

DOES KOVALEV MEAN TO CONFESS?

A Rumor That Effect Was Abroad Yesterday.

The Prosecution Forging a Strong Chain of Evidence—Testimony Taken Yesterday.

There was an air of expectancy throughout the courtroom of Department Two of the Superior Court yesterday morning, when Ivan Kovalev was being tried for the murder of F. H. L. Weber. Nearly everybody had heard that he was going to confess.

On the opening of court W. A. Anderson and E. C. Hart, Kovalev's attorneys, took him into Judge Johnson's chamber, where they held a consultation with him for nearly an hour.

Mr. Anderson said this was done for the purpose of planning a line of action to be pursued in the cross-examination of Arnold Levin, one of the principal witnesses for the prosecution, but a tip had been given that Kovalev was contemplating making a confession, but owing to the absence of Olga Gordonko, the woman residing at Glen Ellen, Sonoma County, who wrote a letter to him in which she offered him assistance, he would defer making a statement or confession until her arrival.

Just before court adjourned yesterday afternoon W. A. Anderson said that a man named Alexandroff, a porter at the Lick House in San Francisco, had been subpoenaed on the part of the defense a couple of days ago, but has not obeyed the subpoena, so Judge Johnson ordered an attachment to issue for Alexandroff, and directed that Kovalev be taken down to San Francisco and bring him here.

WITNESS LEVIN AGAIN.

It was 11 o'clock when W. A. Anderson, of counsel for the defense, and Levin, the witness for the prosecution who was on the stand when court adjourned Wednesday afternoon, Levin said he was born in Russia and left there in 1880. He came to this country with his brother. He understands the languages spoken in the different parts of the Russian army, and was stationed at Sebastopol. He had attended school at St. Petersburg for five years. When he left Russia he was given a passport for five years. He did not know of a "Section" in Russia the members of which practice an espionage on all Russians at home and abroad charged with crime.

Levin said he came to San Francisco six years ago, and that he had been in the country for a long time. He had been in the country for a long time. He had been in the country for a long time. He had been in the country for a long time.

WANT TO KNOW THE CITY'S RIGHTS.

Trustees Still Delay Action on the Levee Matter.

Corporation Counsel Devlin is Given Till Monday to Investigate the Situation.

The City Board of Trustees held an adjourned meeting last night, Treasurer Davis, Mayor Leonard, Devlin, Stcherbakov's body was exhumed and the coat and vest removed from it. He said the garments were of the same goods as the coat and vest in the barrel back of the murdered man's store.

THE FIRST REAL CLUE. Plickering recalled and said a slip of paper on which were written the words, "Loomis, Stcherbakov, was found on Stcherbakov. He and the Chief of Police subsequently went to the place in San Francisco designated on the slip of paper. There were three witnesses and exhibited the dead man's photograph to them. They all denied knowing who it resembled.

Another Russian Testifies. Vladislav Zakrewski, who has been detained in the County Jail as a witness, and who is another important witness for the prosecution, was then called to the stand. Zakrewski cannot talk English, and it was necessary to swear an interpreter to interpret his testimony. He also recalled Levin. They were taken to the jail to call their names entered on the small slate. He identified the clothing worn by Kovalev at the time of his arrest. Captain Lees called Kovalev to the stand and asked him the latter part of December, and Kovalev replied that he had worked for Davis, the shoemaker, on Third street, and was in the employ of the same at the time he was arrested.

THE BLOODY TROUSERS. The witness was shown a pair of trousers and asked if he had ever seen them before. He replied that Kovalev had worn them when in his employ. He next saw them after Kovalev went away, while away he had traveled in San Francisco showed them to him. (The trousers were the ones found in the barrel back of Weber's store after the murder.)

THE SAN JOSE KILLING. George E. Plickering, a San Jose policeman, testified that he saw Stcherbakov in San Jose in March last. He identified a photograph of Stcherbakov taken after the latter had been killed by Donald Stcherbakov who had a striped coat when he was killed and a dark pair of trousers. The garments were shown to the witness and he positively identified them.

THE SAME AS WEBER'S. George L. Coburn, a Deputy Coroner in San Jose, identified the photograph of Stcherbakov taken after the latter's death. His trousers were thrown away. They were dark blue and a different class of goods from the coat and vest.

THE FOOTBALL GAME. Round Trip Tickets at Reduced Rates if a Sufficient Number Attend. The intercollegiate football game between the Stanford and the State University is to take place at Central Park, in San Francisco, on Thanksgiving Day.

Land Patents Signed. Governor Budd has signed a patent for a swamp and overflowed land to Thomas E. Tyman for 43.69 acres in Stanislaus County; also, to Joseph Alexander for 111.48 acres in Sonoma County under the grant of sixteenth and thirty-sixth sections for school purposes.

Not Trustee Devlin. The heading to the report of the City Trustees' meeting, published yesterday, implied that Trustee Devlin was the author of the resolution creating the office of messenger. This was a mistake, as the resolution was introduced by Trustee Pennish.

Thrown From a Wagon. A team driven by Charles Glenn of Marysville ran away yesterday in the southern part of the city, and at Fourth and N streets he was thrown out and severely injured, though not dangerously.

MUNYON Wins His Fight.

Old-Fashioned Doctors and Their Horrible Nauseating Drugs

Knocked Out! Sacramento People Show Their Appreciation of Professor Munyon's Honest Methods and Demand His Remedies and Will Take No Substitutes.

It is simply wonderful, said Munyon representative, to watch the growth of the public's confidence in our new method of treating disease. About five years ago we began our first free distribution of Munyon's remedies. At that time very few persons in the United States had ever heard the name before; but his honest, frank and fearless investigation of his claims opened their eyes to the fact that there was at least one medical company in the world who had the honest conviction of the value of their remedies, and believed that they had discovered positive cures for disease, and over 2,000,000 people have died, and called at the various newspaper offices in the principal cities to test his liberal offer of free distribution.

Curiosity may have prompted some, and they have thought there was something behind the liberal offer. Most, no doubt, doubting the existence of remedies that were guaranteed to cure, when they found that Professor Munyon was in earnest, accepted their free sample and left with the determination to try almost a fair test. What is the result so far? Testimonials are coming in from all sides reporting the wonderful cures effected, and Munyon's New School of Medicine is the topic of conversation in Sacramento.
