

MEMORIAL DAY IN THE EAST.

It is the Great Day for Outdoor Sports About New York.

A Sacramentan's Account of a Ball Game—The Great Brooklyn Handicap.

(Special Correspondence of Record-Union.) NEW YORK, June 8. — Decoration Day in New York serves a double purpose, for aside from being the day to honor the soldiers who died for their country, it also marks the grand opening of the summer season of sports.

And where else in the universe could one find a greater variety of attractions than was offered to this sports-loving community last Monday? The list included everything from racing, baseball, wheeling, etc., down to yachting and swimming. In fact, old Father Knickerbocker just throws aside the cares of the world and goes in—or rather out—for a good time. There is no end of going "in" for pleasure from this time on, for now comes that delightful period of outdoor life—excursions on the water, visits to the various beaches, and in town the ever-popular roof-gardens to drive away the dull monotony of the warm nights.

But that is another story. To go back to Decoration Day, just try to imagine this Greater New York awaking to find the rain falling in torrents from the most dreary of skies. Why, it was regular Oregon weather—seemed just like the Portland experiences, one shivering and another so quickly that it looked as if they were all trying to be in first at the finish. But shortly after breakfast the rain ceased to come down so hard, and by 11 o'clock the sun was master of the situation, and received a right royal welcome, too. The only damage recorded was postscript of the morning games of baseball, and a little too much moisture during the parade, for luckily all the star events were scheduled for the afternoon.

By 1 o'clock the storm was history, as far as appearances went, and the pleasure-seekers went to the parks and suburbs, just as time on. Up at the polo grounds a large force took the place in hand, and by the time game was called the diamond was all that the Pittsburgs and New Yorks could wish for in their contest before the 24,000 rosters, who more than made up for the loss of the morning game.

And was not the great Rube to twirl for New York? Any crank present would have assured you that the game was already won—that he was present just to see how the act was done. As far as appearances went, and the pleasure-seekers went to the parks and suburbs, just as time on. Up at the polo grounds a large force took the place in hand, and by the time game was called the diamond was all that the Pittsburgs and New Yorks could wish for in their contest before the 24,000 rosters, who more than made up for the loss of the morning game.

Well, they did win with ease, for the big Hoosier, who was the hero, and the 24,000 went home firm in their belief that New York will soon have a hold on the pennant.

And was not the great Rube to twirl for New York? Any crank present would have assured you that the game was already won—that he was present just to see how the act was done.

By the way, it would do you good to see the gilt-edge ball Van Halten and other coast boys are putting up this season. Van seems to improve with age, and to see him pulling down sure home runs reminds me of the palmy days of old-time Park, when a "fango" driven to his territory meant certain death. Joe Corbett is also keeping up the excellent reputation he won last year as a twirler for Baltimore.

The surprise of the season is Sockalexis, a full-blooded Indian, and one bred, at that, of the most splendid of covering the entire diamond, bats like a fiend, and thinks nothing of stealing bases. Next season will no doubt see all the league managers up in Maine looking for some more like him.

The wheelmen had a splendid afternoon's sport, considering the poor promises of the morning. The greatest attraction was the Irvington-Milburn road race in New Jersey. There were over 100 entries, and the race was run despite the wretched condition of the course, resulting in a victory for Soden, a Newark scorch.

But Brooklyn held the trump card in the great and only Brooklyn handicap, which was run off at Gravesend, and, as is usual with the event, the unexpected happened, and lucky "Philly" won the race and glory with a mad-horse entered at the eleventh hour. And while the race was hardly a close one, the surprise at the result offset any disappointment. There are few events in the sporting world which awaken as much interest as does this race.

Why, as the day draws near the excitement seems to be in the very atmosphere, and speculation regarding the winner becomes intense—not only speculation of the mind, but of pocketbook as well. People who never think of going to a race course at any other time call the "handicap afternoon" finds them at Gravesend. It might be said incidentally that all roads led there on Monday.

The crowd was somewhat slow in arriving, but by the time the second race had been run the scene was positively brilliant. A hot breeze crept in from beyond the distant green fringe of trees, and crossing the great inclosure

THE TAVERN OF CASTLE CRAG

The Tavern of Castle Crag was built in the heart of the Sierras, almost at the foot of Mount Shasta, and amid the most picturesque mountain scenery accessible to the tourist. The eligibility of the place selected was due to a rare combination of flowing water, the inspiring mountain scenery and inviting forests.

The Tavern of Castle Crag, with its splendid environment, it was believed would appeal chiefly to those who seek a summer resort for health, recreation, outdoor sports, and a change of air, with nature and informal sociality. To emphasize this intention and signify the kind of invitation extended, the name TAVERN OF CASTLE CRAG was chosen.

COMMERCIAL. WHEAT CONTINUES QUIET, AT UNCHANGED QUOTATIONS. Previous Prices Rule on Barley—Oats Are Dull, at Former Figures—Little Doing in Corn.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 14th. Wheat is still quiet and unchanged; Chicago has advanced, but the local market does not seem to be affected. Previous prices rule on barley; samples of new brewing have arrived. Oats are dull at the old prices; very few coming in. No much doing in corn; among to-day's receipts are 25,000 bushels, which were sent on the Indian relief steamer. Eye is firm at the quotation, with stock well cleaned up; 12,581 bushels were taken for Calcutta per City of Everett.

"A Weak Man Is Only Half a Man."

TO HIM THE JOYS AND PLEASURES OF THIS world are dull pastime. His sense of enjoyment is dulled. He is a fair constitution physically, but his intellect is slow, his memory poor. It is evident that he lacks vital force, which is electricity. He is easily subject to disease, because his circulation is weak and the blood cannot reach off the impurities which gather in the kidneys and stomach.

Dr. Sanden's Electric Belt. Is Nature's cure for weak men. It saturates the body every day with a volume of animal magnetism and restores the power of the nerves and all vital parts. Its cure—why there is not a town in this State which knows not a cure by this famous belt.
