

UNFORTUNATE LITTLE ONES.

WHAT THE CHILDREN'S SOCIETY IS DOING.

Homes Found For Children Who Are Neglected by Their Parents.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children has its hands very full nowadays. Its special officer, D. Healy, has really enough work for two men, and still cases come on.

There is a distinct case in which if there were not such a society a group of little children would go to ruin through bad surroundings and neglect, and the community would presently be taxed anew to take care of the criminals, or to support them as helpless dependents.

The case of the little girl, Alice Loy, will be remembered, on whose account a San Francisco brute was sent to prison a few weeks ago for a term that means the length of his natural life.

A POPULAR CHAPLAIN.

Rev. G. A. Ottman in the Chickamauga Camp.

A correspondent of the St. Louis "Globe-Democrat," writing from Chickamauga Camp, Ga., on the 16th of this month, has something pleasant to say of Rev. G. A. Ottman, formerly rector of St. Paul's Church in Sacramento:

ZINOLITH.

ZINOLITH may be called a ready mixed flat paint, a fresco paint, a water color or a liquid stone, as it has all the desirable properties of those articles.

For walls and ceilings, ZINOLITH is better than any kalsomine or other dry sized wall finish made.

AMERICAN CASH STORE,

Agents for Sacramento and all Distributing Points.

of the Second Missouri, has already made himself quite popular with both officers and men. He is very unobtrusive in his work, but in addition to teaching the soldiers the "straight and narrow way" he does much in the way of practical Christianity.

"Every morning he can be seen starting on the dusty tramp over to the division hospital, a mile away. He wears a pair of enormous brown shoes, with white rawhide lacing down the front, but no uniform, as do many of the Chaplains. Two gold crosses in his collar are the only indications that he is aught but a civilian.

"Each day he visits the boys in the hospital, takes their temperature and learns details of their condition, reporting to their company commanders and the Colonel. He writes their letters and reads to them. He in many ways supplies the lack of home comforts and men and officers who respected him from the first are growing to love him.

"No ice or milk is supplied to patients by the division hospital, and these are what they need most. Colonel Chaffee and the Chaplain have supplied them, but the demand is a steady one. Dr. Ottman learned from such of the company commanders who the charitable or influential men are in their respective home cities and addressed a letter to each, stating the situation, and already he has received generous responses.

"He hopes to establish a hospital fund, and will make a strict accounting to the commanding officer and any one else interested for the funds intrusted to him. The fund has been set up with $200 sent to the regiment by Governor Stephens, through Lieutenant Colonel Morgan of the Fifth Missouri. This was done by unanimous vote of the officers of the regiment."

BENT ON ROBBERY.

Thomas Bannister and His Sister Have a Rough Experience.

Monday night two men secreted themselves in the barn on the premises of Thomas Bannister, on the J-street road, a short distance east of the city limits, and early yesterday morning they undertook to rob the place, but their plans miscarried, and they fled without booty.

Bannister resides there with his sister. Both are well along in years, and the ruffians who sought to plunder their home doubtless supposed they had no money worth robbing.

The men went to the house on Monday night and asked permission to sleep in the barn. This was refused, and Bannister supposed they had left, but instead they secreted themselves in the barn. When Bannister went to the barn just before daylight yesterday to attend to his stock the men seized, bound and gagged him.

Bannister's sister was then seized by one of the men, but she managed to get away from him and fled to a neighboring farm occupied by some Italians. When the men reached the place the thugs had disappeared. Bannister had in the meantime cut the cords that bound him. The masks worn by the men were found on the premises.

Sheriff Johnson and his deputies were early on the ground, but could not get any trace of the rascals. Later County Detective Fisher and Deputy Hinters arrested a negro whom they suspected of being one of the would-be robbers.

JUMPED THE TRACK.

A Flatcar's Escape—One Man Severely Bruised.

On Sunday morning last an engine hauling a flatcar loaded with laborers who were going to work along the Placerville line, jumped the track when a short distance from Mayhew Station, and for a distance of nearly 200 yards literally demolished the track. It is quite likely the rails had been warped by the heat.

The engine was running backward, and the tender, which had the right of way, stuck to the rails, and as its coupling pin held, the engine and flatcar did not leave the roadbed. The car on which were the laborers bounced about like a ball. One of the men was thrown off and landed on his head and face.

He was badly bruised and shaken up. A construction train was sent out from this city and soon had the line repaired. The laborers were taken to their homes, and as soon as the engine was got back on the rails.

FRUIT FOR EUROPE.

Sacramento Pears and Plums for Our English Cousins.

The people of London are not to be deceived this season of the opportunity to feast on California fruits. Yesterday Porter Brothers' Company dispatched from this city the first special trainload for the British metropolis, consisting of pears and plums from the orchards along the Sacramento River in this county.

The shipments make close connection at New York with the transatlantic steamers, and reach London within two weeks from the time they leave Sacramento. Last year the fruit sent from here was in excellent condition, and opening in London, and the people there look for a regular supply of it. The California fruit is better than that sent to London from elsewhere, and the people have come to recognize that fact.

STOCKTON PAPER WORKED UP

"INDEPENDENT" HAS BASE-BALL HYSTERICS.

Because Its One-Horse Outfit Got Walloped Here the Paper Goes Mad.

The 1,500 or more Sacramentans who witnessed the pitiful spectacle of the Stockton baseball team furnished at Snowflake Park on Sunday will enjoy reading the following howl, printed in the "Independent" yesterday:

"The Stockton baseball team visited Sacramento Sunday for the last time, and from all indications it has played the final game in the Pacific Coast League. The management has been carrying the club under all kinds of difficulties, and has been compelled to pay the salaries of the players when the gate did not begin to meet the expenses. Sunday was a chance to more than pay everything, but Kripp of the Stockton manager insisted that Manager Campbell to put a man on the gate to see that all of the tickets were accounted for, and consequently there was a deficit when setting-up time came.

"The team was beat in many ways, but the most serious was that out of money due to it from that taken in at the gate. The loss of the game was bad enough, but when money due the players was taken away from them there was a howl, and rightly so. This man, Ed Kripp, who has charge of the park, showed himself to be the lowest scoundrel the manager bred the breath of life. He struck Manager Campbell when he was talking to him, and two of his henchmen, who were on the gate, joined him and kicked the local manager after he had tripped over a piece of wood and had fallen to the ground.

"When the team and Mr. Campbell arrived at the park Kripp was informed by the Stockton manager that T. J. O'Neill would look out for his interest on the gate. Kripp notified Mr. Campbell that he could not have a man watch the gate, and that the president Bert of the League had written Mr. Campbell that he was entitled to a representative at the entrance to the grounds. Kripp commenced swearing, and assured Mr. Campbell that no one would stay on the gate. He said that the Stockton manager insisted that the Sacramento managers were crooked, and as a guilty conscience needs no accuser, he did not wait for a reply, but struck Mr. Campbell, turning him almost around.

"Kripp's representatives on the gate took a hand, and the three of a kind did their best to put the local manager hors de combat. They were so awkward that few blows were landed before several of the Stocktonians put in an appearance and would have given the trio a good beating, but the dummy policeman, who witnessed the whole affair, stepped in at this point and separated the combatants, though he made no effort to stop the trouble till his 'push' were getting the worst of the affair.

"Manager Campbell called his team in from the diamond, where the boys were practicing, and had them take off their uniforms, as he had called the game off, but he finally turned the team over to T. J. O'Neill, the Secretary of the local club, for the day, having previously released all of the players.

"The dispute had taken all the heart out of the team, and the boys were told to leave their team and get out of town. It was all that they could count on, as Kripp would never see another dollar leave Sacramento, and it was afterward learned that that amount several dollars.

"Mr. O'Neill settled up after the game, and as he had called the game off, he secured what the Sacramento 'gang' was willing to give him. He stated yesterday that he saw one of them slip 100 tickets out of the count, thus reducing the gate $25, and there is no telling how much more was smuggled out of sight.

"It has been reported that Sacramento contains some of the crookedest people in the West. The Capital City Wheelmen had to turn over the relay on account of smooth work, the High School football team gave the local eleven the worst of it. Now the baseball club has always belonged to the same crowd.

"This is the second time that the Stockton club is believed to have been given the short end of money matters there, and it will be the last, as the home team will never play there again unless the situation is radically changed. If Kripp and his stripe of people are to control this League and beat the teams out of their just dues, this city will drop out of the combination at once. It is useless to attempt to pay the players and lose the benefits of large gates.

"The entire matter will be placed before the Board of Managers of the League, and with them rests the responsibility of keeping the League together. Stockton will not play another game till this matter is settled. All of the players have signified their intention of standing by their management, and no bunko work will go hereafter. Either the management will have a representative on all gates or the team will not play."

A NEW CITIZEN.

He Will Be All Right if It Comes to Any Fighting.

William A. Wittman, a native of Germany, was yesterday admitted to citizenship by Judge Johnson, on the testimony of Ferdinand Gleye and Henry Wuttke.

One of the witnesses said: "He is 21, and I wanted to see him become a new soldier for America."

On being reminded that there might possibly be war between Germany and the United States, Wittman said in German English: "Yes, I call de Charman Emperor a poy—better be careful how he meddles, or he may get his nose pinched off, ain't it?"

FATAL ACCIDENT.

Frank Ransom Meets His Death Near Lake Tahoe.

A sad story comes from Lake Tahoe. A week or two ago Frank Ransom and a friend, who were camping in that vicinity, went out for a day's hunt near McKinney's and became separated.

Ransom lost his way and fell down a cliff thirty feet high. One of his legs was broken, and he lay there until a search party found him on Saturday. He had been without food or water, and suffered untold agony. He died a few hours after he was discovered.

The unfortunate young man was 24 years of age, but at the time the news of the affair was sent from the lake nothing definite had been learned as to his place of residence. The supposition there was that he was from Sacramento, but this has not been verified.

THE WORST YET.

What a Steamboat Captain Found Up the River.

Captain Allen of the steamer Red Bluff brings from up the river a story that should start a boom in the pure water service in which private parties are now engaged.

The Captain's authority for the statement that on his last trip up the Sacramento he ran into a "school" of hogs, about seventy miles north of this city, so thick as to almost obstruct the channel. The beasts were dying of hog cholera. Some had already died and were rotting along the sandbars.

It is a subject that need not be enlarged on, but it is nothing more than the "Record-Union" has repeatedly said must be expected from a water supply like the open river that runs through the valley ranches.
