

SACRAMENTOS ARE MOVING UP.

Have Taken Another Round in the Pennant Ladder.

Defeated the Ball Tossers of San Jose by a Score of Four to Two.

Harvey Was One of the Chief Factors, Being Credited With Twelve Strike Outs—The Oakland Defeat the Watsonvilles and the Santa Cruz Team Go Down Before the San Franciscos.

SAN JOSE, Aug. 5.—Sacramento won an easy game to-day. The score, 4 to 2, hardly tells the story of the game, for the locals were never in it after the first inning. The loss of Dalrymple and the reorganization of the team seemed to cast a damper over the gamblers, for they played without ginger. Harvey struck out twelve men and only seven hits were scored on his delivery. Score: Sacramento, ab. r. bh. sb. po. a. e. EX-CONGRESSMAN PIPER.

Passed Away Yesterday at San Francisco. SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 5.—Ex-Congressman W. A. Piper is dead. He passed peacefully away in his apartments at the Palace to-day, after a lingering illness. The fact that the aged ex-Congressman was slowly dying was announced last week. Last night he had a bad attack of heart failure, but he improved sufficiently this morning to call for a newspaper. His nurse brought it to him, and then retired to an adjoining room. Returning a few moments later, he found Mr. Piper dead, but still holding the paper before him. Congressman Piper was 75 years old, and leaves an estate valued at between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000. It is believed that his will bequeathed it to his nephews and nieces, of which he has several. Among them is Mrs. Dr. Sheets of San Jose and Lawrence Piper, who is a San Joaquin farmer.

LATE COLONEL HAWKINS.

Impressive Funeral Services Over His Remains at San Francisco. SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 5.—Impressive and significant was the funeral of Colonel Hawkins, late commander of the Tenth Pennsylvania Volunteers, this afternoon. The services were held at Masonic Temple, under the auspices of Occidental Lodge, No. 22, F. and A. M., and in attendance were the Tenth Pennsylvania Regiment, each soldier wearing a bit of crepe on his breast and each officer with crepe on his sword hilt;

Golden Gate and California Commanderies, Knights Templar; Occidental Lodge, No. 22, F. and A. M., members of Governor Gage's staff, officers from the various and regular and volunteer regiments stationed here, and many Masons and other citizens who desired to pay respect to the memory of the gallant dead. At the conclusion of the services, the casket was removed from the temple to a gun caisson drawn by four sable steeds. Privates of the Tenth were the coffin bearers, and the honorary pallbearers were selected from the officers of the regular and volunteer regiments and the National Guard of California. Covering the casket was a large American flag and the tattered regimental colors of the Tenth. The regular branch of the army was represented by an escort, consisting of four batteries of light artillery, and the officers of the Second Oregon Regiment and the Utah Light Artillery Band represented the volunteers, while several officers of the National Guard were there on behalf of the State troops. On each side of the soldiers and bringing up the rear marched the Knight Templars and Free and Accepted Masons. The remains of Colonel Hawkins were shipped East this evening in charge of Regimental Chaplain H. Hunter of the Tenth.

FILIPINOS.

Sixty-Eight Arrived on the Transport Leelanaw. SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 5.—The United States transport Leelanaw, which arrived from Manila last night, had as passengers sixty-eight Filipinos, who come here to be residents of a Filipino village, which is to be a feature of the Mechanics' Fair, which opens in this city this month. They brought with them several water buffalo and ponies, trained for exhibition purposes. The Filipino band is a regularly organized one, and their repertoire is mostly from ear. Their repertoire consists of "A Hot Time," "America," "Dixie," and one or two other pieces familiar to the American ear, besides a full selection of native airs. The health of the natives was generally good, but they will not be allowed to land here until early next week.

Army Transports.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 5.—There are no less than eight transports of the harbor and the army transport officials are working harder than ever in the endeavor to get them all off as soon as possible. The Hancock, St. Paul, Siam, Morgan City, Senator, Relief and Leelanaw are all being prepared for sea again, and the City of Sydney will probably be chartered. The Morgan City is expected to go Monday with 675 recruits. The Senator, which will take 400 marines and 200 recruits, is scheduled to go on the 12th. The Siam and Leelanaw will sail with horses and mules on the same date. The St. Paul will be ready in a week to go to Seattle, from which point she will take the Third Cavalry. The Hancock will be ready on the 19th, and the Relief in about three weeks.

Secretary of Agriculture Wilson.

RENO (Nev.), Aug. 5.—Secretary of Agriculture Wilson spent the night in Reno. He talked to the citizens in Investment Hall last evening, and took a drive about the valley this morning. He expressed himself as highly pleased with what he saw, and said if the people of Nevada wanted to make him their Washington chore boy, he would do what was possible for them, and they would find him better than a green hand. He left this morning in company with R. L. Fulton and Senator George Earnst for a trip across the State. He will spend the night at Carlin or Elko.

Stockton's Postoffice Site.

STOCKTON, Aug. 5.—Special Agent Roberts of the Treasury Department at Washington, who came here a few days ago to get prices on two strips of land required for an addition to the Postoffice site, settled on the figures for the property to-day and returned to San Francisco. The price for the desired strip is about $9,000. Mr. Roberts will recommend closing the deal, and it is believed the erection of the Postoffice will be commenced early next year. The appropriation for the building is $150,000, and is available now.

SEVERELY WOUNDED.

A Stocktonian Assaults a Police Officer and Meets With Grief.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 5.—George Cornwall, recently from Stockton, was shot and severely wounded to-night in the California-street Police Station by Prisonkeeper Horace G. White, after he had made a murderous attack on the officer, slightly wounding him. Cornwall was arrested at 2:40 a. m. on a charge of drunkenness. He was very unruly, and was brought to the police station in handcuffs. He claimed to have just won $2,000 in a Chinese lottery, but only $5 was found on his person. After spending several hours in a cell he was released, as is the custom in such cases. To-night he came back to the station for his property, which had been taken from him, and while Prisonkeeper White was preparing to deliver it to him he suddenly drew a revolver and shot at White. The bullet struck the officer in the side, but was a glancing shot, and did no serious injury. Then Cornwall ran upstairs, where he met Officer McGovern. He made several attempts to shoot the officer, but his pistol failed to explode. McGovern shot at him twice, but did not appear to stay his progress. He rushed to a closet and shouted out defiance to the police. As he came out of the closet he was shot through the stomach by Officer White, who had followed him upstairs. The bullet passed through his body, wounding one of the kidneys. He was taken to the City and County Hospital, where he lies in a precarious condition. When searched a considerable quantity of opium was found in his possession.

SHIPPING CATTLE TO CUBA.

An Order Prescribing Regulations for Their Free Entry.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—Acting Secretary of War Meiklejohn issued an order to-day prescribing regulations for the entrance into Cuba free of duty of graded cattle for breeding purposes, and in compliance with the department's recent circular. The order restricts the period of admission until July 1st next. Cattle shall be entered only at Havana, Cienfuegos, Neuvitas and Manzanillo, where proper inspection will be established; that none but pure bred or graded cattle immune from the effects of the fever or not less than one-half blood of a recognized breed, shall be admitted. This latter provision is qualified so that cattle of a recognized breed, if less than one-half blood, or graded cattle, whether of a recognized breed or not, may be admitted duty free, if proof is presented that they are suitable for breeding purposes.

Wellenbuss Found Guilty.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 5.—The Supreme Tribunal Knights of Pythias, which has been in session in this city several days, to-day concluded the trial of the memorable case of Thomas C. Samp, Supreme Chancellor, against Henry Wellenbuss a prosecution which has been under way for a long time—and made a decision of guilty of all the charges of violation of obligations and breaking of Pythian law, and sentenced the defendant to suspension from all rights and privileges of the order for a period of two years.

The Moors of Arabia and Spain were the first to display colored globes in chemists' windows.

another, and to catch a subdued conversational utterance one would need a different setting from that required for a brass band. The user, then, varies the sensitiveness of his receiver very much as one would focus his opera glass at a theater. Upon the correct adaptation of the instrument to the condition of the particular person who uses it—an easy matter, however—the success of the experiment depends largely. Careful tests by oculists have shown that in most people the focal length of the natural lenses of the right eye is a trifle longer, greater or less than that of the left. And certain kinds of opera glasses permit the user to adjust each eyepiece separately. In like manner Mr. Hutchison provides for regulating the two ears of his apparatus independently, in order to secure the best possible results. The adjustability of the apparatus to the requirements of different persons explains in a measure, perhaps, the success that has attended the use of it in many instances. It has been extensively tested here and there, and in the Alabama Institute for the Deaf and similar places. Private individuals, some of them prominent in the business world, and more than one of them living in New York City, declare that the akouallion has helped them greatly. There really seems to be something to the claim that deafness is a matter of degree, and is seldom so utterly beyond relief as has been supposed. Dr. J. H. Johnson, Principal of the Alabama Institute for the Deaf, in reply to inquiries addressed to him by the "Tribune," says that he has not been able to make all of his pupils hear with the aid of the Hutchison apparatus, but he hopes to utilize it in time to come about 50 per cent of them. It would not be his sole reliance. As in the past, it would be his policy to employ as largely as possible the practice of lip-reading also. But a direct appeal to the sense of hearing, as well as to that of sight, would undoubtedly be feasible in a large proportion of cases. Dr. Johnson expresses himself guardedly on some points, and his caution and sense of responsibility for his utterances add value to his opinion that the akouallion is "a distinct advance upon all other aids to imperfect hearing." To the "Tribune" Mr. Hutchison said a few days ago: "When children are born deaf in a great many cases the ear is normal, except that ordinary sound waves do not affect the auditory apparatus. They are not loud enough, and hence, by their inactivity, the organ becomes permanently inactive. Here is a portable transmitter, the arm to be lashed securely to the side for six or eight years; at the end of that time it is useless and unable to respond to the will. The muscles are limp and shapeless and in an undeveloped state. But suppose that arm is forcibly exercised by the good arm a little every day. It finally becomes almost as strong as the other. So it is with the deaf mute. "This instrument compels the auditory apparatus to operate, at first only a little, but eventually improving it a great deal. However, from the first trial the person hears as well as he ever can, but the sounds may convey no meaning to him. No more can he understand or differentiate sounds than can an American citizen understand German. You hear the sound of the German talking, but it all sounds alike. But suppose a German teaches you what these different sounds mean; then

ANOTHER WONDER.

DEVICE TO HELP THE DEAF TO HEAR.

Miller Reese Hutchison Regulates the Sensitiveness of His Apparatus.

The attention of those who are in charge of institutions for the deaf in this country has recently been directed to an instrument invented by Miller Reese Hutchison, formerly of Mobile, Ala., but at present staying in this city. The object of his apparatus is to aid the deaf to hear, and thus to promote speech and education. It was long ago demonstrated that most of those who are called dumb are speechless not because of any defect in their vocal organs, but because they do not know what sound is. Of late years it has been common to train people who are absolutely deaf to speak, although their inability to hear their own utterances makes it difficult to teach them how to acquire a pleasant tone of voice. There is a growing belief among experts that deafness is largely a matter of degree, and is rarely complete. Mr. Hutchison is probably too hopeful when he says that he expects to be able to help every one who has trouble in hearing, but experiments made with his "akouallion" indicate that he has found a way to assist a number of persons who have been regarded as utterly incapable of the sensation of sound. It is a little too soon to indulge in statistics as yet, but already his invention has done enough to entitle it to careful consideration. In its simplest form Mr. Hutchison's device is a cup-shaped receiver which is held at one ear by the listener. He does not care to explain the inner mechanism nor the underlying principle of it. But a small electric battery, which can easily be carried in the pocket out of sight, is connected with it, and suggests that in some respects the construction and operation resemble those of a telephone. The cup at the ear is virtually a transmitter and receiver in one. Ordinarily a person who is using the akouallion sits at a distance of ten, fifteen or twenty feet away from the speaker, singer or performer to whom he is listening, and gets along without connecting wires. There are circumstances, however, under which it becomes desirable to introduce such wires between speaker and listener. In certain kinds of institutions where a number of deaf persons are being taught simultaneously in elementary utterance it is important that the pupil hear only his teacher and be prevented from hearing the imperfect and misleading speech of his fellows. In work of this sort Mr. Hutchison provides a portable transmitter, like a desk telephone, for the instructor, and runs a set of wires from it to the headpieces of the auditors. A headpiece is merely a light aluminum support for two receivers, one at each ear, like that worn by the telephone girls in a central office. One of the most novel features of Mr. Hutchison's apparatus is that it can be regulated to suit the sensitiveness of the listener's ear and the intensity of the sound that is to be conveyed. What would be the right adjustment for one person would not suit
