THE SURRENDER.

At this writing no details of much account are at hand concerning the terms of the surrender of the Spanish forces at Santiago de Cuba. But it is sufficient to know that the terms meet the approval of the President, and that further bloodshed in that section of Cuba is avoided by the capitulation.

It is very gratifying that the outcome of the conflict there is what it is now reported to be, because it reflects honor upon the army. Heretofore about all the glory of the war has been to the credit of the navy. It is time, therefore, that the army should come to the fore and be encouraged by successes that pass to its credit.

The surrender was a wise concession on the part of the Spanish. To have longer sustained the struggle in front of Santiago was hopeless for them. They were so completely invested and so outclassed that further fighting would have been suicidal.

But the Spanish army backbone in East Cuba is effectually broken. The few troops to the north and west, and beyond Holguin, will probably make haste to move west, and possibly to reach the vicinity of Havana. It will be useless for them to attempt to retake Santiago.

The fall of Santiago is a great victory, however considered. It is a victory over which the people have a right to rejoice, as they did yesterday and last night. It is a demonstration of the power and determination of the American people that will go far toward convincing Spain of the hopelessness of continuing the war.

As to the disposition of the captured Spanish present advices are that they will be returned to Spain. That is infinitely better than confining them on this side the Atlantic, which can be done only at enormous cost. If we have any money to expend in feeding and clothing and guarding dependents, let it be disbursed for the benefit of the starving women and children and helpless men among the unfortunate non-combatant Cubans.

To thus dispose of the prisoners will be merciful to our own men, a very large body of whom would have to be detached to guard them if kept on this side. Moreover, the removal will enable us to recall the army more speedily to await the passage of the sickly season, which has already commenced to tell upon our troops disastrously.

Some busybodies are at it already in Europe with the proposition that when the war is over there shall be an international council to settle the terms of adjustment. To this all the great Powers are to be invited. But there is one that will have nothing to do with it. The United States is entirely competent to settle her end of the affair without any intermeddling. It will not entangle itself in any such councils.

The Spanish people about Santiago de Cuba, who have fallen into our hands, appear to be amazed that the American soldiers do not cut the throats of their prisoners, ravish the women and dash out the brains of the children. They have been told so diligently that the Yankees are barbarians, savages and merciless that when they receive kind and respectful treatment from them they cannot credit the testimony of their senses.

campaign untrammelled by allies who are such only for the profit there is in the combination.

Santiago de Cuba, July 14, 1898.—The honor of Spain is again vindicated—we have surrendered. Tonal.

And so the German warship intervened at Subic Bay between the insurgents and the Spanish on the grounds of humanity—the very thing which these same Germans have said did not justify our intervention between the insurgents and the Spanish in Cuba. Inconsistency, thy name is Emperor William.

The Spanish ally, Yellow Jack, has put in an appearance among our men near Santiago. It is probably due to the fact that the men in many instances defied the orders of the medical and sanitary corps, indulged in tropical fruits, and were careless in use of drinking water. These things, combined with the heavy rains and the exposure to which the soldiers have necessarily been subjected, account for the fever cannot be considered less than disastrous.

SECTIONALISM IN STATE POLITICS.

Sectionalism in a State stands for want of unity of sentiment and State pride, which invariably means inharmonious and retrogression. In California there is cultivated a sectionalism in State politics that is worthy of all denunciation. It has had it repeatedly in the "Record-Union"; we inveighed against it when it first appeared, and we shall continue to point out its baneful influence. We are gratified to see some of the interior press again taking up the subject and lending their influence to break down the evil.

This cannot be said of all the interior press, however, is much to be regretted. The manifestation of evil is found most conspicuously in the demand of certain lines of politicians, that administrators of State affairs shall be chosen from sections with reference specially to geographical lines. With too much success the people of sections are appealed to stand together for the preference of this or that man because his residence happens to be in a given section. There seems to be an obliquity of vision as to the true purpose of selecting State servants, namely, the good of the whole people. In place of this we have appeals to local prejudices, local pride and local rewards.

It matters very little, indeed, whether a candidate is from the south or the north end of the State, from the west, the east or the center, if in all essential requirements he is fitted for the office to which he aspires. But this fact appears to be lost sight of, and with the opening of each campaign we are told by the manipulators and trimmers that the nominations must be so divided as to placate sections, much as if the spoils of a raid were to be distributed, in order to maintain the loyalty of the raiders to the organization.

Counties present a number of candidates for a single office, enter a campaign of local determination, and then come up to the State conventions "demanding" that they shall be recognized as county claimants for political favors, as if it really matters to the county whether a State official shall hail from this, that or any other section, since his duty is to be to the whole State and all the people thereof, and since the discharge of the functions of his office cannot be discriminative as to districts or sections, if he is honest and competent.

To make California politically great we must get away from this fad of sectionalism and select candidates irrespective of locality and with an eye single to capability and the highest and best administration of public affairs. We are well aware that to do this, it will be necessary to break down a great deal of foolish sectional pride and dangerous sectional prejudice. But by persistence the evil now existing can be throttled. Until that is done State political affairs will be least beneficial to the objects upon which they operate.

What the people need and should demand of every party making nominations is the best possible material, even if it is all found in one county or geographical section, to the total exclusion of all other parts. Our sectional divisions are more apparent than real. They are in fact artificial, for the State is a unit in the government of the republic. As such it should stand forth as united, harmonious and unsectional. Until it does this, it will not command the respect and influence in national councils to which it is entitled. Until this is accomplished we will not have that symmetrical harmonious and efficient service for the State which the common good and common prosperity demand.

Some busybodies are at it already in Europe with the proposition that when the war is over there shall be an international council to settle the terms of adjustment. To this all the great Powers are to be invited. But there is one that will have nothing to do with it. The United States is entirely competent to settle her end of the affair without any intermeddling. It will not entangle itself in any such councils.

The busy diplomats over the water should put that in their pipes, for as surely as the ebb and flow of the tide this will be the reply of the American nation: "We began the war without consulting you, and we will end it without your advice or interference."

The Spanish people about Santiago de Cuba, who have fallen into our hands, appear to be amazed that the American soldiers do not cut the throats of their prisoners, ravish the women and dash out the brains of the children. They have been told so diligently that the Yankees are barbarians, savages and merciless that when they receive kind and respectful treatment from them they cannot credit the testimony of their senses. But that style of cowardly and debasing a people is typical of the Spanish method, and has been through all the history of that nation.

THE NEW BANKRUPTCY LAW.

FEDERAL COURTS HAVE ORIGINAL JURISDICTION.

Severe Penalties for Bankrupts Who Are Found Practising Fraud.

The new bankruptcy law, approved June 23rd, is now in force. By its provisions, however, no petition for voluntary bankruptcy shall be filed till after July 28th, and no petition in involuntary bankruptcy shall be filed till after October 28th.

The United States District Court is designated as the Court of Bankruptcy and is given original jurisdiction in such cases where the persons have had their principal place of business, resided or had their domicile in their respective territorial jurisdictions for six months, or where they have been adjudged bankrupt outside the United States and have property within the court's jurisdiction.

A petition may be filed against a person who had committed any of the following acts of bankruptcy within four months of its commission: (1) Conveyed, transferred, concealed, or removed, or permitted to be concealed or removed, any part of his property with intent to hinder, delay, or defraud his creditors, or any of them; or transferred, while insolvent, any portion of his property to one or more of his creditors with intent to prefer such creditors over his other creditors; or suffered or permitted, while insolvent, any creditor to obtain a preference through legal proceedings, and not having at least five days before a sale or final disposition of any property affected by such preference made a general assignment for the benefit of his creditors; or admitted in writing his inability to pay his debts and his willingness to be adjudged a bankrupt on that ground.

Whenever the affairs of the estate are ready to be closed a final meeting of creditors shall be ordered. Creditors shall pass upon matters submitted to them at their meetings by a majority vote in the amount of $500 or more. No change is made in the method of proving claims, but claims shall not be proved against a bankrupt estate subsequent to one year after the adjudication.

Is it not surprising that a remedy that has been the Physician's Trump Card for a century—his ace of trumps!—should now, for the first time, be so prepared as to make it possible to offer it to the public in a form available for immediate use, and capable of being preserved without loss of virtues for a decade?—or until the occasion arises? Such a surprise exists in Ripans Tabules.

WHO IS HE? to add to my misery a rash broke out all over my body, which became sores, and my life became a burden to me. When I had begun to wish for death to relieve me I was induced to try Dr. Tom She Bin's herb medicine. In a short time I got relief, my body healed, the sores on my stomach improved and at the end of two months I was able to get on my feet. I never repay the Dr. for his wonderful cure in my case, but heartily recommend him to all who suffer from a rash of this kind. JOHN P. KELLY, 716 Clementina street, San Francisco.

DR. TOM SHE BIN. In one of a family who have been physicians from one generation to another. They have but one class of remedies, which are extracted from roots, bark and herbs, and whose excellence has been proved by their use for hundreds of years. No minerals are used by us, we therefore avoid the dire effects of poisons left in the system so often by the use of mineral remedies. Our herb medicines have never failed to cure any disease that is curable when taken in time. We diagnose any and all complaints through the pulse without asking questions. We guarantee a cure where our directions are complied with. Read the following testimonials, which are only a few of the hundreds now in our possession.

San Francisco, Cal., March 11, 1898. For more than a year I was afflicted with sciatica rheumatism. My suffering was so severe that I could not sleep, and was often tempted to end my sufferings by violence when Dr. Tom She Bin was recommended to me. I was taken to his office. He asked me to take his cure. I began to take his tea. A few days I was relieved, my condition improved rapidly, and at the end of two months I could attend to my business, and to-day I am entirely cured. San Francisco, Cal., March 14, 1898. I wish to testify to the efficiency of Dr. Tom She Bin's remedies. I had been a great sufferer for a long time from liver and stomach troubles, but received no permanent benefit. I was as a last resort induced to try Dr. Tom She Bin's treatment. Very soon I felt much relief, and in a few weeks I was cured; never felt better. I cheerfully commend Dr. Tom She Bin to any and all who need his services. W. P. HERKEY, Yuba City, Cal.

San Francisco, Cal., June 6, 1898. For several years I was troubled with jaundice. I tried many remedies; none seemed to do me any good. I became so yellow and so ill that I was disgusting to myself and no doubt to my friends. I was persuaded to take Dr. Tom She Bin's herb tea. Almost immediately I felt better. He asked me to take his cure. I began to take his tea. After four months' treatment I am well. No. 5 Williams street, between Geary and O'Farrell, San Francisco. MRS. E. J. TOOHAY.
