ON THE SHARK. A Boy's Composition on the Habit of Fish.

An examiner of lads under sixteen for the Civil Service Commission gave for a question, "Describe the habits of fish."

Here is the literal transcript of one out of a batch of some hundreds of answers:

"ON THE HABITS OF FISH. 'The shark is about twenty feet long and has five rows of teeth when the sharks is going to catch its prey it turns on its side. The sharks are found in India, where they are very numerous in Africa, etc. They way they catch sharks is lowering a piece of meat on a sharp hook (and sailors will do it for amusement), and the shark is very hungry always, that he will grab at the meat and find himself caught.

"One of his foes are the sord fish it will go and run its sword through its stomach.

"When the shark has been flitting about on the water for some time it gets a lot of small fish in its mouth and they will go and lay on the beach and let small birds come in their mouth and pick them off and will not hear them. The shark can live in water and on land. Going from England to India, you will see sharks in the Nile, they will follow ships for many miles on purpose to get some meat, and then perhaps not get any. They are different kinds of sharks, the Black Shark, etc.

"The shark is a very curious animal, it can lay its teeth down when not catching any food.

"Once upon a time there was a ship going to America, and on board some slaves were packed so close together that they could not live, and the captain of the ship you'st to let some come upon deck, and many of the slaves you'st to jump overboard, and be eat with sharks, so the captain determined to stop it if he could. So one day a black slave woman was just in the acted to jump overboard when the captain caught her, and had as many slaves as he could get upon deck. And then he had a rope fastened around her waist, and lowered her overboard, when a shark came and bit a half off her off, and then the captain had the other half pulled up and down to the slaves on deck, and then said to them that he would do any one of them the same if he jumped overboard."—London Church Times.

Some Fine Property. Stranger (to Kansas City citizen)—Those three corner lots of yours are fine property, Captain.

Citizen (enthusiastically)—Fine property? Why, great Scott, man, there ain't nothing like 'em west of the Illinois River! Two years from now they'll be in the heart of the city, and 'people will fairly howl for 'em. They ought to come under the head of jewelry, not real estate. If you want to buy that property, stranger, you've got to buy it by the inch.

Stranger—I'm not buying property this morning. I'm the new Tax Assessor.

The citizen falls in a faint.—Harlem Life.

A Good Memory. "When I was 13," began the spinster, "I had a wonderful memory you have, 'antle," put in her thoughtful niece.—Bay City Chat.

Nearly everybody needs a spring medicine. The impurities which have accumulated in the blood during the winter must be expelled. The success achieved by Hood's Sarsaparilla is unequalled.

Coughs and hoarseness. The irritation that induces coughing is immediately relieved by using Brown's Bronchial Troches. A simple and safe remedy.
