Bills Allowed for Bridges Across the Y-Street Canal.

Fourth of July Committee Ask for An Appropriation—Reclamation District Election—Etc.

At yesterday's session of the Board of Supervisors, City Trustee Devine addressed the board concerning the five bridges built across the Y-street canal, connecting the country and the city.

On motion of Todd, the bill was allowed.

Jenkins remarked that he voted under protest, as the canal should be filled up altogether.

FOURTH OF JULY. C. E. Adams of the Fourth of July Committee asked the board for an appropriation to help defray the expenses to be incurred in celebrating Independence Day.

Supervisor Todd wanted to know if the board could legally appropriate any money for such a purpose.

Chairman Morrison said Mr. Adams was a member of the Grand Jury which had inquired into the action of the board for making an appropriation for a similar purpose at Folsom.

Supervisor Dremann said he would like to see the committee assisted.

Supervisor Curtis said he would be willing to vote for an appropriation, even if he was indicted for it.

THAT STOLEN LAMB

Justice Henry Holds Mohns' Sentence in Abeyance.

The case of Fred Mohns, charged with stealing a lamb from a flock of sheep driven by Pete Irriberry, was tried in the Police Court yesterday.

Irriberry swore that as he was driving his flock, near Fifteenth and D streets, Mohns asked him to give him a lamb. He refused, and Mohns told him that he would lose one of them before he got to the destination.

A boy named Leon Richardson testified that he himself picked up the lamb and handed it to Mohns, who took it to the horse and rode off. The witness was driving the sheep, although the herder had not asked him to.

Mohns told the same story, and said the herder promised to give him a lamb if he would help drive the flock to Twelfth and F streets.

The defense introduced witnesses to prove the good character of Mohns. The City Attorney said there was no doubt from the testimony that all three of the boys were guilty of petit larceny.

The City Attorney said that there was no doubt as to the larceny. He knew that boys often picked up sheep in this way, as he had seen done.

The court said he was placed in an embarrassing position. It was in his power to send a few words that would blast Mohns' life, but he would hold the matter in abeyance, and he wished the boys to take warning by this affair and never engaged in anything wrong again.

Each Gets Something. Decision in the Van Loben Sels-Reclamation District Case.

Superior Judge Hinkson yesterday rendered a decision in the case of P. J. Van Loben Sels vs. C. Bunnell, the Germania Building and Loan Association, and Reclamation District No. 551, known as the Pearson District.

This was an action for a decree establishing a lien upon the land of defendant Bunnell for $84, alleged to have been created under the terms of an instrument executed between the plaintiff and defendant in December, 1891, and for the foreclosure of the lien and the sale of the land.

The decision is quite long, and reviews all the points in the case and authorities cited. It holds that the plaintiff's lien was not ambiguous, but that it was impossible, from its nature, for the parties to have fixed the amount of money which was intended to secure, or the time when the same would accrue.

CHICAGO'S MODEST FRUIT-DEALERS.

A Few of Them Want to Monopolize Our Products.

They Object to the New Open Auction System, But Will Have to Submit to It.

The Associated Fruit Buyers of Chicago are up in arms against the open-auction system adopted by the California Fruit-growers' and Shippers' Association.

They claim to represent ninety-eight per cent of the growers of California fruit, and "demand protection" against the other two per cent.

They have been informed by the President of the California Association that open auctions are the most satisfactory to those in this State who are interested in the fruit business, and that Chicago must do just as the buyers are doing and have done in New York and Boston.

These Chicago men have so long enjoyed a monopoly of the California fruit business, through the "closed" auction system, that they cannot submit with good grace to the new order of things.

But the California growers of fruit have suffered much by the old system, and are determined on having their interests guarded, hence their adoption of the open auction system.

The new order of things will be given a full and fair trial, and the Chicago kickers may just as well get down to business at once, and take their chances with others. What the growers of this State want is the broadest possible market for their fruit, and the more buyers there are, the better it is for them.

C. L. CRABTREE

Death in Oakland Yesterday of a Former Sacramento Resident.

The many friends in Sacramento of C. L. Crabtree, General Baggage Agent of the Southern Pacific Company, will be pained to learn that he died at his home in Oakland yesterday, after a lingering illness of five months, from inflammatory rheumatism, which he contracted while attending the Railroad Baggage-men's Convention in St. Louis.

For more than twenty years he had been in the employ of the Southern Pacific Company, being under the late Rev. C. C. Wheeler, and at Mr. Wheeler's death in 1891 he was promoted to the head of the department. He was held in high esteem by the railroad officials, and made friends everywhere by his genial, happy disposition. He was formerly a resident of this city and in the employ of W. R. Strong. Many will remember him as a man of musical ability.

He leaves a wife and a young son and daughter. The funeral services will be at the family residence in Oakland, Sunday, at 3 P. M., and the interment will be in the cemetery of the family plot in Wheatland, Placer County.

PURIFY Your Blood. Whenever pimples, boils or other eruptions appear, Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best blood purifier. Read this: "When our daughter Rose was about seven years old, a bunch of tumor formed on the side of her face, and grew to the size of an egg. In four years we consulted several eminent physicians, but all treatment failed. At last we decided to get her blood in good order before taking her to have an operation performed. We gave her Hood's Sarsaparilla, and after she had taken the medicine a short time the bunch began to grow smaller. We continued with Hood's Sarsaparilla and shortly after the tumor disappeared entirely. It is two years since she has had no more of the kind. She has not shown any sign of the return of her trouble." JOHN DRENNAN, Angus, Ia.
