

STATE GRANGE AT FOLSOM.

The Visitors View the Prison, Falls and Power-House.

Ladies and Citizens of the Town Extend to Them Most Cordial Hospitality.

The State Grange did not confine itself to the dull routine of business yesterday, but went picnicking instead.

The Committee of Arrangements was composed of D. Flint, Chairman, William Bryant, Vice-Chairman, E. Greer, Secretary, L. Simblers, Treasurer, and J. Corneli, J. H. Hayden, E. Lynch, T. Waite, J. Reese, C. Greenwald, F. Filcher, C. Donaldson, D. Reese, A. Plummer, Miss Etta Plummer, Mrs. S. H. Jackman, Mrs. N. Robinson, Mrs. G. C. McMullen, Mrs. J. Gould, Mrs. J. Greenwald, Mrs. F. Filcher, Mrs. J. Boyd, Miss Etta Cornell and Mrs. Kerr, and they had arranged a programme for the week of officers' reports and the considering of resolutions.

One of the things in the shape of recreation that had been planned was an excursion to see the big electric power plant, rock-crushing plant and State Prison at Folsom, and E. Greer, J. Holmes, J. H. Hayden, M. Sprague and D. Flint were the Excursion Committee, to which the work devolved. They are all members of Sacramento Grange, which had deputed that the visiting delegates should have an enjoyable day. With that end in view, therefore, they bestirred themselves to activity and had looked after every detail with such care that not a single hitch occurred during the trip to mar its enjoyment.

At 9 a. m. eight cars were filled with members of the grange and their friends and steamed away for Folsom, carrying with them the banner of the State Grange. The train had been put in charge of E. Greer, with right of way of the track and the privilege of stopping at any stations desired in order to take on passengers. As a consequence, before it reached Folsom there were over 500 passengers aboard. The day was all that could be desired, and as the cars whirled along, observations were made of the objects at which they were looking, and expressions of approval as the train swept on. It passed the 1,200-acre Natoma vineyard, which was a revelation to most of the excursionists and swept into Folsom at 11 a. m.

Here the excursionists found the State's engine waiting, which had been sent down by Warden Aull to take the cars up to the prison. It found more, also, for the citizens of Folsom had turned out to welcome the visitors, which they did in the most hospitable manner. The Folsom band, which is a credit to the little town, was also on hand and discoursed sweet music while the train was delayed. Warden Aull was also there to welcome the excursionists and accompany them to the prison. Away they went, up the river bank to the prison grounds, past the State's engine waiting, which had been sent down by Warden Aull to take the cars up to the prison. It found more, also, for the citizens of Folsom had turned out to welcome the visitors, which they did in the most hospitable manner.

Arrived at the prison grounds, Warden Aull instructed the guards to show the visitors through them, and also the inner workings of the prison. The dam and prison power-house were visited by the crowd, who, through this object lesson, learned more of the wonderful power that has reached out its fingers and started the wheels running in our fair city than they could have done by reading of it. The visitors were loud in their praise of the courtesy of Warden Aull and also of the neatness and cleanliness with which the prison is conducted. They returned to Folsom at 12:30 p. m., when they were again met by the citizens and escorted by the band to Fireman's Hall, where long tables were spread by the Folsom ladies, and they were hospitably made to feel at home.

What the tables contained may be guessed by the remark of one of the visitors, who said: "I wondered how in the world they would manage to feed this big crowd, but I need not have given it a thought, as there is enough left to feed another." Warm indeed were the compliments paid to the ladies of Folsom, not forgetting the men, by the delighted Grangers, who gave a practical test of their appreciation by keeping from spoiling as much of the bounteous feast as possible, but were forced at last to give over and use their ears in listening to a more formal welcome.

S. Cohen, for the citizens, gave a brief address, welcoming them to the town, and inviting them to visit the power-house near by, where the power is generated and transmitted to this city, and also the new sawmill, which is one of the most complete in the State, and the machinery of which has been put in. He called on W. W. Greer, Master of the State Grange, for a few remarks.

Mr. Greer said that the grange fully appreciated the welcome extended to them. They had been told they would be entertained, and of course expected to be so, but they had not anticipated the grand occasion, and had very much enjoyed it. They had been telling the people that the farmer was an important person and that he feeds them all. It was a pleasure for the farmer to be fed in turn on this occasion.

He would say to the members of the grange that for this welcome they ought to go out and see the power-house, and see the people and take them by the hand and show their appreciation of this reception.

He had found that the purposes of the grange organization were not generally understood. It is non-partisan and does not intrude into many men's politics or religion. It is founded in truth and equality and intended to benefit the people.

On motion of Thomas McConnell, a vote of thanks was tendered to the citizens and ladies for their reception, and on motion of W. W. Greer, a vote of thanks was tendered to Warden Aull for his kindness and to the Folsom

Band for the fine music they had furnished.

The assembly then broke up and the visitors went to see the power-house and saw mill, and then returned and occupied the dancing platform till the train left.

The excursionists were very enthusiastic over their reception by the Folsom citizens and the pleasure of the trip generally. They are loud in their praise of the officials of the road for their courtesy and aid in making the excursion a success and the unprecedentedly low rate of transportation and the privileges extended with regard to the management of the train.

The Committee of Arrangements of the Folsom citizens were S. Cohen, J. P. Cox and B. F. Bates, and they did their work well, and the citizens responded generously to their call. The homeward run was made at 4 p. m., and the party reached this city without hitch or accident, feeling that it had been one of the most pleasant days in their lives. In all the State Grange meetings, they say, they have never met a warmer welcome, and the memory of Folsom will be ever green in their hearts.

A DEAD FROST.

The So-Called Divine Healer Did Not Stay Long.

The man Schrader, who calls himself the "Divine Healer," spent but one day in Sacramento. He did not find a throng of weak-minded dupes following him about and seeking to be "healed," so he announced that the Lord had ordered him to other fields.

Schrader arrived in the city on Monday night and word was promptly telephoned to the "Record-Union" office that the "Divine Healer" had come to Sacramento and was ready to be interviewed. The healer was not interviewed. He was not given the opportunity to have himself advertised, and realizing that he was a decided "frost" in the Capital City, one day was enough for him.

Referring to his visit to Fresno, the "Republican" of that city says: "The passage of 'Divine Healer' Schrader through Fresno is of some interest. The man has created a little local interest in towns that he has visited, and there was a slight ripple of excitement over his advent here. He is a fakir, of course, he wears the insignia of that craft. His long hair, worn after the style seen in pictures of the Nazarene, his flowing robe of black happily adapted to attract attention, the sign 'Divine Healer Schrader' hung upon his breast above a crucifix—oharming juxtaposition of business and religion, with business, as it should be in this manner of a world, on top—all these things are so thoroughly characteristic of fakirish methods that no observant or intelligent person need hesitate to classify Schrader among the fakirs.

"This picturesque tramp with a genius of his own claims to have some particular touch of divinity upon him."

HODEL'S HORROR.

Thought He Was Pursued by Democrats and "Others."

Drs. Ward and Strader yesterday examined John Hodel, a diminutive tailor, who has been under restraint in the County Jail for several days on suspicion of being mentally unbalanced.

The man is not violent, and on the recommendation of the physicians Judge Hinkson directed that he be released. Hodel has a hallucination, or had when he was first taken to the jail. He imagined he was being pursued by hordes of Democrats and "low Irish," and that they had somehow caused him to lose vast sums of money. It is his condition was due to a free use of over-stimulating beverages. At all events, he appeared to be all right yesterday.

Weather Report.

The Weather Bureau reports show the highest and lowest temperatures yesterday to have been 87 and 57 degrees, with southerly winds and partly cloudy weather prevailing.

The barometrical readings at 5 a. m. and 5 p. m. yesterday were 29.90 and 29.80 inches, respectively.

The highest and lowest temperatures one year ago yesterday were 85 and 53 degrees, and one year ago to-day 78 and 52 degrees.

The mean temperature yesterday, 72 degrees, was 8 degrees above the normal for October 7th.

Casey Goes for Seventy Days.

Frank Casey was convicted in the Police Court yesterday of vagrancy and sent to the County Jail for seventy days.

The case of Pat Sullivan, charged with disturbing the peace, was continued till to-day.

A half-dozen drunks were allowed to go on their promise to turn their faces away from the tempting bowl.

Passed Away.

Peter McGregor, the Yolo pioneer whose critical illness was referred to some days ago in the "Record-Union," died at his home a few miles south of Washington on Tuesday night. Deceased came here in 1849 and was 82 years old. He leaves four sons—Joseph T., Daniel R., Samuel M. and Peter E. McGregor, and one daughter, Mrs. Mary Sturges.

Requisition Made.

Governor Budd yesterday issued a requisition on the Governor of Colorado for the return to this State of J. W. Strickler, who is believed to be at Del Paso, Col. Strickler is wanted at San Diego, where he is accused of selling one piece of land to two separate parties and leaving the State with the proceeds.

The Sisters' Hospital.

Work has been commenced on the new building for the Misericordiae Hospital at Twenty-second and R streets, conducted by the Sisters of Mercy. The hospital has been very successful since coming under the charge of the sisters, and larger and better accommodations for patients have become necessary.

Real Estate at Auction.

By order of James McKenna, administrator, D. J. Simmons & Co. will sell at auction at 10 a. m. to-day, on the premises, the house and lot at 1515 Fourth street.

Rushing the Season.

Suits for divorce have been filed by Lottie Conrad against Samuel Conrad, by F. E. Ray against Amelia E. Ray, by Sophia Mitchell against D. Mitchell and by Emelie Whitaker against C. N. Whitaker.

Probably Murdered.

On the bank of the American River, near Hangtown Crossing, the dead and fully decomposed body of a Chinaman was found yesterday. Its condition was such as to warrant the belief that the man was murdered.

Party at Perkins.

The Diamond P Social Club of Perkins will give a "tamale" social and dance there this evening. Recently the club gave a watermelon social.

DEMOCRATS HOWLING MAD.

They Threatened Mandamus Proceedings Yesterday

Against Secretary of State Brown—The State Ballot Will Be Certified To-Day.

The Democrats and Populists, who made separate nominations for Presidential Electors, seemed determined to occupy but one place on the State ballot to be used at the coming election for their Presidential Electors. After the Democrats had named their Electors and the Populists held a convention and named the same men. Now the Democrats are after Secretary of State Brown red-eyed with fury, demanding that their candidates' names be inserted only in one place on the ballot, as Democratic-Populist nominees.

The form of the ballot must be promulgated by the Secretary of State, and he having refused the demand of the Democrats, the leaders of that party are trying to force him to give them what they want, and what he holds they are not entitled to.

The order in which the Secretary of State has decided to certify the ballot is under the following headings: REPUBLICAN ELECTORS. PEOPLE'S PARTY ELECTORS. DEMOCRATIC ELECTORS. PROHIBITIONIST ELECTORS. NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC ELECTORS. SOCIALIST LABOR ELECTORS. NATIONAL ELECTORS.

Chairman Alvord of the Democratic State Committee yesterday asked Secretary of State Brown by telephone if he was going to give the "National Democratic" Electors a place on the ballot. (The Democrats hold that the Sound Money or National Democrats are not entitled thereto.)

Mr. Brown replied that he was. Alvord then asked if he intended certifying to De Vries as the Populist nominee for Congress in the Second District, to which Mr. Brown replied that he was not.

The Secretary of State was then asked if he would go to San Francisco to-day (Thursday) and allow the Democratic State Committee to serve papers on him to appear before the Supreme Court in a mandamus case.

Mr. Brown replied that he could not do so, as he must be in his office to certify to the form of ballot.

"Then," said Chairman Alvord, "we will take steps to enjoin you from certifying to De Vries as 'National Democratic' Electors." And we will send a messenger to Sacramento to-night with the papers in a mandamus suit to compel you to certify to De Vries as the nominee of the Populist party for Congressman in the Second District.

Alvord further said they would endeavor to compel Secretary Brown to embrace in one group and under one heading as the Democratic-Populist Electors the nominees of the Democratic and Populist parties.

Secretary of State Brown waited in his office until midnight last night to permit these proposed processes to be served on him, but no messenger came, although three railroad trains arrived from San Francisco.

Thus the matter stands at the present time, and the presumption is that to-day the Secretary will perform what he regards as his official duty in certifying to the form of ballot as determined on by him.

Whether or not the Democratic State Committee has decided to abandon its demand, or that steps will be taken this morning to prevent Mr. Brown from following out his purpose, remains to be seen.

ELI WAS GUILTY,

But He Had Cleaned Up His Yard and So Escaped.

The case of Eli Mayo, charged with putting refuse from a vault upon an open lot between P and Q, Fifth and Sixth streets, came up in the Police Court yesterday. Acting Sanitary Inspector Brown said he was notified that Mayo had put the stuff on the lot. He went there and found the stench very bad. He notified Mayo that it must be removed, and he said he would have it done as soon as possible. He had it removed a day or two afterward.

Mayo said that Coachman, one of his tenants, moved the dirt on the lot, although he had told him not to. When the Sanitary Inspector told him it must be moved, he told Coachman that he must take it away. The dirt was taken from the top of an old vault, but was not offensive. He had it removed a couple of days afterward.

The court said that the matter was undoubtedly offensive, and he should find the defendant guilty, but as the yard was cleaned up, he would suspend judgment.

A Charity Party.

At Turner Hall on Friday evening the Catholic Ladies' Relief Society will give a social party. The winter is near at hand, and the ladies of the society will soon receive more frequent calls for help from the sick and destitute, and their hands should be strengthened. Last season—in fact, all through the year—they ministered to many scores of sufferers. They do not ask to what church the applicant for aid belongs—it is a worthy case they do all in their power to relieve distress.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

Two Ladies Drive on the Track in Front of a Train.

Yesterday afternoon, as the excursion train containing the State Grange was returning from Folsom and had reached the crossing at Homestead station a couple of ladies endeavored to drive across the track ahead of the train. The engineer blew his whistle repeatedly to warn them and put on breaks, bringing the train to a standstill.

His efforts would have been too late, however, if the driver had not succeeded in backing the horse off the track and turning its head to one side, just as the ponderous engine thundered by within three feet of it, almost grazing the animal. It was a narrow escape, for which the occupants of the buggy may thank the promptness of the engineer, Frank Sweeney.

Adopted by the National Convention at St. Louis, June 18, 1896.

"The Republican party is unreservedly for sound money. It caused the enactment of the law providing for the resumption of specie payment in 1875; since then every dollar has been as good as gold.

"We are unalterably opposed to every measure calculated to debase our currency or impair the credit of our country. We are, therefore, opposed to the free coinage of silver, except by international agreement with the leading commercial nations of the world, WHICH WE PLEDGE OURSELVES TO PROMOTE; and until such agreement can be obtained, the existing gold standard must be preserved. All our silver and paper currency must be maintained at parity with gold, and we favor all measures designed to maintain inviolable the obligations of the United States and all our money, whether coin or paper, at the present standard, the standard of the most enlightened nations of the world."
