

BOLD BURGLARY LAST NIGHT.

G. ALEKSA ROBBED OF ELEVEN HUNDRED DOLLARS.

He Had Borrowed the Money to Pay Off a Mortgage on His Home.

The residence of G. Aleksa, 815 Twenty-fourth street, was burglarized last night, and $1,100, which had been hidden in a folding bed, was stolen. On Thursday last Mr. Aleksa, who is employed at the roundhouse in the railroad shops, borrowed $1,100 from W. P. Coleman for the purpose of transposing the mortgage that hung over his home. He told his wife to put the money in the bank until Monday next, at which time the mortgage would fall due, and he, supposing she had done so, paid no further attention to the matter. Last evening Mr. and Mrs. Aleksa, attended the theater, and upon reaching their home after the performance found that burglars had during their absence effected an entrance through a side window, and had literally turned everything upside down. Mrs. Aleksa at once rushed to the folding bed, and at a glance saw that the treasure she had hidden there was gone, and when she imparted the information to her husband he was stunned, supposing, as he did, that the money was safe in the bank. Aleksa visited the police station and notified the officers of his loss. He felt certain, he said, that nobody except his wife had seen the money, and that he had borrowed the money, and said that he himself imagined it was in the bank until his wife told him differently after his return from the theater. His wife, he said, was prostrated with her loss, but maintained that she had told nobody the money was in the house. The evidently persistent search made by the burglars gives the police officials grounds for the belief that the woman did tell somebody the money was in the house, and that the thieves were not working at random, and it is thought probable that when she recovers from the shock she may be able to recover some clue that may lead to the recovery of the coin. While making his report to the police, Mr. Aleksa said the loss of the money meant the loss of his home, and that his creditors should have every cent belonging to them if he had to go houseless on the street.

BING HONG TONG.

The Society Gives Its Annual Banquet Last Night.

The annual banquet and high jinks of the Bing Hong Tong was held at the headquarters of the society, on J street, between Second and Third streets, and the Chinese idea of a jolly good time—plenty to eat, plenty to drink and plenty of music—was thoroughly exemplified. The Chinese decorator had expended his best efforts on the dining hall, and there was a tone of taste and order in the arrangement seldom exceeded in any of the clubrooms in the city. The tables, however, and there were half a dozen, were round, each being large enough to accommodate a dozen guests, and they were piled high with viands rich enough to tempt the appetite of an epicure. The Bing Hong Tong, which is a society of merchants, never does things by halves, and from the snowy linen and the silver tea services to the wines, everything was of the best. The reception-room was fitted up as a smoker, and from it was a small apartment sacred to the orchestra, which consisted of a dozen pieces, and was the best, according to the Celestials, to be had in the State. The function was not at all exclusive, so far as the weaker sex were concerned, and the Chinese women—and there were many in attendance—were costumed so elegantly that the Caucasian women who took a look at the banquet—just for the fun of the thing—turned green with envy. Late at night the corked poppers and toasts were responded to, "alie samie Melican man."

ATKINSON'S LYCEUM.

Election of Officers and a Washingtonian Programme.

The Lyceum of Atkinson's Business College held an enthusiastic meeting last evening at the College Hall. Officers were elected for the ensuing term as follows: by the Lyceum, L. Norton, Vice-President, A. F. Williams; Secretary, Miss L. Heins; Assistant Secretary, Miss L. Heins; Sergeant-at-Arms, William Royser; Executive Committee—F. B. Rutherford, C. R. Dickenson, A. F. Atkinson, Miss N. Heins, Miss E. M. Dowling. In conformity to the season, the evening was devoted largely to a discussion of the patriot Washington. The following programme was rendered: Song, "America," by the Lyceum; roll-call; response; quotation from Longfellow; by the Lyceum; piano solo, C. F. Murray; essay, "Washington at Home," Mrs. A. L. Norton; recitation, Miss Cornell; address E. M. Atkinson; vocal duet, Misses Jaeger and Lind; essay, "Washington as President," Miss Jessie Wender; essay, "Washington as a General," A. L. Norton; question-box, responses by Executive Committee.

LENTEN SERVICES.

Subjects That Will be Treated at St. Paul's Church.

Rev. Charles L. Miel, rector of St. Paul's Church, has announced his courses of Sunday sermons through Lent, and also his Wednesday evening lectures, beginning on Ash Wednesday, the 23d inst. The morning services on "The Pilgrimage of Life," will be: February 27th, "The Guide"; March 6th, "The Way"; March 13th, "The Truth"; March 20th, "The Life"; March 27th, "Death"; April 3d, "Judgment." The evening services, on "Sins Which Crucified Christ," will be: February 27th, "The Covetousness of Judas"; March 6th, "Skepticism of Pilate"; March 13th, "Envy of the Chief Priests"; March 20th, "Denial of Peter"; March 27th, "Slander of the False Witnesses"; April 3d, "Fickleness of the People." The Wednesday evening lectures will be: "February 23d, 'God'; March 2d, 'God in Natural Law'; March 9th, 'The Human Soul'; March 16th, 'Prayer and Providence'; March 23d, 'The Bible'; March 30th, 'The Trinity'; April 6th, 'Facts.' The Corcorans Discharged.

John, James and Dan Corcoran, who about two weeks ago were arrested on a charge of battery preferred by John Wall, were tried and discharged in Jus-ties Davis' court yesterday morning. The evidence was conflicting and tended to show that all the parties interested had indulged in a free fight.

PINCHING ECONOMY.

How Superintendent Black is Trying to Furnish Blank Reports.

In the office of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction the pinch subsequent to the closing down of the State Printing Office is beginning to be severe. The statutes provide that each County Superintendent shall make an annual report to the State Superintendent of the condition of the schools in his county, and it further provides that blank books for making such reports shall be printed at the State Printing Office, and turned over to the State Superintendent for distribution to the several County Superintendents. But the supply has been exhausted—hence the pinch. Every effort has been and is being made to honor the requisitions for such blank report books, and all the ingenuity in the State office has been brought to bear to meet the emergency. Old annual reports, reaching back twenty years, were dragged out of musty and nearly forgotten nooks, and for two weeks two of the clerks in the office have been busy turning their pages and deftly clipping out blank sheets wherever found. The sheets so procured were as deftly pasted together in book form—the old headings being first eliminated and others inserted—until thirty-two report books, looking more or less fresh from the printer, were built up and dispatched to County Superintendents throughout the State. Still the supply was short, and being led to believe that some of the County Superintendents had been provided, and had more reports on hand than they actually had need for, Superintendent Black sent letters to them, requesting them to disgorge. A few have accordingly disgorge, and up to date twenty-two books have been sent in. These will be distributed among the needy, but whether, even with such close and particular figuring, the supply will be sufficient to meet the demand remains to be seen.

LEFT IN THE CAR.

A Live Young Alligator Placed in Chinese Slough.

We have all noticed and commented upon the queer traveling pets with which some people are wont to travel—the yellow-throated canary or brightly-plumaged cockatiel in its cage, the pet parrot in a basket, or the pet dog in a kennel, or the pet kitten in a basket, or the pet rabbit in a cage, or the pet turtle in a basket, or the pet snake in a basket, or the pet alligator in a basket. It is a young alligator of olive-green color, about ten inches long, serenely swimming in water contained in a dilapidated coal-oil can. What to do with it was a perplexing question, until the fertile brain of a Southern Pacific employe conceived the idea of placing it in the China Slough (otherwise known as Combs), where, if the little animal should prove stronger enough to survive the not too wonderful pure waters of the lake, one need not express wonder or surprise in the days to come to see a live alligator disappearing upon its banks.

ALL GAMES CLOSED.

Gambling Stopped and Pool Rooms Give Up the Fight.

The poolrooms at Seventh and K streets have nothing left to warrant the name except a telegraph office, and the principal place of business now is Washington, Yolo County. Chief of Police Dwyer is still keeping close watch on the rooms, but the proprietors are making no attempt to do business, and the blackboard on which was formerly posted the names of the horses and the odds offered is a superfluous article. The telegraph company, it is understood, has decided to run a wire into Washington for the accommodation of the poolrooms, and as a consequence all information from racetracks, both as to the field, odds and result, are received at the Seventh and K-street stand and immediately sent by telephone across the bridge, where it is chalked up, and business and bets go merrily on. Chief Dwyer, however, seems to have carried his point, and states that at the present time no games prohibited by statute are being run in the city.

A ROCKY ROAD.

On Wednesday next the State Highway Commissioners will visit Amador County for the purpose of advising the Board of Supervisors respecting the construction of a proposed two-mile strip of macadam on what is now the rockiest road in the State. "The rocky road to Jackson," as the strip in question is locally called, is between Lone and Jackson, and about four miles west of the latter place. It lies around the base of a hill and is composed of cobblestones of all sizes and conditions. Not only that, but it is cobblestones all the way down. Most of the year a man kept on the "rocky road" tossing cobblestones out of the wheel tracks, so that along its entire length cobblestones are heaped high on either side, and the road proper is correspondingly deep down in the cobblestone. The completion of the proposed road, it is understood, will mean the dawn of a new era in old Amador.

HACKETT'S DAUGHTERS.

The petition of Joseph M. Hackett for letters of guardianship of the estates of Laura and Ray Hackett, daughters of Don Z. Hackett, the engineer who was killed in the wreck near Colfax a short time ago, occupied Judge Hughes' court most of the day yesterday. Petitioner is uncle of the girls, and their guardian, Mrs. Laura C. Colton, of San Francisco, who has been appointed as their guardian, is contesting the petition. The evidence was very contradictory, and the case was taken under advisement.

The Lamp Exploded and She Threw It Out Doors.

The alarm of fire last night was caused by the explosion of a big Rochester lamp in the grocery store of George Myers at Twelfth and G streets. The wife of the proprietor, with unusual nerve and presence of mind, picked up the burning lamp and threw it out doors, thus averting a conflagration and leaving nothing for the Fire Department to do when the engines arrived a few minutes later.

Failures of the Week.

The Bradstreet Mercantile Agency reports twenty-seven failures in the Pacific Coast States and Territories for the week ending yesterday, as compared with thirty for the previous week, and thirty-three for the corresponding week of 1897. The failures for the past week are divided among the trades as follows: 8 grocers, 1 bakery and restaurant, 3 general stores, 1 carriage, 1 real estate, 1 poultry, 1 paints and pottery, 1 shirt manufacturer, 1 miller, 2 saloons, 1 clothing, 2 cigars, 1 wholesale and retail grocer, 1 woolen mill, 1 butcher, 1 wholesale cigar.

The Case Dismissed.

In the City Justice's Court yesterday morning the case against W. W. Chapin, charged with violating the ordinance providing for the removal of all swinging wooden signs from in front of places of business, was dismissed on motion of the City Attorney, who stated that Chapin had removed his sign. The case had been on the court docket for several weeks, and had been continued from time to time.

FREE TO MILLIONS.

A Valuable Little Book Sent Free for the asking. Medical books are not always interesting reading, especially to a people enjoying good health, but as a matter of fact scarcely one person in ten is perfectly healthy, and even with such, sooner or later sickness must come. It is also a well established truth that nine-tenths of all diseases originate with a breaking down of the digestion, a weak stomach weakens and impoverishes the system, making it easy for disease to gain a foothold. Nobody need fear consumption, kidney disease, liver trouble or a weak heart and nervous system as long as the digestion is good and the stomach able to assimilate plenty of wholesome food. Stomach weakness shows itself in a score of ways and this little book describes the symptoms and causes and tells the way to cure so simple that anyone can understand and apply it. Thousands have some form of stomach trouble and do not know it. They ascribe the headaches, the languor, nervousness, insomnia, palpitation, constipation and similar symptoms to some other cause, and so they go on until digestion on the right track and the heart trouble, liver disease or nervous debility will rapidly disappear. This little book treats entirely on the cause and removal of indigestion and its accompanying annoyances. It describes the symptoms of Acid Dyspepsia, Nervous Dyspepsia, Slow Dyspepsia, Amylaceous Dyspepsia, Catarrh of Stomach and all affections of the digestive organs in plain language easily understood and the cause removed. It gives valuable suggestions as to diet, and contains a table giving length of time required to digest various articles of food, something every person with weak digestion should know. No price is asked, but simply send your name and address plainly written on postal card to the F. A. Stuart Company, Marshall, Mich., requesting a little book on Stomach Diseases and it will be sent promptly by return mail.
