against a nation powerful, having a fine navy and able to throw a vast army into the country, besides being possessed of the local government, and having the best forts and artificial defenses, and backed, likewise, by the aid and loyalty of a large portion of the native population.

THE retray of General Schofield yesterday from the command of the army of the United States, sends to the list of pensioners one of the very few remaining heroes of the war of the rebellion. That he goes into retray a poor man and dependent upon his half-pay, we scarcely know whether to treat as a virtue or a fault.

OF INTEREST TO OUR MANY PATRONS.

Sometime since we were notified by the Central Electric Railway Company, through their Superintendent, that owing to a contract previously entered into with another business house of the city, they would be unable to furnish us with "school passes," or checks, in future, thus depriving us of the privilege of supplying our customers and the school children with them, as we had up to then been doing.

Thinking we were unjustly discriminated against, we consulted with our attorney, Mr. Albert M. Johnson, with the result that suit was brought by us in the Superior Court of Sacramento County—Hon. A. P. Catlin, Judge—to compel the Central Electric Railway Company to sell to us such passes as we might deem necessary for our own use and to supply the demands of our customers. The decision rendered was in our favor, and hereafter our friends and customers will find us able to supply both the school and adults' passes in quantities to suit.

For full particulars of the suit, see last Saturday's Bee.
