

LEFT HOME AND CHILDREN.

MRS. STARCHMAN'S ACT LANDS HER IN JAIL.

Charles Starchman, who lives at Twenty-fourth and H streets, is a very unhappy man. His four little children, ranging in age from 3 to 9 years, are without a mother's care, and he is virtually wifeless.

Mrs. Starchman occupied a bunk in the County Jail last night, and is to be tried in a few days for cruelty to her children, whom she abandoned last week to take up with a worthless character named William Smithelaw.

She was arrested yesterday by Special Officer Dan Healy of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. Starchman tells a sad story of his wife's disgraceful conduct of late. To a "Record-Union" reporter he said yesterday:

"I wish you would come out to my house and see the condition of things caused by that woman's actions. One evening last week I helped her dress and fix up to go to the theater, while I stayed at home with the children. I expected her in by 11 o'clock, but she did not come.

"I got up and walked the floor for hours, still she did not return. About 1 o'clock in the morning she came, but was not alone. She had a man with her. I was beside myself with mortification and rage, and if her companion had not got out of my way I would have killed her and went for him with a knife, but he escaped.

"A few days afterward this man Smithelaw came to our house to room. I didn't know he was the man who brought my wife home that night. He stayed there until a few days ago, when both he and my wife went away. She took all her clothing, and left those four little children with no one but myself to look after them."

Officer Healy said he hunted up Smithelaw yesterday morning and gave him a few hours to produce the woman whose family he had deserted and rendered wifeless and motherless. The woman soon afterward presented herself and was locked up. He said the children were suffering from her neglect and altogether the case was a sad one.

It was not determined yesterday what action would be taken regarding the woman's paramour.

LAST NIGHT'S JOB. House Robbed While the Family Were at Supper.

The festive burglar is still enjoying his Sacramento picnic. Last evening between 6:30 and 7 o'clock, he paid a visit to the residence of B. Bockrath, at 1009 O street, and while the family were at supper he went up stairs, ransacked Mr. Bockrath's bedroom and departed with enough gear to win himself a bride in the next city he hit.

Mr. Bockrath is bookkeeper for Tom Scott, the plumber, and did not leave the store until 6:30 o'clock. It was about 7 o'clock when he reached home, and the family were then at the table. He asked who had left a light in his room and was told that none of the family had been up stairs for a half hour.

He went up to investigate and found everything turned topsy-turvy. His two overcoats were gone, also a gold watch-chain and diamond setting. He also found a diamond ring and a diamond bracelet.

About a week ago an attempt was made to rob Mr. Bockrath's residence in the daytime, but the burglar was frightened off by a neighbor.

THE "BOSS" TOWN. What a Portland Business Man Says of Sacramento.

F. W. Jennings of the firm of Kunze, Jennings & Co. of Portland and Tacoma, remained over night in the city on his way to Amador County. He reports that business in the Northwest is reviving, and that Portland, Tacoma and Seattle are lively, caused chiefly by the rush to the Klondike. Families are flocking in from the East, making preparations to leave for the mines in the spring.

Mr. Jennings has established an agency in San Francisco for a portable house manufactured by his company, for which there is a great demand for the Alaska trade.

Mr. Jennings resided a number of years in Sacramento, having been connected with the Sullivan-Kelly Paint and Oil Company. He expressed the opinion that Sacramento is yet the "boss" town of the coast.

If yet living he is about 60 years of age. His nephew will be very grateful to any person who will give any information concerning him.

TOOK A TUMBLE. Result of Charles Shaw's "Monkey-ing" With a Wire.

There is a standing joke about the fellow, who in order to saw off the limb of a tree, climbed upon it and cut it off between his perch and the trunk of the tree. Of course he came down, and ever since he has been classed in the same list of fools with Thompson's coil.

But there is a man in this city who did just as silly a trick yesterday morning. His name is Charles Shaw. About 4 o'clock Mr. Shaw climbed an unused electric light pole at Twenty-first and R streets and cut the guy-wire that sustained it. Just what he did it for has not yet transpired, but may be brought out later on. The supposition is that he wanted the wire.

When he cut the wire he knocked the props from under himself, for the pole went down with a crash, and Mr. Shaw with it. Some hours later he was found lying where he fell by a milkman on his way into town. The police were notified and Shaw was taken to the Receiving Hospital, where City Physician Nichols subsequently patched him up with courtplaster.

Shaw is considerably cut and bruised, and it may be some days before he will be able to resume his calling. But one thing is quite certain—he will not climb any more electric poles at night to cut wires.

A HEALTHY WIFE Is a Husband's Inspiration.

A sickly, half-dead-and-alive woman, especially when she is the mother of a family, is a damper to all joyousness in the home.

I sometimes marvel at the patience of some husbands, and that if a woman finds that her energies are flagging and that everything tires her, her sleep is disturbed by horrible dreams, and that she often wakes suddenly in the night with a feeling of suffocation and alarm, she must at once regain her strength.

It matters not where she lives, she can write a letter. Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., will reply promptly and without charge. The following shows the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, accompanied with a letter of advice:

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham—I have suffered for over two years with falling, enlargement and ulceration of the womb, and this spring, being in such a weakened condition, caused me to flow for nearly six months. Some time ago, urged by friends, I wrote to you for advice. After using the treatment which you advised for a short time, that terrible flow stopped. I am now gaining strength and flesh and have better health than I have had in the past ten years.

I wish to say suffering women, do not suffer longer, when there is one so kind and willing to aid you."—Mrs. F. S. BENNETT, Westphalia, Kans.
