.

Do you doubt that hundreds of golden cases reported to us as cured by "Golden Medical Discovery" were genuine cases of that dread and fatal disease? You need not take our word for it. They have, in nearly every instance, been so pronounced by the best and most experienced home physicians, who have no interest whatever in misrepresenting them, and who were often strongly prejudiced and advised against a trial of "Golden Medical Discovery," but who have been forced to confess that it surpasses in curative power over this fatal malady, all other medicines with which they are acquainted.

Not every case, but a large percentage of cases, and we believe, fully 98 per cent, are cured strongly predicted and advised against a trial of "Golden Medical Discovery," but who have been forced to confess that it surpasses in curative power over this fatal malady, all other medicines with which they are acquainted.

The photographs of a large number of those cured of consumption, bronchitis, chronic coughs, croup, whooping cough, catarrh and kindred maladies, have been skillfully reproduced in a book of 160 pages which will be mailed to you, on receipt of address and six cents in stamps.

TWO OPINIONS.

Higgins Gets His Salary, But McLaughlin Does Not. Attorney-General Fitzgerald has furnished a written opinion to the State Controller in the case of M. R. Higgins, Insurance Commissioner.

When H. C. Gesford was appointed Insurance Commissioner by Governor Brand and confirmed by the Senate, he brought suit to oust Higgins, who declined to resign. The Controller was in doubt as to who was entitled to draw the salary for the office, and declined to pay Higgins his salary. The Attorney-General is of the opinion that under Section 35 of the Political Code, which provides that the one who holds the position and fulfills its duties is entitled to the pay. Mr. Higgins should be paid his salary pending the litigation in the Superior Court of San Francisco.

The Attorney-General has also given an opinion upon the case of James McLaughlin, who was elected to Congress last fall, his term commencing on March 4th last. He was Treasurer of the Whittier State School, and the Controller refused to draw warrants for his salary as such on the ground that he is holding a lucrative office under the United States Government, and therefore is prohibited from filling the position of Treasurer during his Congressional term. The Attorney-General sustains this view of the case, and McLaughlin will not draw the salary.

CHARGED WITH PERJURY.

Thomas Murphy's Alleged Part in the Potato Transaction.

The case of Thomas Murphy, accused of perjury, was continued in the Police Court yesterday until Friday morning.

The complaint against Murphy was sworn to by James Hagerty, who was arrested with John Cole by Justice of the Peace Charles J. Merkleby on the Riverside road Monday night for stealing potatoes.

Hagerty claims that Murphy went on the expedition with himself and Cole, and after they were detected, in order to draw suspicion off himself, Murphy had Hagerty and Cole arrested for stealing his horse. Hagerty and Cole say Murphy took his horse along to draw the potatoes away. Hence the charge of perjury against him.
