

LAST NIGHT'S BIG MEETING. The Wage-Earners in Line Again.

Unbounded Enthusiasm. Many Thousands Witness the Parade. Address by Grove L. Johnson. Speeches by Jud C. Brusie and Others of the Republican Candidates.

There was enthusiasm galore last night, and there was not the shadow of a doubt concerning its genuineness, and every man in the 3,500 who paraded with the Republican uniformed clubs cheered for McKinley, Johnson and the whole ticket until they could cheer no more.

Enthusiasm was in the air and from the ranks of marching men it extended to those upon the sidewalks, and at many places along the line of march the street and sidewalk was one mass of wildly cheering humanity, bent on showing a decided and unmistakable preference for the Republican candidates who afterward delivered addresses at the Metropolitan Theater as well as for McKinley and sound money.

At 7 o'clock the Sound Money Clubs of the railroad shops formed in the yard, and preceded by two bands, marched to Tenth and J streets, where they took their places in the marching column, and behind it marched the battle-scarred veterans of the Army and Navy League, who for all their soldierly bearing, could not but cheer to keep in line with those who followed.

Then the Resolute marched and cheered and blared from their flambaux, and behind them came the United Republican Club, the members of which were armed with fish horns, pitched in many octaves, and upon which they generously expended every breath not required for purposes of locomotion.

Then came the fire and drum corps, blowing out such airs as "Old Jefferson," "Garryowen" and "Yankee Doodle." Next in line came the Boys' McKinley Club, 100 strong. Each young shaver was neatly up to the marching column, and for McKinley loudly, if not very comprehensively. Their Colonel, Edgar Lewis, piped his orders and waved his mace in a truly soldierly form, while Major Eddie Wiley, Captain Ed Dodge and Lieutenant Roy Clay kept their men in line.

The Boys of the Capital City Drum Corps led the second division, but all the noise they made could not drown the continuous cheering of the Railroad Shops' Sound Money Clubs and the Perkins' Tigers, who marched behind them.

The Rolling Mill Club followed the drummers, and the air shook with their demonstrations, and the Blacksmith Shop Club followed, its members looking neat in their black uniforms and yellow trimmings. Here, sandwiched in, somehow, came the McKinley Club of Perkins, the members of which were lavish in their efforts to outcheer all others.

Next in line marched the Car Machine Shop Clubs, and the fancy evolutions they performed caught the eyes of the multitude and increased the enthusiasm of the spectators.

The Boiler Shop Sound Money League came next, and it "cut no ice" with them who preceded or who succeeded them. They were out for McKinley and Johnson and wanted everyone to understand it.

A seedy-looking individual wearing a Bryan button sneeringly informed the crowd that "them fellows didn't ever have on such good clo's before." There rebuke came speedily, and from a lady: "Don't measure their corn with your half-bushel! They are men!"

The Machine, Pipe and Copper Shops Club came next and were nearly as vociferous in their cheers as were the men of Car Shop No. 5, who followed them. Many of the different divisions of shop clubs marched in like uniforms, and while the men from the paint shop, cabinet shop, yard, round-house, lumber-yard, sawmill, and all other shops were in line, they were only, owing to the uniformity in uniform, to be segregated by personal friends.

Bringing up the rear came the members of the Johnson Flying Column of workmen, and in this order the march was made. Red fires glowed and popped and threw their brightly tinted balls over the heads of the multitude, and through it all the men marched and cheered for McKinley, Johnson and sound money.

While the parade was forming on Tenth street a counter-demonstration occurred in front of the Populist headquarters at 819 J street. Here 38 men, who composed the Bryan Club No. 1, mustered and waved small flags and uttered yells which were swallowed up by the noise made by the passing railroad shop clubs. The followers of Bryan were, however, persistent in their efforts, and having procured a brass band marched down J street.

But when the great parade formed and started on its line of march the Bryan club once more showed up marching up the south side of the streets while the Republican hosts marched down the middle.

But the Bryan men had something to show, and they showed it. That something was Thomas V. Cator of San Francisco, and after the band and the 38 men of the Bryan contingent had passed a half-dozen carriages containing local Populist leaders followed and from one of which the mighty Cator viewed the great McKinley demonstration. Cator's face was sphinxlike. If anything was passing within that shrewd skull it did not appear in the features, and while he may have thought that the Populist cause in Sacramento was on the wane, he said nothing.

And so passed Cator, and as he passed his ears were assailed by shouts and cheers for McKinley, Johnson and the whole Republican ticket. In less than a minute the Populists were gone, and the lone man who had stood at the corner of Seventh and J and yelled for Bryan, appeared dumbfounded. After catching his breath a few times he finally stammered: "Where are the Democrats—ain't there any more of 'em?"

"My friend," returned a ministerial-looking gentleman, "there are only a few of them left, and after Tuesday next there will be none."

Throughout the line of march the streets were packed, and a careful estimate put the number of spectators at 15,000.

AT THE THEATER. Enthusiastic Reception Given to Grove L. Johnson.

The Metropolitan Theater was filled to overflowing last night with those who had come to listen to the addresses of Hon. Grove L. Johnson and the county candidates, and the doors were crowded with those who were standing.

A. J. Bruner, Chairman of the County Central Committee, called the meeting to order and announced the following list of Vice-Presidents: R. Joy, C. V. Jensen, W. Kloppenberg, T. Kiernan, H. M. Landes, James McCullough, A. R. Matlock, C. T. Noyes, E. B. Oggett, G. S. Oliverly, C. G. Seale, P. L. Saul, A. E. Parsons, R. B. Prideox, J. F. Stout, G. H. Smith, G. A. Stoddard, J. W. Small, A. Younger, M. Start, C. A. Schecke, J. M. Brown, Wm. Morschhead, J. West, G. H. Stubbs, G. F. Dickerson, R. G. Aiken, E. F. Ashworth, J. G. Bryant, J. W. Boyd, M. A. Baxter, W. B. Oldfield, J. Bellhouse, E. Biener, W. B. Bess, J. W. Black, J. W. Clough, C. N. Bockstang, J. W. Clough, W. J. Carrier, C. J. Causley, R. C. Douglass, W. B. Dutton, H. A. Griffin, J. N. Grinton, A. H. Gerlich, E. L. Grimes, A. J. Gardner, F. J. Stull, J. M. J. non, R. P. Phillips, H. H. Smith, Joseph Schroth, J. H. Arnold, Wm. Carragher, W. D. Stocker, Ed McEwen, Joseph Hill, Jr., Charles Pearl, Sr., Harry Bray, C. L. Smith, Emil Steinmann, Bert Adams, John Carlows, Charles E. Phipps, Fred L. Martin, W. D. Knights, E. Watson, Louis H. Banvard, C. A. Elliott, G. F. Willingham, Joseph Davis, George Gebert, J. J. McJ. non, R. P. Phillips, H. H. Smith, Joseph Schroth, J. H. Arnold, Wm. F. Cronemiller, A. E. Miller, Stephen Dwyer, John Watt, W. E. Labhair, Dr. F. F. Tobbits, Dr. T. W. Hunting, P. G. E. Drewsher, Dr. T. W. Hunting, P. G. E. Hamilton, Lewellyn Tozer, H. G. Melvin, Walter Parker, Geo. Wittenbrock, F. J. Bidwell, Johnson Pritchard, Daniel Flint, Wm. D. Wineell.

He then announced as the Chairman of the meeting Dr. G. L. Simmons. Dr. Simmons said he deemed it an honor to be called on to preside at so important a meeting, the last of the campaign. The meeting would be addressed by the county candidates, ending with the address of Hon. Grove L. Johnson. (Applause.)

Hon. C. N. Post was the first speaker. He said it was generally conceded that candidates for judicial positions should not make political speeches. It was gratifying to see at the close of the campaign so large a meeting of the prominent and substantial citizens of Sacramento. The canvass in the county looks satisfactory and promise the election of the whole ticket. For himself he had grown up here from boyhood and achieved a fair measure of success. He solicited their votes for the position of Superior Judge and would promise to do his duty, if elected, fairly and impartially to all.

HON. E. C. HART Said that he believed that both candidates and people were tired of political meetings. He was a candidate for a very important office, one involving in its administration the liberties and rights of the people. He promised, if elected, to endeavor to discharge the duties of the office in such a manner as to give satisfaction to the whole people.

HON. J. C. BRUSIE Said: "The closing hours of this memorable campaign are now upon us. We are simply waiting for the smoke to clear away that we may see which banner is left floating over our nation's capital. The fight is about over; flaming bonfires will soon be naught but burnt and forgotten embers."

"The heat of partisan discussion is already cooling, and each side in the true spirit of American principles of government is preparing to calmly accept the judgment of the majority. During the last few weeks there have been very earnest and decided differences of opinion; there have been various choices for President. You may have had one; your neighbor may have had another; but within forty-eight hours from now such differences will no longer survive. Whether your man wins, or the other man wins, the very moment one is chosen from that moment does he become the choice of all, respected, defended and beloved by all."

"It is such a spirit that sustains us as the best governed people on the face of the earth. A proud submission to the will of the majority has placed us where we are to-day, in the lead of all nations. After the battles of war they bury the dead; after our battles in politics we bury the majority. The time has come to test their loyalty to the city they loved, and the only way to show it was to support the ticket from the top to the bottom."

A NOBLE LEADER. They had a noble leader, who fought through the four years of the war with the old soldiers who were now supporting him, who typifies in himself all the highest attributes of an American citizen. (Applause.) He is without a stain on his character, public or private, a Christian and a gentleman, pure and upright in life and a patriot.

THE OLD FIGHT. It is the old fight for protection. James Madison wrote the law that embodied it. Thomas Jefferson spoke for it, and Washington approved of it. It was that not enough to make it good American doctrine? It is as good now as in 1789, and Americans all over the country are rising to say that we must and will have protection to American industries.

DRAW IN THE GANG PLANK. But we must have further protection. We must not stop at the factory and workshop, but must see that it is also given to the laboring man. He was proud to say that there was one man from Sacramento who had the courage to say that we must draw in the gang plank at Castle Garden and stop the horde of foreign laborers who were coming over to take the bread out of our mouths. (Loud applause.) For twenty years past he had advocated this. He thanked them for endorsing him two years ago and now in 1896, and he knew that his majority in Sacramento County would give him the confidence in him once more.

ALL OUTSIDERS. A number of outsiders were now assailing him all over the State. Gould of San Joaquin, McCabe of Fresno, Foote of Alameda, were all barking at his heels. He had taught Foote, who was the terror of the bar, that he must behave like a gentleman when dealing with Grove Johnson and that he must have a score against him. The band sent for Duprey, and even forced Jo Hamilton to get up from a sick bed and come here to abuse him. But they were all outsiders. Thank heaven no Sacramento Democrat or Populist had been found who would do it. (Cheers and applause.)

"It adds fuel to the fire of your generous indignation," said he, "to know that only foreigners abuse me. I have a right to feel proud of that fact."

A BLACKMAILING SHEET. He expected an assault to-morrow in the issue of a San Francisco blackmailing paper. It had been so announced. Let it come. He might just as well be the object of it as anyone—the object of the attack of indecency on decency by a word of pictures and obscenity without a word of argument. The time must and will soon come in California when the tyranny of the blackmailing press will be broken by the people. (Applause.) It was not pleasant to be abused by these unprincipled men, and he often wished that with lance in rest, he could say, "Lay on Macduff!" (Applause and cheers.)

There is another warfare now of the ballot against the blackmailer, the citizens against the obscene press that is attempting to destroy them. He took credit to himself that, although they raked his record in Congress with a fine-tooth comb, they could find nothing against him except his action with regard to a great corporation that has its shops here and employs its men here, because he had treated it as he would treat any other corporation or any citizen. He had never been its attorney, but had sometimes been against it. He had kept his word and treated it like others—either corporations or individuals.

will of the majority has placed us where we are to-day, in the lead of all nations. After the battles of war they bury the dead; after our battles in politics we bury the majority. The time has come to test their loyalty to the city they loved, and the only way to show it was to support the ticket from the top to the bottom."

A NOBLE LEADER. They had a noble leader, who fought through the four years of the war with the old soldiers who were now supporting him, who typifies in himself all the highest attributes of an American citizen. (Applause.) He is without a stain on his character, public or private, a Christian and a gentleman, pure and upright in life and a patriot.

THE OLD FIGHT. It is the old fight for protection. James Madison wrote the law that embodied it. Thomas Jefferson spoke for it, and Washington approved of it. It was that not enough to make it good American doctrine? It is as good now as in 1789, and Americans all over the country are rising to say that we must and will have protection to American industries.

DRAW IN THE GANG PLANK. But we must have further protection. We must not stop at the factory and workshop, but must see that it is also given to the laboring man. He was proud to say that there was one man from Sacramento who had the courage to say that we must draw in the gang plank at Castle Garden and stop the horde of foreign laborers who were coming over to take the bread out of our mouths. (Loud applause.) For twenty years past he had advocated this. He thanked them for endorsing him two years ago and now in 1896, and he knew that his majority in Sacramento County would give him the confidence in him once more.

ALL OUTSIDERS. A number of outsiders were now assailing him all over the State. Gould of San Joaquin, McCabe of Fresno, Foote of Alameda, were all barking at his heels. He had taught Foote, who was the terror of the bar, that he must behave like a gentleman when dealing with Grove Johnson and that he must have a score against him. The band sent for Duprey, and even forced Jo Hamilton to get up from a sick bed and come here to abuse him. But they were all outsiders. Thank heaven no Sacramento Democrat or Populist had been found who would do it. (Cheers and applause.)

"It adds fuel to the fire of your generous indignation," said he, "to know that only foreigners abuse me. I have a right to feel proud of that fact."

A BLACKMAILING SHEET. He expected an assault to-morrow in the issue of a San Francisco blackmailing paper. It had been so announced. Let it come. He might just as well be the object of it as anyone—the object of the attack of indecency on decency by a word of pictures and obscenity without a word of argument. The time must and will soon come in California when the tyranny of the blackmailing press will be broken by the people. (Applause.) It was not pleasant to be abused by these unprincipled men, and he often wished that with lance in rest, he could say, "Lay on Macduff!" (Applause and cheers.)

There is another warfare now of the ballot against the blackmailer, the citizens against the obscene press that is attempting to destroy them. He took credit to himself that, although they raked his record in Congress with a fine-tooth comb, they could find nothing against him except his action with regard to a great corporation that has its shops here and employs its men here, because he had treated it as he would treat any other corporation or any citizen. He had never been its attorney, but had sometimes been against it. He had kept his word and treated it like others—either corporations or individuals.

INFAMOUS BLACKMAIL. This man had blackmailed the common people. (Continued on Fourth Page.)

MARRIED. BLACK-WARD—In this city, on October 21, 1896, George Black and Blanche Ward, by Rev. R. M. Stevenson.

Ott's Household Remedies. 3 Day Malaria Cure for Malaria, Chills and Fevers. 25c. Ott's Liver Pills, best pills on earth. 25c. Ott's Cough Cure. 25c. Ott's Tough Cure. 25c. Ott's Kidney Cure. 25c. Ott's Corn Cure. 25c. Ott's Catarrh Balm. 25c. And many other remedies of undoubted efficacy. FRANCIS S. OTT, Druggist—106 K Street, south side Second and K.

CHEERED TO THE ECHO. Grove L. Johnson appeared on the platform and a spontaneous cheer arose from the audience and was repeated for several minutes, so that Dr. Simmons had to weary patience and sit unaided, rose again and finally died away, before he could introduce Mr. Johnson to his hearers. It was a genuine ovation, such as has not been given to any other speaker here during the campaign, and its heartiness and spontaneity indicated that the votes of the entire audience would swell the number of votes recorded in favor of Grove L. Johnson as Congressman from the Second District.

Dr. Simmons said he wished to call the attention of the citizens to the fact that there had been a tendency during this campaign to call up into the canvass personalities not at all pertinent to the issues under discussion, and that had nothing to do with them, and he deprecated it. For the first time in its history our city had had a Representative and one who had been tireless in regard to the welfare of the city. Bearing in mind this fact, every citizen, whether Populist, Democrat or Republican, who has the interest of the city at heart, should show his appreciation of his services by voting for him. (Enthusiastic applause.)

Mr. Johnson greeted the audience for the cordial greeting it had given him. He thoroughly appreciated it and would be neither more or less than a man if he did not. He had been for forty years engaged in political affairs, as his audience knew, but never, in all those forty years had he known a man to be so bitterly, maliciously and wickedly assailed as he had in this campaign, and he had therefore a right to appreciate so kind and demonstrative a reception as this.

He had a right to go home and say to his wife on her sick bed: "The people of Sacramento are with us." He had faith in them, and they had faith in him. They were battling together for Sacramento and his success or defeat would be looked back to as the turning point in the prosperity or adversity of the city. He realized that fact, perhaps more than they did, for he knew all that had been said. He loved the city where he had lived so many years, and where the little party he had accumulated was situated, and when he listened to this kind and flattering reception, he felt like the Irish Legion at the battle of Fontenoy when the French were pressed back down the hill by the English and their General said to the Irish Legion: "There are your ancient enemies. Protect the country that has given you protection, and they did, and swept back the English in defeat."

Here in Sacramento are the men who have witnessed fire and flood in her history for thirty years. Their enemies were assailing him, and were en-lying on their votes to defeat him, but he felt sure that on Tuesday they would sweep the others from the field and return him to Congress by a large majority. The time had come to test their loyalty to the city they loved, and the only way to show it was to support the ticket from the top to the bottom."

A NOBLE LEADER. They had a noble leader, who fought through the four years of the war with the old soldiers who were now supporting him, who typifies in himself all the highest attributes of an American citizen. (Applause.) He is without a stain on his character, public or private, a Christian and a gentleman, pure and upright in life and a patriot.

THE OLD FIGHT. It is the old fight for protection. James Madison wrote the law that embodied it. Thomas Jefferson spoke for it, and Washington approved of it. It was that not enough to make it good American doctrine? It is as good now as in 1789, and Americans all over the country are rising to say that we must and will have protection to American industries.

DRAW IN THE GANG PLANK. But we must have further protection. We must not stop at the factory and workshop, but must see that it is also given to the laboring man. He was proud to say that there was one man from Sacramento who had the courage to say that we must draw in the gang plank at Castle Garden and stop the horde of foreign laborers who were coming over to take the bread out of our mouths. (Loud applause.) For twenty years past he had advocated this. He thanked them for endorsing him two years ago and now in 1896, and he knew that his majority in Sacramento County would give him the confidence in him once more.

ALL OUTSIDERS. A number of outsiders were now assailing him all over the State. Gould of San Joaquin, McCabe of Fresno, Foote of Alameda, were all barking at his heels. He had taught Foote, who was the terror of the bar, that he must behave like a gentleman when dealing with Grove Johnson and that he must have a score against him. The band sent for Duprey, and even forced Jo Hamilton to get up from a sick bed and come here to abuse him. But they were all outsiders. Thank heaven no Sacramento Democrat or Populist had been found who would do it. (Cheers and applause.)

"It adds fuel to the fire of your generous indignation," said he, "to know that only foreigners abuse me. I have a right to feel proud of that fact."

A BLACKMAILING SHEET. He expected an assault to-morrow in the issue of a San Francisco blackmailing paper. It had been so announced. Let it come. He might just as well be the object of it as anyone—the object of the attack of indecency on decency by a word of pictures and obscenity without a word of argument. The time must and will soon come in California when the tyranny of the blackmailing press will be broken by the people. (Applause.) It was not pleasant to be abused by these unprincipled men, and he often wished that with lance in rest, he could say, "Lay on Macduff!" (Applause and cheers.)

There is another warfare now of the ballot against the blackmailer, the citizens against the obscene press that is attempting to destroy them. He took credit to himself that, although they raked his record in Congress with a fine-tooth comb, they could find nothing against him except his action with regard to a great corporation that has its shops here and employs its men here, because he had treated it as he would treat any other corporation or any citizen. He had never been its attorney, but had sometimes been against it. He had kept his word and treated it like others—either corporations or individuals.

INFAMOUS BLACKMAIL. This man had blackmailed the common people. (Continued on Fourth Page.)

MARRIED. BLACK-WARD—In this city, on October 21, 1896, George Black and Blanche Ward, by Rev. R. M. Stevenson.

Ott's Household Remedies. 3 Day Malaria Cure for Malaria, Chills and Fevers. 25c. Ott's Liver Pills, best pills on earth. 25c. Ott's Cough Cure. 25c. Ott's Tough Cure. 25c. Ott's Kidney Cure. 25c. Ott's Corn Cure. 25c. Ott's Catarrh Balm. 25c. And many other remedies of undoubted efficacy. FRANCIS S. OTT, Druggist—106 K Street, south side Second and K.

CHEERED TO THE ECHO. Grove L. Johnson appeared on the platform and a spontaneous cheer arose from the audience and was repeated for several minutes, so that Dr. Simmons had to weary patience and sit unaided, rose again and finally died away, before he could introduce Mr. Johnson to his hearers. It was a genuine ovation, such as has not been given to any other speaker here during the campaign, and its heartiness and spontaneity indicated that the votes of the entire audience would swell the number of votes recorded in favor of Grove L. Johnson as Congressman from the Second District.

Dr. Simmons said he wished to call the attention of the citizens to the fact that there had been a tendency during this campaign to call up into the canvass personalities not at all pertinent to the issues under discussion, and that had nothing to do with them, and he deprecated it. For the first time in its history our city had had a Representative and one who had been tireless in regard to the welfare of the city. Bearing in mind this fact, every citizen, whether Populist, Democrat or Republican, who has the interest of the city at heart, should show his appreciation of his services by voting for him. (Enthusiastic applause.)

Mr. Johnson greeted the audience for the cordial greeting it had given him. He thoroughly appreciated it and would be neither more or less than a man if he did not. He had been for forty years engaged in political affairs, as his audience knew, but never, in all those forty years had he known a man to be so bitterly, maliciously and wickedly assailed as he had in this campaign, and he had therefore a right to appreciate so kind and demonstrative a reception as this.

He had a right to go home and say to his wife on her sick bed: "The people of Sacramento are with us." He had faith in them, and they had faith in him. They were battling together for Sacramento and his success or defeat would be looked back to as the turning point in the prosperity or adversity of the city. He realized that fact, perhaps more than they did, for he knew all that had been said. He loved the city where he had lived so many years, and where the little party he had accumulated was situated, and when he listened to this kind and flattering reception, he felt like the Irish Legion at the battle of Fontenoy when the French were pressed back down the hill by the English and their General said to the Irish Legion: "There are your ancient enemies. Protect the country that has given you protection, and they did, and swept back the English in defeat."

Here in Sacramento are the men who have witnessed fire and flood in her history for thirty years. Their enemies were assailing him, and were en-

WEINSTOCK, LUBIN & CO. Men's Suits. Special Value. Men's Brown Mixed Union Cheviot Sack Suits, made and finished like much higher-priced suits. Sale Price, $4 25. Men's Tweed Sack Suits. Men's Dark Gray Tweed Sack Suits in desirable patterns. These suits are square cut, winter weight and will make excellent suits for business wear. Sale Price, $4 75. Special Suits. Men's Dark-Blue Mixed Wool Cheviot Suits, heavy weight, desirable patterns; nicely made and much the style and appearance of $10 or $12 suits. Sale Price, $6 45. Special Suits. Men's Heavy-weight All-Wool Scotch Tweed Suits, in neat brown heather mixtures; made in the latest style, viz: with fly front, buttonless appearing coats and vests. An excellent business suit for any young man. Sale Price, $7 75. Special Black Dress Suits. Black Clay Worsted Sack Suits, intended for best wear; well cut and made and much below value at price named. Sale Price, $7 75. Weinstock, Lubin & Co., 400-412 K St.

Without a Doubt THE WATERMAN FOUNTAIN PEN. Is the best ever made. Its simplicity recommends it. Its utility is unlimited. Perfect in every respect. It costs no more than others and will last a lifetime. We GUARANTEE each Pen. H. S. CROCKER COMPANY, 208-210 J STREET.

WHY HAVE BARE FLOORS? Linen Warp Matting 20c Yard. An elegant new line just received from 10c to 35c per yard. CHARLES M. CAMPBELL, 409 K STREET. COCOANUT Taffy, Peanut Taffy and old-fashioned Home-made Mocha Taffy; sweet, wholesome and pronounced by expert physicians to be positively nourishing. BARTON, 810 J. - - - 420 K.

25 PER CENT. SAVED. Joe Poheim THE TAILOR. Has just imported the correct styles for the season of 1896-7. Up-to-date designs in Cheviots, Cassimeres, Scotch Tweeds, in pretty colorings, etc. You can have made up first-class at a saving of 25 per cent. less than any other house. Perfect fit and the best of workmanship guaranteed. The Largest Tailoring Establishment in Sacramento. 603-605 K Street. SEALED PROPOSALS. BIDS WILL BE RECEIVED AT THE office of the undersigned until 5 o'clock p. m. on MONDAY, November 9, 1896, for one (1) seventy-five horse-power 1,000-volt 88-cycle three-phase alternating current induction motor; motor to be provided with pulley and belt-tightening device. Specifications on file at office of the City Clerk. A certified check for 10 per cent. of amount of bid must accompany each bid. The Board of Trustees reserves the right to reject any and all bids. oct-10t M. J. DESMOND, City Clerk. WHAT'S THE USE? YOU CAN'T GET ANY BETTER. KNAUER'S PACIFIC BREWERY STEAM BEER IS UNEXCELLED. Brewery, Ninth and P sts.

W. H. ECKHARDT, - - 600-611 K Street. GIRLS WHO USE SAPOLIO ARE QUICKLY MARRIED. Try it in Your Next House Cleaning. FRIEND & TERRY LUMBER CO. LUMBER Doors, Sash, Screens. Office and Main Yard, 1810 Second Street. Branch Yard, Twelfth and J. CREAMERY HEADQUARTERS. Agency Knight Landing and Woodland Creameries, California; Douglas Co. and Reno Creameries, Nevada. Strictly Modern. Highest Quality Maintained Always. WOOD, CURTIS & CO., WHOLESALE DEALERS IN California, Oregon and Nevada Produce. Butter, Eggs, Potatoes, Beans, Vegetables, Fruits, etc. Agents Santa Paula Seedless Lemons. OFFICE, SECOND AND M. RICHARDS & KNOX, LUMBER. Yards, Second and M and Front and Q, Sacramento. TAYLOR'S Refrigerators. The most easily cleaned and the lowest priced of all. To be had only of JAMES G. DAVIS, FURNITURE AND CARPETS, 414-15 K STREET.

Albums. We exhibit in the window today a few samples of our new line of PHOTOGRAPH ALBUMS, comprising the latest styles in celoid and plush bindings, with plain and illuminated leaves. These are our own importations and will be sold at Eastern jobbers' prices. BABIES' PHOTOGRAPHY, BABY LIFE. Two illustrated volumes for recording events in baby's life. $2 and $3 75. W. F. PURNELL, Bookseller and Stationer, 609 J Street.

Gladness Comes With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed—there is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. Why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact that it cleanses without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to make when you purchase that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists. If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

WHOLESALE LIQUORS. EBNER BROS. COMPANY, 116-118 K Street, Front and Second, Sacramento. IMPORTERS AND WHOLESALE dealers in Wines and Liquors. Tel. 364. M. CRONAN, 280 K St., and 1108-1110 Third St., Sacramento, Cal. IMPORTER AND WHOLESALE DEALER in Fine Whiskies, Brandy and Champagne. HUGH CASEY, Importer and Wholesale Wine and Liquors. Proprietor of Eagle Soda Works, 218 K street, Sacramento.

FINE TAILORING. J. H. HEITMAN, THE TAILOR. Just received a large assortment of FALL and WINTER WOOL-ENS, the latest patterns, direct from the London Woollen Mills. Suits made to order from $15 and upwards. Trousers from $3 and upwards. This is the house to get a stylish cut and best fitting suits made to order. 600 J Street, Corner Sixth, Sacramento.

THE WEEKLY UNION—THE BEST weekly on the coast. THE WEEKLY UNION—THE BEST weekly on the coast.