

PROMISED WHEEL EVENTS.

A Great Circuit Racing Outfit—Champions Coming.

Some of the Fastest Wheelmen in the World to be Here—The Local Club to Manage.

Now that the Capital City Wheelmen have comfortably housed themselves, and provided decent quarters for assembly, and for the racing section good training appliances, the club will in all probability turn its attention to outdoor entertainments in cycle athletics.

The members hold that the only reason no greater interest is felt here in cycling events is because so few have been given that the people have not learned how attractive and entertaining they are.

Last night at the C. C. W. clubrooms a most important conference was held between officers and members of the club on one side and D. G. Shafer of Chicago and C. W. Ravlin of San Francisco on the other.

The conference held was relative to a California spring racing circuit, so far being concluded that Petaluma, Santa Rosa, Woodland, Dixon and San Jose have united in the scheme, and it only remains for Stockton and Sacramento to accede in order to complete a splendid circuit.

Fred Longhead of Sarnia, Ontario, who has won every Canadian championship during the past two years and finished fifth among American champions in 1896.

Orlando Stevens, champion of Iowa, holder of 1/4 and 1/2 mile world records. Owen Kimble of Louisville, Ky., who is looked upon as probable champion of 1897.

W. A. Terrill, who won the championship of the Pacific Coast last season. C. S. Wells, with a mile record of 1:41, and Allen Jones and Harry Terrill of San Francisco.

George Bovee and Max Morris, the Texas Crackerjacks, and Hardy Downing, who finished one point behind Terrill for the championship of the coast.

D. E. Whitman of Los Angeles, W. E. Becker of Minneapolis, the five-mile national champion. C. C. Ingraham of Dixon, Ill., the American amateur champion of '96, who rode second to Cooper in the quarter-mile national championship, defeating Bald, Zeigler and the rest of the cracks.

C. E. Dow of Seattle, champion of Washington. Horace Stahl of Phoenix, champion of Arizona. C. L. Davis of San Jose, and Floyd McFarland of the same city.

The circuit will open at Woodland on March 7th and the next meeting will be at Sacramento on the 9th and 10th. The races will be held on the first day two amateur and two professional events and a preface parade of wheelmen, and on the second day two amateur and four professional events.

All amateurs who wish can enter in their division, and prizes will be hung up that will be worth the pursuit. The purses for the professionals are liberal, but not extravagant.

These professionals ride for records, that they may thereafter make their services valuable for team work on the national circuit. They come into the California circuit on terms, therefore, that enable them to take their time and give the entertainments without other cost than the purses and the necessary track and advertising expenses.

On Monday night at Sacramento into the circuit, it will give to Sacramento the finest exhibition of cycle racing ever witnessed in California. The events will be of the most attractive character and the public will witness contests worthy of their praise.

D. Buck in the presence of only the relatives and most intimate friends of the contracting parties. A number of useful and beautiful presents attested the warm interest taken in the young couple by their friends.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Ex-Mayor Robert Effe of Santa Cruz is visiting the city.

Among the visitors here is Superior Judge Price of Oakland.

Harbormaster E. L. Colton of San Francisco is at the Golden Eagle.

Madison Babcock, Superintendent of the Public Schools of San Francisco, is at the Golden Eagle.

Will Campbell, Redding, an old Sacramento, is down for a visit with his wife and children.

Fred Dodge of Kansas City, a former Sacramento, is visiting his brother, O. P. Dodge.

W. B. Miller, the well-known Public Administrator, had the pleasure yesterday of meeting his brother, "Rome" Miller, on the latter's arrival from the East, and with Mrs. Miller accompanied him to Post office on his way to the southern part of the State on a pleasure tour.

After spending a few weeks down there Mr. Miller will visit his brother in this city. The visitor is accompanied by his wife and Master Mechanic Teal of the Elkhorn and Missouri Railroad and Mrs. Teal.

He is proprietor of a hotel system that embraces railroad cities in Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota. There is a little bit of romance connected with Mr. Miller of Iowa. Several years ago W. B. Miller of this city was one of a party of Knights Templar who went from California to attend the Conclave at Kansas City.

At that gathering he met his brother "Rome," whom he had not seen nor heard of for upward of twenty years, and it is needless to say the meeting was a joyous one.

The long-lost brother subsequently visited Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Miller in this city and made many friends here.

Weather Report.

The Weather Bureau report shows the highest and lowest temperatures yesterday to have been 54 and 42 degrees, with fresh to brisk southerly winds and partly cloudy weather prevailing.

The highest and lowest temperature one year ago yesterday were 60 and 44 degrees, and one year ago to-day 62 and 45 degrees.

Sutter Lyceum.

The Sutter Lyceum meeting last evening was well attended. The debate was "Radicalism vs. Conservatism."

Dr. Galvan, Charles Stickney and Mr. Wilson were judges, and the critic was F. W. Carey.

The next meeting will be held at Pythian Hall on the 18th, at 7:30 o'clock.

Olympic Club Minstrels.

Announcement is made this morning that the Olympic Club Minstrels of San Francisco will appear at the Metropolitan Theater on the 19th and 20th inst. with a Saturday matinee.

There are thirty people in this amateur company, which ranks with some of the best professionals. There will be a street parade each day of the engagement.

Anti-Catholic Lectures.

Three lectures are announced to be given at Pythian Hall by "Father" Rattven, who claims to be an expert.

The first lecture will be at 3 o'clock on Saturday (for women), the next at 8 o'clock in the evening, and the third at 3 p. m. on Sunday. The subjects are announced elsewhere.

Salvation Army Lecture.

Major Winchell, Social Secretary of the Pacific Coast Division of the Salvation Army, lectured at the Citadel last night to a good audience. His subject was "The Man With the Dagger."

Orphans Holiday.

At noon to-day the children of the Protestant Orphan Asylum will have their long-delayed Christmas tree and holiday dinner.

Reid Against Reed.

Judge Johnson yesterday awarded J. S. Reid judgment for $468 and interest, for services performed, against the C. W. Reed Company.

Held for Insanity.

Charles Josslyn, who came from Oregon about three months ago, is locked up in the County Jail for insanity. He was formerly in an asylum up north.

The Skating Carnival.

The skating carnival at the Old Pavilion last night was a very enjoyable affair, and was well attended, many dominos being on the floor.

Auction To-Day.

At 2 p. m. to-day, at 515 J. street, D. J. Simmons & Co. will sell carpets, show cases, furniture, fixtures, mirror, etc., at auction.

To Terminate a Lease.

In Judge Johnson's court yesterday Robert Sudden was granted judgment against Charles A. Perkins, administrator, terminating a lease.

Final Account Filed.

A. E. Miller, administrator of the estate of W. A. Miller, has filed his final account and petition for distribution.

Suit for Divorce.

Charlotte Ann Wylie, by her attorney, Isaac Joseph, has begun suit for divorce from John Alexander Wylie.

WITH AMATEUR MINSTRELS.

The Sutter Club Entertains the Law Makers of the State.

A Smoker and a Thoroughly Enjoyable Entertainment Given.

Last evening was a gala night at the Sutter Club, the programme being a smoker and impromptu parlor minstrelsy by local talent who shone in a new role and were assisted by Messrs. Rosborough and Taylor of the Olympic Club of San Francisco, as well as by Assemblyman C. M. Belshaw.

Most of the members of both houses were present and seemed to the delight enjoy the performance, which, in many respects, was far better than that given by professional troupes that have played here. The singing was excellent, and the whole programme was carried out with a vivacity, unity and correctness that was remarkable, considering the limited opportunity the performers had to rehearse together.

Ed Canavan will judge and J. Stout will do the slipping. The prizes are $12, $6, $3 and $3.

Egan & Hanlon's Reception against Turf Kennel's Ingleside, and Sergeant & McDonald's Lily V. Belvidere against McCurdy & Sullivan's Belvidere.

M. Heilman's Cloverleaf against T. Kennedy's Little Schoolgirl.

E. Horton's Queen against J. Sweeney's Just-Wait-a-Minute.

Downes & Sweeney's Snider against Sergeant & McDonald's Aunt Jimima.

J. Stout's Lord Lonsdale against M. H. Sheehan's Iroquois.

R. Enright's Indian against J. Doherty's Prince Lief.

Hotel Arrivals.

Arrivals at the Golden Eagle Hotel yesterday: DeLancey Stone, H. Wells, Jr., George H. Linen, New York; P. E. Bowles, Oakland; W. S. Boynton, Colorado; Wm. C. Pyfer, Stockton; D. S. Stanley, Alameda; T. W. Bliss, Santa Cruz; D. S. Shafer, Chicago; Dr. J. L. Asay, San Jose; Dr. W. A. Moore, Benicia; E. L. Colton, S. C. New Citizen.

Edmund Herbert, a native of Germany, was yesterday admitted to citizenship in Judge Johnson's court.

TAKE MOTHER'S ADVICE.

A Highly Moral Tale Wherein One Boy Withstood Temptations.

"Well, children, here I am again, and am ready to tell you of a young man, whose mother's influence saved him."

"Just make it as long as you can, Uncle," said one of us, as we all gathered around the old Uncle's chair.

"My hero this time will be a young country lad, sturdy and strong, a lone of the soil. Both father and mother were consistent church members, who had raised their son up in a way that he should go."

"Every night when the day's work was over, father and son would read the dear old family Bible until bedtime. Ah, if all our children could be brought up the same way."

"Just as our hero was entering his 15th year his father suggested that he be sent to some large school. The mother was not quite willing, saying her son was not fit to be in company, and he led from God's path."

"But a few days only elapsed when the father talked the mother into consenting to her son's departure for school. The day came for her hero's departure. Every night had mother and father prayed for their son that he would shun bad company and keep in his old way. It was a beautiful September morning when our hero left for school. Father and mother told him to try and continue as he had been before leaving home. Next day he entered the school for a two years' session. He passed everything all right until one night he was told to meet three of the other scholars in one of their rooms to have a little fun. Not knowing what kind of fun they were going to enjoy he consented to be on hand. He had attended church every Sunday since entering school, and had not forgotten what father and mother had told him. Night came for the four young men to meet in the room for the fun, of which our hero was wholly innocent.

"Each boy was at the room at the appointed time. Everything was in readiness for the fun. Each took a seat around the table, and as if by magic one of the young men pulled out a deck of cards. Our hero stared at them. The cards were dealt out. Each boy picked up his cards, but our hero hesitated, as his father's and mother's words loomed up before him.

"I can't play, boys," said our hero. "What is the matter with you, Harry? You can play a sociable little game," said one of the boys.

"Well, I'll tell you my reason for not playing any kind of game that is a sin. Before I left home father and mother asked me not to forget God's path, and they say, you see that is my reason for not indulging in any bad habits that will lead me out of God's true ways. Now, boys, can you blame me for not playing with this in my hand before I left here, and no one has ever seen it since she gave it to me. Now I will read it, and you will all agree with me."

"There's a heart that beats for me, Crying, come back my dear— A hand that waits and welcome, A home full of happiness and cheer.

"There's a fond one awaiting my presence, To see me would give her joy— Awaiting, I know, at the old gateway, Awaiting her own darling boy.

"I can see her to-night, My vision that often comes to me, Though in many miles away, Over the beautiful blue sea.

"Tis my mother I'm singing of, For none else would wait so long— For your mother is the best friend of all, And these words will suit any one's song." —W. Dolph Lockyer.

National Song Written Under a Fire.

"The Star Spangled Banner" was written by Francis Scott Key at the time of the attack on Fort McHenry, made by Admiral Cockburn on September 13, 1814. Key was held as a prisoner in a little boat moored to the commander's vessel. Through the whole day and night, exposed to the fire from the shore, Key watched the flag on the fort, and at break of day on the 14th saw it still waving—"our flag was still there." Then, taking an old letter for pocket, he rested it on a barrel-head, and at fever-heat wrote the poem, which he called "The Defense of Fort McHenry."—William George Jordan, in Ladies' Home Journal.

MURDERER BARTHEMAN.

A Former Sacramento Condemned to Death.

He Spent Last Night in Our County Jail, and Goes to Folsom To-Day.

Sheriff Burr and Deputy Sheriff Higgins of Los Angeles yesterday brought to this city, en route to Folsom, a prisoner named John P. Bartheman, who is under sentence of death for the brutal murder of his wife in Los Angeles.

Bartheman is to be hanged on the 7th of May. At one time he resided in Sacramento, where he was engaged in the sewing machine business, and from here he and his wife removed to Los Angeles. They did not get along harmoniously in the southern city, and Mrs. Bartheman there sued for a divorce.

She failed to obtain a decree, but Bartheman subsequently consented to have her a divorce on the condition that she should care for and properly rear their little girl.

The prisoner talked freely with Deputy Sheriff Kelly yesterday. He said his child told him one day that her mother was in the habit of making her dance in a nude condition before him. He went to where his wife was to remonstrate with her. A quarrel ensued and the next he knew he was down town with an empty revolver in his hand. He was told he had fired five shots at his wife and killed her. His defense was temporary insanity at the time the murder was committed, but the jury found otherwise.

Bartheman then applied for a new trial, alleging that some of the testimony introduced by the prosecution was incompetent, especially on the question of his sanity. His counsel also contended that the motive for the murder had been shown, but the court ruled against the prisoner on all points, declaring that if ever there was a case in which a motive was apparent from start to finish, it was this one. A new trial was denied, and Bartheman was on Wednesday sentenced to death on the 7th of May.

The murderer still tries to convey the impression that he was not responsible for his act when he murdered his wife, for while in the County Jail here yesterday he declared that he had no recollection of the crime, and the circumstance was all a blank to him.

Very likely there will be the usual appeal to the Supreme Court from the order denying a new trial, and a consequent postponement of the execution.

Bartheman will be taken to Folsom this morning by the Los Angeles officers.
