

A BOARDING HOUSE LOOTED.

SOME $500 WORTH OF SILVERWARE STOLEN.

Mrs. Weller the Victim—Most of the Articles Bore Her Name.

The sidewalk of the boarding house at Eleventh and H streets, conducted by Mrs. Weller, is depleted, and the elegant silver service it once held has gone to swell the melting pot of the burglar or to be hawked among the "fences" of this or other cities in the State for what it will bring in the "thieves' market."

The burglary took place some time Monday night, entry being made through a pantry window, which had been left open. In order to reach the window the burglars utilized a step-ladder standing in the yard, and once the dining room was reached a clean sweep was made.

The silver service consisted of about twenty pieces, among which were a water pitcher, two teapots, a sugar bowl, cream pitcher, spoon holder, and several sets of knives, forks, spoons, etc. These were evidently what the thieves were after, as nothing else was disturbed. But every valuable piece of silver was taken, and the loss is estimated at $500.

Most of the heavy pieces were stamped "Weller," and can be easily recognized, provided they have not melted and sold for bullion.

Among the articles stolen were two highly-finished napkin rings, one belonging to Dr. Blanchard and stamped with his name, while the other is stamped "Flora."

A number of small gold souvenir pieces were also among the articles stolen, of all of which the police have excellent descriptions.

In the morning the elegant dining room of the establishment looked like a desert waste, and though the police have kept a close lookout for the plunder, none of it, so far as they have learned, has as yet been offered for sale.

Edward Rinaldo Knocked Out by a Plucky Boy. Several weeks ago Edward Rinaldo created a disturbance at Third and L streets and assaulted Officer Douglas when the latter attempted to arrest him. Douglas used his club and Rinaldo was subdued and landed in jail, but was released the next day.

Shortly afterward he was again arrested and was sentenced to serve thirty days in the County Jail for beating his landlady.

Rinaldo's sentence expired yesterday, and he celebrated the event by again looking on the wine in its regain. He ended by rounding up a crippled newsboy at Fifth and K streets, whose silver in trade—a number of newspapers—he tore to pieces.

Several other boys congregated, and when it was learned what Rinaldo had done one of the number sent in a right hook on the jaw, and Rinaldo went down and out. He was still asleep when Sergeant Plunkett gathered him in, and the wretched fellow was again called upon to face the music according to Justice Davis.

S-STREET SEWER. Mayor Hubbard Says It Will Soon Be Repaired. Regarding the condition of the new sewer on S street and the overflow so bitterly complained of lately, Mayor Hubbard was quoted last evening as saying:

"The overflow was caused by its being necessary to close the sewer for repairs. There is no more overflow now in the locality named, and before the present sewer system was built, but the residents there have had temporary relief, and they notice it more."

"This sewer was not completed as it should have been, and, knowing this, $1,000 was held out of the contract price. The money so held out is now being used to make necessary repairs. In a few days—probably by Sunday—these repairs will have been completed, and residents in the overflowed district will have relief."

"I do not look for a repetition of this trouble in years to come, unless there should be a break, and I do not think it is likely that such will occur."

"Our sewer system is a good one, and I see no reason why direct connections should not be made with it. The fall in the bottom of the sewer between J street and the sump is seven feet, and the flow is so rapid that matter passing into the sewer at J street can be pumped into the river within thirty minutes. "Our drainage is much better than people think, and we have a splendid pumping plant. When all the pumps are working we can send a discharge into the river that will test the full capacity of a six-foot discharge pipe. In other words, we can pump 42,000 gallons of water each minute. With such a plant as this, it is not likely that we will have any trouble in handling all the sewers will carry."

CONTRACT WAS BINDING.

Carl Strobel Allowed His Commission on a Property Sale. The case of Carl Strobel against John E. Mooney, a suit for commissions claimed to be due on a sale of the Brooklyn Hotel, was decided by Judge Hughes yesterday, who rendered judgment for Strobel for $285.

Judge Hughes held that the terms of the contract were binding, even though Mooney never received title to the Nevada land. The sum on which commissions were allowed was the $5,500 mortgage of Mooney and $200 mortgage on the land received in exchange, which were assumed by the purchaser.

MORE COURAGING.

There Will be Weekly Races at the Park All Winter. The Agricultural Park Coursing Association will inaugurate its fall and winter coursing meetings in Agricultural Park on the 3d of October.

These meetings will be held weekly, as during last winter, but under a new management. Fresh supplies of hares will be received regularly from the San Joaquin Valley, and a season of rare sport is looked for.

On the 3d of next month an open stake will be given, the entrance fee to which will be $4, with $50 added. A large number of San Francisco dogs will be brought here to participate in the races on the opening day. They will have some advantage over the local dogs at the opening of the season, as they have been in constant training, while during the warm weather the Sacramento dogs could not be worked.

The drawings will take place at Sheehan's Hall, on I street, on the night of the 30th inst.

HIT WITH A SHOVEL. George McKenzie's Complaint Against George McAdams. George McAdams, gang boss in charge of the force of men employed on the sewer at Third and S streets, was yesterday arrested on a charge of battery preferred by George McKenzie.

According to the story told by McKenzie, he was working under McAdams and accidentally threw a shovelful of earth over a wagon which was being loaded. McAdams informed him that if he was unable to hit the wagon he would better quit, and McKenzie took him at his word and called for his time.

McAdams, according to the complaint, told him he would get no money for two weeks, and ended by striking him on the head with the flat part of a shovel, rendering him insensible. McAdams put up a cash deposit for his appearance in court this morning.

A BOY'S MISHAP. Neil Cogan Painfully Injured by Car-Bumpers. Yesterday afternoon a painful accident happened to a boy named Neil Cogan near the freight sheds at the foot of K street. Young Cogan is employed as a messenger at the freight office. He was attempting to cross the track, on which a freight train was standing, and he climbed upon the bumpers when the train started and his foot was caught and badly crushed.

The boy's father is a clerk at the steamboat landing, and resides on Third street, between M and N. The boy is quite a favorite among the men at the freight sheds, all of whom sympathize deeply with him. He was taken to the Railroad Hospital for treatment.

FINN WAS HELD TO ANSWER.

MUST STAND TRIAL FOR BUNCOING PETERSON.

The Defense Offered No Evidence, and There Were No Arguments.

In the Police Court yesterday morning Robert Wright was found guilty of disturbing the peace at Second and S streets, and will spend twenty days in jail.

The case of George Murray, charged with violating the ordinance prohibiting sprinkling of lawns while a fire is in progress, was continued until tomorrow.

Thomas Davenport, charged with battery on the person of Robert parks, was discharged.

G. Valerio was found guilty of retailing liquor without a proper license, and sentence was postponed until Monday next.

George Finn must answer before the Superior Court to the charge of having buncoed Claus D. Peterson out of $121.50, and pending that proceeding will remain in jail unless bonds in the sum of $2,000 are furnished.

Finn's preliminary examination was concluded in the Police Court yesterday morning. Attorneys A. M. Seymour and Hiram W. Johnson looking after his interests, while City Attorney Brown conducted the prosecution.

H. B. Neilsen, who conducts the St. George Lodging House, on Fourth street, between J and K, testified that on the 10th instant a man giving the name of Morgan had taken a room there, and that on the succeeding night the same room was let to Morgan and Peterson. Mr. Neilsen recognized in Finn the man who had taken the room under the name of Morgan, and identified Peterson as the man who shared the room with him.

T. E. Kennedy, bookkeeper for Cronan & Weissmann, identified the certificate of deposit for $117 on the Tehama County Bank, drawn in favor of Claus D. Peterson, as one which had been asked for by the firm of Cronan & Weissmann by Ike Zemansky, with the request that it be applied to his credit. Zemansky, the witness said, indorsed the certificate, and it was applied as he requested. Subsequently the witness placed the certificate of deposit with the National Bank of D. O. Mills & Co. for collection.

Charles F. Dillman, cashier of the National Bank of D. O. Mills & Co. testified that the certificate of deposit had been forwarded to the Tehama County Bank and collected.

A. J. Lloyd, who was a special policeman during the State Fair, testified to having arrested Finn, but knew nothing of the circumstances leading to the arrest.

City Attorney Brown stated that I. Zemansky, an important witness for the prosecution, had not yet been served with a subpoena, though the officers claimed to have used due diligence in the attempt to locate him. He stated further that he had received information outside of the Police Department as to the whereabouts of Zemansky, and that as he was not far away he could be brought into court Thursday morning. He accordingly asked for a continuance until that time.

Attorney Johnson opposed a continuance, stating that the City Attorney had refused to consider a continuance when asked for by the defendant. He inquired where Zemansky was, and what it was expected he would testify to.

City Attorney Brown stated that it was intended to prove by Zemansky that he had received the certificate of deposit from the three men who had successfully played the bunco game on Peterson, that Zemansky was in hiding in the village of Washington, across the river, and that he had already taken steps to have him brought back on a foreign subpoena.

Attorney Johnson contended that the facts expected to be testified to by Zemansky were already in evidence, and protested against a further continuance.

The City Attorney finally said that he felt confident that Finn would be held on the evidence already in, withdrew his motion for a continuance, and rested.

Finn's attorneys declined to offer any evidence or arguments, and the defendant was held to answer, as already stated.

eleven on the latter, who did not comply, and who were offensively high hats. Six of the eleven last night apparently defied the request to regard the rights of others, by wearing top-lorified and towering, wide-spreading and all-obscuring head pieces, as if to publish to all present their contempt for the common decencies of life. They succeeded, and by the prominence of their offending, gave it to be understood that they did not class themselves among those addressed. In San Francisco, Boston, Philadelphia and many other cities the law compels all persons, male and female, to remove their hats in places of public assembly, and compliance is the rule. In Sacramento there are few women who defy decency, and trustees who stolidly neglect to pass ordinances to meet their cases. Just why the legislative authorities of the Capital City think women here have the right to offend and make themselves nuisances, which women elsewhere are not permitted to exercise, is a question unanswerable. The theatrical managers have done all that can be asked of them, in preferring a polite request with due emphasis. It now remains for the trustees especially, and demand of the authorities a law like that of San Francisco, and which has there worked admirably. In the meantime women who wish to be recognized as defiant, vulgar and unworthy the regard of people who respect human rights, will continue to offend as several did last night at the Metropolitan, four making themselves especially and audaciously conspicuous, and attracting attention they would not otherwise have received—but attention and comment modest women do not envy.
