

DAILY RECORD-UNION

ISSUED BY THE SACRAMENTO PUBLISHING COMPANY

THE DAILY RECORD-UNION. A SEVEN-DAY ISSUE.

For one year... For three months... For six months...

UPTOWN BRANCH OFFICES. At Thomas W. McAuliffe & Co's Drug Store...

THE WEEKLY UNION. TWELVE PAGES.

Is the cheapest and most desirable Home, News and Literary Journal published on the Pacific Coast.

RECORD-UNION TELEPHONES. (Sunset.)

SPECIAL AGENCIES. This paper is for sale at the following places:

LOS ANGELES-Electic Book Store, corner Second and Main streets, San Francisco.

SANTA BARBARA-Hassinger's News Depot, Fresno-C. T. Cearley, 113 J street.

SANTA CRUZ-Cooper Brothers' News Depot.

EASTERN BUSINESS HOUSES. The Tribune Building, New York City.

Weather Forecast. Northern California-Fair Thursday, except showers early Thursday morning.

A MARKET FOR CALIFORNIA PRODUCTS. The State Board of Trade, which has proved its right to live and have public confidence...

It ought to be sufficient by making the announcement to command the earnest attention of all thoughtful Californians.

The other day the "Record-Union" elaborately set forth its ideas concerning the vast importance of the proposed exposition...

It is no longer a debatable question that the great need of the State is a market or markets abroad for what we produce...

To this seeking, this stimulating of demand for California products, the State Board of Trade is bending its energies.

Had Congress made provision during the last ten years for a strong American navy the ships would have been built at home by American labor...

Such a navy of American institutions must have been thrown into great confusion by the unanimous action of Congress this week in placing in the hands of the President, without reserves, the large sum of $50,000,000 to be used in the national defense.

The "Jingo" wants war whether or not; the "goo-goo" wants no war under any circumstances.

The spirit of preparation now upon the people and the Government is a good thing whether war comes or not.

VOICE OF THE PRESS.

EXTRACTS FROM EDITORIAL EXPRESSION.

State and Coast Opinions on Subjects of Living News Interest.

Alameda Enclinal: In the course of a "scold" (it cannot be called a speech) delivered in the Senate last week...

THE HARBOR COMMISSION SCANDAL. Martinez County Paper: The big yellow rumour over the suit against the Harbor Commissioners has turned out just as we expected.

It may be patriotic; it may be enterprising; it may be all things good and true, but to us it looks like a mean, petty, Paul Pry piece of business.

Such a thing as that would not be tolerated in any other country in the world. Not even the Chinese would stand it for an instant.

Foreign Powers want nothing better than that. It saves them a deal of trouble and no end of cost.

Good for Secretary Wilson. Since Germany and some other countries have become so sensitive about American goods imported into those States...

Spain will default in part or in full on the April coupons of her national debt.

Not so. It will not win. These same creditors are as shrewd as the Spanish officials.

Los Angeles Express: Many foreigners have the impression that our national form of government is cumbersome and unwieldy.

The Constitution and People. Many foreigners have the impression that our national form of government is cumbersome and unwieldy.

NEWSPAPER WAIFS.

Is your wife literary? "Yes; every time I step out of the house at night she says 'Quo Vadis'."—Chicago Record.

Appearance are very deceptive," remarked the editor. "Yes," replied the prima donna, "especially farewell appearances."—Tit-Bits.

Scarcely—What is an infant prodigy, granpa? "An infant prodigy is a little boy who knows so much that he never has to ask questions."—Chicago Record.

At the show.—Mamma—Isn't he a wonderful child?—Papa—Yes; I wish I could do that. Mamma—Why? Papa—I think it might amuse the baby.

First Telephone Girl—What did Belle say when you told her your engagement was broken? Second Telephone Girl—Oh, she said it only meant ring off.—Yorker's Best Man.

First Citizen—Of course, a man is entitled to his opinion.—Second Citizen—Of course! and if he's a politician he's entitled to as many kinds of opinion as he may need in his business.—Puck.

A Misunderstanding—Bridget (to cross-eyed clerk)—An' how yez any frish eggs, sor? Clerk—Plenty. Just look this way, ma'am. Bridget (doffily)—Shure, an' O'll not look that way if Oi niver have any.—Judge.

Old Lady—Didn't I tell you never to come here again. Up-to-date Tramp—I hope you will pardon me, madam, but it's the fault of my secretary. He has neglected to strike your name from my visiting list.—Tit-Bits.

Stripes vs. Checks.—Tom—So you are going to marry Miss Rockingham, eh? I don't see what you can see to admire in a girl of that stripe. Jack—It isn't her stripe, but her father's check that attracts me.—Chicago News.

Professor Knowall—Miss Vernon, what you vant is to be the looking-glass that reflects imaginary virtues and conceals real faults? Miss Vernon (simply)—I should say that you ought to know.—Brooklyn Life.

A gentleman, wealthy and of comfortable habit, was running as a candidate for parliamentary honors.

Mistress—Your name is Maginnis, you say. But what is your first name? Maid—Mam? Mistress—What is your first name? Mary, Bridget.—Maid—It's me second name y'd be after. That is Mary. I was a Maginnis before I was a Mary, don't ye mind?—Boston Transcript.

A Mild Request—Ethel—O, Clarence! Do you really mean what you say that you will do anything I ask of you? Clarence—Sophomore—Darling!—you have heard me swear it. Ethel—Then, dearest, please, please, get yourself appointed center rush on the Yale football team next year.—Puck.

Mr. Holme (third day out)—Vera, I've heard it said that if you will lie down with your head a little lower than your feet you will not suffer from seasickness. Mrs. Vera Selldom-Holme (in despair)—Henry, my feet have been higher than my head every minute of the time since we came aboard!—Chicago Tribune.

Disappointment. I am lonely to-night, all hopes faded. Though others around me are near, A great aching void, Reason can fill it, The "something" was held but too dear.

Ah, Hope! how mighty a comfort; Ah, Hope! that makes life seem so bright! Remove it—all is but sorrow, All hope has fled from me to-night.

The past seems but one long-drawn failure. The future no brightness doth hold, The present mere worthless existence, As when that I thought was pure gold.

How easily deceived we poor mortals. What castles we build on loose sand; Then wonder—ah shame on our blindness—Why they in the storm fall to stand.

Experience is oft the best teacher, But why must we each prove it true? We not let those who have tried it, Tell what course is best to pursue?

But no, we must blindly go forward, Our own is the will we obey, Not heeding the cautions of others, Not remembering that night follows day.

Our hope has been a bright beacon, O'er trials and troubles a light, But all's disappointment at night.

But why do I write on thus sadly, I fear I am morbid to-night, My pen will bleed as I write gently, "Trust God, and all will come right."—Ruth, in Cleveland Leader.

A Klondike Outfit. "Jim Perkins is a sarcastic chap." "Think so?" "Yes. He didn't want his brother to go to the Klondike, but when he saw the boy was set on it he said he'd help him in his outfit to the extent of a refrigerator, a high-top boot, and a summer overcoat."—Harper's Bazar.

Benefits of Olive Oil. Medical authorities are generally agreed as to the value of olive oil medicinally.

The Old Lady Was Falling. The maiden aunt of a San Francisco office has gradually cultivated a fondness for sensationalism until a love of reading horrible tales in the newspapers and magazines has gained a complete ascendancy over her.

Africa's monkeys are giving out. In the neighborhood of the gold coast they have been exterminated, and last year the colony, which numbered only 1,000 monkeys, was reduced to 184.

OVER-WROUGHT NERVES OF WOMEN.

Extracts From Letters Received by Mrs. Pinkham.

"I am so nervous and wretched. I feel as if I should fly." How familiar these expressions are. Little things annoy you and make you irritable. You can't sleep, you are unable to lift ordinary burdens, and are subject to dizziness.

That bearing-down sensation helps to make you feel miserable. You have backache and pains low down in the side, pain in top of head, later on at base of the brain.

Such a condition points unerringly to serious uterine trouble. If you had written to Mrs. Pinkham when you first experienced impaired vitality, you would have been spared these hours of awful suffering.

Happiness will be gone out of your life forever, my sister, unless you act promptly. Procure Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once, and begin its use, then write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., if there is anything about your case you do not understand.

You need not be afraid to tell her the things you could not explain to the doctor, your letter is seen only by women and is absolutely confidential. Mrs. Pinkham's vast experience with such troubles enables her to tell you just what is best for you, and she will charge you nothing for her advice.

Pa., writes: "DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—Will you kindly allow me the pleasure of expressing my gratitude for the wonderful relief I have experienced by taking your Vegetable Compound. I suffered for a long time with nervous prostration, backache, headache, loss of appetite, a heavy bearing-down feeling, also burning pains in the groins. I could not sleep, was tired all the time, had no ambition. Life was a burden to me. The pains I suffered at times of menstruation were something dreadful. I thought there was no cure for it. I saw your advertisement in the paper, and my husband advised me to try your medicine. I took five bottles, and now I am well and happy. Your medicine saved my life."

A Million Women Have Been Benefited by Mrs. Pinkham's Advice and Medicine.
