

BRYAN'S OWN PRECINCT.

McKinley Has Nearly Four Times as Many Votes There as the Democratic-Populist Candidate.

A short time ago a dispatch dated at Chicago was published stating that Judge E. M. Coffin of Lincoln, Neb., Bryan's own home, in an interview in the former city had stated that a poll of the precinct in which the Democratic-Populist candidate for the Presidency resides, showed that out of a total of 292 voters there were 109 who refused to state whom they would support for President.

B. F. Beans of Elk Grove, in this county, wrote to Judge Coffin to inquire if such was his statement, and in reply he on Monday last received the following letter from that gentleman, which puts a very different face on the matter.

MEMBERS: THE ATTORNEYS' NATIONAL CLEARING-HOUSE, THE AMERICAN LAWYERS' ASSOCIATION, THE COLLECTION AND COMMERCIAL LEAGUE. COFFIN & STONE, Attorneys, Suite 9, Richards Block. Lincoln, Neb., October 8, 1896.

B. F. Beans, Esq., Elk Grove, Cal.

Dear Sir: Your letter of the 4th is at hand. I never stated that there were 109 scattering votes, as your letter reads. I said 19. When I was interviewed in Chicago the vote stood: McKinley 211, Bryan 62, Bentley 11. Total, 292.

This is in Precinct B, Fifth Ward—Mr. Bryan's home. The 19 reported scattering were the B Bentley and 11 unknown.

Since that report two or three more have gone over to McKinley. In this city and about here the Republicans, who at first thought the silver movement proper, are realizing their mistake. This city and county will go 2,000 majority for Mr. McKinley, and probably more.

Bryan will not get as many votes in this county as he did when he ran for Congress four years ago. Yours truly, E. M. COFFIN.

CAMPAIGN IN THE COUNTRY.

The County Candidates at Orangevale Last Evening.

To-Night They Speak at Hangtown Crossing—The Local Clubs.

The Republican county candidates addressed a large and enthusiastic meeting last night at Orangevale. Speeches were made by Jud C. Brusie, candidate for Senator, C. N. Post and E. C. Hart, candidates for Superior Judges, and W. E. Lovdahl, candidate for the Assembly. Mr. Brusie, in his remarks, said:

"In coming here to-night I believe I can say in perfect truth, that in no portion of our glorious State would we have passed through a more luxuriant, promising, prosperous and attractive garden spot than greets the eye from every hill of Orangevale.

"The history of this locality furnishes a narrative of interest, not only reading like a romance, but constituting as well a record of unequalled progress and a development greater than can be found in any other portion of California.

"Deep fruited trees have grown where but a few years ago the chaparral and manzanita held sway. The sturdy oaks have given place to orange groves and where native grasses, thorns and thistles grew in a wilderness uncontrolled, we now find the yielding and prolific vine. "At a time when the commercial marts of the world were distressed in the contemplation of the precious metals becoming scarce, California, with her lap full of golden nuggets, knocked at the gate of every port, and in the distribution of her mineral wealth revived the commerce of the seas; gave new life and hope to the people of every clime, and bestowed upon herself that wondrous renown of which we now so proudly boast. The safety of our Nation, crippled as it was by the expenses entailed by war, depended upon the youngest daughter of the Union for the means of the Union's salvation, and the world knows how generously she responded and the aid she gave came from the gulches and ravines of this locality.

"And when California knocked at the doors of every nation once before she is doing so again, and from these same hillsides where she found the lumps of gold her golden treasures still come forth, for as the roots of the trees in Orangevale are imbedded in the golden sands of her prolific soil they give a color and a tint to the peach and apricot and orange as rich and yellow as the precious metal itself.

"No better illustration of the great strides of civilization could be given than the picture from these heights, with stucco boxes and cabins of 49 compared with the schoolhouses and churches of '96.

"Where the rudely constructed cabin of the miner marked the spot of a temporary abode we now find the beautiful substantial, happy and contented homes of those who have come to stay."

Mr. Brusie after discussing the political issues involved in the campaign, concluded with an appeal to his hearers to support McKinley, Grove L. Johnson and the entire Republican ticket.

To-night the candidates will speak at Hangtown Crossing, to-morrow night at Perkins and Friday night at Oak Park.

BRYAN CLUB. A number of the members of the Bryan Club No. 1 met at the People's party headquarters at 327 J street last evening, and were drilled by the officers. The club is 200 strong and the uniform division, which will consist of 100 men, will act as escort to the Democratic speakers who are expected to visit the city.

JOHNSON HOME CLUB. A meeting of the Johnson Home Club was held at the parlors of the Golden Eagle Hotel last evening. It was decided that, owing to the number of members who belonged to unformed clubs, the club would not turn out at the parade Saturday evening, but that badges should be procured bearing the words, "Johnson Home Club," and that the County Central Committee be requested to set aside seats for the club in a body.

BOUTELLE TO SPEAK. The Republican National Committee announces from Chicago that Congressman Boustelle of Maine will speak in Sacramento on Monday next, the 10th.

A PLEASANT OCCASION. Reception by Members of Calvary Church to Their Pastor.

A reception was tendered last night by the members of Calvary Baptist Church to their new pastor, Rev. F. M. Mitchell, at the church.

Rev. A. C. Herrick, who was pastor of the church from 1884 till 1888, acted as master of ceremonies and the evening was enlivened with music, there being an instrumental duet by Misses Bude and Aitken, a song by Mrs. McFarland and a vocal quartet.

Rev. H. N. Hoyt delivered an address on "Christian Comity." He said it gave him great pleasure to meet the pastor. One church prospers when another prospers, and he was glad to see this one so well managed. He thought comity must mean "Come, eat with me." Eating together is a great bond and he believed many troubles have been settled over the table. The Oriental eats salt with his guest and becomes his friend.

Comity means being in touch. We want to come in touch with flesh and blood. We want to feel that some one takes an interest in us and cares for us. When the church becomes Christianized all that is needed is the wretched competition that now divides us and will become one. We will no longer differ on little points, but will work with one common aim and for one common end. The soldiers of an army do not fight one another, but the cavalry, infantry and artillery all are united as the army of one kingdom.

Rev. Dutton of the Christian Church made a short address on the relation of the pastor to his flock, which was full of pith and embraced also the duty of the flock to its pastor.

Rev. J. A. Sturtevant delivered the address of welcome on behalf of the churches of the city. He welcomed Mr. Mitchell as the man of his choice in the position filled by him. It seemed to him that what is needed is many men, and he believed the new pastor to be one. There are too many tricky, unreliable, deceptive men in the world, and when we find a manly man we should hold on to him. He had long been interested in the church and its prosperity, and he was glad to welcome Mr. Mitchell as a godly man, one who would stand as a representative of his Master. He also welcomed him as God's man, the church needed a man who was called by God, and he believed that it had found him.

Rev. A. B. Banks, President of the Pastors' Union, welcomed the pastor on his behalf and to his work. He also extended a welcome to the wife and family of Mr. Mitchell. He spoke of the early days of the church, and the pastors were sent from one city to another to preach the word of God. The city is a peculiar field for the efforts of the preacher, and this city offers a field that would afford exercise to all his best ability and resources. The people of the entire State is passing in and out of its doors, and its influence reaches to the outermost rim of the State. There is more work here than can be reached by the members of the Pastors' Union, and there is no danger of being crowded in the work. There is plenty of elbow room for more laborers. Every pastor in the city welcomed the new arrival and was glad to have another helper in their midst. In the name of the churches and the homes of the city he welcomed him.

Rev. Mitchell responded, expressing his deep and heartfelt appreciation of this warm welcome. Although this was formal his welcome extended back to the first time he had stepped into the church. He believed that all the clergymen working together in harmony they would be able to roll back the tide of sin a little. He had experienced aid and advice since his arrival and his hands had been upheld by the members of the church. He thanked them for the expression of their good wishes.

An adjournment was taken to another room, where refreshments were partaken of.

Academia Meeting. The regular meeting of the Academia Society will take place this evening at Chickering Hall. This will be the opening meeting of the season, at which some important business is to be transacted. Many excellent programmes have been given by the society during the past few years. The present officers are: J. H. Liggett, President; Miss Nellie Harrison, Secretary; Miss Belle Fryson, Treasurer. A new election will be held next month.

Hotel Arrivals. Arrivals at the Golden Eagle Hotel yesterday: A. B. Thompson, Jupiter Mine; S. Armstrong, Riverside; C. J. Haines, Chicago; H. C. Beck, T. A. Hausenworth, Mrs. L. Merry and child, J. W. Brooks, T. K. Statler, E. A. Street, W. R. Norway, E. A. James, San Francisco.
