WHO ARE "LADIES" By what standards are we to measure worth, chastity and decency if the usage of the time in application of the title "lady" is to continue?

Queen Victoria is reported as now ready to retire, with a string to it. She proposes to tentatively abdicate in favor of the Prince of Wales.

But the use of the title "lady" generally by the press of the day when referring to all manner of women, has gone so far as to arouse the indignation of chivalrous men, and lead them to resent the application of the term to any of the women of their families.

Tom Watson and the middle of the road people now have fair control of the Populist party. Mr. Watson announces that absolute flatism will be the keynote of the next Populist bugle that sounds.

Another kept-woman, sixteen years the mistress of a prominent San Franciscan, now dead, goes into court in a quarrel over his estate, and is referred to in court and print as "the lady."

Kind heaven save the mark! Has the ethics of politeness become so corrupted that the demi-monde and the Barbary Coast are to be entitled "ladies," while decent women, pure wives, mothers and sisters must be content to have the same title applied to them, trusting to the shining of the application to indicate the line that distinguishes one class of "ladies" from another?

Men who respect womankind worthy of regard, really should esteem the painted harlots of the tenderloin districts of our congested communities superior to these "lady" mistresses of shameless men.

What is the use of this perpetual wall over yellow journalism? If the people did not want yellow papers they would not buy them, would they? And if the people want them, proprietors will supply them. We might as well recognize the unpleasantly cold truth.—Stockton Mail.

There is something in that, certainly. But suppose it to be true, what then? There is a class who are independents, a class who are wards. Laws are for the protection of the weak against the strong, as well as to secure the strong in their rights along with all others.

Now these dependents, wards and minor children, those under guardianship, our sons, daughters and those over whom duty gives us watch and ward, have not the legal capacity to choose what they should read. It is the duty of the responsible to protect them from contaminating influences. They are entitled to protection in this respect as much as in their persons from physical assault.

But it is not true that the masses of the people prefer nude journalism. A large number do, no doubt, but the far larger number helplessly submit to what they fear they cannot control without that dangerous invasion of the freedom of the press which censorship implies.

There is such a thing as forcing upon a people the unwelcome; such a thing as commingling enterprise, attractiveness, news elaborateness, and a seeming of public and charitable spirit with the vicious, corrupting, obscene and repulsive, that the reading public is unable to make segregation, and must perforce accept the nude sheet in full or reject it in toto. Hence the nude press thrives.

The members of the Christian Endeavor organizations of this city have long been very actively engaged in preparing for the reception of their coming brethren. They expect a stop of delegates at Sacramento of some hours.

This has now been found to be out of the question, and no train will pause here more than thirty minutes. The desire, therefore, of the local membership that the visitors shall be met at the depot as the trains arrive large crowds of Californians, with welcome written in their countenances, and for the guests who are introduced a hearty hand-shake and words of welcoming greeting.

These visitors represent a vast body of the best of our common country, moral conservators, largely young men and young women, the men and women coming on to take the places of the declining generation in affairs and activities of the Republic. They should find Californians at every step of their progress through the State gathered to welcome them, and bearing the gifts of good will and greetings of sincerity.

VARIOUS FOREST RESERVES.

REGULATIONS APPLICABLE TO THEIR GOVERNMENT.

The General Land Office Paying Much Attention to Their Preparation.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—Much attention has been paid recently by the general Land Office to the preparation of rules and regulations applicable to the government of the various forest reserves of the United States.

Attention is called to the matter of forest fires, which do so much damage through carelessness, and the law is specially referred to which imposes a penalty for the reckless setting of fire to or carelessly suffering fire to burn unattended near timber, and which punishes such offense by fine or imprisonment.

Prospecting, locating and developing the mines or other resources of forest reserves are permitted. Lands for schoolhouses and churches are provided, and the waters for medicine, mining, milling and irrigation purposes are also allowed.

The construction of wagon roads is authorized, and the right to lay across the reserves for irrigating canals, ditches, flumes and reservoirs is permitted. The pasturing of livestock on the reserves is permitted, except as to sheep, which, in view of their injuries to the forest, are prohibited in regions where the rainfall is limited, and the present exception in this regard is extended only to the reserves in the States of Oregon and Washington, because of the continuous moisture and abundant rainfall on the Cascades of the Pacific Coast.

The mineral rights of the forest reserves are subject to location and entry under the mining laws in the usual manner. Owners of mining locations are authorized to fell and remove from their mining claims any timber growing thereon for actual mining purposes upon their particular claim.

The use of the forest reserves for the settlement of miners, residents and prospectors for minerals, for firewood, fuel, buildings, etc. This privilege is restricted to persons resident within the forest reserves which have not a sufficient supply of timber on their own claims.

The sale of timber from the reserves will be permitted in limited quantities for the purpose of preserving the living and growing timber and permitting the younger growth of timber on the reserves. Dead, matured or large growths of trees found upon the reserves shall be donated to the applicant as far as the same may not be necessary for the forest preservation and water cover, and may be sold for not less than the appraised value in such quantity as shall be prescribed to each purchaser, and to be used in the State or Territory in which the reservation may be.

Sixty days' notice published in the county where the timber is situated is to be given before sale. Payments are to be made to the Receiver of the local Land Office of the district where the timber is sold. Before the sale, the timber shall be examined and appraised under the direction of the department. In order to avoid a monopoly the department may, in sales in excess of $500, make allotments of quantity to the several bidders, and the right is reserved to reject any or all bids. Within thirty days after an award of timber to a bidder payment must be made in full, and within one year it must be removed. Where it may be found necessary to erect temporary sawmills for use of timber purchased on the grounds a permit will be necessary. All timber must be used in the State or Territory in which the reservation is situated.

Supplemental instructions are given to all special agents of the Interior Department to especially take cognizance of unlawful cutting of timber and depredations upon the public domain, including the forest reserves, and hereafter a vigilant watch will be directed toward the matter of forest fires.

The law further provides that in the disposition of lands more applicable for mining and agriculture than for forestry purposes, upon a proper showing made, the same be eliminated entirely from the forest reserve and restored to the public domain.

The estimated area of the existing forest reserves is 18,963,280 acres. The estimated area of the suspended forest reserves is 19,952,390 acres. The aggregate area of the existing and suspended reserves is 38,915,670. This is greater than the area of any State east of the Mississippi River and of several west of it.

THE INCOMING HOSTS. Fifty Trains of Christian Endeavorers Nearing the Coast.

The plains between the Missouri River and Utah are now dotted over with long lines of railroad trains carrying Christian Endeavor delegates and others to this coast.

It is understood that the first train to arrive will not reach here until Tuesday, the 6th, as stops are to be made at Salt Lake and other places along the route. They will also stop over in Sacramento.

Division Superintendent Wright of the Southern Pacific Company was at Reno yesterday making arrangements for the rushing along of trains as they reach the State line.

He said it would take fifty trains of ten cars each to carry them. They will run about forty-five minutes apart, and at a station to station—that is, a train leaving Reno would not be followed by another section until the preceding one had passed Verdi.

All freights will be abandoned. It is expected trains will begin passing Reno some time Monday afternoon. Fifty big mountain engines and fifty crews will be sent from Sacramento to Wads-worth on Sunday.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS. Columbia Lodge's Officers Installed Last Evening.

Grand Chancellor C. S. Van Roy, assisted by Grand Vice-Chancellor M. Hirsch, Grand Prelate M. L. Jenkins, Grand Master-at-Arms W. B. Oldfield, Grand Insigne Guard H. A. Stier and Grand Outer Guard A. J. Lloyd, installed the following officers of Columbia Lodge, No. 42, Knights of Pythias:

The Night School. At the Perry Seminary building the night school of James L. Pelton opened this evening in keeping with those of the other schools.

GONE TO HIS REST.

Death of Public Administrator Miller in Nebraska.

A telegram was received by John Boyd last night to the effect that Public Administrator William B. Miller died at Long Pine, Neb., at 6 o'clock last evening.

Mr. Miller had been in poor health for a long time, and on the 23d of May, accompanied by his wife, he left for the home of his brother, R. C. Miller, at Missouri Valley, Ia., with the hope that a change might restore his ebbing energies.

The trip, however, proved a severe one and for two weeks after arriving at his brother's home he was confined to his bed.

In a letter written to Mrs. M. Currier of this city, last Sunday, J. C. Miller stated that his brother had gone to Long Pine, Neb., and expressed a hope that there would soon be a marked change for the better. This was the last word received until the telegram announcing his death was received last night. The deceased leaves a wife, but has no blood relatives on this coast.

The remains will be brought to this city for interment, and will arrive on the overland train Monday evening.

Mr. Miller was one of the prominent citizens of Sacramento and one of the most popular. He was always identified with every movement and enterprise proposed for the advancement of local interests. At the last election he was chosen as Public Administrator, in which office his death will leave a vacancy. He was prominent in Masonic circles, was a member of Sacramento Lodge, No. 40, F. A. M., Sacramento Chapter, No. 3, R. A. M., Sacramento Council, No. 1, R. and S. M., and Past Commander of Sacramento Commandery, No. 2, Knights Templar. He was also a Noble of the Mystic Shrine.

FIRE AT OAK PARK. A Partly-Finished Cottage Burned There Last Night.

A fire occurred at 10 o'clock last night which destroyed an unfinished cottage located in the addition north of Oak Park and east of Thirty-first street.

There was no one in the house at the time of the fire, and the cause of the conflagration could not be ascertained. The neighbors fought the flames with buckets, garden-hose and other primitive fire apparatus, but without avail, the building being entirely destroyed. So far as could be learned, there was no insurance.

POSSIBLY A JOKE. But It Was One That Sheriff Johnson Did Not Enjoy.

Sheriff Johnson and his deputies were out last night searching for the fortune teller and buggy, which were taken from where the Sheriff had left the horse tied on a down-down street while temporarily absent.

Whether or not it was a genuine case of theft, or was done as a so-called joke, Sheriff Johnson of course did not know, but he did know that his outfit had been taken by some one.

It was said at 1 o'clock this morning that no tidings of the horse and buggy had been received.

GETS HIS FEE. Result of an Attorney's Suit Against a Client.

Some time ago Ed. Currier, who resides in Washington, Yolo County, engaged J. G. Bryte, also of Washington, to act as his attorney in a case before Justice of the Peace Gill. Currier, it seems, was slow in settling with his attorney, who recently brought suit for $25 fees and costs.

The case was tried before Justice Gill yesterday and resulted in a judgment being rendered in favor of Bryte for the full amount of his bill and the costs.

IN CAPITOL PARK. The New Sewerage System—Pavilion Being Painted.

The painters also are at work, and the new Pavilion is coming out in a new dress. The prevailing color is white, with drab trimmings.
