THE PRESS LEAGUE RECOMMENDATIONS.

When the Sacramento Valley Press League was formed two or three months ago its Executive Committee was instructed with the duty of presenting its views to the public on means to be adopted to promote valley development.

In brief the committee pronounces first and foremost against land monopoly and in favor of the most earnest continuation of efforts to preserve and improve the navigation of the chief navigable stream and main drain way of the valley, the Sacramento River.

The committee wisely holds that as good roads are built not for the mere present but for all time, it is simple justice to distribute the cost among all the beneficiaries over a long period of time.

The committee urge the valley counties to make a common valley exhibit at the Atlanta Exposition. Its idea is that this will be more impressive, economic and greatly more result in benefits, than if each county makes an unrelated exhibit.

The committee heartily indorse the idea of annual conventions of the Supervisors of the counties. Upon this subject the RECORD-UNION has already freely and fully expressed itself.

The establishment of a Valley Immigration Headquarters is advised, and we add that Sacramento is the most central and by all odds the best point for such headquarters.

given rent free to home-seekers arriving in the State for the time intervening between arrival and permanent location. The idea is that we will secure and better and more desirable settler material, if we make it convenient for the home-seeker to suit himself and to bring his household at the same time, instead of trusting to agencies to secure for him land such as he desires.

The committee urges that the first concern of the Chamber of Commerce of this city, now in process of formation, should be the inauguration of a movement to beautify the grounds in the vicinity of the passenger depot. A small park in which growth that this soil and climate are capable of, in horticulture, floriculture and ornamental shrubbery, with lawns and fountains, and so located that passengers would be practically landed in it, is assuredly most desirable. But it is a matter fraught with difficulty in the accomplishment. Just how much ground could be secured under the new conditions supposed to develop with the completion of the new bridge; just what is the condition of the lot ownership in Sutter Lake; how far it would be possible to adapt that lake or a part of it to the scheme; what is intended regarding the filling of the lake or a portion of it—indeed just what room will be left about the depot or near to it on any side—these are matters upon which there must be definite information before any judgment can be formed except this, that such a park is a necessity, that it ought to be provided, and that it must be earlier or later, and the earlier the better.

The committee touches upon the question of improvement in legislative delegations. It points out that better legislation can be had only by sending better men to the Legislature, and therefore parties should nominate their best and brightest men. The committee should have added that sufficient care should distinguish the legislator to insure in some degree steadiness of good habits and maturity of judgment. The Legislature is no place for boys, no matter how "smart" and glib they may be. Legislation to be of any value must be the result of mature thought, experience and cool consideration. The experience of California's youth in her Legislatures has been very far from flattering to youth or creditable to the State, as a rule.

The recommendation of the committee that fruit shipments be made the means of distributing informing literature concerning the valley, that a valley expository pamphlet be issued, and that other recommendation that smelting works be established in Shasta County call for no comment. The first ideas are not new, but are just as good as if they were, and as to the latter the address to capital is backed by the best of reasons. As a whole, the committee report is one that will forcibly impress itself upon the public mind. It has the ring of earnestness and conviction. If now it is backed by persistence it will result in great good. It is of no use whatever to recommend except the subject is followed up until conviction results, and until that is supplemented by action and accomplishment.

The San Francisco Chronicle of yesterday prints a circumstantial account of an attempt to outfit a warlike expedition against the Government of Hawaii. The purpose of this San Francisco filibuster scheme is alleged to have been to overthrow the Republic of Hawaii and restore the Queen to the throne. Assuming the story to be true, and it bears all the earmarks of verity, then the duty of the United States Government is very plain. The Republic has been recognized by us, and we have but one duty in the premises when an assault upon it is planned from our shores and goes so far as to secure arms and men and arrange for their shipment. There is not, however, according to the Chronicle's account, anything in sight except one man, though he names ex-Attorney-General Ashford as one of his aids. He claims to be enlisting 200 men and to have behind him some one with money sufficient to carry out the scheme of shipping the arms and men—this is some one the filibuster declares is Rudolph Spreckels. No arms or men have, however, been found, according to the Chronicle story, and nothing appears against Mr. Spreckels except the filibuster's story. The Hawaiian Consul is quoted as saying that he has known that a conspiracy was on foot for some time of the character indicated, and that he has feared an effort to restore the monarchy. Assuming that all published is true, and that the agent Morrow, who now admits that he is a filibuster manager, is not a fraud, nothing should be left undone to discover beyond doubt who is behind the man, who is putting up the necessary money, and if the backers turn out to be American citizens, here will be a good opportunity to try the experiment of enforcing the neutrality laws. If the Chronicle's story is not verity, then it is the completest and most adroit fake of the age—if a point-blank fiction is worthy of that designation. But on its face it is assumed as straight fiction as truth could possibly justify.

Clearly the sensational press of San Francisco does not propose to permit a court and jury to try the question of Durran's guilt or innocence. On the contrary, these sensation mongers are trying the case in their own way, and thus as much as they can are impeding the course of justice.

NOTE AND COMMENT. Let there be no roaring about the "hot spell." Without hot weather this would not be the California of which we so justly boast.

California progresses. A Marysville man has started a wormery; cultivates fish-worm bait. Who says that our home interests are not advancing?

The following from the Escondido Times is correct, but it is true: "The true journalist or newspaper man may be defined as he who has the faculty to distinguish news from journalism."

Will the Trustees at this evening's session accord sufficient courtesy to public desire to order a strict investigation into the methods employed by the street sprinklers, particularly concerning the outrage by these men on Friday last? Try it, gentlemen, and let us see if it is absolutely impossible to compel a city employed man to his duty without either sleeping over or falling short of full measure of performance. The RECORD-UNION has circumstantially pointed out wherein the sprinklers slogged over in one section and fell in another on Friday. Now follow up the matter please, and deserve the thanks of a grateful constituency.

NEW TO-DAY. CARD OF THANKS.—WE DESIRE TO return thanks to Sacramento, No. 12, and the kind friends who lent their aid during the illness and at the burial of our late wife and mother. WM. DANIELS, 114 Mrs. SCOTT INGRAM.
