

THE DEAF, DUMB AND BLIND.

Report of the Board of Directors of the Asylum at Berkeley.

The Number of Pupils is Growing and More Teachers Are Needed for Them.

The twenty-second biennial report of the Board of Directors of the California Institution for the Education of the Deaf, Dumb and Blind at Berkeley has been received by the Governor and by him transmitted to the State Board of Examiners.

At the close of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1896, according to the report, the number of pupils under instruction was 257, and at the date on which the report was delivered the attendance was 229.

The buildings are ample for the accommodation of pupils, teachers and attendants, though there is needed an isolation ward to prevent the spreading of contagious diseases.

MANUAL TRAINING. The manual training department of the school requires additional facilities to secure the best results.

IMPROVEMENTS. Every year judicious improvements add to the attractiveness of the grounds, while nothing has been done for the improvement of the ungraded street in front of the building for lack of funds.

PER CAPITA COST. The total number of pupils enrolled during the year ending June 30, 1896, was 219, with an average attendance of 208.

WORK OF TEACHERS. It is not claimed by the Principal of the school that the school is perfect. In the nature of things, he contends, the education of the deaf, dumb and blind, like squaring a circle, is never more than approximate.

GRADUATES. There have been graduated during the period under consideration: Deaf-boys 24, girls 17. Total—41. Blind-boys 9, girls 6. Total—15.

A POSTER EXHIBITION. Ladies Come to the Aid of the School of Design.

There was a joint meeting of committees of the Ladies' Museum Association and of the Saturday Club yesterday afternoon at Pioneer Hall to consider the proposition to give a benefit to the Sacramento School of Design.

Both of these organizations have repeatedly aided the school—indeed, it is not too much to say to add that without their aid the school would some time since have closed its doors.

The ladies resolved to hold a poster exhibition at the Art Gallery November 19th and 20th. On the first evening, in addition to the exhibition of posters of quaint artistic design, and of which it is hoped a large collection will be made, there will be a fine musical programme by the Saturday Club, and on the other evening ice-cream will be served and dancing will be in order.

Poster exhibitions have been held in San Francisco and Los Angeles, and we believe nowhere else in the State. They have been very successful at the East.

It is requested by the ladies that any persons having artistic poster collections will kindly lend them for the occasions referred to, and will notify Mr. Jackson at the Art Gallery that they may be sent for.

The ladies say they trust to the generosity and to the public spirit of the people to second their efforts to make the two evenings' benefit a rousing one. The object is one worthy, of high public character and one to enlist the pride of the people in its behalf.

It would not exceed $8 $10.

The board authorized her to do as Mr. Fitch requested. The bids for constructing the new cells for the County Jail were ordered opened on November 18th, at 2 p. m., and those for the electric motor, power pump and electricity to run them and furnish seventy lights for the County Hospital will be opened at the same time. rock from a car a few feet from where Nichols stood when struck, testified that he had seen Nichols coming toward him and called to him to look out for the train, but owing to the noise the latter did not hear him.

The witness had heard the bell of the engine, or the automatic bell at Twenty-first street ring, but could not say whether the whistle was blown before or after Nichols was struck.

C. E. Ward, another laborer, had heard the approaching locomotive whistle at Twenty-third street and had heard the automatic bell ring at the Twenty-first-street crossing, but Nichols seemed oblivious to danger.

F. D. Billings, engineer of the train, testified that he had seen Nichols approach the track, but expected that he would stop. The bell of the engine, which was automatic, had been started ringing at Homestead, and did not stop until after the accident. Besides this he had blown the long station whistle at Twenty-third street, and the crossing whistle at Twenty-first street.

As the train approached Nichols the witness said that the man was preoccupied, and when within sixty feet of him sounded the danger signal and reversed his engine. Nichols had not yet stepped on the track, and was not between the rails when struck by the head of the bumper beam and his head flung against the flagstaff. The witness said he was on time and running schedule time within the city limits.

The conductor and fireman corroborated the engineer's testimony relative to the speed the train was moving at and that it was on time.

The jury returned a verdict of accidental death and absolved the employees of the railroad company from all blame.
