

JACK CALLENDINE'S GANG.

Strong Evidence is Piling Up Against the Prisoners.

Have Not Yet Found Anyone Who is Willing to Go on Their Bonds - More Details.

The interesting account given in yesterday's "Record-Union" of the operations of the Callendine-Baker-Townsend gang covered nearly all the facts known to the police, but some additional details have since been gathered.

It is now said that Ed. Ray was one of the men connected with the plot to rob a Southern Pacific train near Florin a year ago. Townsend states that he (Townsend) was not let in on the job, but that he had secured dynamite with which it was proposed to blow open the safe.

Jack Harris, who was shot and killed by Callendine, was said by Townsend to have been a prime mover in the plans of the contemplated robbery. At all events, the Harris house was made the arsenal of the gang.

Some weeks ago a couple of men stole a bicycle from the premises of W. J. Hall at 603 N street, and one of them shot at Hall when he pursued them. It now turns out, according to the statement made by Lena Oster to Officer Fennish, that it was Callendine and Townsend who did the trick, and that Callendine was for a while under the impression that he shot Hall.

It was when the officers related this and other stories to Townsend that he owned up and told them about the operations of the gang. The Oster woman in her moment of anger at Townsend, her paramour—also said that it was Callendine who some two or three years ago had got a woman to rob Townsend's room, and that the pair had a high old time on the $25 they secured. When Townsend was informed of this he lost no time in telling what he knew about Callendine.

Ed. Ray, the man accused of being a member of the original gang, was prominent among the railroad strikers in July, 1894. When the trouble had subsided he was arrested by United States Marshal Baldwin, taken to San Francisco, and charged with having obstructed the United States mail, but was subsequently discharged, with the other Federal prisoners. The police believe him innocent of any of the crimes laid at the door of the men now in prison, but it is believed he will be an important witness when their cases come to trial.

A rubber coat, worn by one of the robbers at the time of the robbery of the street railway office, has been recovered, and it is said has been positively identified by the men who were in the office at the time of the robbery. One of the guns recovered has also been identified as the weapon used on that occasion, and with this and other corroborative evidence which is constantly coming to light it is thought there will be little difficulty in making out a strong case against the prisoners.

All day yesterday the three men worked to get bail, but men whom they had felt certain would help them failed to respond, and not one has yet come forward willing to take the responsibility of going bail for any of them.

ALLISON RANCH MINE.

It is to be Worked on an Extensive Scale.

A Grass Valley dispatch states that the famous Allison ranch mine, near that city, will at once be opened by Mackay and Flood, the well-known capitalists. Mr. Flood, accompanied by Private Secretary Walsh, Superintendent Kervin of Virginia City, W. R. Eckart, consulting engineer, and R. V. Day, Mackay's private secretary, arrived there on Friday night and on Saturday visited the mine and decided at once to reopen it.

Mr. Eckart was instructed to draw plans for the necessary plant, and the preliminary work of reopening will commence this morning. It is proposed to equip the mine with one of the finest and most substantial plants in the State.

The Allison ranch mine in early days yielded very profitably, several million dollars being produced and over 200 men being employed. It was explored to a depth of 700 feet. The expensive methods in vogue made profits small, and the owners disapproved, the mine closed down and it has never been reopened. It is believed it will yield handsomely under modern methods of working. Superintendent Kervin of the Brunswick mine at Virginia City will be Superintendent, and Thomas Cavanaugh, former of the Allison ranch mine.

The people of Grass Valley are pleased with the determination of Messrs. Flood and Mackay to invest there, as prosperity will follow the opening up of another big mine. It will be useless for miners to go to Grass Valley, however, as there are three idle men for every one required.

EVERYBODY'S COLUMN.

Under this heading the "Record-Union" will publish short letters from correspondents on topics of interest to the general public. The matter in these communications will be understood to represent only the views of the writers. All communications must be accompanied by the name of the writer, not for publication unless so desired, but for guarantee of good faith.—Eds.

Restriction of Immigration.

Eds. "Record-Union": Knowing of the almost universal sentiment of approval by the patriotic and educated classes, as well as the intense enthusiasm Congressman Johnson's late speech before the Committee on Immigration and Naturalization of the House of Representatives has created and will continue to create among the intelligent American workmen all over the land, I have waited some days expecting to have the pleasure of reading corresponding pen expressions of the views of some of them in "Everybody's Column," but as no one seems to have availed himself of so good an opportunity to give us the benefit of his thoughts I permit me—as one among his many admiring thousands—to say that, in my opinion, his was one of the very best and most needed speeches that has been delivered before Congress during its present session; and if he can get a bill passed to correspond, he will deserve to be classed among the saviors of our country. The "Record-Union" has truly said that "whoever is patriotic and progressive, and whoever does or proposes something for his native land a little more advanced than usual, must expect martyrdom, punishment or reproach." Congressman Johnson is in advance of his or any other organized political party of the present day, inasmuch as he has the courage of his convictions, while political parties and a large number of their officials, have not; fear, self-interest evidently govern what otherwise might be their independence of action, while he, realizing what is needed to save our free and native land, like a brave and true soldier, regardless of personal consequences, takes the position where most needed as an advocate and friend of good and well-managed railroads and other needed enterprises, free silver coinage and the interest of our workmen as well as those of enterprising capitalists. "Cast off the gang plank." As "self-preservation is the first law of nature." These patriotic words, so bravely spoken, will go ringing down the ages and serve as a watchword of inspiration for patriotic sons of noble stress to again rally with renewed enthusiasm and determination to preserve their bequeathed heritage and in turn transmit it to their posterity. Therefore, if needs be, he can well afford to face reproach, punishment—martyrdom even—from the rabble, for there is at present a great body of organized, intelligent, patriotic, determined Americans, who, believing that "eternal vigilance is the price of liberty," are anxious to defend and cast their votes for and follow the leadership of fearless men and true.

"Give us the nerve of steel, And the arm of fearless might, And the strength of will that is ready still, To battle for the right."

"For the foeman is now abroad, And the earth is filled with crimes; Let it be our prayer to God, Oh! give us the men for the times."

AMERICAN MECHANIC.

Sacramento, April 4, 1896.

BLUEROCKS SHATTERED.

Spoonbills Who Were Not Afraid of a Little April Shower.

Owing to the rain yesterday the Captain of the Spoonbill Bluerock Club called off the shoot announced for yesterday at Agricultural Park. But several of the members insisted on having a shoot, anyhow, and the following scores were made:

Thomas 111011111111011111-22
Danna 111011111111011111-19
Gruher 111011111111011111-19
Newbert 111011111111011111-17
Flohr 100111111111011111-16
Soule 111011111111011111-15
Bates 111011111111011111-15

Then a ten-bird match was shot off, with the following result: Gruher 011101111-8
Newbert 011110111-8
Flohr 0110101-7
Danna 110001111-6
Thomas 010101101-6
Soule 111000111-5
Bates 111001011-5

Newbert and Flohr shot a special match at 15 bluerocks, the former to break three more with gold dust powder than the latter could with California smokeless. Each broke 11 of the 15, and the important question as to the relative merits of the powder (as well as of the skill of the shooters) remains unsolved.

RIFLE SCORES.

Easter and the Rain Cause a Very Light Attendance.

Owing to yesterday being Easter Sunday, and a very wet one, the usual number of military men did not go out to the ranges for the regular weekly practice. Those who did, and their scores, are as follows: Lieutenant Hughes, 41; Sergeant McMartin, 39; Sergeant Gunther, 41; Corporal Nutting, 47; Corporal Perkins, 43; Corporal Howerton, 49; Private Moon, 47; Private Showalter, 42; Private Connor, 42; Private Anton, 36; Private Holton, 34.

Pool-shooting—Sergeant McMartin, 42; Lieutenant Hughes, 44; Corporal Perkins, 42; Private Connor, 42.

AMUSEMENTS.

This and to-morrow evenings at the Metropolitan Theater the American Extravaganza Company will present "Sinbad, or the Maid of Balasa." It is the brilliant of Mr. Henderson's productions. Freshness, we are assured, marks all the setting, and so much that it entirely novel attracts the eye and ear that the performance has almost if not all the interest of a new production. When "Sinbad" was presented at the Chicago Opera-house two years ago it ran 526 consecutive nights.

Panoramas, tableaux, gay illusions, fantastic dances, adroit burlesque, dainty and original costumes, spirited music, innocuous mirthful patter, gorgeous blendings of multi-colored lights, brilliant corps de ballet, these are some of the incidents and features of this artistic extravaganza. Frederick Dangerfield's pictures, said to be very beautiful; the panorama of the sea voyage, with the creeping caravels of Columbus, the grand ships of the white squadron, and the superb, fast-flying Paris, moving majestically across the stage, is probably the most successful bit of realistic painting yet done by this clever artist. The crowning feature of the third act, "The Frozen Valley of Diamonds," is a beautiful specimen of the scenic painter's skill, and is not inferior to the best work done on the French stage. The costumes exceed in exquisiteness of design and richness of material anything heretofore seen. The ensemble in the ballet fantaisie introduced into the third act is sumptuously colored and diversified. The dance illustrating winter pastimes is unique and highly picturesque. The cast is strong. The title role is taken admirably by Miss Louise Elissing, who combines a pretty face, a handsome figure, a flexible soprano voice and strong dramatic aptitudes. Frankie Raymond (Ninetta) shows quite a bit of daintiness. The trying role of Maraschino is played by Miss Marta Rainford with rollicking humor and without a touch of the ridiculous. She is a capital comedienne. Hugh Chilvers will be seen in the part of Snarleyow. His make-up is piratical; he has one of the strongest of baritone voices. Oscar Girard, the comedian of the piece, has everywhere created a favorable impression upon the representatives of that rapidly increasing class of theater patrons who believe that the best humor is not biting, and that an act or a sentiment which is out of place in a parlor is out of place on the stage. Miss Eloise Willard as Salamagundi is pretty and vivacious. Miss Flora Evans is Cupid. Harry Carter plays the part of Count Maledetto. Harry Clay Blaney, the Old Man of the Sea, cuts quite a figure and is very amusing. The picturesque parts are played by Lydia Payne, Dot Carter, Berenice McIlmoyle and May Armstrong. The company leaves Wednesday forenoon for Stockton, thus not being driven to cut the show at any performance.

The Hodges Stock Company will open the Clunie Opera-house this evening with Bronson Howard's comedy "Armistoga." Mr. Hodges has several times produced the play and thoroughly understands its needs for success. The new company, which we have heretofore described at length, is cast for the comedy as follows: Robert Sackett, Walter Hodges; Jack Benedict, Charles Lottian; Papa Vanderpool, William R. Gleason; Hon. William Carter, J. T. Spickert; Remington Pere, W. S. Hutchings; Sir Mortemer Muttonleg, Warren Dibble; Cornelius Withered, Charles Howard; Luddington Whist, Walden Smith; Frank Carter, Edmund Crane; Gyp, Russell Harper; four bell boys; the four coons; Effie Remington, Mina Gleason; Lucy Carter, Edythe Romer; Olivia Alston, Lulu Adams; Virginia Vanderpool, Charlotte Sheldon; Mrs. Vanderpool, Maggie Francis. A number of specialty acts will be introduced by the comedians. The company yesterday afternoon held a dress rehearsal of the comedy, and it was very satisfactory to the management. The play went with snap and sparkle throughout, and the parts were found to be all well filled and the actors thoroughly up in their parts and intelligent as to their meaning.

New Songs Were Sung.

A series of special meetings were held at the Salvation Army headquarters yesterday and last evening. The singing of new songs was a feature, and several new movements of the hands, as accompaniment to the music, were practiced and taken up by the audiences.
