

A PECKY LITTLE WOMAN.

She Takes Three Shots at a Would-be Burglar.

From an Exclamation That Escaped Him, It is Hoped That He Was Badly Hurt.

A bold attempt at burglary was made at the house of W. H. Colby, a messenger of the Wells-Fargo Company, who resides at 1807 O street, about 7 o'clock last night. Captain of Police Greene was coming from J street, when he heard two shots in the neighborhood of Eighteenth and O streets and shortly afterward heard a woman scream. He hastened to the spot and found Mrs. Colby in an almost fainting condition. She informed him that a tall, well-dressed young man came to the front door and told her that her husband would not be home at the usual time, as the train was late. A few moments afterward she heard a noise at the back door and going to it she found the screen door had been cut and that a man stood there. She had meanwhile secured a small pistol which she kept in the house and she fired at the intruder. She saw him raise a pistol and she shot twice more. The man ran and jumped over the alley fence and as he did so she heard him call out "Zen, I am hurt." Captain Greene and others searched the alley, but could find nothing of the man, and he must have run up the alley to Nineteenth street and escaped.

LATTER-DAY SAINTS.

What One of Their Speakers Claims for That Sect.

At the Latter-day Saints' meeting last evening the following points of prophecy, uttered by the Mormon Prophet, were used as a text, as it presents in brief outline the history and subsequent growth of the church. The prediction was made at Montrose, Iowa, August, 1842, and states that "the saints would continue to suffer much affliction, and would finally be driven to the Rocky Mountains. Many would apostatize, and many would be put to death by their persecutors or lose their lives in consequence of their exile, and many of those who listened to him would live to assist in building cities, and to see the saints become a mighty people in the midst of the Rocky Mountains."

It was claimed that in fulfillment the saints did continue to suffer affliction in the State of Illinois, in consequence of which they were forced to leave their homes in the year of 1846. Brigham Young, whose right it was by virtue of his office as President of the "Twelve," led the church after the prophet's death.

By permission from the Governor of Iowa they located temporarily in the western part of that State, preparing for the greater march before them.

Towns sprung up as if by magic in the midst of which could be found churches and schools that the religion of the people and education of their children might not be neglected.

While living there the nation whose borders they were about to cross into for five hundred men to fight for their country in the war with Mexico. Loyalty was shown by the readiness with which the five hundred men, known as the Mormon Battalion, volunteered, and they, under the leadership of a United States officer, marched two thousand miles through the most barren part of the American Continent. They marched from Council Bluffs, Iowa, to San Diego, Cal., making a record which the speaker said has no parallel on the pages of history. They were among the discoverers of gold in this State.

The main body of the church moved westward, reaching Lake Valley in the summer of 1848. There, said the speaker, after much privation and trouble, they have turned the barren desert of years gone by into a fruitful field. There they have built cities and become a mighty people, and are enjoying the fruits of a productive soil and the rich mineral treasures of the mountains of the new State. Above all, they claim to be enjoying the blessings of the restored gospel of Christ, with peace and good will toward all men.

THE GOSPEL MISSION.

An Organization that is Doing Effective Evangelical Work.

The Gospel Mission celebrated its second anniversary in the mission hall, Third street, between K and L, on Friday evening. The meeting was opened with singing and prayer, followed by a lively testimony meeting in which many took part.

Several told how they had been saved in the mission, and how happy they had been since they had become Christians. Among these was a young Chinaman, who was converted eight months ago in the mission and has been working with the mission people ever since. He said he was born in Dutch Flat, Placer County, and when he came to the mission he was a gambler, a whisky drinker and opium fiend, but he had got rid of all his bad habits. He goes out every night with the mission workers on the street and tells what the Christian religion has done for him, and every Sunday he goes with the mission workers to Fourth and I streets and preaches to the Chinese in their own language.

F. M. Odum, the Superintendent, made the report. He said he had been running the mission two years and had only been absent eleven nights. During that time 325 persons had professed conversion.

A meeting is held every night, both on the street and in the hall, and every Sunday afternoon. The mission is evangelical, but nonsectarian. The converts are advised to find a home in some church. The expenses have been met by monthly subscriptions and basket collections, and the mission has been able in this way to pay all of its bills during the past two years, except one of $12 50, and a part of that was raised during Friday evening.

A request was made for second-hand clothing, to be left at the mission for the poor. This was followed by an address by Rev. Mr. Buck, pastor of the Sixth-street M. E. Church. At the conclusion two persons asked for prayer.

IT WOULD NOT PASS.

Confederate Notes Do Not Suit Clothing Merchants.

Officer Fisher arrested a man named Daniel Donovan Saturday night for passing counterfeit money. Donovan went into the place of H.

Marks and ordered a $10 coat, tendering in payment a bill that appeared to be all right, but proved to be a Confederate note. He claimed to have found it, and to have thought it was all right.

SOCIAL EVENTS.

(Readers of the "Record-Union" are requested to send to this office personal notices, engagements, society notes and home gatherings of every kind. Write on one side of the paper, and give your name and address, not for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith.)

A week from Tuesday the McNeill Club will hold another one of its concerts. This will likely be of interest to the music-lovers of this city, as these musicales are always appreciated.

The engagement is announced of Miss Jennie Sanderson to Roy Durrand Herrick of Minneapolis. Miss Sanderson is the sister of Sibyl Sanderson, the famous operatic singer, who was born and reared in this city.

The Florin Grange held its annual installation last Saturday night at their hall, when the following officers were installed: W. M., F. E. Davies; W. Sec., I. A. Casey; W. A. S., J. C. Brown; W. Tres., L. Jones; W. G. K., M. Davies; W. F., L. Whipple; W. L. A. S., M. Reese; W. O., J. Reese; W. S., W. Bartholmew; W. Chap., J. Clark; W. Sec., M. Robinson; W. P., Mamie Davies; W. C., M. Kennedy. Past Master Casey, assisted by Brother Jesse Casey, officiated as installing officer. At the conclusion of this part of the evening's programme, all present sat down to a genuine grange repast which had been prepared for this occasion. Speeches were made and toasts given, and at a late hour the members departed, wishing long life to the Florin Grange.

A ladies' whist club was formed last Friday at the residence of Mrs. James Paris, 1123 H street. It has been named the "Spoon" Whist Club, from the fact that a souvenir spoon shall be given as a prize at each meeting, which will be on Friday of each week. The next meeting will be held at Mrs. J. Sullivan's. The following ladies constitute the club: Mrs. L. L. Lewis, Mrs. A. C. Tufts, Mrs. H. LaRue, Mrs. A. A. Van Voorhies, Mrs. E. Twitchell, Mrs. James Paris, Sr., Mrs. E. R. Hamilton, Mrs. B. R. Crocker, Mrs. Wm. Beckman, Mrs. J. Sullivan, Mrs. Henry Heilbron, Mrs. Ed. Yardley, Mrs. Wm. Dunlap, Mrs. C. Mouser, Mrs. A. L. Hart and Mrs. Matt. F. Johnson.

At the residence of A. A. Van Voorhies, 1403 H street, the "Theta Chi" fraternity of the Sacramento High School held its regular meeting Saturday evening. After all business had been disposed of, the remainder of the evening was spent in music, both vocal and instrumental, and in doing justice to the fine spread put before them. Toasts were responded to, and it was quite late when the "Frats" dispersed. Following are some of the members of the fraternity: Ernest Birdsall, Ralph Van Voorhies, Jerome Carroll, J. H. Pond, Robert Merkle, Wm. Quinton, B. Dunlap, Cliff Paris, Rob Waring, Dick Dierssen, Charles Jones, C. Mason, Fred Griffiths, George Didion, Ira May, Jack Bauer and Fred Blanchard.

Eight carloads of silk passed through this city yesterday on their way to the East.

Julian W. Johnson has let to B. F. Pike a contract for a $2,363 cottage at 2414 L street.

B. F. Bean of Elk Grove was lucky enough to secure $25,000 of the new Government loan.

The Supervisors have fixed the county advertising rate as follows: First insertion, 240 ems nonpareil, $1 50; second insertion, $1; third insertion, 75 cents; each subsequent insertion, 50 cents.

Probably the Same.

The burglar who entered Valentine Drescher's house on Friday night dropped a lady's silver hat-pin on the floor. It is supposed it may have been the proceeds of one of the other burglaries committed that day, and if so, would tend to establish the fact that they were all committed by the same person or persons.

Divorce Cases.

Eliza Fitch has been granted by Judge Catlin a divorce from W. L. Fitch on the ground of extreme cruelty.

The case of Minnie M. against Oscar S. Flint was heard in Judge Johnson's court on Saturday, and the result will be determined to-day. Mr. Flint made no defense to the suit.

Counterfeit Dollars.

There are said to be a large number of counterfeit silver dollars in circulation in this city that are so well executed that they will deceive anyone but an expert. The only way in which they can be detected is by their weight, which is light.

AN INTERESTING PRISONER.

Has a Book Full of Signatures and Some Blank Checks.

He Says His Name is Fred W. Knox, and Claims to be a Civil Engineer.

Officers Higgins and Wilson, while hunting about for suspicious characters last night ran up against a young man in Chinatown whom they took to the police station and who may prove to be an "interesting" captive.

The man gave his name as Fred W. Knox, and says he is from Los Angeles. He had among his effects an employer's ticket over the Los Angeles and Pasadena Railroad, and it bears that name. He claims to be a civil engineer, and probably is one, as a memorandum book that he carries contains the names and addresses of several persons of that profession. He also has a small case of draughtsmen's implements.

In the book he carries is written a letter addressed "My Dear Wife" and dated at San Francisco, February 7th. In it he tells her of being out of luck, with nothing to do, and only $5 with which to get to Salt Lake. He had just been to the jail to see a friend, but he had been taken away to San Quentin.

But what causes the police to believe the man is not "straight" is the fact that in his memorandum book are pasted and signed, or perhaps thirty or forty persons, all cut from letters or documents of some kind, and it is surmised that these had been obtained for use in filling out checks. Among them is the autograph of Marian Harland, the authoress.

Color is given to this suspicion by the fact that he had in his pocket three blank checks, one on the Bank of Waterville, one on the Bank of Haywards and the other on the Bank of Genialia. On these checks are certain figures, perforated with bank instruments, one being "500.00." These checks, it is supposed, were to be filled in with a corresponding sum and then one of the signatures appended.

Entries in his book show that he has been in Denver, Pueblo and many other places, and it is thought many of the signatures are those of Los Angeles people, though some are undoubtedly of persons in the East. The man is an opium fiend, and had a full opium supply.

Yesterday and last night the police arrested about thirty strangers on suspicion of being crooks, and it looks as if some community had suddenly driven them out. Several of them claimed to be peddlers, and most of them are from the southern part of the State, or claim to be.

Last night the City Jail was full to overflowing, and the officers believe they have among the prisoners the parties who have been committing so many burglaries here lately. All are booked for vagrancy.

ARRESTED ON SUSPICION.

Tough Characters Suspected of Being the Burglars Operating Here.

Officers Bagley and Fitzgerald arrested four tough-looking customers Saturday evening on suspicion.

One of them had a large stone tied up in a handkerchief, such as is often used by footpads, and which made a very ugly weapon. All four of them had packages of needles and pins, which they claimed to be selling.

A common dodge of thieves is to carry something of the sort and to go around from house to house. They ring the bell until they are satisfied that no one is at home, and then attempt to get into the house. As that is the way the Govan houses were burglarized last Friday, it is possible that the burglar may have belonged to the gang.

Saturday afternoon a similar case occurred. Burglars attempted to get into the house of William Benning at Second and P streets. They broke open a window, but were seized away before obtaining an entrance.

Officers Bagley arrested two young men Saturday night, who are strangers in Sacramento. One of them gave his name as Roy Finn and the other will give no name except "Denver Fat." Fisher thinks he will be able to fasten the burglary of the Drescher residence on them.

There has been so many burglaries the past week that there is considerable talk of reviving the Citizens' Committee of Safety and clearing the town again of suspicious characters.

AMUSEMENTS.

At the Clunie Opera-house this evening a new play and a new actor to open the week. H. A. Raynor, a talented young actor, has been specially engaged by Manager Hallett for this week to produce his own military drama, "Twixt Love and Duty." The piece will be mounted with great care, new scenery and fine fittings to the full strength of the Hallett Stock Company, as follows: George Armitage, H. A. Raynor; Sokery Schneideloeker, Al. H. Hallett; Phillip Marks, William Brewer; Fred Atkins, Charles Howard; General Burt, Charles Davies; Colonel Burt and Uncle Jeff, R. Lee Harris; Dennis Mulcahy, Fred Russell; Bess Marks, Onita Bridger; Mrs. Armitage, Maggie Francis; Goddess of Liberty and Daughter of Regiment, May Powers; Daisy, Little Edna Ferriter; Union soldiers by Troop B of the National Guard, cavalry, unattached.

The box-office of the Metropolitan Theater opens this morning for reservation of seats for the Frawley Stock Company engagement of two nights. So much interest has been aroused in this company that there is every reason to believe that this time it will have crowded houses. It is not the fault of the company that its theatrical engagement here was a financial failure—it was wholly, and to combinations of events that operated to withdraw public attention and engage it in other matters. The Frawley Company has never had but one equal on the coast, and that was the old California Theater Company, made up out of the earlier splendid troupe of Maguire's Opera-house and the Metropolitan of San Francisco. No stock company has ever drawn better than the Frawley this season in San Francisco and Oakland, and its merit has justified the enthusiasm in its behalf.

Max Steine is business representative for Manager Hallett at the Clunie Opera-house. He does not aspire to be an actor, and has few ambitions in that direction. When he is needed, however, he comes to time and takes his place in the cast. It was the intention to give him due credit, therefore, for a most clever bit of acting last week, and that it was not done was inadvertence. His Dick Talbot in the farce "My Previous Baby" was a very neat piece of work. Some characters Max will never fit into, to which he has seen by evidence of cruel circumstance assigned, but he assuredly did fit the role of rollicking Dick like a glove to the hand. This fact may encourage him to kindle ambition at the dramatic altar after all.

COURSING YESTERDAY.

Fine Races, and Wayfarer Wins First Money.

The Sacramento Coursing Club yesterday finished at the Gerber ranch, near Florin, the important races that were commenced on January 12th.

The Alameda Kennel's San Joaquin ran a bye. He won his race on the 12th and did not have to run it, but his owner did not wish to take advantage of his right to run a fresh dog. J. H. Rossett's Wayfarer was to have run against Nethercott's Little Wonder, but the latter was injured the other day and was unable to run, so Wayfarer ran a bye.

J. F. Grace's Nellie Conroy beat J. McMahon's Gile.

F. L. Renwick's Snowdrift ran a bye, concluding the unfinished second ties.

In the third ties Nellie Conroy beat San Joaquin and Wayfarer beat Snowdrift.

In the final race Wayfarer beat Nellie Conroy, winning first money, $70.

Nellie Conroy won second money, $35; Snowdrift third money, $17 50. John Grace of San Francisco was judge and James Wren of San Francisco slipper. There was a very large attendance, the day being fine, and there were a number present from San Francisco and Oakland. The people from abroad were well satisfied with the decisions.

IN THE GRAVE.

Funeral Yesterday of the Late Mrs. Sarah Rohrer.

The funeral of Mrs. Sarah Rohrer, widow of the late Cyrus Rohrer, took place yesterday afternoon from her late residence, 1018 H street. The attendance of friends was very large, many of whom sent beautiful offerings of flowers for the casket and grave.

Rev. G. A. Ottmann, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, officiated, and appropriate hymns were sung by a choir composed of Miss Lida Clinch, Mrs. E. F. Howard, W. E. Beardslee and George Lister.

The pall-bearers were: Friends of the family, W. M. Gett, J. G. Yantine, George Leitch and E. H. Chapman. Chosen Friends—C. H. Denton and Charles Brooks.

GRAND JURY.

It is Still Investigating the Second-Street Precinct Scandal.

It is understood that the Grand Jury is making a very thorough inquiry into the alleged irregularities practiced at the Second and I streets polling place at the election last November. The claim is made that the names of several residents of the cemetery were voted, not once but often, as well as the names of persons who are not in the grave.

The members of the election board, except Clerk George E. Brady and George French, have been examined by the jury, but they disclaim any knowledge of crookedness. It is said that the great register used at that precinct cannot be found.

MISSING HIS MARK.

Two Men Refuse to Pay for Tamales, and One Shoots at the Vendor.

A peddler of the toothsome tamale by the name of Martinez claims to have been robbed of his stock in trade on Saturday night about 9 o'clock by two men in a cart.

He says they stopped him at Seventeenth and K streets and ordered a couple of tamales and after getting them refused to pay for them. He grabbed the hat of one of them and the fellow turned round in the cart and deliberately took two shots at him, but fortunately did not hit him. They then drove away in the darkness.

STILL AT WORK.

Burglars Loot the House of G. F. Dickinson, on O Street.

G. F. Dickinson of 713 O street reported yesterday at the Police Station that his house had been burglarized and a tin box, containing deeds to property in National City, several bank books, a life insurance policy in the name of John Campbell, a certificate of the Sacramento Building and Loan Association, a pocket-book containing a number of old coins, a silver watch and a lot of jewelry taken. The thieves broke into the front window.

PERHAPS A TRAGEDY.

What a Countryman Says He Found on the North Levee.

A man who has been catching gophers out on the north levee came into the city yesterday afternoon and reported that four days ago he saw a man go into a car on the spur near Brighton, where the empty cars are stored, and shut the door.

He had not seen the man since, and the door still remained closed. Yesterday, however, he saw blood around the car. He did not make any investigation, but on his arrival in the city simply mentioned the fact to a friend.

Weather Notes.

The Weather Bureau reports show the highest and lowest temperatures yesterday to have been 56 and 44 degrees, with fresh to brisk northerly winds and partly cloudy weather prevailing.

The barometrical readings at 5 a. m. and 5 p. m. were 30.28 and 30.17 inches, respectively.

The highest and lowest temperatures one year ago yesterday were 64 and 42 degrees, and no rain, and one year ago to-day 52 and 44 degrees, with .02 of an inch.

River, 21 feet 4 inches. One year ago to-day a storm set in lasting three days and giving 1.50 inches of rain. The next storm was on the 22d, when .34 of an inch was measured, making 1.84 inches for February, 1895. After the 22d no more rain fell until the 20th of March.

The Tyranny of the Desk.

We will suppose that your occupation is sedentary—that you are chained, so to speak, to a desk in some counting-house, or perhaps to the loom in some vast mill where you are compelled to labor from morning till night. Sunday is your only day of relaxation. You return home every evening wearied mentally and bodily. Your head and nerves begin to tingle. What will most effectively regenerate your vital energy? The weight of evidence points to no other conclusion than that Hallett's Shot-Button is your safest, most reliable sheet anchor. Use it persistently, and your system will soon receive a healthful impulse. There is no remedy to equal the Shot-Button for nervousness and winter sleep, dyspepsia, indigestion and business. It cures and remedies all forms of neuralgia and is a preventive of rheumatism and neuralgia.

THE DOG DIDN'T GO.

The Humane Society Draws the Line at Ballooning.

But Aeronaut Weston Himself Made A Very Successful Ascension.

Fully five or six thousand people went out to Oak Park yesterday afternoon to witness George Weston's balloon ascension and parachute descent, and the street cars were taxed to their utmost capacity to take the crowd out and back. As it was, hundreds of people were left standing on the sidewalks who could not find places, even to hang on to the outside of the cars.

The ascension was made on time, and the great balloon shot up into the air at a rapid pace, the daring aeronaut suspended by his toes from the trapeze at the end of the parachute.

The balloon went off in a southerly direction, and when at a height of a couple of thousand feet the parachute was detached and shot downward with an ascent was a hundred feet safely to the earth about a quarter of a mile from the park. As the big umbrella descended Weston went through a number of daring gymnastic tricks which caused the thousands of gazers below to "Oh!" and "Ah!" like a crowd at a Fourth of July pyrotechnic display.

The balloon upset as soon as the parachute was detached and the hot air escaping it collapsed and fell to the ground ahead of the parachute.

Just before the ascensionist was ready to go up and take with him a dog, to be cast loose hanging to a parachute, President G. H. Smith of the Humane Society, Secretary F. M. Woodson and Director J. N. Payne put in an appearance and notified the balloonist that the animal must not be taken along.

The aeronaut protested politely but firmly, but President Smith and his Lieutenants were even more polite and more firm. It was a case of two irresistible bodies meeting, apparently.

President Smith informed the balloonist that if the latter insisted he and his fellow-officers would take charge of the dog, and under the law of the State seize the animal, that he should not be tortured by the flight or the possible danger of unlucky descent, and if the aeronaut interfered and still insisted, he would be arrested.

The balloonist yielded, apparently, saying that he thought as much of the dog as any man did of a pet animal, and would not harm it. To which the officers replied that it was not merely a question of sympathy alone, certainly not one of affection for a pet animal; that to terrorize a helpless brute by such an ascent was cruelty to it, besides the effects of such spectacles were demoralizing to youth and age alike, and that the society proposed to put a stop to them. It had not power to prevent the balloonist taking an adult human being along, if he wanted to, but if anyone attempted to take a child on such a flight, means would be found to prevent it.

STREET SPRINKLING.

Taxpayers Demand Better Service Than in the Past.

The manner in which contractors have been allowed to drench the streets with water during the summer sprinkling season has always been a reproach to the city, but an effort will be made to prevent a repetition of the nuisance this coming summer.

Hitherto the contractors have been permitted to exercise their own sweet will in regard to their manner of doing that class of service for the city and they have always followed the plan that is easiest and cheapest for themselves.

By drenching a street once a day they are enabled to cover more territory, but the result is to cause the people who foot the bills to wade through mud and slush. Visitors from up-to-date cities have been disgusted when taken out for a drive in the evening and our own people mortified when asked by them why such a state of things is permitted.

It is understood that to-night a committee of citizens will call upon the City Trustees and ask them to so prepare the contracts for next season's sprinkling that flooding will not be permitted, and that contractors will be required to go over their districts several times each day and keep the dust down by light spraying or Washington instead of deluging the streets with solid sheets of water.

Some days ago the "Examiner" sent Ambrose Bierce to Washington to help fight the funding bill. Ambrose has written his first letter to the "Examiner" from Washington—fired his first shot at the enemy, as it were—and here is a specimen. Speaking of one of the business men of San Francisco, who had said in an interview that he
