

THE SAILOR BOY A HARD GAME TO BEAT.

Champion Corbett Worsted in the Glove Contest With Sharkey.

Friends Admit He Could Not Have Lasted Another Round.

The Police, at Corbett's Calling, Interfere Near the Conclusion of the Fourth Round, and the Referee Declares the Fight a Draw.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 4.—"They fought like dubs," was the brief but truthful expression of a small boy who stood by the ringside at the conclusion of the Corbett-Sharkey fight to-night. Although the event was declared a draw, Corbett's most generous friends admit that he was worsted, and that he could not have lasted another round.

As the men stepped into the ring many of Corbett's admirers remarked that he seemed to lack virility. Sharkey was nervous but strong. At the call of time Corbett was smiling and confident, while the sailor was fidgety but aggressive. After the mutual admiration was concluded, Corbett reached for Sharkey's jaw with his right and landed a beautiful blow, but the sailor never wince. On the contrary, it seemed to wake him up, and he rushed at Corbett and a clinch followed.

The Australian then woke up and returned blow for blow, forcing the Omaha man across the ring, both going down through the ropes. When both had regained their feet some vicious work followed. Smith sent Davis down on his back with a left-handed swing. Davis arose after three seconds and then fell over on his knees. With one great effort he finally stood up only to receive another blow that sent him across the ring against one of the padded posts, just about knocked out, and referee Choyinski gave Smith the decision.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U.S. Gov't Report

Realizing that he was helpless, Corbett called upon Captain Wittman, who stepped in and thrust Sharkey to his corner. The sailor was still full of fight, however, and he struggled with his three seconds and three policemen who tried to force him into a chair. Corbett stood meekly in the center of the ring and wagged his jaw at the referee. A number of officers rushed into the ring, and the audience howled in derision. Corbett sat down in his corner and attempted to smile, while Delaney and Green revived him. There he remained for fully twenty minutes, and many were cruel enough to say that he was too fatigued to retire to his quarters.

Meanwhile Sharkey ran over and grasped Joe Choyinski by the hand. His right eye was badly swollen, but he was game and still had several rounds of fight left in him.

After the usual handshaking the sailor ran nimbly down the steps and went to his dressing-room amid tremendous cheering. The champion sat humbly in his corner explaining to the newspaper men just how it happened. He protested that it was a wrestling match, but few believed him. After an announcement that the fight was declared a draw, the 10,000 spectators left the building surprised at the outcome.

Later in the night Corbett recovered his conversational powers and explained his miserable showing to his friends as best he could.

Sharkey had little to say. "I fought from the call of time," was his reply to a question, "and if Corbett had not hung on my neck all the time the result might have been different."

The first bout of the evening was six rounds between Charley Rochette and Jack Howard of San Francisco, lightweights, and was called at 9:20 and given to Rochette at the end of the fifth round by Referee Choyinski. Rochette, hitting his man almost at will, "Australian" Billy Smith and Jack Davis of Omaha, heavyweights, were the next to don the gloves. It was announced as an eight-round contest. Davis assumed the aggressive as soon as the men had advanced to the center and landed several times on his opponent's face, one of his blows drawing blood. The work was light during the rest of the round. Davis at one time went to work when the gong sounded for the second round. He rushed Smith to the ropes.

REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.

Plank Referring to Use of Public Money for Sectarian Schools Killed.

ST. LOUIS, June 24.—It was stated last night that it was thought the influence of Archbishop Ireland that a plank proposed by the American Protective Association was not adopted as part of the platform of the recent Republican National Convention in this city.

The word was given out that Colonel Sellers, President of the National Council of Patriotic Associations of the United States, was at work to get a plank into the platform indorsing the A. P. A. On the very day Colonel Sellers sent a copy of what he wanted embodied in the platform to Mr. Forsaker, Chairman of the Committee on Resolutions, the following telegram was received by Thomas H. Carter, Chairman of the Republican National Committee, from Archbishop Ireland:

ST. PAUL (Minn.), June 14th. To Hon. Thomas H. Carter, National Committee: The clause in the proposed platform opposing the use of public money for sectarian purposes is unnecessary and uncalled for. It is urged by the A. P. A. Its adoption would be taken as a concession to them, will awaken religious animosity in the country, and do much harm. The Republican party should not lower itself to recognize directly or indirectly the A. P. A. I hope the clause, or anything like it, will not be adopted.

JOHN IRELAND. Colonel Sellers, in an interview said that he gave a copy of the platform of the Patriotic Societies to Forsaker, and also to Senator Gear of Iowa. He was also told by the latter that the paragraph relating to the appropriation from the United States Treasury for sectarian purposes would be incorporated and that the committee had taken favorable action upon it. Later in the day (Wednesday) he was surprised to learn from a member of the committee that its action had been reconsidered, and that there would be nothing in the platform in that regard. All this is now explained by the telegram from the Archbishop at St. Paul. The dispatch was read by Chairman Carter to Edward Lauterbach of New York, one of the big four from that State, and he, with National Committeeman Kerens of this city, went before the committee and succeeded in knocking out all reference to the church.

CORNELL'S VICTORY.

Her Crew Won the Four-Cornered Freshmen Race.

POUGHKEEPSIE (N. Y.), June 24.—Cornell won the four-cornered freshmen race this afternoon, defeating Harvard by a length and a quarter in ten minutes and eighteen seconds. Harvard was three-quarters of a length in front of Pennsylvania, while Columbia, which was never in the race, was beaten over ten lengths.

Columbia and Harvard got off slightly the best of what was only a fair start. Cornell getting off third, while University of Pennsylvania got away very badly. Pennsylvania made up her way quickly, and to the half-mile mark it was a desperate race for the lead between Cornell and Harvard, with Pennsylvania rapidly closing the gap. At the half-mile the Harvard boat's nose was just in front of Cornell, Pennsylvania was hanging on the stern of the red and white, and Columbia was laboring in distress a length in the rear of the Quakers.

Off Pennsylvania quarters a cheer from the Ithaca delegation announced that Cornell had shot in front of the crimson. Faster and faster the Cornell shell shot through the water as Carter quicken the stroke. Nearing the bridge Pennsylvania spurred. Going under the bridge the order was: Cornell clear of Harvard's canvas, University of Pennsylvania lapped on the crimson, and Columbia coming hopelessly four lengths astern.

Then a desperate race commenced. Inch by inch the Quakers gained upon Harvard, until half a mile from home the two were level and going after Cornell. Opposite the Cornell boat house the Cornell were a clear length in front of Pennsylvania and Harvard, who were rowing bow and bow in a desperate race. The Harvard coxswain shouted at his men for a final effort. Cornell was to the finish line a length and a quarter ahead of Harvard, who were three-quarters of a length in front of the Quakers. Columbia came in completely played out ten lengths behind.

The time follows: Cornell, 10:18; Harvard, 10:22; Pennsylvania, 10:25; Columbia, 10:51.

EX-SENATOR LYMAN TRUMBULL.

Passed Away at Chicago at an Early Hour This Morning.

CHICAGO, June 25.—Ex-Senator Lyman J. Trumbull died at an early hour this (Thursday) morning. He has been very ill for several days.

Ex-Senator Lyman J. Trumbull was born in Colchester, Conn., October 2, 1813. He was the son of Benjamin Trumbull, who was a lawyer and legislator of renown in New England. He settled in Illinois when a young man.

In 1840 he was elected to the State Legislature when Abraham Lincoln was a member of that body. The following year he was appointed Secretary of State. In 1848 he was elected a Justice of the Supreme Court, and served two terms. In 1854 he was elected to Congress as an anti-Nebraska Democrat. In February, 1855, before the opening of the Congress to which he had been chosen, he was elected United States Senator, re-elected in 1861 and 1865, serving sixteen years. His Senatorial services were invaluable in shaping legislation and sustaining the administration during the war of the rebellion. At the expiration of his term of service in the Senate he resumed the practice of his profession in Chicago.

MANY SERIOUSLY INJURED.

An Unfortunate Accident Occurs at a Society Circus.

SPRINGFIELD (Ill.), June 24.—G. Orndorff, the well-known Illinois politician, re-elected in 1861 and 1865, serving sixteen years. His Senatorial services were invaluable in shaping legislation and sustaining the administration during the war of the rebellion. At the expiration of his term of service in the Senate he resumed the practice of his profession in Chicago.

The preparations for the occasion were on an elaborate scale. Seats had been built in tiers resembling a regular circus. They were packed with people, and a few minutes before the performance was to begin the seats nearest the street collapsed without warning, precipitating the occupants to the ground. Quite a serious panic ensued.

Medical aid was quickly summoned, and all the injured were removed to their homes, where they were cared for. The most seriously hurt beside the ones named are Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Brainerd, Miss E. W. Dana and Mrs. J. L. Hudson. The injuries ran from slight cuts and bruises to broken limbs and injured spines. It is not thought any of the injured will die.

STOCKTON BANKS.

The County Assessor Examining Into Their Condition.

STOCKTON, June 24.—To-day County Assessor Ortman began his examination of bank officials of this county for the purpose of learning whether they have concealed anything when making up assessment statements. He is convinced that the banks are withholding information, and proposes to put the officials under oath and make them tell just what funds, solvent credits, etc., were on hand the first Monday of March.

The Stockton Savings Bank was the first one examined. The rest of the banks are to be examined within the next few days. The bankers are obeying the order of the Assessor very reluctantly. At first the representatives of the Stockton Savings Bank refused to be sworn, but finally consented.

OHIO DEMOCRACY.

The State Convention Adopts a Strong Silver Platform.

COLUMBUS (O.), June 24.—The Democrats of Ohio in convention assembled to-day adopted a strong silver platform. Allen W. Thurman, E. B. Finley, L. E. Holden and John D. McLean were chosen delegates at large, and W. E. Decker, Casper W. Hopley, P. H. Degner, John W. Conwell alternates.

The State ticket nominated is as follows: Supreme Judge, E. K. Blodinn, Cleveland; Secretary of State, Chilton A. White; Food Commissioner, Patrick McKeown, Cincinnati; Member Board of Public Works, William Beaumont, Licking County.

The convention was called to order by Chairman Smalley at 10:30 this morning. W. A. Taylor was introduced as Temporary Chairman. In the course of his address he said:

"The danger which threatens this country is not her rich mines of gold and silver, but that grasping financial policy which has made England the home of landlords and tenants and which, being surreptitiously ingrafted upon our own laws by the Sherman Act of 1873, has made it possible to turn the United States Treasury into a broker shop and enrich a foreign syndicate, with unpatriotic American connections, by compelling the issue of the bonds of the people to keep intact a stock of gold, which it turns to its own sinister account at pleasure. You have no war to make on capital. You will make no war upon it. You intend to respect its rights, and you intend that it shall respect your rights. If you did more or did less than these things you would be unworthy the title of an American."

At the end of Colonel Taylor's speech the report of the Committee on Resolutions was called for, and the overwhelming vote by which the report was adopted showed that any opposition from the gold delegates would be futile. The AUSTIN (Tex.), June 24.—The Democratic Convention adopted a platform to-day which favors the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, independent of the action of any nation, and demands that a law be enacted by Congress making gold and silver coined at that ratio full legal tender. Governor Culbertson, J. H. Reagan, H. Clifton, H. Duncan, Congressman Bailey, E. O. Senter, W. A. Oaks, and ex-Governor Hogg were elected delegates.

The Chicago delegation was instructed to vote for Bland if in their judgment at Chicago he proves the most available free silver Democrat. He was declared to be the choice of the Democracy of Texas.

TELLER'S CANDIDACY.

It All Depends Upon Who the Democrats Put Up.

CHICAGO, June 24.—The "Tribune" says: Senator Thomas H. Carter of Montana arrived in the city yesterday, and left in the evening for Washington. He held a long consultation with Senator Lee Mantle, which is said to have dealt with the prospects of securing an indorsement of Senator Teller's candidacy at the approaching Democratic Convention.

Senator Carter said in case the Democrats put up a man whom the silver people could conscientiously support, Senator Teller would probably withdraw. He declined to say what course he would follow, remarking that events would shape that.

CHANCE FOR HOME SEEKERS.

Half of the Colville Indian Reservation to be Opened for Settlement.

PORTLAND (Or.), June 24.—The north half of Colville Indian Reservation, comprising several thousand acres in Washington and Idaho, will be thrown open to homestead settlement within forty days, according to Commissioner S. W. Lamoreaux of the United States Land Office. One of the principal objects of Commissioner Lamoreaux's trip through the Northwest is to consult with the Surveyor-General of Oregon and expedite his work. The party returns home via California and Salt Lake.

The opening of this vast tract of land is expected to produce a big boom for immigration to the Northwest.

"The Colville Reservation will be thrown open in forty days from the time I return East provided the Secretary agrees with me," said Commissioner Lamoreaux to-day. "I hope to have a force of surveyors at work on the reservation probably within a few days from the time I return. This year $550,000 was available for the Land Department, which sum is far in excess of the usual amount, and which will aid very materially in furthering our work. The Land Offices I have visited are in excellent condition, and the work of granting patents is done more quickly and smoothly now than ever."

CAPE TOWN, June 24.—John Hayes Hammond, one of the leaders of the Johannesburg Reform Committee recently released from imprisonment, sailed for England yesterday.
