

SAMPSON'S REPORT MADE PUBLIC.

The Admiral explains, with reference to the proposed detachment of some of our heavy ships for service abroad (the proposed expedition to the Spanish Coast). Long shows that this expedition was to consist of the Iowa, Oregon, Newark, Yosemite, Yankee and Dixie, and they were to go to the Azores for orders. The colliers were to join the fleet at the Azores.

On June 20th the Admiral received a communication from Major General Shafter announcing that he expected to attack Santiago the following morning, and asking that he (Sampson) bombard the forts at Aguadores in support of a regiment of infantry, and make such demonstration as he thought proper at the harbor's mouth, so as to keep as many of the ships there as possible. This request was complied with, and on July 1st General Shafter asked that the Admiral keep up his fight on the Santiago water front. On July 21st the following was received from General Shafter:

"Terrible fight yesterday, but my line is now strongly entrenched about three-fourths of a mile from town. I urge that you make effort immediately to force the entrance to avoid future losses among my men, which are already very heavy. You can now operate with less loss of life than I can. Please telephone answer."

A reply was telephoned General Shafter from Admiral Sampson through Lieutenant Stanton, which said the Admiral had bombarded the forts at the entrance to the harbor. Also a corda battery inside, silencing their fire, and asked whether he (Shafter) wanted further firing on the Admiral's part. The explanation was made that it was impossible to force an entrance until the channel was cleared of mines—a work of some time after the forts were taken possession of by the troops. To this General Shafter replied: "It is impossible for me to say when I can take batteries at entrance of harbor. If they are as difficult to take as those which we have been pitted against, it will be some time and a great loss of life. I am at a loss to see why the navy cannot work under a destructive action with the army. My loss yesterday was over 500 men. By all means keep up fire on everything in sight of you until demolished. I expect, however, in time and with sufficient men, to capture the forts along the bay."

Admiral Sampson then says: "I wrote General Shafter the following letter and began making preparations to countermand and, with the object of arranging an attack upon the batteries at the entrance, a visit was arranged with General Shafter, so that the latter might be thoroughly disabused of his views on the matter. I had in view the employment of the marines for an assault on either the Morro or Socapa battery, while at the same time assaulting the defenses at the entrance with the fleet.

United States flagship New York, first rate, off Santiago Cuba, July 2, 1898—My Dear General: I have your note of this date—just received at 11:30.

"An officer of my staff has already reported to you the firing which we did this morning, but I must say in addition that you tell me that the forts which you silence are not forts which would give you any inconvenience in capturing the city, as they cannot fire except to seaward. They cannot even prevent our entrance into the harbor of Santiago. Our trouble from the harbor is well shown by observation, mines, which would certainly result in the sinking of one or more of our ships if we attempted to enter the harbor, and by the sinking of a ship, the object of the attempt to enter the harbor would be defeated by the preventing of further progress on our part.

"It was my hope that an attack on your part of these shore batteries from the rear, would leave us at liberty to drag the channel for torpedoes.

"If it is your earnest desire that we should force our entrance I will at once prepare to undertake it. I think, however, that the position and yours would be made more difficult if, as is possible, we fall in our attempt.

"We have in our outfit at Guantanamo forty countermining mines which I will bring here with as little delay as possible, and if we can succeed in freeing the entrance of mines by their use, I will enter the harbor with observation, which would certainly result in the sinking of one or more of our ships if we attempted to enter the harbor, and by the sinking of a ship, the object of the attempt to enter the harbor would be defeated by the preventing of further progress on our part.

"Major General Shafter, U. S. A." July 3—The sortie of Admiral Cervera's squadron and its destruction have been made the subject of a separate paper and need not be repeated here. This event closes the purely naval campaign, crowning with complete success the anxious work of almost exactly two months.

It is apparent that from the following dispatch from Acting Secretary Allen to the Commander of the fleet and the Commander of the Spanish fleet, that the department felt some apprehension regarding the movements and designs of the Austrian gunboat Maria Teresa, which appeared in the West Indies during the war:

"Washington, June 13.—Austrian gunboat Maria Teresa, in West Indies, is thought to be visiting various blockades to see if effective. Upon the arrival of our troops send without delay as many as you consider necessary of the convoy to Commodore No. 10 off Cienfuegos, Cuba, and as there is some similarity between the Austrian and Spanish flag, caution your ships against possible mistakes."

The apprehension by the department at one time of the possibility of the escape of the Spaniards from Santiago via Manzanillo, Cuba, is shown in the following dispatch to Sampson: "When the Spaniards in the Spanish give up here at Santiago they may attempt to escape via Manzanillo, Cuba. As understood here they receive supplies now via Manzanillo, Cuba. LONG."

A NEEDED REST. Republican Campaigners Have a Respite from Their Labors. The Republican candidates rested in the country yesterday, but will take to the country again to-day. On Saturday night they held a rousing meeting at Florin, and to-night they will address the people of the vicinity of Hangtown Crossing at that place.

All the candidates speak enthusiastically of their meetings throughout the county, and confidently assert that Sacramento will come very near being the banner Republican county at the coming election, if indeed she does not take the lead.

WHEEL RACES.

End of the C. C. W. Series—Egeberg Wins the First Prize.

The Capital City Wheelmen yesterday pulled off the third and last of their point system of road races. The course was eight and three-quarters miles over the old route—out the lower and in the upper Stockton road, via Duden's.

Twelve men entered, but only nine started. One of these was out of condition, another thought the start would not be made owing to the rain of the night before, and the third felt sure the Board of Officers would not start the race because of the condition of the roads.

But despite the muddy route, the race was run, being delayed only three-quarters of an hour to give the course time to dry a little. And it proved to be a fast race, too, the time of the preceding events being much lowered.

The outcome was as follows, with the totals for the three events:

Table with 4 columns: Name, Riding Time, Total Pts., Pts. Pts. Egeberg, 27:13, 24, 29; Noyes, 27:30, 1st time, 10, 18; Miller, 28:20, 2d time, 10, 18.

This gives Mr. Pommer's prize, a White wheel, and the club's gold medal to Egeberg; the silver medal to Noyes, the bronze medal to Clay and honor-bar pins to those marked by a star and to those marked by a dagger an honor bar.

J. E. Little was the starter, and J. Hirsch refereed in yesterday's race, with F. M. Woodson, George Strover and A. U. Hubert timers; J. T. Sheehan, Lieutenant Milne and G. H. Hamlin judges; Frank Moeller and H. Walker scorers. There was a large attendance and the liveliest interest throughout.
