

REPUBLICAN CITY CONVENTION.

J. W. Wilson Captures the Nomination for Mayor.

Enthusiastic Reception of Candidates' Names—Warm Contest for Collector.

Turner Hall was crowded, both floor and gallery, last night, and there was scarcely standing room to be found in the back part of the hall.

Senator E. C. Hart was elected temporary Chairman by acclamation, and made brief and pertinent remarks.

Messrs. J. J. Cahill, B. H. Brown, C. F. Baker, C. A. Todd, J. W. Greenlaw, F. H. Duggan and Ed Nathan were nominated as Secretaries and elected.

A Committee on Credentials, one from each ward, was appointed by the Chair. The Chair announced the committees as follows:

Credentials—Thomas Harper, A. A. De Ligne, W. H. Govan, D. Falconer, J. C. Catlin, George F. Meister, J. H. Hatcher, J. A. Roblin, Theo Deming, J. A. Roblin was Chairman.

Platform and Resolutions—W. A. Anderson, C. T. Jones, A. L. Hart, F. R. Gray, Ed F. Taylor, J. B. Devine, F. L. Atkinson.

A recess of fifteen minutes was taken, in order to give the committees a chance to make their reports.

When the Committee on Credentials met, it was evident that the utmost harmony of opinion did not prevail on the subject of proxies and the recess was greatly exceeded before their report was made.

A QUESTION OF PROXIES. The question of the adoption of the report coming up, A. L. Hart said that the name of J. M. Milliken did not appear, and if the committee had refused to allow his proxy he should appeal.

Chairman Cahill said that Milliken represented Gilbert from the Eighth Ward, and that Gilbert held a proxy for a delegate in the Fourth Ward, and the committee had decided, under the circumstances, to allow one of the wards to go with one delegate short.

Gilbert was called on and said that he held a proxy for a Fourth Ward delegate and had given his proxy in his own ward to Milliken. General Hart made a fervid speech upon allowing Milliken to hold the proxy.

A delegate said that if the programme was carried out there was no need of primaries here.

F. D. Ryan was opposed to Hart's position, and C. L. White moved to amend the report of the committee by letting Gilbert vote his own vote and his proxy. The amendment passed with a whoop and the incident temper in a teapot subsided.

ORDER OF BUSINESS. The Committee on Permanent Organization and Order of Business reported as follows:

The Temporary Chairman be Permanent Chairman, Secretaries—B. H. Brown, Ed. Nathan, C. F. Baker, F. H. Duggan, J. J. Cahill, J. W. Greenlaw, C. H. Todd, Sergeant-at-Arms—Harry Tyler, B. Skipper, George Bronner, A. Gregory, J. Walsh, M. Featherstone, Charles Hill, Joseph Conroy, James Smith.

Order of Business—(1) Selection of Central Committee, one from each ward. (2) Nomination of Mayor. (3) Nomination of City Attorney. (4) Nomination of Auditor and Assessor. (5) Nomination of City Collector. (6) Nomination of City Treasurer. (7) Nomination of School Directors from the odd wards. (8) Nomination of Trustees from the even wards.

Resolved, That in this convention all votes shall be by roll-call, and that each member of the convention shall cast his own vote, except where properly represented by proxy.

A LIVELY BRUSH. A. L. Hart made a speech, saying that he wanted no grooved pole business in the convention. He was then attacked by a man, and there was no man who could say that he ever wore a collar round his neck.

All he asked was a fair show, and that the Republican party should be fairly represented. He wanted every man to vote for himself, and that there should be no voting by delegations, but that each individual should vote for himself. He moved to amend the report so that each vote should be by roll-call.

W. A. Anderson in the chair. E. C. Hart opposed the amendment. He, too, wore no collar, and was not afraid to vote openly. He repudiated the intimation that he was composed of dishonest delegates. He thought it came with a bad grace from General Hart to ask that the convention should do as he directed, when at the last municipal election he worked openly for the election of the nominee of the Democratic Convention.

There was a tremendous roar of applause as he finished. Clinton L. White moved that a collection be taken up to provide collars for the Hart family.

General Hart asked if he was to be denied the privilege of speaking in a Republican Convention. [Cheers and applause.] He had been attacked by his brother, and he proposed to fight back. He had never been a Democrat, but his brother had been. He asked that every man should be allowed to express his preference by his vote.

Senator Hart attempted to speak, but a great uproar arose and several insisted that there should be no more personalities. General Hart proceeded, saying that any man who was afraid to vote openly was a slave. Was there any reason that any man should be afraid to vote openly? He insisted on his resolution.

The question was put on the amendment and it was lost, and the report was adopted by a large majority. On motion of Lincoln White, all speeches were limited to five minutes, each delegate to speak only once to the same question.

THE PLATFORM. The Committee on Platform and Resolution made its report as follows: We believe in upholding the principles of the Republican party as announced in the National Republican platform. We know that the Republican party stands for everything the American in broadest and truest sense.

It is the representative of the American idea in liberty, protection, labor, money, and everything pertaining to good government, enterprise and progress, municipal, State and National. It stands for the American farm, American labor, American factory, American wages. It stands for religious liberty in its most comprehensive sense. We believe in the protection of property and of all forms of invested interests. We are opposed to corporation rule in either municipal, State or nation. We demand the enforcement of all laws and ordinances in their true, spirit and intent. We demand that the health and sanitary laws, ordinances and regulations shall be rigidly enforced. Good, smooth, permanent, economic highways being essentials in a well-ordered city for the health, comfort and business of the people, we pledge our candidates to favor and promote a progressive, broad and liberal policy regarding street improvements, and to push the same, but with due regard to the ability of the owners of property to pay therefor without distress.

We demand the immediate clearing of the streets of all obstructions and stones, cobble and rubbish, and deplore the fact that the present administration has been unable to effect reform in this respect until citizens formed an association and themselves entered upon the work, and made protest to the Mayor and Trustees.

We demand that some means be devised for the regular cleaning of the residence as well as the business streets, believing that the former should be cleaned at least once a week, in the dry season, and that during the wet season they should be kept reasonably clear of mud until permanent highways are substituted for the gravelled streets.

For the health, comfort and business of the people, and the good name of the Capital City, we demand that next season there be provided a new and improved system of street sprinkling, the scandals, complaints and inefficiency so prominent under the present administration may cease.

We pledge our candidates to an economical and judicious administration of our local affairs. The history and record of the Republican party, municipal, State and nation, shows that all needed reforms can be accomplished within the broad lines of that party; that the so-called divorcing of municipal affairs from partisan lines is a fallacy, and experience teaches us that in the vast majority of cases, when such sentiments have been tried, it has resulted in fostering demagogues, enlarging into power, and the enforcement of the narrowest of partisan and demagogic measures.

The report was adopted unanimously. On motion of a delegate, each delegate was assessed fifty cents, and a collection was taken up.

A. L. Hart said he was not satisfied with the announcement of the vote on his amendment and asked for a roll-call, but no action was taken.

CENTRAL COMMITTEE. The members of the Central Committee were announced as follows: First Ward, A. J. Thoads; Second, F. A. Jaroux; Third, W. H. Govan; Fourth, John Cavannu; Fifth, F. Kohrer; Sixth, John Boschke; Seventh, Ninth, A. L. Frost.

FOR MAYOR. Nominations for Mayor being called for, W. J. Webber nominated a man whom they all knew—William Beckman. Lincoln White said that thirty-four years ago a young man walked into the town with his blanket on his back, got a job and worked until he could purchase a hack, and started in business for himself. Honest, public-spirited and broad-minded, he had inaugurated many public measures here. He placed in nomination J. W. Wilson.

C. T. Jones said we were calling this the New Sacramento. He presented to them the name of a man whom it was not derogatory to either of the other gentlemen for him to say equal to either of them. He had grown up, married, and his children had been born here. He was honest, high-minded and capable. He asked him to nominate him, because he would be the candidate of neither the up-town nor the down-town party. He would be the candidate of the young men. He asked them to nominate him and send the city forward on the road to prosperity.

John Catlin seconded the nomination of J. W. Wilson, who had done so much for the progress of Sacramento.

A. L. Hart arose amid loud applause and said that William Beckman had been nominated by one of his friends. He had been told by Mr. Beckman that he would accept the nomination if the party saw fit to give it to him. He would repeat that he knew of no reason why any delegate should be afraid to cast his vote openly. We are Americans, and there is no man on earth who could stop from saying what we please or voting as we please. He was in favor of an independent Republican party. He would vote for any man who was nominated by this convention, but there was one man and only one man in this city who could beat Ben Steinman. They could nominate a racehorse, for no scrub could beat Steinman. If they nominated a racehorse, the man who could beat him, and he hoped the convention would nominate him.

Some one called time as Mr. Hart was speaking, and he refused to speak further, although urged.

C. N. Post said he did not understand that this was an equine contest, but a political one. He would second the nomination of Joseph E. Terry, who came here thirty-one years ago without even a blanket on his back and had grown up here. He was a successful business man, not a politician.

C. T. Jones moved that the candidates endorse the platform and pay $5, or have some one do it for them. Carried.

W. A. Anderson said he appeared for William Beckman, and would endorse the platform for him, although it was not necessary to say that Mr. Beckman endorsed a Republican platform. He was greeted with loud applause.

J. W. Wilson was called for and loudly applauded on his appearance. He said that all his interests were in this city and he had raised his family here. All that he had managed to accumulate during his residence had been invested here. When he was in the Board of Supervisors he was instrumental in getting the Y-street canal dug to relieve the city of its floods. If elected he would have it covered up and the stench removed. He secured the improvement of K street where others had failed. He had always used his money and energy to build up the city. If nominated, he promised to devote his time for the best interests of the city. If not, he would vote and work for the man who was nominated. He endorsed the platform.

Joseph Terry was called for and received an ovation. He spoke briefly, promising to do his best if nominated, saying that he was not a politician, and hoping he would receive the nomination.

On roll-call the First, Second, Third and Fifth Wards announced their votes and the others called for a roll-call. The result was as follows: First Ward—Wilson 17, Beckman 1, Terry 1. Second Ward—Wilson 12, Beckman 1, Terry 4. Third Ward—Wilson 7, Terry 7, Beckman 3. Fourth Ward—Wilson 2, Beckman 4, Terry 13. Fifth Ward—Wilson 13, Terry 1, Beckman 3. Sixth Ward—Wilson 12, Beckman 1, Terry 3. Seventh Ward—Wilson 11, Terry 6. Eighth Ward—Wilson 2, Beckman 4, Terry 13. Ninth Ward—Wilson 7, Beckman 4, Terry 6.

WILSON NOMINATED. The Chairman declared the vote to stand; Wilson 83, Terry 54 and Beckman 18, and stated that Wilson was nominated. A great wild enthusiasm was on motion of A. L. Hart the nomination was made unanimous.

CITY ATTORNEY. Nominations for City Attorney being next in order, E. C. Hart nominated J. Frank Brown, saying that he was the best man that could be nominated for the office and that his record in that position had been unsurpassed.

No other nominations were made and Mr. Brown being called for spoke briefly, saying that he had done his best, and if elected, should do in the future as in the past, treating all alike, without fear or favor, and doing his best for the interests of the city.

He was then nominated by acclamation. CITY AUDITOR. C. T. Jones, in a brief speech, nominated J. D. Young for Auditor. Mr. Jones appeared and thanked Mr. Jones for his nomination. He appreciated the favors done him by Sacramento and would always do his best to deserve them. He was nominated by acclamation.

CITY COLLECTOR. Nominations for Collector were called for, but no one responded until F. D. Ryan arose and said it ought not to go begging and he would nominate a young man who was born in this city and graduated at the High School and was a young man of ability. He nominated Charles Root.

F. M. Woodson nominated a young man who, he said, had occupied a position as deputy in a city office, and filled it well. He nominated Charles C. Robertson. Lincoln White seconded the nomination of Charles Root and Clinton L. White seconded the nomination of Robertson.

Robertson was nominated by a vote of 83 to Root's 76, and on motion of the latter the nomination was made unanimous. CITY TREASURER. For Treasurer John Funston nominated the present incumbent, James N. Porter, in a eulogistic speech, and he was called on to pay his $5 and make a speech, which he did and was nominated by acclamation.

SCHOOL DIRECTORS. For School Directors, W. H. Sherburn was nominated for the First Ward, J. H. Dunbar for the Third, C. W. Baker for the Fifth, M. J. Dillman for the Seventh and P. S. Driver for the Ninth.

On motion of W. A. Anderson, the Central Committee was authorized to fill any vacancies on the ticket, and a Finance Committee was appointed by the Chair. CITY TRUSTEES. William Benning was placed in nomination from the Second Ward, H. G. Meivin from the Fourth, W. M. Lowell from the Sixth and J. A. Roblin from the Eighth.

All the nominations were confirmed. The convention then adjourned. No nomination for Central Committee was made from the Eighth, and after W. A. Anderson adjourned the committee met and elected J. H. Hatcher Chairman and F. W. Rohrer Secretary.

WILL RUN INDEPENDENT. E. H. McKee, the present City Collector, announces that he will run as an independent candidate for that office.

INSPECTION OF THE RIVERS. Our Senators, Congressmen and Governor Budd to Examine Them. There was an informal meeting at the Palace Hotel on Monday of Senators and Congressmen to make arrangements for the contemplated tour of the waterways now in need of attention. There were present United States Senators George C. Perkins and Stephen M. White of Los Angeles and Congressman E. F. Loud, S. G. Hilborn, J. A. Barham and State Senator Gieves, Secretary of the River and Harbor Commission; also, C. N. Clark, Congressman of the First District of Missouri.

It is their purpose to inspect the bay and its tributaries, making a complete tour of the harbor waters, and to personally acquaint themselves with its present condition as a harbor, and also ascertain what manner of improvements will be necessary.

The party left at 4:30 o'clock yesterday and devoted their attention to the Oakland Creek and its training-walls, where the sediment carried by both in and outgoing currents has occasioned so much trouble in the past.

This evening they will leave for Redding, to inspect the resources of that section. Wednesday evening they will take the train for Red Bluff. Returning, they will go down the river from this city on the government snagboat. Governor Budd wrote his intention of joining them at Redding.

On their return from Sacramento they will thoroughly examine San Francisco Bay, the Alviso Slough, Napa Creek and the rocks dangerous to navigation in the open water. The rivers San Joaquin and Sacramento will be examined with regard to dredging from the channel, the debris which has accumulated in later years since the decline in steam navigation, making the rivers now wholly inadequate for commercial purposes.

WILD GESE. Their Migration Reported From the Two Extremes of the State. Weather Observer Barwick states that the weekly crop bulletin for the week ending last night reveals a singular coincidence in reference to wild geese flying south in great numbers.

They are reported by two parties, one at Susanville, Lassen County, and Picocho, San Diego County, along the Colorado River. Both parties report that in great numbers are going south, and the two stations are nearly 1,000 miles apart.

Not a stockholder. Superintendent Shock of the Sacramento Electric Power and Light Company says that the published statement that Mayor Steinman is the owner of stock in that company is entirely without foundation. He affirms that the Mayor has not a dollar's interest in the company.

Notaries Public. Governor Budd has appointed the following Notaries Public: James T. Kelleher, Eureka, Humboldt County; S. H. Roberts, Alameda; W. E. Greene, Lakeport, Lake County; Frederic B. Lord, Sacramento.

Operated Only on Saturdays and Sundays. Until further notice the toboggan railway at East Park will not be operated except on the above-named days. On Saturdays and Sundays, both afternoon and evening, it will be run as usual.
