

MISS BERNARD EXONERATED

THE CHARGE OF CRUELTY WAS NOT SUSTAINED.

School Teachers to be Elected on the 19th—The Drawing System.

At the meeting of the City Board of Education last evening bids for furnishing wood for use in the schools were opened. The bidders were A. Dunbar, white oak, $8 50 per cord, pine $5 20 per cord; J. F. Elliott, white oak, $5 20 per cord; Thos. Coulter, pine, $8 40 per cord; Fair Oaks Wood Company, white oak, $5 40 per cord; Silvey & Madison, white oak, $5 75, and John Skelton, white oak, $6 50, and pine, $6 per cord.

The bids were referred to the Committee on Furniture and Supplies, with authority to act.

Bids for stationery from the H. S. Crocker Company and W. F. Purnell were opened and also referred to the committee with instructions to report at the next meeting.

In the matter of the investigation into the charges brought against Miss Lizzie Bernard, for the alleged cruel punishment of the daughter of John Cresteno, the investigating committee, consisting of Directors Brown, Dolan and Perkins, reported as follows: "To the Board of Education—Gentlemen: Your committee to whom was referred the charges made to this board by John Cresteno, that his daughter had been too severely punished at Lincoln Primary School, by the Principal, Miss Lizzie Bernard, on July 4, 1897, to report that we have thoroughly investigated the case and find that on the evidence given by all teachers in the building, and all other witnesses summoned, that the child was only punished in the usual way and to the usual extent that corporal punishment is administered to others at that school, or any other school in this city, which is not too severe and not contrary to the school law.

"We would therefore recommend that the charges be dismissed, and that the accused be exonerated."

A PEG HIGHER.

Yesterday the Mercury Shinned Up the Pole to 99.

The Weather Bureau reports show the highest and lowest temperatures yesterday to have been 99 and 70 degrees, with gentle to fresh northerly and southerly winds, and clear weather with a few clouds floating in the air.

The highest and lowest temperatures one year ago yesterday were 82 and 53 degrees, and one year ago to-day 86 and 51 degrees.

Tuesday night was the hottest since the heated spell during July of last year, when there were three hotter nights in succession. The lowest temperature on Tuesday night was as high as 70 degrees.

THE BIG BICYCLE PARADE.

WILL BE THE FEATURE OF THE NIGHT CELEBRATION.

It Is Expected That Several Hundred Riders Will Be in Line.

On the night of the 5th there will be a bicycle parade in this city like which has not been seen outside of San Francisco, where, in the last two years, two monster wheelmen's demonstrations have taken place.

Next Monday's parade will have a dual object in view. It is intended to be not only a feature of the Fourth of July celebration, but also to be in honor of the visiting wheelmen who will take part in the races on that afternoon over the Oak Park track.

The committee have been making a canvass among the wheel riders of both sexes, and they claim to have secured already promises from nearly 200 to turn out over the Oak Park track.

If these all show up on the evening of the 5th the parade will be the most striking feature of the celebration, and wheelmen should all endeavor to make it the success hoped for. Those who may not be called on by the committee should send their names to Dr. George Readman, the Secretary, at the rooms of the Capital City Wheelmen.

This is not to be a club affair, though managed by the Capital City Wheelmen. Every rider, whether club member or otherwise (of acceptable character) is invited and urged to take part in the parade.

First Division—Grand Marshal, Captain C. F. Shaw; Chief Aid, F. M. Woodson; Aids, J. T. Sheehan and A. S. Stephenson; ladies on single wheels; ladies and escorts on tandem; companion wheels.

Second Division—Chief Aid, Joseph A. M. Martin; Aids, Charles Greene and Charles M. Campbell; Young Men's Christian Association cyclists.

Third Division—Chief Aid, Scott F. Egan; Aids, Lester Young, L. Ammon, Clay, Charles M. Goethe, and George Readman; Capital City Wheelmen, tandems; Capital City Wheelmen, single wheels.

Fourth Division—Chief Aid, James F. McDonald; Aids, A. Balling and H. T. Goethe; unattached wheelmen.

Fifth Division—Chief Aid, T. A. Lyons; Aids, Peter Murman, J. W. Gee, William Harrison and George Odert; juveniles on wheels.

The parade will form as follows: The Third Division will form on Ninth street, between I and J, facing south.

The Second Division will form on I street, between Ninth and Tenth, facing west.

The Third Division will form on I street, between Eighth and Ninth, facing east.

The Fourth Division will form on Ninth street, between H and I, facing south.

The Fifth Division will form on Ninth street, directly in the rear of the Fourth Division.

Line of march—From Ninth and J to Tenth, to L, to Fifteenth, to N, to Tenth, to L, and continue to A. The parade will move at 9:15 p. m. sharp.

The committee consists of Dr. Clifford Todd, C. F. Shaw, B. McDonald and F. M. Woodson.

CHINESE METHODS.

They Result in Ju Sing Being Set at Liberty.

Ju Sing is now at liberty to sing the songs of freedom and incidentally to buckle on his howitzer and participate in any high (binder) jinks that circumstances may evolve in Chinatown.

Mr. Ju Sing was accused, through the recent murder of Eung Ah Chang, and was to have had his preliminary examination yesterday in the Police Court. As on a former occasion when the case was called, the City Attorney was forced to ask for a continuance owing to the absence of the chief witness, Toy Gei. Mr. Gei "got up and got" soon after the complaint against Ju Sing was filed, and uncertain as his testimony might be, without it the prosecution had nothing to stand on, so to speak.

The motion for a continuance was opposed by Hiram W. Johnson, counsel for the defendant, who referred to the fact that all the continuances had been asked for by the prosecution.

City Attorney Brown admitted the truth of the statement and said he might as well consent to the dismissal of the case, as the only witness had left were a couple of old Chinamen, while there were several white men who would testify that the Chinaman who was seen running away from the scene of the murder was not Ju Sing.

Under these circumstances Justice Williams ordered the discharge of the prisoner.

It is understood the case was fixed out of court in the usual Chinese fashion, in which case a trial could only have ended in a costly farce.

SUPREME COURT DECISIONS.

SYLLABL.

(S. F., No. 607—Department Two—Filed June 24, 1897.) Claus Sprockel, respondent, Hawaiian Commercial and Sugar Company, et al., appellants. Injunction restraining defendant from prosecuting action already commenced by defendant against plaintiff in foreign courts. Reversed.

Subdivision 1, Section 3423, C. C., declares a writ of habeas corpus to be a writ of right, and that it is not to be granted unless it is shown that the person is entitled to enjoy another from prosecuting a judicial proceeding already pending when the injunction was begun, except for the purpose of preventing a multiplicity of suits. Subdivision 2 provides that the proceeding in a Federal court shall not be stayed even though it may be necessary to do so to prevent a multiplicity of suits, and although the suit which it is sought to stay was commenced after the commencement of the action in which the injunction is sought. See, also, Subdivision 3 of the same section.

The jurisdiction of courts of equity is not diminished when by statutory charges some rights cease to exist and certain cases which courts of equity once entertained can no longer arise. A grant of power to set aside or annul cases in equity which could be maintained under the law as it stood when the Constitution was adopted. It includes all cases in equity at all times.

(S. F., No. 623—Department Two—Filed June 25, 1897.) J. W. Donnelly, respondent; San Francisco Bridge Company, appellant. Damages for personal injuries. Reversed.

Evidence of time books and time checks, of the payment of laborers and of the general conduct of the work is all admissible to establish an ostensible agency. An agency is ostensible when the principal, intentionally or by want of ordinary care, causes a third person to believe another to be his agent, who is really not employed by him.

Where the injury has resulted from an act of negligence which it was not part of the duty of the master to perform, and in the doing of which no duty of the master was being performed, then the person through whose negligence the injury has resulted, whatever may be his grade or rank of employment, is not as to that act the representative of the master, and the responsibility for injury is upon the individual actor, and not upon the employer.

(S. F., No. 610—Department Two—Filed June 25, 1897.) Caroline Huellmantel, respondent; Bernard Huellmantel et al., appellants. Divorce. Decree of divorce, alimony, etc., affirmed. That portion determining and disposing of real property reversed.

Subdivision 4, section 146, C. C., provides that "if a homestead has been selected from the separate property of either husband or wife, it shall be assigned to the former owner of said property, subject to the power of the court to assign it for a limited period to the innocent party, i. e., the one who obtains the divorce on the ground of adultery or extreme cruelty. Held, that in such case the homestead can be assigned to the innocent party—having been selected from the separate property of the other—only for a limited period, which cannot exceed the life of the party to whom it is assigned.

(S. F., No. 553—Department One—Filed June 26, 1897.) Max Wessman, appellant; Louis Sloss, respondent. Action to declare a trust of stock and for accounting of earnings. Reversed.

Until executed, both parties to a contract are given an opportunity for repentance and recession. Seeing the error of his ways, the law says a party may withdraw from the transaction; and it extends to him a helping hand by offering the inducement of giving back to him anything of value with which he has parted.

THE WOODMEN.

Last Night's Excellent Entertainment by Sequoia Camp.

The annual banquet and entertainment given by Sequoia Camp, No. 104, Woodmen of the World, at Foresters' Hall last evening, called out a large and select audience. Some of the best talent in the city assisted in making the entertainment the success it was, and the unbounded applause bestowed spoke well for the rendition of the several selections.

At the conclusion of the entertainment the guests repaired to the banquet room, where a bounteous repast was spread. E. L. Green was at the head of the table as toastmaster, and wit and wine flashed alternately. Among those who responded to toasts were Henry Tabbs, J. M. Morton and H. O. Wheeler, general organizer.

The programme rendered at the entertainment was as follows: Opening address, J. H. Liggett, vocal solo. W. H. M. Beardslee, instrumental trio. FINED TEN DOLLARS.

A Woman Witness Who Would Not Answer Questions.

Judge Hart and District Attorney Ryan had their patience sorely tried yesterday during the trial of Servius Buchanini for an alleged deadly assault on Alexander Williams at Oak Park a few months ago.

One of the witnesses for the defense was a Mrs. Colosso, and when her testimony had been given down to a point that bore directly on the facts of the alleged assault she would not answer the questions asked her by the District Attorney on cross-examination.

The witness claimed she could not comprehend certain questions, and Judge Hart endeavored to draw her out, but did not succeed. She would not say whether or not Buchanini struck Williams with a stick he had in his hand, and on being threatened by the court with a fine for her contumacious refusal to answer, she began to cry. After repeated attempts to obtain an answer, all of which were failures, Judge Hart declared her guilty of contempt of court and ordered her detained by the Sheriff until she paid a fine of $10.

The defense did not conclude its testimony, and the case will be resumed this morning.
