

THE INVADING ENDEAVORERS

FIFTY-FOUR TRAINS NOW ON THE WAY TO THE COAST.

A Little Hitch in the Stop-over Proposition, but It May Be Overcome.

The wires inform us that fifty-four trains are now heading toward the Golden State. They are from the Granite State, the Bay State, from the Granite State, the Green Mountain State, from the Nutmeg State, "Little Rhody," from the Lone Star State and every State in the Union.

Most of these trains will probably stop at Sacramento on the 6th of July and 7th. People should show by their presence at the depot that they are interested in the great society that will come to our State. Most generously the business men are responding on the financial needs, as they always do.

The Reception Committee, under the leadership of A. C. Herrick, with the assistance of the Secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association and a hundred or more volunteers, will do all they can. But what can a few do when thousands will be at the depot about the same time?

Will not our citizens make a special effort to go and welcome the incoming trains? Let the strangers receive such a welcome from Sacramento's thousands that we shall be second only to San Francisco.

Let the Capital City have no cause of regret or shame. Let the fruits and flowers will be most gratefully received on Tuesday morning next at the headquarters of the Reception Committee at the depot.

There was much disappointment in Christian Endeavor circles yesterday when it was announced that the committee would be so many people and so many special trains that it would be impossible to carry out the original plans to hold the trains here.

The first impulse of the committee was to abandon the publication of a souvenir, as the subscriptions for it were largely made on the understanding that the people were to stop here on their way out, but after reflection it was believed to be more important now to issue the souvenir than before.

It is not fair to assume that before these gentlemen set out on their respective missions they were instructed as to the kind of copy they would expect to furnish.

A shrewd newspaper man, and as a rule the profession is not lacking in that quality, knows that people want articles "running down" the Spaniards, and, accordingly, he dishes such articles up. What strikes me as the most remarkable fact in the whole "war" so far is that (vide dispatches) he has several hours' hard fighting about four or five times a week.

Commissioner Calhoun says the Cubans won't fight and carry on a desultory sort of guerrilla warfare. The Cubans are not to be blamed for that, nobility, but it is not that in keeping with the tactics of the President of the Junta, whatever that may be, who secured in his office in New York City, fights the Spaniards with fake cablegrams.

Weyler is blamed that with all the troops at his command he cannot gain a decisive victory, or capture some of the rebel leaders. Did not General Mosby during our late unpleasantness defy the whole Union army for four years, and he never was captured, although he did manage to get a handful of men to take a Union General out of his bed in spite of the army surrounding him.

Another thing, did you ever see a country in which war was being carried on present the same smiling appearance as in the days of peace? General Sherman in his march through Georgia, and in the kind of citizens they who never live in the land of their adoption, never intend to, and only remember that they are citizens when they are in trouble.

The Cubans are a mixed race, with the negro element predominating, and are not fit for self-government. I have lived for many years in countries where we have had to deal with such a mixed population and men who have studied this subject thoroughly will tell you that such people inherit the vices of both parents and very seldom any of their good qualities.

As Americans we are supposed to be lovers of fair play. As for myself, I believe in giving even the devil his due, and I think the Spaniards have been maligned and the Cubans praised with that maudlin sentimentality we are prone to indulge in when our newspapers lead the way. If the truth were known I firmly believe that the Cubans are as brutal and as cruel as the other side is made out to be, and if some newspaper would only have the courage to express their honest convictions we would hear less of the brutal Spaniard and the heroic Cuban.

PRINTING OFFICE CLOSED.

THE STATE OFFICE PRACTICALLY SHUT DOWN.

Only a Few Men Now Finishing Up Some Work for the University.

The State Printing Office is closed. So far as the State Government is concerned, its forty-ninth fiscal year begins this morning. Ordinarily the beginning of a fiscal year makes very little difference to the average State official, or to the citizens, but things have been so shaped that the forty-ninth fiscal year is thrown slightly out of plumb.

So far as regards State printing, the State Office was closed last night, and will be opened no more until funds for its maintenance and support shall have been provided. Governor Budd, it will be remembered, vetoed the appropriation for the support of that institution for the forty-ninth and fiftieth fiscal years, and ever since the Legislature closed its session State Printer Johnston has been running a small force to clear up the work on hand, the cost of which was covered by the appropriation for the past fiscal year.

The State Printing Office was closed last night, and the sixty-two institutions which have looked to that department for their necessary printing must look to the Regents of the State for the opinion recently rendered by Attorney-General Fitzgerald, is a rather particular matter. The Attorney-General, it will be remembered, interpreted the statutes governing the subject to mean that certain specified papers must be printed, and that all State printing must be done at the State Printing Office.

Since the late Legislature adjourned the usual force of 150 persons employed in the State Printing Office had been cut down until last night there remained but fifty to bid goodby to employment and incomes.

The pressrooms and the bindery are hermetically sealed, so far as State printing is concerned, and that a few persons remain in the composing room is due to the sturdy stand recently taken by the trades unions throughout the State, after the Regents of the University of California had contracted with the "Pacific Press" to publish 5,000 copies of the "Register of the University of California," and 2,000 copies of the "Annual Announcement of Courses of Instruction."

The pressroom to bear by the trades unions was sufficiently strong to induce the Regents to revoke their contract with the "Pacific Press" which is a non-union concern.

The upshot of it all was that the Regents finally agreed to allow the printers in the State Printing Office to do the work, which will be paid for out of the endowment fund of the institution. So it happens that a few men still stick type in the composing room, while the press room and the bindery are empty.

But the sixty-two institutions in the State which require the assistance of the printing press have no endowment funds from which to draw, and the printing question is narrowing down to a question of days.

When seen last evening regarding the matter, State Printer Johnston said that the office would be closed to-day and that the printing press shall have been provided to warrant payment for labor and supplies. He called attention to the opinion of the Attorney-General, that no State institution can, under the statute, perform its duty without printing, and that all such printing shall be done in the State Printing Office.

And so the State Printing Office is closed.

BRYAN RECEPTION. He Will Be in Sacramento on Saturday Morning.

William J. Bryan is to arrive in this city at 5:40 o'clock on Saturday morning next. He will be met at the depot and escorted to the Golden Eagle Hotel by the local Iroquois Committee, the committee from Stockton and a delegation from the Democratic State Central Committee.

Mr. Bryan is not expected to make an address on that occasion, as he will be here but three hours and that will be devoted to getting a little rest and receiving a few callers.

At 9 o'clock he will leave the city on his way south, accompanied by the Stockton committee, to be decorated by Sacramento ladies. At Stockton he will address the people at 11 o'clock, and then resume his journey southward.

On the 8th (one week from to-day) Mr. Bryan will return to Sacramento to deliver a lecture at the New Pavilion. The committee has already begun the work of decorating the large building for that occasion.

Assessor Berkey's Arbitrary Assessment on the Mills Bank. Assessor Berkey filed with the Supervisors yesterday a communication or report in connection with the assessment of the National Bank of D. O. Mills. He has made what is known as an arbitrary assessment against that institution, and places his figures at the handsome sum of $2,157,000. The document filed by the Assessor states the facts of his negotiations with the bank, beginning with his notice to President Miller to file a statement of the bank's taxable wealth, and concluding with a recital of the proceedings taken before him on Tuesday, when President Miller appeared for examination regarding the bank's property. According to the report, the bank filed a statement early in March setting forth that its personal property was valued at $6,000, of which $1,000 was for furniture and $5,000 for the vault in which its books and deposits are kept. This $6,000 is included in the assessment levied by Assessor Berkey. The latter informed the Supervisors that the proceedings had been in accordance with the law, and that they could not place any lower valuation on the bank's property than he had fixed, though they could, if they should see fit, raise the figures. The Assessor was not satisfied with the statement filed by the bank, hence the arbitrary assessment of $2,157,000.
