

CAPT. GREENE SUSPENDED.

Charges Preferred by Mayor Hubbard Last Evening.

Accused of Neglecting His Duty—The Police Captain Denies All the Charges.

The police department is receiving a shaking-up by Mayor Hubbard, as will be seen by the following communication sent to the City Trustees last night. The charges against Captain Greene come as a surprise, for such action is usually preceded by public gossip. Officer Logue has been under suspension for a week under a charge of being off his beat during the hours of duty, and was preferred by Chief Drew. Says the Mayor:

Sacramento, Cal., Feb. 17th. To the Honorable Board of Trustees: I have instructed M. M. Drew, Chief of Police, to suspend Captain Anthony Greene from duty on the police force, and herewith transmit to you charges which I have preferred against said officer:

WHAT THE CHARGES ARE.

1. Captain Anthony Greene is hereby charged with violating the rules of the police department of the city of Sacramento. 2. He is charged with neglect of duty as an officer. 3. He is charged with conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman.

First—That for some time past, in the city of Sacramento, and while acting in the capacity of Captain of Police, the said Anthony Greene has frequented gambling and pool-selling rooms, and has contributed to the support of gaming; that he has continually and willfully violated rule 17 of the police regulations of this city, in that he has frequented gambling-rooms, etc., and has failed to make a written or any report of the same; that for some time past he has often violated rule 3 of the police regulations of this city by drinking intoxicating liquors while on duty.

Second—That said Captain Anthony Greene has often neglected his duties as Chief of the night force, and has retired and left the station and the police force without a commanding officer, the duty of said officer being to look after and regulate the night detail of the police department.

Third—That said Captain Anthony Greene did, on the night of February 14, 1896, neglect his duties as such Captain of Police, and went to the home of one F. W. Donaca, at 1013 Q street, at about midnight, and remained there for several hours thereafter; that said Captain Anthony Greene has often absented himself from his office at the Police Station during the night, and has retired to the above-mentioned home and remained there during the night; that the neglect of the said Captain to attend to his duties has demoralized the police force, and is working great injury to the department.

Wherefore, complainant asks that said Anthony Greene may be cited to appear and show cause, if any he have, why he should not be dismissed from the police force of said city.

C. H. HUBBARD, Mayor.

WHAT GREENE SAYS.

When Captain Greene reported on duty at 8 o'clock last evening Chief Drew informed him of the charges made by Mayor Hubbard and read of his suspension from duty pending his hearing.

The matter was as much a surprise to Greene as to anyone about the police headquarters, but he said he saw through it all. To a "Record-Union" reporter he said, when asked if he desired to make an explanation:

"No, not in a specific way, at this time. I deny the charges, however, one and all, and when the time comes I will prove to the satisfaction of the City Trustees, the Mayor and every other fair-minded person that the charges are based on false representations to the Mayor.

"I can prove that at the hours it is stated I was in the house on Q street I was on the street attending to my duty as Captain of the Police. The house referred to is that of Mr. Donaca of the Western Hotel.

"You may also say," said Captain Greene in conclusion, "that when I got through with this investigation somebody will wish he had never lived in Sacramento."

Further than this he would not explain. He spoke, however, as if he knew who it was that had been instrumental in having the charges brought against him, and intimated that he had in his possession evidence of some nature that would show such a person up in an unenviable light, if no worse.

OFFICER LOGUE.

The Mayor also sent to the board the following communication relative to the suspension of Officer Logue:

To the Honorable Board of Trustees: On the 11th day of February, 1896, M. M. Drew, Chief of Police, suspended Officer John F. Logue from the police force, and has since preferred charges against said officer, which I herewith transmit to your honorable body for further action. Respectfully submitted, C. H. HUBBARD, Mayor.

The charges stated that on February 9th Chief Drew had assigned the day and some of the nightmen to duty on beats between Twelfth and Thirtieth streets, with orders to stay upon their assigned beats; that on the following night Officer Logue was absent from his beat, being at Tenth and P streets, on his way to street, contrary to a direction given that night that all officers should stay on their beats.

The Police Committee recommended that a special meeting be called for Thursday evening to consider the charges against Captain Greene and Officer Logue, and that the Corporation Counsel be instructed to prepare the evidence and be present at that time; and further, that Logue's case be taken up at 7 p.m.

The board finally decided to take up both cases on Wednesday evening.

SOCIAL EVENTS.

(Readers of the "Record-Union" are requested to send to this office personals, weddings, engagements, society notes and home gatherings of every kind. Write on one side of the paper, and give your name and address, not for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith.)

A quiet wedding took place yesterday afternoon at the residence of D. W. Higgins, 528 I street, the contracting parties being Frank A. Wallace and Miss Maggie Higgins. The house was handsomely decorated in smilax and flowers. At the conclusion of the ceremony the guests sat down to a nicely prepared lunch. Rev. Mr. Hart of the Congregational Church tied the nuptial knot, and Benjamin B. Welch and Miss Lily Wallace acted as groomsmen and bridesmaids, respectively. The happy couple left for San Francisco on the 3 o'clock train.

Next Saturday night the As You Like It Club will give what is termed a "Social tea." They intend to make this the event of the season, and great preparations are being made. It will be held at Forester's Hall and will last from 8 o'clock till 9, after which the hall will be cleared and the remainder of the evening spent in dancing. Invitations have already been issued. The following young ladies constitute the club: Misses Edith Howe, Clea Berkeley, Daisy Ennis, Lucy Murray, Dora Taylor, Ora Towle, Alice Hassett, Etta Wallace, Rebe Nourse, Frances Nourse, Alice Willis, Adelaide Dierssen, Laura Cooper, Mabel Lyon, Ella Howe and Freda Cox. The patronesses will be Mrs. W. E. Briggs, Mrs. Hale, Mrs. Dr. Carr and Mrs. Douglas Lindley.

The Knights of Pythias will give an entertainment at their Castle Hall on Wednesday next, which promises to be a very pleasant affair.

A very pretty and enjoyable party for the young people in and around the neighborhood took place on Friday evening at Arno. Dancing was the order of the evening, and the young people tripped the light fantastic to sweet music furnished for the occasion by Fisch & Leddy. The small hall was prettily decorated in green and yellow, and the bright colors and bright faces made a lovely picture of beauty and animated life that harmonized beautifully the entire evening. The young people join in thanking Mrs. Alice M. Valensi for their pleasure and entertainment.

Armory Hall was the scene of a regular old-fashioned "camp fire" last night, being given by Company G, Second Infantry. The early part of the evening was taken up by an amusing programme, and was the cause of a great deal of laughter and merriment. Immediately after this part of the evening's entertainment had been completed, the boys in blue and a number of invited guests adjourned to Company B's apartments. Here was the jollification of the evening, Comrade Willey of Sumner Post, G. A. R., making his share of the fun. Colonel Guthrie and Lieutenant Hughes also made some very interesting remarks during the festivities. When "camp" broke up, the general opinion was that it was a few hours well spent. The programme was as follows: Opening remarks, Captain A. E. Stearns; Occidental Quartet, Messrs. Ellsworth, Cardinate, Milliken and Holden; duet, piano and violin, William Kellogg and William Toll; mental trio, Colonel Robert Peeler; instrumental, two guitars and mandolin, Messrs. S. S. Valenzuela, L. T. Moreno and J. C. Garcia; clog dance, Ben Lynn; piano solo, Louis Duhan; whistling solo, James Hastings; specialties, Hanlan and Phillips. Next Friday night Company E will give a complimentary ball to the visiting sharpshooters of the National Guard, who will shoot next Saturday at the range.

SUBURBAN FOOTPADS.

Two Masked Men Operating Out on Twenty-First Street.

Last Night They Stopped Frank Howerton, But Ran Away When He Drew His Pistol.

The men who a few weeks ago did such a land office business in holding up people in the suburbs, are again at their work.

About 7:30 o'clock last evening, as Frank Howerton, who lives near Highland Park, was on his way home in a buggy, he met two men on Twenty-first street, near X, who stepped into the roadway and commanded him to halt. They both wore long black masks over their faces.

Howerton had his pistol, a small self-cocking weapon, under the cushion of his seat, and he dug for it at once. The highwaymen saw what he was up to, and with a bound they sprang to one side and escaped in the darkness.

Howerton did not risk a shot at them, as he could barely see the outline of their forms, and as he had seen the gleam of a weapon in the hands of one of them he feared they might turn loose at him, as he presented a conspicuous mark.

Fastening home he got out his shotgun, however, and returned to the spot and searched for the rascals, but could not find them. From the Buffalo Brewery he telephoned to the police station, and telephoned to the police station, and Officers Talbot and Fisher, who had just reported on duty, were sent out there, but their search for the footpads was fruitless.

AMUSEMENTS.

The largest first-night audience at the Clunie Opera-house in a long time was that of last evening, when Milton and Dolly Nobles, supported by the Hallett Stock Company, presented Mr. Nobles' comedy-drama "Love and Law." The play was finely staged. Some new scenery and the brush added much to the effectiveness of the play, notably the "Bay View Cottage" scene, Sten Island, with a fine view of New York Bay. The play is full of life and action. There are no dull lines in it, laziness is not tolerated by the spirit of the piece. From the beginning to the end of the comedy it is snap and go. Mr. Nobles, an exceedingly clever and very versatile actor, has the low-comedy part and leaves nothing to be desired. He neither overdoes it nor permits it to crowd too much to the front. Dolly Nobles is a handsome, clever actress, who reads with spirit, is graceful and sings very nicely, though not in strong voice. She made the heroine lovable, natural and won for the character the warmest sympathies of the audience. Mr. Hallett's Conti, a dialect part, restored him to heavy business. He has done nothing better than in interpreting this character. It was a fine study in vitality, craft and coquetry. The support throughout is good. The evidence was patent that the entire company has been under the command of a master hand at drill and effective staging. The play will run this week, and it is entirely safe to predict for it full houses. It is of the order that appeals strongly to the best sympathies, has just enough of the sensational; just enough of clean comedy; just enough of the thrilling and startling, and quite enough of the sentiment of love and interruption of true love's course and the reward of faithfulness and of virtue.

This evening at the Metropolitan Theater the Kimball-Corinne Opera Company in the spectacle and comic opera "Hendrick Hudson, Jr. or the Discovery of Columbus." The Kimball Company is composed of comedians, vocalists, dancers and artists, headed by the little prima donna danseuse Corinne, presenting the gorgeous operatic extravaganza. The production comes indorsed by an extended run in New York, Boston, Chicago and San Francisco, proving to be the most successful of the numerous spectacles of the last two seasons. The opening act occurs in the city of New York, showing the famous Bowling Green in 1609. The usual amount of bright, witty dialogues and fun incidents are introduced in the act, which terminates with Hudson's departure for the South. The action of the second act is located in the swamps of Florida. Hudson and his followers are searching anxiously for the famous fountain of youth. Hudson here discovers Christopher Columbus and some of his followers. This travestied meeting of Hudson and Columbus forms the basis of a deal of the action of the piece. Hendrick Hudson, Jr., while in New York, becomes enamored of a beautiful Dutch maiden, who, intending to make a conquest of fair Hendrick, is angered because he has gone to Florida, and sends detectives to find him and bring him back. The two odd characters, with their eccentricities, contribute largely to the comic element. Realizing his danger, Hudson disguises himself as a Spanish maiden, captivates Columbus and his followers with his musical selections and succeeds in completely baffling the detectives. The third act is in several scenes, affording an admirable opportunity for the liberal introduction of specialties. The play terminates with an allegorical picture of Santa Marie and a series of beautiful scenic illustrations. Locating his action on the beautiful picture of the Hudson and amid the luxuriant everglades of Florida, the scenic artist has been furnished with endless opportunities to provide a beautiful dress for the piece.

Its Owner Must Get Off the Street When the Hack Comes.

V. J. Tolley, while riding his bicycle in the vicinity of Tenth and J streets last September, was run down by James Cousins' hack as the latter was being driven rapidly in from the Park. Tolley managed to leap from the wheel and save himself, but his $135 machine was run over and ruined. Tolley sued for the value of his wheel, but Justice Henry yesterday gave judgment in favor of the defense. Wheelmen should bear in mind that next fair time, when hack teams come on the run from the race track (the wheelmen) must travel around the outskirts of the city and allow the hacks to have the monopoly of the streets.

'CYCLE NEWS.

Capital City Wheelmen Adopt a New Badge.

The Capital City Wheelmen met last night, President Ennis presiding. There was a good attendance, every seat in the clubroom being occupied.

The badge award was made by ballot. There were over fifty designs submitted. The emblem chosen by twenty-seven votes in its favor, consists of a heart-shaped dark cloth background. On either side of a wheel rise white wings to the upper outer points of the heart; above and below the wheel is a letter "C." The whole forms the ornamental letter "W," and for which also the wheel stands in the plan of the designer. The club ordered a stamp made of the new emblem, and it will be free to use of members, that all the emblems may be cut and stitched alike.

The Terminal Wheel Club of Stockton notified the Capital City that a committee of the former will meet a committee of the latter in this city on the 23d inst. to arrange the coming tournament races at Stockton.

The President gave notice that for the club road race of March 8th entries will close on the first meeting in March. The handicap terms will not be announced until the day of the race. Entrance must be paid on closing the entries.

Captain Readman announced that the course would be from Twelfth and N streets to Twenty-seventh, to Y, to the Lower Stockton road, and the church, five miles out; thence to Duden's and back by the Upper Stockton road; distance, nine miles.

The chair appointed Messrs. Readman, Upham and Hubert a committee on the Stockton race meet. This committee has power to act. The Track Committee was, on request, discharged. The Street Committee reported progress and was continued on duty.

DAVID STARR JORDAN.

He Will Lecture in This City on Thursday Evening.

The Lecture Association is constantly springing pleasant surprises on the people. This time it announces that on Thursday evening next David Starr Jordan, President of the Stanford University and one of the brightest intellectual lights of the coast, will deliver an address before the association at the Congregational Church. The subject chosen by Professor Jordan for the occasion, judging by its title, "The Mission of the Fool-Killer," should be a very entertaining one. The fool-killer has been shirking his duty most shamefully, and deserves a shaking-up. Professor Jordan will doubtless give him one in great shape.

BRIEF NOTES.

To-day the National Guard Board of Location will meet here to consider the matter of allowing the formation of independent companies.

Joe Welch appears to have a charmed life. Though bored through and through by three 44-caliber bullets, his chances for recovery were yesterday thought to be good.

Simon Raten, the Russian who killed James Lansing, yesterday made his declaration of intention to become a citizen. The bookmakers might safely offer odds of 100 to 1 against his winning.

If it doesn't rain soon P street will be blown away. The City Trustees are having some sprinkling done on streets that don't require it, but P street, the improvement of which cost the property-owners many thousands of dollars, is being ruined for the want of wetting.

Expert Coons' Claim. The Supervisors yesterday allowed a claim of W. W. Coons for $312 for services as expert to the Grand Jury.

Best standard tomatoes, 4 cans for 25c; asparagus tips, 10c a can; Capital jams, 10c a can. A. C. S., Eighth and K.

Sentenced for Jail-Breaking. Justice Henry yesterday sentenced Billy Williams to thirty-five days' imprisonment for escaping from the County Jail. Williams was one of the thirteen who broke jail several months ago and was recaptured by Sheriff Johnson.

Fisher Wants a Jury. Charles H. Fisher, who was arrested by Game Warden Helms for violating the game law in trying to sell wild ducks out of season, demanded a jury trial yesterday in the Police Court, and his case was continued till to-day.

Declared Public Highways. At yesterday's session of the Supervisors, on motion of Mr. Curtis, all the streets in the Curtis & Bowley and Leitch tracts, adjoining Oak Park, were declared public highways.
