

In all ages the gentler sex have borne their part of the burdens of life. Loyal to the stronger sex, they have followed their fate, whether in war or peace. In all wars American women, writes Mrs. John A. Logan, in her article on "Women's Part in the War With Spain," in "Harper's Bazar," have been foremost in sacrifice and potent service for their country. The heroines of the Revolution have been as much revered as the greatest heroes of that immortal strife.

for liberty. The year "1812," the war with Mexico, and the rebellion of 1861 had their heroines, whose courage and endurance of hardships at home, in the hospitals and on the field rivaled that of the "Joans" of other ages. In the years of sweet peace since Appomattox American women, North and South, have been busy binding up the wounds, effacing the scars and smoothing the pathway of progress and unity. They have wrought incessantly in all the fields of civilization. They have trampled down prejudice and ignorance, and have kept abreast of the advancement of the times. Christianity, education and philanthropy have occupied them constantly, whetting to the keenest edge their finer sensibilities; a wail of anguish from any source has received a prompt response. Local and national calamities have enlisted their indefatigable efforts for relief.

The Thanksgiving number of the "Ladies' Home Journal" (Philadelphia) comes with new cover designs in a rich tint, with appropriate pictorial effects. It consists of fifty-two pages and many illustrations, and number of new features, among which is Mary E. Wilkins' humorous new serial, "The Jamesons." With music pages, many illustrations and novelties and articles on topics of living interest, poems and stories, the number is made a very attractive one.

The "Metropolitan" (New York) for November is the most liberally and richly illustrated number its publishers have yet issued. It is a work of fine art throughout, the portraits of lovely women being especially well presented. The leading features of the number are: Twenty-one full-page illustrations of beautiful women; "Victualing the Metropolis," James T. Morley; "Israel Zangwill," A. L. Samson; "The Art Work of Will H. Low," H. G. Martin; "New York's Gigantic Architecture," F. R. Mitchell; "In the Shadow of Trinity," Allerton L. Markham; "Birth and Growth of a Popular Song," Theodore Dreiser; "Artist St. John's Studio," Arthur B. Estes; "Country Houses of the Hudson," H. G. Warren; "Gypsy Camps in New York," Jennie Young Chandler; "The Month in The-Monyon's Headache and Indigestion Cure is the only remedy on the market that will cure every form of headache in 10 to 15 minutes, correct indigestion, stimulate the nerves and build up the system. It should be in every home and every traveler's grip-sack. At all Druggists. 25 cents.

A REMARKABLE CURE.

Dr. Sanden Adds Another to His List of Wonderful Cures

ARE YOU A WOMAN WITH A woman's ill with a woman's nerves, with her pains and her mental and physical misery? Are you a woman? Then I appeal to you. There is relief from periodical headaches, headaches and nervousness. There is health and strength for you in my simple method. Don't take any more drugs. They only stimulate for a day. You must restore the strength and then nature can cure you. Medicines are good for some troubles, but they do not restore strength. Electricity does, and the best means of using it is my Dr. Sanden's Electric Belt. I have found that my now famous Electric Belt is as good for women as for men. During the past three years hundreds of women have regained the full vigor of healthy womanhood by its use.

DR. A. T. SANDEN, Box 7, 703 Market St., San Francisco, Cal. Office hours—8 a. m. to 8 p. m.; Sundays, 10 to 11. Branches at Los Angeles, Cal.; 2045 South Broadway; Portland, Or.; 23 Washington St.; Denver, Col.; 65 Sixteenth St.; Dallas, Tex.; 283 Main St.

tricals," Leander Richardson; "Marcus A. Hanna," Alfred Henry Lewis; "The Mechanics of Magic," Walter Beverley Crane; "Famous English Beauties," Helena D. Jackson; "Lillian Russell," S. L. Baker; "A Texan Romance," Estelle Gustine; "A Story That Was Told," Thomas McCulloch-Williams. The "Cosmopolitan Magazine" for November (New York) is richly and very profusely illustrated. The departments are very full and deeply interesting. The leading features of the number are: "A Dangerous Mission to Spain," name of writer concealed for State reasons; "In Porto Rico With General Miles," Warner P. Sutton; "Placer Gold and How it is Secured," John E. Bennett; "Gloria Mundi" (conclusion), Harold Fredericks; "To Die in Jerusalem," Zangwill; "The Tragedies of the Kohinor," Caroline Brown; "Autobiography of Napoleon Bonaparte, VI.," "Some Types of Beauty," Isaac Taylor Headland; "The Woman of Fascination," Harry Thurston Peck; "The Copper and the Captain," illustrated by Peter Newell, Frank R. Stockton; "Ernest Terah Hooley and His Guinea Pigs," T. C. Crawford; "Jimmy Goggles the God," illustrated by H. Pruet Share, H. G. Wells; "Great Problems in Organization," by Wheat and its Distribution," Joseph Leiter; "In the World of Art and Letters."

The "Humanitarian" (London, edited by Victoria Woodhull Martin and Zula M. Woodhull) for October has these leading papers: "Crimes Among Criminals and Savages," Professor Lombroso; "Energy and Position," the editor; "Who Were the Builders?" S. B. Evans; "Through Vain Imaginings to Truth," Hypatia; "Mental Atmospheres and Disease," Horatio W. Dresser; "Salvation by Force," the Hon. Auberon Herbert; "The Beginning of the End," Mrs. Close; "The Joys and Sorrows of the Atom," G. E. Bailey, Ph. D.; "The Influence of the Mind."

"The Youth's Companion" for October 20th (Boston) is of an unusual number of pages, in richly illuminated covers, and with full illustrated premium lists covering many pages.

"Little Folks" for October (S. E. Cassino, Boston) is beautifully illustrated in having its work and filled with material prepared for youngest readers. As an infant's magazine it has no superior.

"St. Nicholas" for November (The Century Company, New York) is as usual finely illustrated and generously so. It is the 25th birthday number of this magazine, known wherever the English tongue prevails as par excellence, the young folks' periodical. Among the leading features, apart from the poems and the departments, are these: "The Army of Napoleon," Richard Stillman Powell; "Margaret Clyde's Extra," Isabel Gordon Curtis; "The Sole Survivors," chapters I, II, George A. Henty; "Bright Sides of History," chapters I, II, E. H. House; "Chuggins: A Tale of Santiago," H. Irving Hancock; "A Visit to Bismarck," Frederick W. Wendt; "Pets in the Navy," Mrs. Chas. D. Sigbee; "How Mr. Drake Went to Court," Emma M. Backus; "Jingle: There Was a Mighty Warrior," W. H. Cady; "Princess Madrigal's Wish," Florence Simmons; "Jingle: Knowledge at College," Anna N. Benjamin; "Good at Table Manners," Gelst Burgess; "Books and Reading for Young Folks."

Numbers 2 and 3 of the new weekly magazine "Musical America" (John G. Freund, New York) fulfill our expectations outlined in the notice of the first number of this venture. They are both replete with music notes and news and dramatic and art notes and papers, and have several strong examples of good portraiture. As yet no music is printed in this magazine, it is confined to the text matter, and perhaps will be through all its course. It is eminently a musical news and a broadly critical paper, one we should say that fills a field that has heretofore been vacant, or nearly so, in that it is not a topographical and abstract technical magazine, nor yet one that is merely a note taker, for it is a critic sharp, crisp, fair and generous.

The "American Sentinel" is a new magazine courting public favor. It is published by the American Sentinel Company, Temple Court, New York, and is edited by General Joshua L. Chamberlain, LL. D., Mrs. John A. Logan and Henry Austin. It is a freely illustrated, handsome quarto of 120 pages, on heavy, richly surfaced paper, and is a typographic beauty. The illustrations are many, and all related to historic events and scenes closely connected with American annals. The text matter is well chosen, vigorous, varied and patriotic. In short, it is quite the ideal of what a patriotic historic magazine should be. But it is not all history; there is fiction, biography, poetry, dramatic work and news in its pages. It is certainly a bold venture, since it is easy to see that to produce such a periodical involves very heavy cost. The first number is for October and some idea of its scope may be gathered from the titles of "Memory of Florida," C. Lesson; "The National Monument at Gettysburg (frontispiece), editorial, "Montauk State," Mrs. John A. Logan; "United States," Rev. Edward Everett Hale; "Our American Bulwarks," John Swinton; "Goddess of Liberty, Look Near By," Ella Wheeler Wilcox; "Tombstone and Crown Point," Hon. L. E. Chittenden; "Spanish Dreams and Yankee Achievements," Helen H. Gardner; "Some Lincoln Documents and Gettysburg," "An Official Patriot" (reviewed), James Reiff, Jr.; "The Interview With Lincoln," "A Memory of Florida," C. Lesson; "The High Priest of the Sun-A Play," Innes Randolph and Henry Austin; "American Ideals," General Joshua L. Chamberlain; "Impersonal Lives Emancipated," General George B. Loud; "President McKinley," Mrs. John A. Logan; "The Vermont Brigade," General Martin McMahon; "By the Hand of the Unseen Foe," May Agnes Peck; "Patriotism in the Home," Elizabeth Robbins Berry.

COMPARE THE RECORD.

The farmer of California must receive the assistance of the Government if he is to prosper. What has been the record of the two great political parties regarding this question? The Republican party has ever striven to foster and encourage the horticultural interests of California by means of favorable tariff legislation; the Democratic party has always endeavored to break down and sweep away this protection. The McKinley tariff placed a rate of 2 cents a pound on prunes and plums in order to protect the California product against the ruinous competition of Southern Europe. The Wilson tariff reduced this to an ad valorem duty equivalent to less than 1 cent a pound. The Dingley tariff has restored the duty of 2 cents. On figs the McKinley rate was 2 1/2 cents, the Wilson rate equivalent to about 1 cent, and the Dingley rate 2 cents. On raisins the McKinley rate was 2 1/2 cents, the Wilson rate 1 1/2 cents, and the Dingley rate 2 1/2 cents. On oranges the McKinley rate was 10 cents a cubic foot, the Wilson rate 8 cents, and the Dingley rate about 12 cents. On almonds the McKinley rate was 5 cents, the Wilson rate 3 cents, and the Dingley rate 4 cents. On walnuts the McKinley and Dingley rates are 3 cents and the Wilson rate 2 cents.

Not There. "I heard Bixby had a fight with Bragg." "Did you? Well, on Bixby's part it was a Sampson fight." "What's that?" "Bixby wasn't there."

MONDAY, AT 9:30 A. M., SALE OF 100 NEW TAN JACKETS JUST RECEIVED.

For this sale we can offer none of the reasons which are generally given when merchandise is sold at less than regular prices. We are not overstocked; in fact, our tan jackets have sold extremely well this season, and these new ones intended for this sale are direct from a manufacturer within the past few days. But there is a demand for these styles, and we desire to turn the attention of buyers to our large Cloak Department by offering special values in the most desirable garments. Hence these tailing values.

LOT I—Jackets in strictly swell Fall styles, including coverts, kerseys, whippocors, chevots and meltons. Most of them are silk and satin lined and not a few in rich shades of cerise and turquoise taffeta; some have velvet collars, with new braiding cord effects, tailor stitched and plain coat style. There are fly fronts with round and square corners, also box coat reefers. The colors are mostly medium and light tans, cadet military, black, royal, new blue and covert mixtures. A rare offering for those wanting a nobby Fall jacket.

Prices, $10, $12.50, $13.50 and $15.

Most Unusual Kid Glove for $1.25.

A most unusual kid glove comes from Grenoble, France, where only the finest qualities of kid gloves are made. In style, in fit, in wear and in quality they are equal to and even better than the kid gloves generally sold at $1.50. We buy them direct from the maker, and that is why our price is $1.25. They are pique sewn, two clasp, new embroidery backs in self and contrasting colors. These unusual gloves we offer in black, white, marine blue, green, tan, brown, modes and English reds.

English Whippocors, $1.25 Yard.

We cannot say too much for the quiet elegance of the new shades in fine whippocors. All the very latest colors are here, such as new blues, Indian red, brown, green and navy blue. Price, $1.25.

Brazilian Twills, $1.50 Yd.

A new fabric in self colors with black warp, producing a sheen and general effect unequalled in other cloth this season. New colors only.

LOUIS NAPOLEON.

The Bonapartist Aspirant to the Throne of France. A great deal of interest has been created in diplomatic circles in general over the abdication of Prince Victor Napoleon, as heir to the imperial throne of France in favor of his brother, Prince Louis, who is two years his junior. The Bonapartist cause is continually nursed with the hope of again ruling the French, and the preference has been given to Louis Napoleon because he is said to be a man of action, whereas his brother is said to be a man of quiet, peaceful temperament.

Louis Napoleon was born in the chateau of Neudon, on July 16, 1814. He was educated for service in the French army, but after his father was expelled from France he entered the army of Italy. He resigned from that service in June, 1850, traveled for six months and the following December entered the Russian army as Lieutenant Colonel in the dragon regiment of the King of Wurtemberg.
