

Pacific Coast Mining News.

The following news pertaining to mines and mining will be found of general interest to all who are interested in such matters:

SOUTHERN MINES. San Diego Union: Reports received in this city yesterday from Lower California indicate that there has been a stampede of miners to the recently discovered placer diggings at Santa Clara, fifteen miles from the sea coast and about 350 miles south of this city.

The agents of the Ibarra Company at Escondido recently wired to this city that they had received a telegram from Superintendent H. L. Swayne of the company, at San Quintin, directing them not to ship any freight on the steamer St. Denis for Santo Domingo, the landing for the Calmali mines, as the miners had left camp for the new placer diggings at Santa Clara. The dispatch was taken to San Quintin from Calmali by a runner, a distance of 200 miles.

A large quantity of freight destined for Calmali went down to Escondido on the last trip of the St. Denis for some time, through the custom house, and was to have been taken to Santo Domingo on trip of the steamer. None of the freight will go down now, as it would be impossible to get men enough to haul it overland to Calmali, a distance of sixty miles. The St. Denis therefore will go further south than San Quintin.

It is believed that discoveries of astonishing richness have lately been made at Santa Clara. The miners at Calmali knew of the placers a month ago, and a few of them made the trip of eighty miles to the local press, situated in a southwesterly direction from Calmali. The news now received that Calmali has moved bodily to Santa Clara is taken as the best kind of evidence that the placers are extremely rich. The first reports stated that the extent of the diggings was phenomenal.

The only practical way of reaching the new camp is by vessel to San Roque Bay, eighty miles south of Cedros Island, and by trail fifteen miles inland. Further particulars, beyond the fact that miners from the gun coast are flocking to the diggings, are not obtainable. Santa Clara, while near the coast, is in a sparsely settled part of the peninsula. The nearest settlement having communication with the outside world is Calmali, eighty miles over a rough trail in a northerly direction from Santa Clara. Calmali does not enjoy the best means of communication, for it is sixty miles from Santa Domingo landing, at which point the steamer St. Denis touches once a month.

Santa Clara is only fifteen miles from San Roque Bay, which is about eighty miles south of Cedros Island. Small vessels can anchor in comparative safety at San Roque, but there is no settlement there, and the only means of reaching the placers from there is by a trail.

Four men of Santa Ana and Los Angeles have formed a party with the intention of going to San Roque Bay by schooner, and other adventurous spirits will probably now strike out for the promising camp.

THE LEAD PRODUCTION. The Government has issued its preliminary statement regarding the production of lead for 1898 as follows: Returns from the producers of pig iron in the United States show that the total production of lead from all sources during the year 1898, was 310,636 net tons, as compared with 280,500 tons during the year 1897, and 291,464 tons in 1896. This includes soft lead, hard lead and the metal obtained by smelting foreign base bullion and ores in bond.

This total of 310,636 net tons is made up of 267,827 tons of desilverized lead and 42,779 tons of soft lead, the latter being the metric ton, and not an ounce. The production of soft lead in the United States during the year 1898, was 187,698 tons, as compared with 176,998 tons on January 1, 1898, to 14,683 tons on January 1, 1899.

REDLANDS CITIZENSHIP. A recent attempt of a delegation from the California State Miners' Association, to San Francisco, to organize a tributary branch at Los Angeles, "Mining Review" of the latter city says: "A movement is already on foot for the establishment of a miners' association for the Redlands district. The organization, all right. Our mining interests are extensive and valuable enough to require such an organization, and, if well officered and liberally supported, it can accomplish much of real benefit. But we do not believe in reaching out into Nevada, or Arizona, or elsewhere,

The palate is almost tickled with Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver oil. The stomach knows nothing about it, it does not trouble you there. You feel it first in the strength it brings; it shows in the color of cheek and smoothing out of wrinkles.

It was a beautiful thing to do, to cover the odious taste of Cod-liver oil, evade the tax on the stomach, and take health by surprise. It warms, soothes, strengthens and invigorates.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, New York.

for financial support, any more than in appending ourselves as a tail to the North California Miners' Association's kite.

While we should act in harmony with other kindred organizations in securing mining legislation and the regulations of a general nature in State and nation, there is very much in local mining affairs which should be controlled by independent local action.

ONLY A GLITTER. Los Angeles Times: Venturesome prospectors and others in this section have been thinking of going off to the asserted golden El Dorado out on the Mojave Desert should be, and doubtless are, grateful to "The Times" for the early and complete expose of this latest mining fad.

The news sent out from Kramer to some of the local papers, which news has been published with many embellishments in San Francisco journals, painted the strike on the desert as the biggest mineral discovery that has been made since the Handsburg mines were located four years ago last month. "No such thing has ever been found in America before." So said the imaginative author of these dispatches. The ore was said to assay all the way from $15 to $800 a ton, the vein being from twenty to thirty feet wide and traceable for four or five miles.

Such exaggerated stories as this carry their own refutation in the mind of any one who has had but a slight experience in a mining country. A ledge of gold ore two feet wide that will average in value the lowest figure above quoted is a good enough thing for the mining man who knows his business. "No such thing has ever been found in America before." So said the imaginative author of these dispatches. The ore was said to assay all the way from $15 to $800 a ton, the vein being from twenty to thirty feet wide and traceable for four or five miles.

Any one who has resided for some time in the Western mining region has had occasion to note the hardships that are worked by these false reports of great mineral discoveries, which have led to the loss of many lives and the ruin of many fortunes. The news now received that Calmali has moved bodily to Santa Clara is taken as the best kind of evidence that the placers are extremely rich. The first reports stated that the extent of the diggings was phenomenal.

"3-DAY" MALARIA CURE. MALARIA CURE. MALARIA CURE. MALARIA CURE.

Its Symptoms, Cause and Cure.

SYMPTOMS. First, one has a tired, lazy feeling, with an apparent loss of all ambition; no desire to work or move about; restlessness in sleep and worn out on awakening in the morning; pains in the knees and elbows; in fact, every joint in the body seems to ache; usually no appetite; hot and then chilly sensations; yawning; sometimes nausea and vomiting precede the chill, followed by fever and prostration; the paroxysms or chill may occur regularly or at intervals. Biliousness and constipation are usually present from the first symptoms.

CAUSES. Malaria and its attendant forms—Chills and Fever—are caused by a parasite called Plasmodium Malariae. These parasites enter the blood in low regions where there is an abundant vegetable growth. Moisture and warmth are the necessary conditions. These parasites enter the red blood corpuscles and quickly destroy them, thus producing Anaemia, or Paleness. They increase rapidly in the blood, dividing themselves infinitely. During this process the Chills and Fever occur, which are the result of these toxins on the nervous system. The perspiration following the fever is Nature's effort to eliminate these toxins or poisons from the system. If you destroy these parasites you break up the kind of Malaria, no matter of what variety.

CURE. "3-DAY" MALARIA CURE is a perfect solution. It is instantly absorbed by the stomach and assimilated with the blood, entering the circulation and instantly destroying the parasites which have infected the red blood corpuscles. This accounts for the patient feeling much improved after the first dose—removal of the cause thus producing the cure.

In connection with the "3-DAY MALARIA CURE," when constipation and biliousness are present, we recommend the use of "OTT'S LIVER PILLS." This is essential in order to assist the bile flow from the liver, and to assist the cholagogue properties of the "3-DAY MALARIA CURE" to its natural channel instead of into the stomach. Often, malaria often leaves an enlarged liver, which sometimes takes months to cure or causes an enlarged liver, which often never gets entirely well. Thus it is of vital importance, when you have malaria, to cure it quickly. Do not delay under any circumstances, but take "3-DAY MALARIA CURE," which has proven its worth to thousands in California. Ask your friends and neighbors, as nearly every one has heard of the wonderful cure it has given. It is the only advantage over all other medicines, but our limited space prevents our giving a full description of its advantages. It is a perfect solution. It is instantly absorbed by the stomach and assimilated with the blood, entering the circulation and instantly destroying the parasites which have infected the red blood corpuscles.
