

FARMERS ARE NOW HOPEFUL

GREATLY ENCOURAGED BY THE RECENT RAINS.

And Considerably More Has Fallen Since the Weekly Reports Were Received.

Following are the reports received by the United States Weather Bureau's climate and crop service for the week ending on Monday last:

The rainfall of the past week, which was quite general throughout the State, materially benefited growing grain and pasturage. Plowing and seeding have been resumed in most sections. Later reports indicate that citrus fruits were not materially damaged by the frosts of the preceding week. Foggy or cloudy weather has been prevalent in nearly all parts of the State, with temperatures slightly below the normal.

The reports received from regular correspondents show that a more hopeful feeling prevails among the farmers in the great valleys and in Southern California.

Shasta County—The rain during the week has enabled the farmers to resume work and feed the stock. Stock all driven in from mountain ranges.

Yuba County—At Rosewood two inches of snow fell on the 14th and the total precipitation for the week was 0.33.

Butte County—Rain on the 14th was very beneficial. Colusa County—At Grand Island 0.55 of an inch of rain fell on the 14th.

Yolo County—Light rain during the week benefited grain and pasturage. Sacramento County—Some plowing and seeding in progress.

Solano County—At Suisun the rainfall for the week amounted to 0.61. Weather cold and foggy, with heavy frosts.

El Dorado County—Not enough rain to permit miners and farmers to resume work.

San Joaquin County—Rain commenced on the 13th; grain sprouting rapidly. Calaveras County—Some farmers are plowing on moist land.

Stanislaus County—Nearly one inch of rain fell at Elmwood during the week. Grain and stock suffering at Newman.

Merced County—Rainfall not yet sufficient to moisten soil for plowing. Early grain doing well.

Madera County—Light rain on 14th, and on the 13th at Sharon. Growings grain looking better.

Fresno County—The light rain benefited grain and pasturage. Stock in poor condition at Conejo. Weather cold and foggy. Orange crop gathered.

Tulare County—Cloudy and cold, with light rain on 14th. No serious damage to citrus fruits at Porterville by frosts of last week.

Kings County—At Hanford, 0.35 of an inch of rain fell on the 13th; no sufficient to soften the ground for plowing. Pruning in progress.

Kern County—Very light rain at Bakersfield, and no farm work being done.

Inyo County—Frosts every morning. Mountains are covered with snow.

Humboldt County—No rain during the week, up to the 15th.

Sonoma County—Rain amounting to 0.43 fell at Peachland Tuesday night, the 13th, and will keep grain alive.

Heavy winds on the 8th and 9th wrecked barns, windmills, etc. A large acreage will be put in, mostly for grain.

Napa County—Cool weather with light rain. Pruning in progress. Some farmers are plowing.

Alameda County—The rain was of great benefit, and farmers are plowing and seeding.

Santa Cruz County—One inch of rain at Santa Cruz has greatly benefited pasturage. Plowing and seeding progressing.

San Benito County—At Hollister the rainfall of the 13th and 14th amounted to 0.79 of an inch. Grass is starting, and seeding is now progressing.

Monterey County—At Gem light hail storms occurred on the 9th and 10th formed during the night. At Salinas 0.70 of an inch of rain fell on the 14th and 15th.

San Luis Obispo County—Rainfall at San Luis Obispo for the week, 0.38, which will do much good, though not enough to start plows. Large acreage of wheat already in. The celery farm in Arroyo Grande Valley is producing a good crop, which is being shipped East.

Santa Barbara County—At Surf the rainfall for the week amounted to 1.56, and will materially benefit grain and pasturage.

SACRAMENTO STORES.

HIGHT OF THE BUSY HOLIDAY SEASON.

Purchase Your Goods at Home—You Cannot do Better Than Right Here.

Among many people of our city the business of the holiday season can be purchased in San Francisco cheaper than in Sacramento. This is an erroneous idea, any one who takes the trouble to investigate will learn. The fact of the matter is that Sacramento can save money every day by doing all their shopping right in their own city.

We have a class of business men in this community who are up-to-date and wide awake, and they enjoy the distinction of being among the sharpest and shrewdest buyers on the Pacific Slope. A tour of the stores at the present time and an examination of the stock displayed is the best proof of this assertion. They have made a special study of the wants of the people, not only of Sacramento, but of the cities and towns of Northern and Central California, of which territory Sacramento is the center. The magnificent stores of the city are in all essential respects equal to those of any on the coast and are filled with selected goods suitable for a prince or a peasant.

The intending purchaser now-a-days is best served where the best value for the money is offered, where they are waited on promptly and politely whether they buy or not. It is these features of a store which attract and which retain custom after the initial visit.

There has never been a time when such a notable display of holiday goods has been placed where they are. It must be gratifying to dealers to know that their efforts to cater to the wants of the public are appreciated. Evidence of this is found in the throng that surges in and out of the stores daily. Not only the city folk are here, but the people of the surrounding towns tributary to Sacramento and the farmers' families, all feeling in jubilant spirits over the recent copious rainfall and the bright prospects for the coming season. They are served as well, the articles to choose from are as varied and handsome, and they get as much value for their money as anywhere on this coast. The stores here are not as large as in the great cities of the East, but it would be a rare occurrence if what is wanted by the average man, woman or child could not be obtained here and at a less price than anywhere in California.

Very many of our merchants own their own stores, rents are much lower than in San Francisco and the railroads bring the goods almost to the doors where they are to be sold. These things and the system in vogue among our merchants in the conduct of their business are a great advantage and draw trade to the city from long distances. This trade, too, from abroad benefits the entire community.

Let Sacramentans, therefore, be loyal to the city where they live, and let them spend their money at home. There is not the slightest reason for going outside. Keep your trade here, and you indirectly benefit yourself. Your money spent elsewhere is lost to the community for good.

ELK GROVE NOTES.

Farmers Out There Are Happy Over the Rain.

(Special Correspondence, Record-Union.) The farmers are all happy and will look careworn no longer. The warm rain is soaking down deep. About 1.25 inches have fallen since Monday morning's downpour commenced.

Our merchants are all out trying to drain the streets so their customers can get to the stores. If the Supervisors do not render us relief we will have to inaugurate a street boat service to keep business moving.

We are going to start out next week with a petition to get up a big "feed" here, invite our prominent county officers—especially the Supervisors—and show them where they left us.

Senator Doty has gone into the chicken business. He secured a couple of the fighting cocks a few days ago, and now spends most of his time keeping them from picking out each other's feathers.

A New Year's ball at the Toronto Hall promises to be the event of the season.

The Healey-Schirmer Company's building at Sheldon is nearing completion.

Deacon Kerr, one of the pioneers here, is reported very ill.

The Healey-Schirmer restaurant has been closed up.

Ducks, geese and mushrooms are scarce.

A DAY IN THE PHILIPPINES.

AN INSPIRING SCENE UNDER MANILA'S WALLS.

Dress Parade of the Third Artillery Described by a Young Sacramentan.

In Camp Quartel de Meisic, Manila, P. I., November 7, 1898.

Eds. "Record-Union": Thinking you would be interested to receive a message from the Philippine Islands, from one born and reared in your city, so will take the liberty to write you. The islands have wonderful resources, but they never have been developed, because of the blighting influence of Spanish rule.

I will try and give you a description of a dress parade of the Third Artillery that occurred to-day. The Third Artillery is well cared for and is situated in the Quartel de Meisic, in the northern part of the new city of Manila, which spans the surrounding town of Luneta, a large grassy spot where military exhibitions are usually given. So we have quite a march to reach there.

At 4:15 p. m. the bugle blew assembly, and four battalions of the heavy artillery were soon on the march. The regulars under a rigid drill twice a day, and consequently are much better disciplined than the volunteers. As we marched through the winding streets of the city, past the Escolta and over the Bridge of Spain, which spans the Pasig River, we presented a fine appearance in our white clothes and helmets. Everyone turned to look, as with Krags shouldered, we marched by with the swinging, regular gait of the trained soldier.

After passing over a wide driveway with many interesting sights, we marched upon the Luneta. More beautiful sights, more interesting proceedings it has not been my lot to see. We faced the gate of Manila Bay, and through it we looked out over the China Sea, the sun glowed golden behind a ragged strip of clouds, and the whole West was gloriously bright as the setting sun slowly sank in the tropical sea. To the rear a beautiful rainbow was outlined against a darkened sky, made so by some wandering skyer.
