dairy districts East and South. Native grasses ripen and cure here retaining their full nutriment, while East it is soon bleached out with the frequent showers and constant dew.

Major Alvord was surprised that creameries were not more generally established, and predicted that they would soon be general, as in the East.

Before returning to Washington the Major will visit Oregon and Washington. He expressed much interest in what he had seen and a desire to see more of the Golden State.

Dairy Products.

The Committee on Dairy Products last night awarded medals in the fifth department.

Creamery butter—Humboldt County Creamery Exchange, gold and silver medals; score, 94 points.

Second best—Same, silver medal. California Cheddar cheese—Fallon Creamery Company, gold medal; 95 points.

California "Flats" (cheese)—Pescadero Creamery Company, silver medal; 96 points.

FINE AFTERNOON'S SPORT.

Fast Running and Close Finishes in Most of the Races.

The Largest Attendance of Any Day During the Present Meeting.

There were more people at the Park yesterday than on any day since the fair opened. All the stands were packed, and there was hardly room for one to move in the space beneath.

There were fortunately no accidents in this race, though there came near being a couple. Huntsman struck the second hurdle, but did not go down, and Baby Bill laid the last one flat, he too, escaping a fall.

While all the finishes were close and exciting, that between Arnette and Libertine in the six-furlong handicap was a "corker." In the books just before the race odds of iron 10 to 15 to 1 were offered against Arnette, while but 1 to 3 was offered on Libertine.

It was one of the chances for "outsiders" to pick up a few dollars on small investments, and many laid down their one-dollar and two-dollar bets on her at the big odds, while the heavy bettors staid with their sure thing. It was the general opinion that Arnette won, and when the judges had her number changed on the indicator from first to second place after it had been run up, the backers of Arnette roared. It was certainly a very close finish, and if it had been declared a dead heat there would have been little, if any, fault to find.

In the fifth race Favory, with odds of 8 to 1 against her, surprised the talent by beating Rummel, at 6 to 5, in 1:14 3/4. The favorite was heavily backed, but Favory beat him so handily that there was no chance for dispute.

There were six events on the card, concluding with a hurdle race, making a very fine afternoon's sport. The track was in excellent condition, and Havey operated the starting gates in good shape.

FIRST RACE.

The first race was eleven-sixteenths of a mile, and the starters were Dolore 106, 2 to 5, Principle 105, 3 to 1, Amelia S. 103, 10 to 1, Billy 104, 10 to 1, Grandezia 97, 10 to 1.

Amelia S. was the first to get away, followed by Grandezia and Principle. In this order they ran to the three-quarters, where Dolore began to show up. Coming home the latter went easily to the front, and won by two lengths from Grandezia in 1:07, Amelia S. third.

SECOND RACE.

The next was selling, three-fourths of a mile, for three-year-olds and upward, with a field composed of Bernardo 98, 40 to 1, Theima 98, 2 1/2 to 1, George L. 107, 60 to 1, Ricardo 98, 5 to 1, La Flecha 98, 15 to 1, Encino 92, 12 to 1, Silver State 101, 20 to 1, Miss Pellard 95, 12 to 1, Chartreuse II, 104, went from even money to 7 to 10, Howard 107, 12 to 1, Sea Spray 108, 8 to 1, Mainstay 108, 10 to 1.

Mainstay set the pace for a half mile, with Chartreuse next, the others well bunched. In the last quarter Chartreuse went to the front and won by two lengths in 1:14 1/4. Mainstay second and Sea Spray third.

The winner had been entered to sell at $500, but was run up to $705, at which figure her owner bid her in.

THIRD RACE.

This was a grand race and a fight from start to finish. Installator led first past the stand, with Wheel of Fortune at his flank, Articus third, Marcell fourth, and Claudius last. The position were unchanged at the quarter, except that Articus was even-up with Marcell in third place. At the half, with Installator and Wheel of Fortune still leading, Marcell went third. Side by side the leaders went around the turn and into the stretch, Installator having about a head the better of his rival. They were nose-and-nose at the draggate, but there Wheel of Fortune showed her game-ness and speed by pulling out and beating the son of Brutus by a half-length in the excellent time of 2:07 1/2. Articus a close third, Marcell fourth and Claudius last.

FOURTH RACE.

This was a handicap, three-fourths of a mile, for three-year-olds and upward, between Arnette 95, 15 to 1, Bellicoso 109, 3 to 1, Olive 95, 15 to 1, Libertine 116, 1 to 3.

Bellicoso led away, with Arnette by his side, but after passing the half Libertine went to the front. Missing the head of the stretch little Arnette came on with a rush, and the three were about on even terms at the three-quarters.

The pace to the stand was too hot for Bellicoso, which fell back and gave the third position to Olive. Arnette and Libertine were running a dead heat as they reached the stand, but the mare seemed to have a nose the best of it as the line was reached in 1:14. Her number was first run up and then changed by the judges, who gave the heat to Libertine.

FIFTH RACE.

Next on the long programme came a selling race, three-fourths of a mile, for three-year-olds and upward, with Nie Nae 75, 4 to 1, Tobey 81, 3 1/2 to 1, Glad-100, 15 to 1, Santuzza 98, 12 to 1, Charles A. 98, 8 to 1, Warrago 98, 15 to 1, Favory 105, 8 to 1, Tonino 96, 15 to 1, Red Idle 89, 60 to 1, Equity 95, 30 to 1, Rummel 97, 6 to 5, Lady Gray 79, 50 to 1.

It looked as if it would be Rummel's race up to near the outcome, where Favory, an 8 to 1 shot, flew to the front and won in a drive by a half-length from Rummel, Tobey third. Time, 1:14 3/4.

SIXTH RACE.

The last event of the day was a hurdle handicap, one and one-quarter miles, in which the starters were Gold Dust 143, 6 to 1, Baby Bill 149, 3 to 1, J. O. C. 135, Ora 137, 10 to 1, Huntsman 130, 8 to 5, My Sweetheart 125, 3 to 1.

There were fortunately no accidents in this race, though there came near being a couple. Huntsman struck the second hurdle, but did not go down, and Baby Bill laid the last one flat, he too, escaping a fall. Sweetheart did not run after about a half mile, but had been covered, and won in 2:18 1/2. J. O. C. second, and Baby Bill third.

Five Running Events—Ruinart and Vincto to Meet.

There are five running races on the card for to-day, and some of them should be of the sensational order. In one Vincto and Ruinart are to come together in a mile contest for superiority, in which Grady will also cut a figure. PARK ATTRACTIONS.

Yesterday's Parade—Ladies' Tournament This Forenoon.

The interest in the stock parades, which have been prominent features at Agricultural Park for the past two weeks, culminated yesterday when California's choicest herds and flocks of thoroughbreds passed in review before the grand stand bedecked with their premium ribbons.

The procession was led by John Laferty's fine span of carriage horses, and was followed by the herds and flocks in the order heretofore published.

Noticeable in the parade was Mrs. E. W. Callendine's premium winning bright chestnut colt by the fast pacer Diablo, its dam being Abbie Woodnat. The colt wore a harness of pure white and attracted much attention. Every one pronounced it beautiful, but its owner prizes the colt more for its high breeding and the promise it gives of being a flyer.

The spectators expressed general satisfaction with the awarding of premiums, it being apparent that the animals were wearing the ribbons to which they were justly entitled, and were judged by men who made the awards on actual merit. There were a few disgruntled owners, who complained because they had been outranked, but they formed only an exception to the general rule.

LADIES' TOURNAMENT. This forenoon the ladies' riding tournament will be concluded. The competitors for public favor (and the society's cash prizes) will appear at 10 o'clock and go through the usual procedure of demonstrating how gracefully and skillfully women can ride and drive.

There are some very dashing riders among the contestants in this year's tournament, and several who can handle the lines over fast steppers "as well as the next man."

No doubt there will be a large crowd at the Park this forenoon to witness this pretty and stirring feature of the fair.

SPECIAL MENTION.

Thousands Pleased and Instructed by Baker & Hamilton's Exhibit.

People engaged in ranching, in the dairy business or interested in bicycling, will find no parts of the Pavilion more interesting than those occupied by Baker & Hamilton. Their exhibit is divided into three parts, the bicycle display, the exhibit of agricultural implements and the attractive collection of creamery dairy and butter and cheese factory supplies.

The principal feature of the bicycle exhibit is the handsome Tribune, costing $1,000, and inlaid with gold and pearl. Baker & Hamilton are agents for the Tribune, which ranks with the highest grade wheels in the world, and sole Pacific Coast agents for the same and Wright tires. Samples of the Win-ton and Featherstone low-priced wheels for juveniles are also shown. A feature of the bicycle exhibit was an attachment to a Tribune tandem for traveling on railway tracks. It was made for a gentleman who lives at Candelaria, Nev., an officer of the railway, which is used in the show of agricultural implements are plows, harrows, reapers, carts, wagons and many small implements, mostly of Benicia manufacture.

In the lower left wing is the exhibit of dairy and creamery supplies, including a dozen cream separators of varying sizes, and running in cost from $65 to $500. The firm are sole agents of the De LaVal and Sharples separators. There are also cheese presses, churns, vats, butter workers and butter molds and cutters, and, in short, every article in use or need around a dairy creamery or butter or cheese factory.

A BULLET IN HIS TEMPLE.

The Pistol in His Clenched Hand Told the Tale.

Walker Henry Howard Found Dead at the Y Street Levee Yesterday.

A man was found yesterday morning on the south side of the levee at Seventh and Y streets who had apparently been dead a couple of weeks. A ragged bullet hole in the right temple, nearly in line between the eye and ear, and a 32-caliber Smith & Wesson revolver clenched in his right hand with an empty cartridge told the tale of his death, and the Coroner was summoned and took possession of the body. It was dressed in a stylish suit of clothes and a derby hat of late make, and was apparently that of a man of about 30 years old, who wore a light brown mustache.

A pocketbook was found in his inside pocket which contained letters showing that the man was Walker Henry Howard, an expert mining engineer, who had done much business with large firms in other countries and had been an extensive traveler.

One of the letters was written by Edward Telfair Witter, United States Consul at Tamatave, Madagascar, to Patrick J. Collins, United States Consul-General at London, and introduced "Dr. E. R. Sherley of Missouri and Mr. W. H. Howard of Illinois, who are visiting Paris in the hope of enlisting English capital in mining ventures in Madagascar," and speaks of them both as practical men from Matabeland, where he understands they were successful. It is dated June 18, 1896.

A letter dated at Bulawayo, February 22, 1895, states that a special meeting of the Fair Nugget Syndicate had been held on the 16th, at which it was resolved to purchase twenty claims from Howard as per his refusal of fourteen days, dated on the 12th, and asked him to come to town as early as possible and transfer the ground. Other letters from different firms treat of pending negotiations in the African gold fields.

Still another letter, dated March 26, 1896, is from the manager of the African Banking Corporation, Limited, of Johannesburg, advising him of the sending to him of seventy-nine pounds sterling, at the request of the bank's Bulawayo branch.

Then there is a contract in French showing that W. H. Howard, E. J. Shirley, James N. Simon, Thomas F. Hume and Richard Keit entered into a contract on May 26, 1896, with Edward Pettitau, who held permission from the French Government to mine for precious metals in Madagascar, and who transferred to the parties named his rights in consideration of sharing in the profits.

The pocket-book also contained a printed list of passengers on the steamship Rhyndland, American line, which sailed from Liverpool on July 22, 1896. Among the cabin passengers appears the name of H. Howard. Among the documents also are a passenger's check on the steamer Walla Walla, showing that he had taken first-class passage on her to San Francisco, and a business card of the Hotel Garner, Chatham, Ontario, on which was written, "Complaint, Asinineboine."

The register of the Western Hotel shows that the Howard paid for five lodgings in advance on the 5th of this month, and the proprietor, William Land, and Mr. Morrison, the day clerk, recollect him as a very pleasant, good-natured guest, who was well dressed.

A young man named St. Rollins of San Francisco, who was with Howard considerably during his stay at the hotel, describes him as a jolly fellow, always cheerful and kind. He says Howard told him that he was locating mining claims in Matabeland at a salary of $600 a month and commissions until the war drove him out, but he intended returning when everything was settled. He was reckless with his money, and one night he played against a game till he lost all. The next day he took to his room, and he was found dead in the morning. He was wearing a fine white full of clothes, his gold watch and diamond ring and pawned them all for $24, and blew that in also.

On Friday morning they went together to the telegraph office, where Howard wished to send a dispatch to his father in Chicago, asking him to send some money to him, but as the operator would not send it without pay in advance, and neither of them had the money it was not sent, and that day about 1:30 o'clock Howard disappeared and Rollins had not seen him since. He seemed to be in good spirits at the time, but must have killed himself soon after. Rollins cannot remember the first name of Howard's father or the address in Chicago.
