

YOLO FARMER'S BIG FAILURE

W. C. CURTISS DECLARES HIS INSOLVENCY.

His Liabilities Are More Than a Quarter of a Million Dollars.

W. C. Curtiss, formerly of Sacramento, has failed as a farmer in Yolo. He owes $264,821, and has but $500 worth of personal property that is exempt from execution.

The story of the failure could be told in a few words—experimenting at tile farming. Year after year hundreds of acres of low lands were tilled in grain and as often submerged with overflow water.

"The schedule which accompanies the petition sets forth the assets and liabilities as follows: Total indebtedness, $264,821 78. Among the principal creditors are Henry Cowell, promissory note, $75,228 80, secured by mortgage; G. W. Woodard estate, $31,002 70; German Saving and Loan Society, $65,000, secured by mortgage.

There are several others ranging from $10,000 to $25,000. The principal local creditors are: Bank of Woodland, $5,045, partially secured; John Briggs, $2,257 12; J. W. Freeman, $1,800; H. G. Curtiss, $12,000; L. Char-mak, $750; Chalmers Bros. & McGiffin, $400; Etick estate, $1,270; Merino estate, $1,000; J. F. Hink, $2,010; T. S. Spaulding, $1,276 51, and a great many others whose claims average from $50 to $1,000. There are sixty-one creditors in all.

This is what these debts will be paid from: Real property in this city, $4,000, encumbered by mortgage to Bank of Woodland for $8,000; the "Kay ranch," 4,360 acres, encumbered by mortgage, foreclosed, to Henry Cowell, $75,228 80; real property in Colusa County, 1,673 acres, encumbered by mortgage to German Saving and Loan Society for $40,000.

PLACER PIONEER GONE.

Death of George W. Brown, Who Came to the State in 1848.

The "Placer Herald" of Saturday has the following sketch of the late George W. Brown of Gold Hill: "Last Saturday George W. Brown died in the Gold Hill district, at the advanced age of 75 years. The deceased was among the first of the hardy pioneers who crossed the plains in rude conveyances and located in this county in 1848.

"In 1877 he concluded to again seek a fortune in the Golden State, and once more made the journey to California, locating in Ophir. He engaged in a number of mining schemes in different parts of Placer County, and it is matter of history that Mr. Brown was the first man to test the question of water rights in this State. Unlike his first visit here he met with reverses in the enterprises that in those days promised large returns.

"He was never able to recover his lost fortune, yet he was tireless in his efforts to again reach his former position until enfeebled health forced him to retire from active service in his chosen field of labor. In the paucity mining days Mr. Brown was one of the leading citizens of this county, and the present generation owes a great and lasting debt to men of his character and worth.

With others he endured the many privations and hardships incident to life here during that early period, and by such men the foundation was laid for the progress and civilization that we do to-day enjoy.

"Mr. Brown was a native of Louisville, Ky., and he leaves a wife and two grown children, George A. Brown and Mrs. Inez Hood, both of Sacramento. The funeral was held last Monday, the pall-bearers being Solon Stevens, Charles Helwig, J. G. Biesbee, James Walsh, W. A. Freeman and A. Seifert."

DOGS AND POULTRY.

Entries Should be Made to Secretary Coffey To-day.

Secretary Coffey of the Dog and Poultry Association will be at the New Pavilion to-day to receive entries to the bench show.

Mr. Coffey states that the indications all favor a splendid exhibition of both poultry and dogs. The fact that the field trials commenced on the 24th may serve to keep away a few setters and pointers, but even these classes will be well represented.

The great homing pigeon race on the 24th will be an interesting event if the weather should not be foggy. It is quite likely that by that date the weather will be warmer and the air clearer than for some time past.

HAVE THE LAST SAY. To-night's meeting of the City Trustees promises to be an interesting one, as action will be taken on the nominations sent in last week by Mayor Land. These are: For Chief of Police, William P. Lowell; for Clerk of the Police Court,

A PLEASANT AFFAIR.

Sacramento Knights of Pythias Visit Folsom Lodge.

On Saturday afternoon a party of Knights of Pythias of this city accompanied District Deputy Grand Chancellor C. S. Van Roy to Folsom for the purpose of installing the officers of Folsom Lodge, No. 167.

Folsom Lodge is a live, wide-awake one, as is evident from the fact that its members informed the grand officers of their arrival that six applicants were on hand to be initiated into the mysteries of both the Esquire and Knight ranks of the order, and that still other applicants were waiting to receive the rank of Page.

This was a splendid showing for a lodge in a small town, and merited the unstinted praise extended by the Grand officers.

The work of the evening was taken up and the solemn and impressive rites in twelve ranks were conferred upon M. Cupich, George E. Henry, S. Dawdington, L. M. Enos, George Lever and F. J. McMillan.

After the initiatory ceremonies had been concluded the following members were duly installed as officers of the lodge for the ensuing term: C. C. N. G. Wubben; V. C. E. G. Barry; Pre-late, J. W. Drullinger; M. of T. and R. of E. A. Massich; M. of E. J. B. Leonard; M. W. C. Zimmerman; M. of A. J. Frates; I. G. G. B. Henry; O. G. W. Frates.

On invitation of the lodge all present repaired to the banquet room, where a bountiful feast was partaken of and some time spent in speaking making. Folsom Lodge was rather more entertaining by the visiting members.

This visit and installation practically closes the active duties of District Deputy Van Roy. All the lodges under his jurisdiction join in the feeling that he has been the most efficient, constant and devoted officer they have ever had in his efforts to build up the order, exemplify its workings and to instruct his pupils so that the lodges might have competent officers. His work has been a great success and is fully appreciated by his fellow members of the order in this county.

"BUNCO KID."

Landed in Jail for a Burglary Over in Yolo.

On Thursday last the house of Major Connors on the Reid ranch, a short distance below Washington, on the Yolo side of the river, was ransacked by a burglar who succeeded in stealing $100 to meet the storm that broke over the city last night.

The thief visited three rooms, from one of which he stole a new tailor-made suit belonging to Major Connors, from another a man's employ on the ranch, and from the third a watch-chain and locket belonging to another employ on the ranch.

The police of this city were notified of the theft, and Officers Douglas and Pennish set about to round-up the festive burglar. They got a trace of him on Friday, and followed up the clew until yesterday morning, when they arrested him in a front-street lodging house before he had got out of bed.

The young man, who is commonly known as Bunco Kid, gave the name of Harry Spencer, and when Douglas and Pennish questioned him he informed them that he was a "kangaroo," and that they might just as well save their breath, as he would divulge nothing.

It seems, however, that there is no need of divulging, as in the room found the coat, vest and trousers belonging to Major Connors' hired man. The chain and locket and the fancy suit belonging to the Major were also located, and when Spencer's case is called in Woodland he will find a mass of evidence confronting him for which he may thank his captors, and which will probably land him in Folsom for a term of years.

On Saturday evening Spencer, or the "Bunco Kid," engaged in a prize fight with another alleged fistic celebrity in K Street saloon, and those who saw it are remarkably clever with his hands. The indications are that his cleverness will be called into play at the Folsom rock-crushing plant before many moons. Yolo County officials will probably take charge of him to-day.

RIFLE SHOOTING.

Helvetia Club's Weekly Shoot-Tournament in September.

The Sacramento Helvetia Rifle Club had its bull's-eye shoot for best center yesterday. The first prize was won by M. Miller, second by J. Meyer, third by E. Mickelson, fourth by F. Dettling, fifth by A. Burgl, sixth by F. Zberg, seventh by A. Haynke, eighth by E. Schmidt, ninth by F. Ruhstaller, Jr., tenth by A. Griesel, eleventh by William Lampert, twelfth by H. Miller and thirteenth by C. Zuest.

The club has elected officers as follows: President, J. Meyer; Vice-President, Frank Ruhstaller, Jr.; Secretary, F. Zberg; Treasurer, R. Burgl; Shooting Masters, A. Griesel and A. Haynke; Trustees, M. Miller, J. Grubler and William Lampert.

It has been resolved to hold a grand shooting festival in September or October, the date to be decided on hereafter.

AMUSEMENTS.

At the Metropolitan Theater this evening Spickett's big comedy company at popular prices in the roaring comedy "Turned Up." Since the troupe was here last fall Mr. Spickett has wholly reorganized it, enlarged it and generally bettered it and its entire outfit.

It comes now with recommendations of the interior press that are very flattering, some of the commendations indeed being enthusiastic. Mr. and Mrs. Francis Boggs and Miss Fay Courtenay, with prime comedian Plummer, late of the Shaw Company, are leaders in the troupe, besides Spickett as singing comedian. There will be a different bill each night of the week of the engagement. There are twenty members of the organization, including a fine brass band. The Santa Barbara "News," speaking of the company, which gave a week's entertainment in that city to crowded houses, said recently: "We are a trifle careful as to our praise, perhaps, but it gives us very great pleasure at all times to say a good word for merit. And what we say relative to the Spicketts is exactly what we mean. The Spicketts is one of the best, perhaps the best, low-priced company that travels in this part of the country. It is a well-balanced company—all good and all exceedingly anxious to please the people who honor them by their attendance. From the head of the company, the veteran, Jolly old chap, whose face with its honesty and good cheer is a fortune, clear through the roll-call—everyone is good."

At the Orpheum this evening the fifth bill of the series Manager Walter has prepared for the house here. It is a strong programme, attractive to all good tastes and full enough of the comedy element to thoroughly please those who take most pleasure in hearty laughter. It should be borne in mind that there are no "first nights" at the Orpheum. The performance is as good on a first night there as on any later one, because the participants are those who come from other houses on the Orpheum circuit, or from the Eastern and European vaudeville houses direct to the Sacramento Orpheum. So there is no appearance that is not fortified by experience, and most often by years of it, in precisely the same feature presented here.

In the bill to-night there will be Crimmins and Gore, called "The Long and the Short of It," in the sketch "What Are the Waves Saying?" It is this sketch that has been made familiar to the people by the absurd picture of a very lanky girl and a very stubby boy standing upon the seashore and looking out over the troubled waters, which sketch supposedly asks the question of the famous duet, "Sister, What Are the Wild Waves Saying?" Rose Gore was born in New York, but made her debut in San Francisco at the Tivoli in song and serio-comic selections. She married Dan Gilman, the noted comedian in 1880, and since then they have traveled as a comedy team, and have won a wide reputation as inimitable fun-makers, and are especial and prime favorites in New York, their home. Another attraction is the Vesuviano Quartet, men's voices, directed from Naples, said to be charming singers. They appear in Italian costume, one of the most picturesque order. A novelty is the act by Mlle. Rombello, "Sand Paintress." With varied-colored sands she paints flowers, animals and life scenes. We will have by the Farmington brothers something new in the way of athletic feats and lofty tumbling. Ola Hayden, a contra-tenor, will appear in songs, chief of which is that song written by her father, Joe Hayden, "There'll be a Hot Time in the Old Town To-night." Hayden and Hetherton will appear in a comedy sketch. Mr. Hayden's impersonations are notably clever. Jessie Miller, the cornetist, has been re-engaged, and will appear in a new selection of airs.

SOON TO BEGIN.

Folsom Road Lines to be Surveyed Very Shortly.

The delays in getting under way the work on the Folsom macadam highway have been very vexatious, but it now looks as if there is nothing to prevent a start being made in the very near future.

A "Record-Union" reporter was informed last night by Charles T. Hughes, Secretary of the Folsom Road Commission, that on Wednesday or Thursday that body and the State Highway Commissioners will meet and arrange to start the work.

It is believed that two or three weeks more will witness the completion of the preliminary surveys, and from that time on the work will be pushed as rapidly as possible. There will be employment for quite an army of men during the spring and summer, and all the available men in this vicinity will be required, if not others.

ONE-NIGHT GUESTS.

Two Prisoners for Folsom, and One for Colusa County.

Sheriff Johnson's hotel contained several new guests last night. Deputy Sheriff Appel and Usher of San Francisco brought up from San Francisco, en route to Folsom, William Clayton, a life-timer, convicted of robbery with a prior conviction against him. Clayton is the fellow who assaulted Judge Wallace after the latter had passed sentence on him.

These officers also brought with them William Price, who goes for ten years for grand larceny. Both prisoners will be taken to Folsom this morning.

Sheriff Jones of Colusa placed in the jail for safe-keeping over night William Miller, who has been brought over from Reno, Nev. Miller is charged with perjury.

Slater's Last Night's Seance.

John Slater's seance last night was the most successful he has given in this city, the tests being uniformly clear and distinct, and quickly recognized by those to whom they were given. The hall was crowded to the doors, and a great number went away, being unable to gain admittance. Mr. Slater will hold one more seance this evening.

Hotel Arrivals.

Arrivals at the Golden Eagle Hotel yesterday: H. C. Reck, E. J. Isham, E. W. Ehmann, M. L. Osler, I. H. McLaughlin, San Francisco; W. T. Robinson, I. Goodfriend, New York; H. H. Pierce, San Francisco; A. W. Barrett, Los Angeles; E. M. Luckett and wife, Ogden.

A Place for Perry.

Many have wondered what had become of the spectacular Perry Kewen, once a Colonel on the Governor's staff. He has been appointed commandant at the Whittier Reform School, and entered on his duties last week.

The Hilberts Won.

Yesterday the Hilbert baseball team and the Mason Laundry team played a game of ball at Snowflake Park. The Hilberts "took the starch out of" the laundrymen to the tune of 14 to 4.
