

DAILY RECORD-UNION

ISSUED BY THE SACRAMENTO PUBLISHING COMPANY Office: Third Street, between J and K.

THE DAILY RECORD-UNION

A SEVEN-DAY ISSUE. For one year, $3.00 For six months, $1.50 For three months, $1.00

UP-TOWN BRANCH OFFICES

At Thomas W. McAuliffe & Co.'s Drug Store, southeast corner of Tenth and J streets.

Weather Forecast.

For Northern California: Partly cloudy Tuesday, with scattered thunderstorms in the mountains of the southwest portion; brisk to high southwest wind.

THE NEW SECRETARY OF STATE

A new Secretary of State will soon be installed at Washington. Judge Day has desired for some time to retire, but would not desert President McKinley while the war was on.

John Hay has long been known as a man of fine literary attainments. His writing has been best in the historical, biographical and anecdotal, but he has won no small fame as a writer of stories, ballads for the popular taste, and of humorous character mainly, with a few strongly sentimental.

His life of Lincoln, written with the assistance of Nicolay, has been his most pretentious work, and one upon which his literary fame will most rest. But Mr. Hay has passed the story and ballad writing period. His recent years have been devoted to far more serious work.

He was educated for the bar, but before he could build up a practice President Lincoln called him to be his Private Secretary. He was, in fact, more than that, as he became the confidant of the President and his closest adviser.

The period of Lincoln's administration was an excellent school time for such a man as Hay. He learned lessons then in statecraft which few had the opportunity to take. A man of keen powers of observation and manly study, he became a student of the men of the age, and few have ever known so many, or the many as well as John Hay.

His service under President Lincoln brought him into contact with the diplomats and statesmen of the world generally, and he thus became schooled considerably in diplomatic arts. Toward the close of the war he was given opportunity to acquire knowledge of military matters in the field, and thus added to the sum of his accomplishments.

For some time he was editor of the New York Tribune, where he proved what every newspaper man should be, a versatile and many-sided man, adaptable, applying himself with equal success to any department where strong intellectuality, news scent, keen observation and quickness of action and expression are demanded.

Such a career as this brought John Hay into touch with the greater activities in political, social and literary life, so that he marched naturally to the high post he has filled at the English court, where he has been one of the best received of our representatives, and has done his country eminent service in shaping English sentiment and winning English hearts.

It is fitting that such a man, scholar, diplomat, journalist, poet, politician, Secretary, should now, at the ripe age of 60, come to the Premiership of the American Cabinet. We believe John Hay will prove an admirable Secretary of State. He is essentially a man in profound sympathy with the people. He has few prejudices, ardent love for mankind, a gentle and lovable disposition, but is not lacking in firmness and even severity when the need is. He is one of the few men who is at one and the same time in touch with the humblest people and those highest in political, social and diplomatic life. He is essentially a man of affairs and a patriot, but extreme in nothing.

Strong in his loves, he is deliberate and judicial in his dislikes. He is a political partisan, but we can recall nothing in all his career, with which we have been pretty familiar since 1861, to indicate that he is an extremist or an unreasonable party man.

His experience in statecraft at Washington in the most troublous days of the Republic, his service in journalism, his literary studies and acquisitions, his knowledge of men, his study of American history and American statesmen, and finally his success as an Ambassador, eminently qualify him to be a successful Secretary of State. The nation is to be congratulated upon the call of such a man as John Hay to such an office.

Down at Santiago, in Cuba, the other day, the clericals applied to the United States officials to know how they were to receive their share of the taxes hereafter, and who would pay them over. The reply given rather staggered them. They were told that the United States does not collect revenues to support churches of any order whatever, and that the Santiago priests would have to get along as do other ministers of religion, and trust for their support to the worshippers in the churches.

There is nothing in the whole history of the late war more soul-grinding and humiliating to Spanish pride than the welcome accorded our troops in Porto Rico. The story of the reception of General Stone, for instance, where flowers were strewn in his path and the people vied with each other in efforts to take his staff officers home to their own tables, the cheers and songs for the troops, the public celebrations gotten up in their honor, and the outbursts of enthusiasm generally for the Americans—all these things amount to the humiliating humiliation of Spain.

MAGUIRE'S WITHDRAWAL

DENONCED THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY VIGOROUSLY. Determined to Give His Services to the Single Tax Party For the Future.

To the Members of the Democratic State Club—Gentlemen: I hereby tender my resignation as a member of your club.

In withdrawing, permit me to return thanks to the officers, past and present, for many courtesies which they have extended during our long and pleasant association.

Let me also assure the members, with whom my personal relations have always been most cordial, that my withdrawal is not prompted by any personal considerations, but that it is to me a painful act of duty to political principles and convictions with which the present policy of the Democratic party is not in accord.

As this resignation is the final act which severs my connection with the Democratic party, State and national, it is but just to you, and all others who have stood shoulder to shoulder with me in the political battles of the past, that I should fully and frankly state the reasons which have moved me to this serious step.

Early in life I learned to reverence the name Democracy, as representing all that is sublime in the political history of past ages and as connotating the best of political principles of the present.

The party bearing this sacred name being out of power at the time that I reached my majority, I naturally entered its ranks, hoping, and expecting that it would ever be the aggressive and intelligent champion of liberty, equality and the rights of the people.

Finally our party triumphed, but, alas, it has brought no relief to our suffering people. The benefit of that triumph has amounted to no more than the distribution of a few official prizes to the friends and relatives of wealthy aristocrats and to the henchmen of political bosses.

Weight is still the standard of respectability, just as it was under Republican administrations, and the rights and wishes of the great Democratic masses of the country are just as completely ignored.

Rival bidders for the affections of monopolists, the great national parties have become like as two peas both in actions and principles.

The great intellectual statesmen; the men of principle and courage, once the glory of our country, have been retired from our Federal Senate, and the people have practically ceased to be represented there.

The entire area of our great country, including the natural opportunities of all people—natural resources, without which none of our people can live—has been made the exclusive private property of a few thousand men and doctored landlords, who, by virtue of their absolute control which they do thus, as owners, exercise over the only means of living of our landless millions, are robbing the latter continually to feed the mouths of a few thousand millionaires.

This is a system of human servitude just as complete as chattel slavery and in many respects more atrocious; yet the so-called Democratic party, while professing to be the friend of the laborer, expressly denies the opportunity for the support of the laborer to profit by it.

There was one man in the United States who during all the trials and straits of the late war never lost his head, never broke his habitual calm, never had hysterics, never once became "rattled." Yet on his shoulder rested the Government. On him was imposed the most stupendous responsibilities; on him weighed concern that the weak man would have gone down under. All honor to Wm. McKinley, President of the United States.

There is trouble brewing for us with the Cuban volunteers. They out-Spanish the Spanish themselves. Conservatism is something of which they have no conception. All they dwell upon is their passion for doing precisely as they please.

They are not merely mad because of the declaration of peace and the withdrawal of Spanish authority; they are reported to be ugly—wild over it. Threatening and demonstrative in some cases, sullen and plotting in others, viciously angry in all, they are said to be determined upon resistance to any army of occupation, and will not consent to the debarkation of Spanish troops for the home land.

MAGUIRE'S WITHDRAWAL

DENONCED THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY VIGOROUSLY. Determined to Give His Services to the Single Tax Party For the Future.

To the Members of the Democratic State Club—Gentlemen: I hereby tender my resignation as a member of your club.

In withdrawing, permit me to return thanks to the officers, past and present, for many courtesies which they have extended during our long and pleasant association.

Let me also assure the members, with whom my personal relations have always been most cordial, that my withdrawal is not prompted by any personal considerations, but that it is to me a painful act of duty to political principles and convictions with which the present policy of the Democratic party is not in accord.

As this resignation is the final act which severs my connection with the Democratic party, State and national, it is but just to you, and all others who have stood shoulder to shoulder with me in the political battles of the past, that I should fully and frankly state the reasons which have moved me to this serious step.

Early in life I learned to reverence the name Democracy, as representing all that is sublime in the political history of past ages and as connotating the best of political principles of the present.

The party bearing this sacred name being out of power at the time that I reached my majority, I naturally entered its ranks, hoping, and expecting that it would ever be the aggressive and intelligent champion of liberty, equality and the rights of the people.

Finally our party triumphed, but, alas, it has brought no relief to our suffering people. The benefit of that triumph has amounted to no more than the distribution of a few official prizes to the friends and relatives of wealthy aristocrats and to the henchmen of political bosses.

Weight is still the standard of respectability, just as it was under Republican administrations, and the rights and wishes of the great Democratic masses of the country are just as completely ignored.

Rival bidders for the affections of monopolists, the great national parties have become like as two peas both in actions and principles.

The great intellectual statesmen; the men of principle and courage, once the glory of our country, have been retired from our Federal Senate, and the people have practically ceased to be represented there.

The entire area of our great country, including the natural opportunities of all people—natural resources, without which none of our people can live—has been made the exclusive private property of a few thousand men and doctored landlords, who, by virtue of their absolute control which they do thus, as owners, exercise over the only means of living of our landless millions, are robbing the latter continually to feed the mouths of a few thousand millionaires.

This is a system of human servitude just as complete as chattel slavery and in many respects more atrocious; yet the so-called Democratic party, while professing to be the friend of the laborer, expressly denies the opportunity for the support of the laborer to profit by it.

There was one man in the United States who during all the trials and straits of the late war never lost his head, never broke his habitual calm, never had hysterics, never once became "rattled." Yet on his shoulder rested the Government. On him was imposed the most stupendous responsibilities; on him weighed concern that the weak man would have gone down under. All honor to Wm. McKinley, President of the United States.

There is trouble brewing for us with the Cuban volunteers. They out-Spanish the Spanish themselves. Conservatism is something of which they have no conception. All they dwell upon is their passion for doing precisely as they please.

They are not merely mad because of the declaration of peace and the withdrawal of Spanish authority; they are reported to be ugly—wild over it. Threatening and demonstrative in some cases, sullen and plotting in others, viciously angry in all, they are said to be determined upon resistance to any army of occupation, and will not consent to the debarkation of Spanish troops for the home land.

MAGUIRE'S WITHDRAWAL

DENONCED THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY VIGOROUSLY. Determined to Give His Services to the Single Tax Party For the Future.

To the Members of the Democratic State Club—Gentlemen: I hereby tender my resignation as a member of your club.

In withdrawing, permit me to return thanks to the officers, past and present, for many courtesies which they have extended during our long and pleasant association.

Let me also assure the members, with whom my personal relations have always been most cordial, that my withdrawal is not prompted by any personal considerations, but that it is to me a painful act of duty to political principles and convictions with which the present policy of the Democratic party is not in accord.

As this resignation is the final act which severs my connection with the Democratic party, State and national, it is but just to you, and all others who have stood shoulder to shoulder with me in the political battles of the past, that I should fully and frankly state the reasons which have moved me to this serious step.

Early in life I learned to reverence the name Democracy, as representing all that is sublime in the political history of past ages and as connotating the best of political principles of the present.

The party bearing this sacred name being out of power at the time that I reached my majority, I naturally entered its ranks, hoping, and expecting that it would ever be the aggressive and intelligent champion of liberty, equality and the rights of the people.

Finally our party triumphed, but, alas, it has brought no relief to our suffering people. The benefit of that triumph has amounted to no more than the distribution of a few official prizes to the friends and relatives of wealthy aristocrats and to the henchmen of political bosses.

Weight is still the standard of respectability, just as it was under Republican administrations, and the rights and wishes of the great Democratic masses of the country are just as completely ignored.

Rival bidders for the affections of monopolists, the great national parties have become like as two peas both in actions and principles.

The great intellectual statesmen; the men of principle and courage, once the glory of our country, have been retired from our Federal Senate, and the people have practically ceased to be represented there.

The entire area of our great country, including the natural opportunities of all people—natural resources, without which none of our people can live—has been made the exclusive private property of a few thousand men and doctored landlords, who, by virtue of their absolute control which they do thus, as owners, exercise over the only means of living of our landless millions, are robbing the latter continually to feed the mouths of a few thousand millionaires.

This is a system of human servitude just as complete as chattel slavery and in many respects more atrocious; yet the so-called Democratic party, while professing to be the friend of the laborer, expressly denies the opportunity for the support of the laborer to profit by it.

There was one man in the United States who during all the trials and straits of the late war never lost his head, never broke his habitual calm, never had hysterics, never once became "rattled." Yet on his shoulder rested the Government. On him was imposed the most stupendous responsibilities; on him weighed concern that the weak man would have gone down under. All honor to Wm. McKinley, President of the United States.

There is trouble brewing for us with the Cuban volunteers. They out-Spanish the Spanish themselves. Conservatism is something of which they have no conception. All they dwell upon is their passion for doing precisely as they please.

They are not merely mad because of the declaration of peace and the withdrawal of Spanish authority; they are reported to be ugly—wild over it. Threatening and demonstrative in some cases, sullen and plotting in others, viciously angry in all, they are said to be determined upon resistance to any army of occupation, and will not consent to the debarkation of Spanish troops for the home land.

MAGUIRE'S WITHDRAWAL

DENONCED THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY VIGOROUSLY. Determined to Give His Services to the Single Tax Party For the Future.

To the Members of the Democratic State Club—Gentlemen: I hereby tender my resignation as a member of your club.

In withdrawing, permit me to return thanks to the officers, past and present, for many courtesies which they have extended during our long and pleasant association.

Let me also assure the members, with whom my personal relations have always been most cordial, that my withdrawal is not prompted by any personal considerations, but that it is to me a painful act of duty to political principles and convictions with which the present policy of the Democratic party is not in accord.

As this resignation is the final act which severs my connection with the Democratic party, State and national, it is but just to you, and all others who have stood shoulder to shoulder with me in the political battles of the past, that I should fully and frankly state the reasons which have moved me to this serious step.

Early in life I learned to reverence the name Democracy, as representing all that is sublime in the political history of past ages and as connotating the best of political principles of the present.

The party bearing this sacred name being out of power at the time that I reached my majority, I naturally entered its ranks, hoping, and expecting that it would ever be the aggressive and intelligent champion of liberty, equality and the rights of the people.

Finally our party triumphed, but, alas, it has brought no relief to our suffering people. The benefit of that triumph has amounted to no more than the distribution of a few official prizes to the friends and relatives of wealthy aristocrats and to the henchmen of political bosses.

Weight is still the standard of respectability, just as it was under Republican administrations, and the rights and wishes of the great Democratic masses of the country are just as completely ignored.

Rival bidders for the affections of monopolists, the great national parties have become like as two peas both in actions and principles.

The great intellectual statesmen; the men of principle and courage, once the glory of our country, have been retired from our Federal Senate, and the people have practically ceased to be represented there.

The entire area of our great country, including the natural opportunities of all people—natural resources, without which none of our people can live—has been made the exclusive private property of a few thousand men and doctored landlords, who, by virtue of their absolute control which they do thus, as owners, exercise over the only means of living of our landless millions, are robbing the latter continually to feed the mouths of a few thousand millionaires.

This is a system of human servitude just as complete as chattel slavery and in many respects more atrocious; yet the so-called Democratic party, while professing to be the friend of the laborer, expressly denies the opportunity for the support of the laborer to profit by it.

There was one man in the United States who during all the trials and straits of the late war never lost his head, never broke his habitual calm, never had hysterics, never once became "rattled." Yet on his shoulder rested the Government. On him was imposed the most stupendous responsibilities; on him weighed concern that the weak man would have gone down under. All honor to Wm. McKinley, President of the United States.

There is trouble brewing for us with the Cuban volunteers. They out-Spanish the Spanish themselves. Conservatism is something of which they have no conception. All they dwell upon is their passion for doing precisely as they please.

They are not merely mad because of the declaration of peace and the withdrawal of Spanish authority; they are reported to be ugly—wild over it. Threatening and demonstrative in some cases, sullen and plotting in others, viciously angry in all, they are said to be determined upon resistance to any army of occupation, and will not consent to the debarkation of Spanish troops for the home land.

MAGUIRE'S WITHDRAWAL

DENONCED THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY VIGOROUSLY. Determined to Give His Services to the Single Tax Party For the Future.

To the Members of the Democratic State Club—Gentlemen: I hereby tender my resignation as a member of your club.

In withdrawing, permit me to return thanks to the officers, past and present, for many courtesies which they have extended during our long and pleasant association.

Let me also assure the members, with whom my personal relations have always been most cordial, that my withdrawal is not prompted by any personal considerations, but that it is to me a painful act of duty to political principles and convictions with which the present policy of the Democratic party is not in accord.

As this resignation is the final act which severs my connection with the Democratic party, State and national, it is but just to you, and all others who have stood shoulder to shoulder with me in the political battles of the past, that I should fully and frankly state the reasons which have moved me to this serious step.

Early in life I learned to reverence the name Democracy, as representing all that is sublime in the political history of past ages and as connotating the best of political principles of the present.

The party bearing this sacred name being out of power at the time that I reached my majority, I naturally entered its ranks, hoping, and expecting that it would ever be the aggressive and intelligent champion of liberty, equality and the rights of the people.

Finally our party triumphed, but, alas, it has brought no relief to our suffering people. The benefit of that triumph has amounted to no more than the distribution of a few official prizes to the friends and relatives of wealthy aristocrats and to the henchmen of political bosses.

Weight is still the standard of respectability, just as it was under Republican administrations, and the rights and wishes of the great Democratic masses of the country are just as completely ignored.

Rival bidders for the affections of monopolists, the great national parties have become like as two peas both in actions and principles.

The great intellectual statesmen; the men of principle and courage, once the glory of our country, have been retired from our Federal Senate, and the people have practically ceased to be represented there.

The entire area of our great country, including the natural opportunities of all people—natural resources, without which none of our people can live—has been made the exclusive private property of a few thousand men and doctored landlords, who, by virtue of their absolute control which they do thus, as owners, exercise over the only means of living of our landless millions, are robbing the latter continually to feed the mouths of a few thousand millionaires.

This is a system of human servitude just as complete as chattel slavery and in many respects more atrocious; yet the so-called Democratic party, while professing to be the friend of the laborer, expressly denies the opportunity for the support of the laborer to profit by it.

There was one man in the United States who during all the trials and straits of the late war never lost his head, never broke his habitual calm, never had hysterics, never once became "rattled." Yet on his shoulder rested the Government. On him was imposed the most stupendous responsibilities; on him weighed concern that the weak man would have gone down under. All honor to Wm. McKinley, President of the United States.

There is trouble brewing for us with the Cuban volunteers. They out-Spanish the Spanish themselves. Conservatism is something of which they have no conception. All they dwell upon is their passion for doing precisely as they please.

They are not merely mad because of the declaration of peace and the withdrawal of Spanish authority; they are reported to be ugly—wild over it. Threatening and demonstrative in some cases, sullen and plotting in others, viciously angry in all, they are said to be determined upon resistance to any army of occupation, and will not consent to the debarkation of Spanish troops for the home land.

AN OPEN LETTER TO MOTHERS.

WE ARE ASSERTING IN THE COURTS OUR RIGHT TO THE EXCLUSIVE USE OF THE WORD "CASTORIA," AND "PITCHER'S CASTORIA," AS OUR TRADE MARK.

I, DR. SAMUEL PITCHER, of Hyannis, Massachusetts, was the originator of "CASTORIA," the same that has borne and does now bear the fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher, wrapper.

LOOK CAREFULLY at the wrapper and see that it is the kind you have always bought and has the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher on the wrapper. No one has authority from me to use my name except The Centaur Company, of which Chas. H. Fletcher is President.

March 24, 1898. Samuel Pitcher, M.D. THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

A CONDITION MATERIALLY BETTERED.

For a year or more I was troubled with a Disordered Stomach, owing to irregular hours and improper food. I consulted several physicians, but found no relief in their medicines. Some time ago I noticed a paragraph or an advertisement about Ripans Tabules and determined to try them, which I did, and my condition has been bettered so materially that I think it only proper to mention the fact.

A NEW BOTTLE FACTORY CONTAINING TEN TABLETS IN A PAPER CARTON (WITHOUT GLASS) IS NOW FOR SALE AT FIVE DOLLAR STORES—FOR FIVE CENTS.

NEVADA POLITICS.

SOME LIVELY GOSSIP FROM THE SAGEBRUSH STATE.

Candidates Spoken of For Governor and United States Senator.

(Special Correspondence Record-Union.) CARSON (Nev.), Aug. 20.—While Nevada will hardly figure in national politics this year, her elections will be quite important and may be far-reaching in results.

The artful use which the politicians have made of the silver issue has broken up the old parties, and the result is an organization so nearly a monopoly that it has become unwieldy of its own weight.

The struggle for the governorship is an exchange, wherein seats are sold to monopolists and to wealthy seekers after social standing. The matter of sanctioning this iniquity, however, seems to be easy between the parties.

The entire area of our great country, including the natural opportunities of all people—natural resources, without which none of our people can live—has been made the exclusive private property of a few thousand men and doctored landlords, who, by virtue of their absolute control which they do thus, as owners, exercise over the only means of living of our landless millions, are robbing the latter continually to feed the mouths of a few thousand millionaires.

This is a system of human servitude just as complete as chattel slavery and in many respects more atrocious; yet the so-called Democratic party, while professing to be the friend of the laborer, expressly denies the opportunity for the support of the laborer to profit by it.

There was one man in the United States who during all the trials and straits of the late war never lost his head, never broke his habitual calm, never had hysterics, never once became "rattled." Yet on his shoulder rested the Government. On him was imposed the most stupendous responsibilities; on him weighed concern that the weak man would have gone down under. All honor to Wm. McKinley, President of the United States.

There is trouble brewing for us with the Cuban volunteers. They out-Spanish the Spanish themselves. Conservatism is something of which they have no conception. All they dwell upon is their passion for doing precisely as they please.

They are not merely mad because of the declaration of peace and the withdrawal of Spanish authority; they are reported to be ugly—wild over it. Threatening and demonstrative in some cases, sullen and plotting in others, viciously angry in all, they are said to be determined upon resistance to any army of occupation, and will not consent to the debarkation of Spanish troops for the home land.

They are not merely mad because of the declaration of peace and the withdrawal of Spanish authority; they are reported to be ugly—wild over it. Threatening and demonstrative in some cases, sullen and plotting in others, viciously angry in all, they are said to be determined upon resistance to any army of occupation, and will not consent to the debarkation of Spanish troops for the home land.

They are not merely mad because of the declaration of peace and the withdrawal of Spanish authority; they are reported to be ugly—wild over it. Threatening and demonstrative in some cases, sullen and plotting in others, viciously angry in all, they are said to be determined upon resistance to any army of occupation, and will not consent to the debarkation of Spanish troops for the home land.

They are not merely mad because of the declaration of peace and the withdrawal of Spanish authority; they are reported to be ugly—wild over it. Threatening and demonstrative in some cases, sullen and plotting in others, viciously angry in all, they are said to be determined upon resistance to any army of occupation, and will not consent to the debarkation of Spanish troops for the home land.

Save money by buying your tea and coffee of J. McMorry, 531 M.

MAKE IT YOUR COMPANION. Your system will experience a healthy reaction. You will make Buffalo New Brew a companion at your table.

BUFFALO BREWING CO., SACRAMENTO, CAL.

IRISH FAIR

TO BE HELD IN THE MECHANICS' PAVILION, SAN FRANCISCO, August 20th to September 10th.

SPECIAL TRAIN FROM SACRAMENTO Saturday, August 27th, Leaving at 8:30 a. m.

ROUND TRIP TICKETS, $2.25 Good for return on afternoon train of 27th or regular train of the 28th.

WATERHOUSE & LESTER. WAGON AND CARRIAGE MATERIALS, Hardware, Lumber, Iron, Steel and Coal, Horsehoes, and Blacksmith's Supplies.

EASTERN EGGS

FRESNO MELONS, HIGH GRADE CREAMERY BUTTER, SANTA PAULA LEMONS at

W. D. CURTIS & CO.'S.

CONSULTATION FREE AT THE Western Hotel, SACRAMENTO, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, August 18th, 19th and 20th.

DON'T FAIL TO SEE THE GREAT DOCTORS. Many years have elapsed since the English and German Experts, Specialists opened their institution for the cure of Chronic and other Diseases and Deformities.

WE GIVE TRADING STAMPS. Two-thirds of the people of the United States are collecting Sperry & Hutchinson's green trading stamps.

SOAP

For the Laundry—FAIRBANKS' BROWN SOAP, 16-oz. bar, 5 cents. That is 6 ounces more than the usual 5-cent bar.

W. F. GORMLEY, Undertaker and Funeral Director. Mortuary parlors and hall 918 J street, opposite police, Telephone: Capital 709; Sunset, Blue 82.