

TO BE TRIED FOR ROBBERY.

LEREY AND SEARIGHT HELD IN $10,000 BAIL.

Bound Over for the Robbery of a Japanese on Saturday Last.

Charles Leroy, whose true name is Charles Walker, may never be tried for the atrocious crime committed by him on Sunday night, when he shot E. J. Croly in the latter's own home at Twelfth and P streets while in the act of committing a burglary.

The reason for prosecuting the thugs on the robbery charge is that Mr. Croly is likely to recover, and that therefore there may be no opportunity to charge the men, or either of them, with murder.

Honda, the complaining witness, testified at the preliminary examination yesterday that early on Saturday morning he was aroused from sleep by a man pulling his trousers from under his pillow.

Leroy made no attempt to cross-examine the witness, and Officer Fisher was called.

The officer told about the confession made on Monday by Searight—a synopsis of which was published yesterday—relating all the circumstances attending the raid on the Japanese house, and the type-written document was identified by the witness.

City Attorney de Ligne then read the confession, which showed that it was voluntarily made by Searight after being informed of his legal rights.

Officer Fisher related a conversation overheard on Monday between Leroy and Darwin, a companion of the pair, in which Leroy told Darwin he regretted not having told him where he had secreted the trousers taken from the Japanese.

LEREY REFUSES TO TALK.

TOLD CHIEF DWYER HE HAD NOTHING TO SAY.

Says That Darwin Has Not Told the Truth Concerning the Matter.

Chief of Police Dwyer had Leroy, who is charged with shooting E. J. Croly on Sunday night while burglarizing his house, brought into his office yesterday morning and questioned him concerning the matter, and the confession of Searight, who is implicated with him in the job.

There was present, besides the Chief, Officers Fisher and Maley, City Attorney DeLigne, B. C. Brier, the stenographer, and a "Record-Union" reporter.

Officer Fisher told Leroy that he had brought there to be notified of Searight's confession, and allowed to make any statements he wished. He was not forced to make any statement or answer any questions except of his own free will.

The confession of Searight was then read to the prisoner, who sat apparently stolid and unmoved throughout.

"I have nothing to say," was the reply. "You have heard Searight's confession," said City Attorney DeLigne. "Do you not want to say anything in regard to it?"

"No, I want nothing to say," was repeated. "I will answer all questions at the proper time in court."

"We arrested Darwin first," said Fisher, "and he gave us information about you. Don't you know that when I put him in the cell with you I was under the window and heard all you say?"

The prisoner laughed and said, "I thought so. I knew you would not put me in an outfit in which you wanted to get something out of me. But I did not say anything."

"Don't you remember telling Darwin about the burglary? What did you tell him that for?" said Fisher. Leroy was silent, and in response to other questions said, "Don't talk to me now. I have nothing to say. I told you."

Chief Dwyer showed him the pistol that Croly identified as his, but he would not acknowledge that he had ever seen it.

"You know you told Darwin all about the Japanese robbery," said Fisher. "If Darwin says I told him so, he is a liar," said Leroy. "He cannot be believed, and he is no better than a yellow dog."

He was also shown the two jimmys and acknowledged that he had seen them before, but would not say whether or not he had ever had them in his hands.

Being told that the Japanese that he had robbed said that Leroy hit him over the head with the jimmy, he laughed again, and said the Jap was crazy.

"I guess your blow pretty near made him so," said Fisher. As the prisoner refused to talk, he was taken back to his cell, and not having improved the opportunity afforded him to confess, he will not get a second one, as it is considered that the chain of evidence is strong enough to convict him on the charge of robbing and assaulting the Jap as well as the shooting of Croly without a confession from him.

James Devine, an engineer, and a couple of other parties from Ione were brought in to look at the prisoner, and after taking a good look at him nodded their heads to the Chief and departed.

"Do you know those men?" asked Fisher. "Why, of course I do," was the reply. "I have known Jim Devine a long time, and the others went to school with me in Ione."

"Isn't your name Walker?" asked Fisher. "What is the use of asking?" laughed the prisoner. "You know it as well as I do."

He was then taken back to his cell.

HARD BLOW TO ORCHARDISTS

UNSEASONABLE FROST WIPES OUT FRUIT CROPS.

That of Yesterday Was the Worst Ever Known Here So Late in the Season.

If the reports received by the "Record-Union" yesterday from fruit-growing localities in this vicinity were not exaggerated, there will be very little fruit of any kind gathered the coming summer, with a still poorer prospect of any surplus for shipment out of the State.

Yesterday morning's frost was one of the severest that has occurred since the winter season set in, yet it came when the fruit trees are either all in blossom or with swelling and tender buds.

The weather bureau report states that the mercury fell to 30 degrees in this city, but in the lowlands along the river it went as low as 26 degrees.

Henry F. Isham of Courtland reports that the frost was one of the worst ever experienced in that neighborhood at any season of the year. It was feared that everything in the way of fruit and vegetables had been killed, even to the pear crop, which is one of the latest and hardest.

Alexander Brown of Walnut Grove thought Bartlett pears would prove to be the only fruit that escaped destruction in that locality, and orchardists were even afraid the pears had gone.

From Freeport a report was received to the effect that people from along the river yesterday declared that the peaches, apricots, plums, cherries and even apples had been frozen, or were believed to have been. It was so cold here that an indoor hydrant had frozen within twenty feet of a warm stove.

Tomato vines covered up in hot-beds were also said to have been nipped in the vicinity of Freeport.

On the other hand, persons from the down-river sections who visited the city yesterday said that while the situation was bad enough, the frost effects had probably been exaggerated.

One man declared that no such frost could kill the pear crop, but that apricots and peaches could hardly survive it, neither could tender vegetables.

Manager Hechtman of Porter Brothers' Company received word from Vacaville and vicinity to the effect that the frost had probably destroyed the peach and apricot crops, and similar reports from that section were received by the Earl Company.

David Reese said he left Florin early in the morning and had no opportunity to learn to what extent injury had been done. The frost was a heavy one, however, and he feared the result.

Later in the day Mr. Reese said he had seen persons in Florin, and they reported a sad condition of the orchards. One man brought in a branch of a peach tree cut after the warm sun had struck it, and every bud on it was blackened and dead.

Hydrants, water troughs and pipes were frozen to a depth of more than half an inch.

No word was received from along the American River, except that the frost was not so heavy in that direction.

While it is possible, as before stated, that many of these reports indicate a worse condition of things than really exists, still the outlook for orchardists this season is a very blue one.

MAY RECOVER. E. J. Croly Has Nearly Crossed the Danger Line.

The condition of E. J. Croly, who was shot on Sunday night in Florin, and the burglar, was so favorable yesterday that the attending surgeons said they would consider him out of danger if he continued to do as well for the next twenty-four hours.

The two bullets have not yet been extracted, as the doctors wish Mr. Croly to get a little stronger before they operate on him.

THE NEW BALL TEAM.

Further Arrangements Made for the Coming Season.

The Board of Directors of the new Sacramento club in the Olympic League ball league held a meeting last evening, but owing to the sickness of one of the directors the election of officers of the club was postponed until the meeting next week.

At last night's meeting Will E. Newbert was selected as Manager-Captain of the team, while H. Young was elected Secretary of the club and manager of the grounds at Oak Park.

Manager Newbert reported that he had signed the following players for Sunday's game, and that he intends to strengthen all weak spots: Merrett, Caverly, first base; Newbert, third base; Smith, short stop; Ridley and McHale, outfielders.

He also reported that he had ordered the uniforms for the team, which will be of electric blue, with white trimmings, of a very neat and pretty combination.

The grounds at Oak Park are being put in condition and the players are practicing every evening.

Sanford, the new pitcher, is an Eastern player of note, and is said to be one of the best twirlers on the coast. The Sacramento club opens the season at Stockton next Sunday with the strong team from that town, which is said to have been greatly strengthened since last season.

The first game on the home grounds will be played on April 3d, with the San Jose club.

The Board of Directors voted in favor of incorporating the club, which will be done before the next meeting.

Secretary Young was given full power to make any alterations, or improve the grounds and stands at Oak Park that he may deem advisable.

Manager Newbert stated last evening after the meeting that it was his intention to give the local players an opportunity to play in the team, and no out-of-town players, outside of the battery, would be engaged unless necessary to strengthen the club.

A NASTY JOB. Delving in China Slough for Thug Leroy's Pistol.

Chief Dwyer, Detective Fisher and Officer Maloney yesterday employed John Cook, the Kanaka diver of the steamer Seizer, to search in China slough for the revolver Leroy threw into that sheet of water on Sunday night, and quite a crowd assembled to see the diver work.

He went in with his clothing on, shoes and all, swimming easily, and made several trips to search the bottom near the spot indicated by Searight, but without results. He found the bottom a foot deep with mud and littered with all manner of rubbish.

Another attempt will be made, probably with more success, to locate the bottom and Chief Dwyer is tempted to bring into use a powerful magnet as a searching tool.

AMUSEMENTS. At the Orpheum Tom McIntosh gives a very natural and realistic picture of a husband who has had a night out and returns to a very matter of fact and good natured wife, who handles him with muscular vigor in his helpless state of inebriety.

Miss Alsworth assumes a half dozen or more of characters, making the costume changes on the stage and introducing some clever characteristic dances. Carrie Scott, the singing and character soubrette, has become a prime favorite. Webb and Hassan surprise the most expert athletes with their acrobatic work, which is the most graceful and most yet given here by any team. Smith and Cook in grotesque acrobatic exercise, Filson and Errol, in the pretty comedietta, "A Tip on the Derby," and George Wood in his laughable monologue, fill up an entertaining programme.

A wedding, quiet but charming, took place last evening at the residence of Judge E. C. Hart, Twenty-fifth and C streets, the bride being Mrs. Hart's sister, Miss Flora Vivian, and the groom Gavin Witherspoon of Los Angeles. Rev. B. B. Burton officiated. The deft fingers of a half-score of young women friends had made the spacious rooms odorous and beautiful with spring flowers. The library was bright with the yellow of poppies, and the parlors with buttercups and fruit blossoms. Garlands and canopies of smilax, white lilies and clustering apple blossoms made the hall a spring bow.

Miss Thea Hart, the maid of honor, preceded the bridal couple, who stood upon the stairs during the ceremony, while a string band in the distance played old plantation melodies, these being particularly appropriate, as both bride and groom were born in the South, and lulled in childhood by these quaint, old airs. The bride was beautiful and stately in a shimmering white organdie, and she and the handsome young groom made a striking picture against the greenery and the bravery of the flowers.

After a dainty supper the young couple took the train for New Orleans, where they will spend the honeymoon at the old plantation home of the groom. After a month they will return to Los Angeles and make their future residence in that city. The groom is already known in that city as a prosperous young business man, a partner in the firm of Craig & Co., wholesale merchants. The bride has many friends in Sacramento, where she spent her childhood, and in Los Anges, where she formerly spent some time at school, meeting there her future husband. In San Francisco the bride is also favorably known in art circles, having been a student at the Hopkins Art School. Her latest piece of work is an exquisite miniature of the famous bust, "The Unknown," which is destined to be widely popular in the future. She will continue her art work in her new home.

Besides the immediate relatives of the family, only a few intimate friends were invited. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Thomas, Mrs. Gertrude Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. Will Lagueonier and Misses Carrie and Annie Blowers of Woodland, Professor F. I. Bamford and Miss Emma Roberts of Oakland, Melville Dozier and Miss Anna C. Murphy of Berkeley, Will S. Green, Judge and Mrs. Heacock and Daniel Maurice Murphy of San Francisco, Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Compton and Rev. B. B.
