

THIS WILL BE GOVERNOR'S DAY.

On the three nights of the fair that remain there will be some additional amusement features that will cost the Citizens' State Fair Club nothing...

They are costumed in very costly suits, and there are two ladies and two gentlemen in the troupe. They perform brilliant "head stands," balancing feats, leaping and throwing somersaults from shoulder to shoulder...

FORESTERS' EVENTS. The Foresters have not yet arranged every detail of their show, but they will have a large turnout and a fine musical and general program...

Among the pleasant social features of the fair is a dinner to be given by President A. B. Spreckels to the members of the Citizens' State Fair Club at the Sutter Club at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow...

Sacramento Roadsters to Show What They Can Do Today—Stock Parade.

Yesterday was another good day at the races, the attendance being above the average. The weather was agreeable than for several days past, cool, fresh breeze coming up from the south early in the afternoon...

The double-team race was a pleasing innovation and one that was greatly enjoyed. Altogether there were six events on the program, and the time was constantly occupied up to nearly 6 o'clock. Forty-six horses and part of the six races and the betting was quite brisk. As a rule the books have offered fair odds.

The starters in the double-team race were Marguerite and Fanny Putnam, driven by C. D. Jeffries; Primrose and Regina F., driven by S. C. Tryon; Dr. Frasse and Mamie Riley, driven by G. W. Berry; Our Boy and Sophie R., driven by W. S. Mabon.

The pools on the first heat opened at 1 to 2 on Marguerite and Putnam, and 2 to 1 on each of the other teams. A good start was made when the teams got straightened out at the quarter. Dr. Frasse and Mamie Riley had a length the advantage of Primrose and Regina F., the other teams several lengths back. At the half the Frasse and Primrose teams were even up, with the Marguerite team three lengths back. Our Boy and mate last. Rounding the turn Tryon went out two lengths in front and held his advantage to the outcome. Primrose and mate winning by two lengths from Dr. Frasse and Mamie Riley, Marguerite and mate third, and Our Boy and mate last. Time—1:16.4.

For the second heat Marguerite and mate brought 2 to 1, Primrose and mate 1 to 2, Dr. Frasse and mate 2 to 1, and Our Boy and mate 4 to 1.

Tryon's pair, Primrose and Regina, won the second heat and race in fine style. They left the quarter with four lengths the better of Our Boy and mate, Dr. Frasse and mate one length back. These positions were maintained up the stretch and around the turn, but in the home stretch Our Boy and mate ran a good part of the way home and second place was given to Dr. Frasse and mate. The heat was trotted in 2:24.5.

The 2.18 trotting race, two in three, brought out Maud Newman, 2 to 1 for the heat, McNally 2 1/2, Azalea 4, Tip Timores 8, and Lynnall 2 to 3. Lynnall had the heat from start to finish. Azalea held second place throughout and finished two lengths behind Lynnall in 2:23 1/2. Maud Newman a poor third, McNally distanced. Only 1 to 4 was now offered on Lynnall, 8 to 5 on Azalea, 6 to 1 Tip Timores and 5 to 1 Maud Newman third by a length. Tip Timores close up. Then Lynnall left his feet and Azalea evened up with him, when she too went into the air and was passed by Maud. Lynnall soon got down to business, however, and led Maud a length at the half. Going around the turn Azalea moved up to Maud's wheel and thus they entered the last stretch. Nearing the score Lynnall and Azalea both went into the air and galloped under the wire almost neck and neck. First was given to Azalea, second to Lynnall and Maud got third. Time, 2:22 1/2.

Now it was 3 to 5 Lynnall, 4 to 5 Azalea, 3 to 1 Maud and 10 to 1 Tip Timores.

Azalea was unsteady when the word was given, and was far in the rear until the last stretch. Lynnall led two lengths at the quarter, where Maud and Tip were even. Soon he broke and Maud went to the front and led by two lengths at the half. Lynnall outfooted them all home, however, and won in 2:23 1/2, two lengths ahead of Azalea, the latter four lengths from Tip Timores.

The first running race was for 3-year-olds and upward, six and one-half furlongs. The starters were Bertha M 15 to 1, Major Cook 6, Pongo 8, Jack McCabe 12, Alaria 2, Nonchalance 5, Shellac 6, and Semper Leon even money.

Major Cook was first to show in front, with Alaria second. At the half they were all in a bunch. Shellac in the front and Nonchalance second. Shellac led around the turn and into the stretch, Alaria second by a length. Nonchalance third. In the last stretch Alaria shot to the fore and won by two lengths, Jack McCabe beating Nonchalance a neck for second, the latter the same distance ahead of Major Cook. Time, 1:22 1/2.

Enjoyment even money, Purmayah 6 to 1, Azalea 8, Mandamus 5, Britt 8, Gross 6, Tres Jolie 3, Elbert 15, and Ella De Poy 10 to 1 went to the post in the five furlongs race for maiden 2-year-olds.

Purmayah, 6 to 1, did the trick neatly, leading Mandamus a length at the outcome in 1:04. Tres Jolie third by three lengths.

The fifth race was also for maiden 2-year-olds, five furlongs, and the starters were My Secret 15 to 1, Flamote 4 to 5, Rose of Hilo 4 to 1, Tagalog 5, Fairfax 4, and El Arte 3 to 2. Fairfax quickly shot out in front and opened a length of daylight. Tagalog second and Flamote third. This was the order around the turn. Coming into the stretch it looked as if Tagalog had the best of it, but Flamote came on like a flash and won by two lengths in 1:03. Tagalog second and Fairfax third.

For the closing event, a six furlong race for 3-year-olds and upward, these horses faced the flag: Rapido 6 to 1, Yaruba 10, Correct 5, Watossa 6, Smyle 20, Padre Jose S, Switzer 20, Magnus 4, Donor 6 to 5, and Chihuahua even money.

Magnus set off in front and led the field around the turn, but Chihuahua and Correct came on and it was a hot race between them to the finish—a nose-and-nose affair—but Chihuahua got it. Rapido was third by a length.

Agricultural Park Course, Sacramento, September 13, 1899.—State Fair meeting. Trotting and pacing, double teams. Primrose and Regina F. (Tryon) 1 1/2. Dr. Frasse and Mamie Riley (Berry) 2 1/2. Marguerite and Fanny Putnam (Jeff.) 3 1/2. Our Boy and Sophie R. (Mabon) 4 1/2. Time—2:24, 2:24 1/2.

Same day—Trotting, 2:18 class, two in three. Lynnall, by Lynmont-Balance All (W. Hogaboom) 2 1/2. Azalea (Mabon) 2 1/2. Maud Newman (Cuirello) 3 1/2. J. J. Monroes (Harris) 4 1/2. McNally (Mabon) 4 1/2. Time—2:21 1/2, 2:22 1/2.

Stock Parade To-Day. At 10 o'clock this forenoon the third of the grand stock parades will take place, and the winners in the several classes will wear their ribbons. There will be but one more parade—on Saturday—and those who have not yet seen the livestock on their dress parade should not fail to be present to-day.

NO JOKING MATTER. Bell and the Mare Pansy Ruled Off for Life. The State Fair Directors last night took decisive action in the matter of the protested special race by Commercial Travelers' horses, which took place a few days ago, which was won by H. A. Bell's alleged Farmer's Girl.

It was known at the track on the day of the race that Farmer's Girl was a "ringer"—that the black animal was formerly known in trotting circles as Pansy, and that her natural color was bay, or chestnut, but the general supposition was that she was rung in as a joke.

But it was no joking matter. The society last night declared Bell ruled off its track for life, took the race from Farmer's Girl (Pansy) and gave first money to Upson's horse Kinney.

AMUSEMENTS. Theatrical surprises are infrequent. Sacramento had one last night at the Clunie Opera House. The theater was filled by an audience to see Dalley's road stock company, purporting to be the greatest work "Hamlet," by Darrell Vinton as the melancholy Dane. Unhappily for players and most of the auditors—and the fact is a significant one—a considerable number present had never witnessed a play of the immortal bard evidently of their tastes, but the general supposition was that she was rung in as a joke.

lovers of the unhappy maid of Shakespeare's creation. But this is not to say that her work was disappointing. She was a far better Ophelia than many we have seen supporting in troupes of exceeding pretension. Her reading was correct, her action true, her interpretation just. She is too faithful in her profession to badly do or slight anything she undertakes. Simply, however, she is too robust, healthy and practical an Ophelia. But if she trained and studied for such work we have faith that she would read and fill such a role with high credit. Mr. Nannary, whom we have had occasion to rebuke for slovenly work and lack of repose and ease, cancelled the debt as Horatio, making the character very nearly what it should be. For once he lived the part, and of all the support was most identified with the character assumed, unless we except Mr. Belmont's First Grave Digger, which was quite near ideal, as close an approach to the best Grave Digger the stage has ever seen, the lamented William Barry. Scarce less worthy was his Polonius, for the exigencies of the company and the play required considerable doubling of his part. Mr. Belmont, who has offered more than that of Mr. McGinn, who was the Ghost and Claudius; in the first superior to many, in the latter, natural and satisfying. Miss Villiers assumed the Queen's part well. It is the best work she has done here. It was quite without fault, very nearly ideal. Probably none better know than Mr. Willard that he was out of place as Laertes. His conception of the role substituted violent declamation for manifestation of grief, ebullitions of anger, righteous and profound resolution to avenge, and capable and accomplished in her scenery's play and melodrama, as Laertes was a distinct failure. Mr. Eldridge's Marcellus was a quite creditable assumption, evidencing ability to take the role at the full after a time. For it must be understood that with the exception of Mr. Vinton and Miss Villiers (and, in Belmont, who has appeared in the early days of California as second to Barry), none of the people have been trained in such work as they undertook last night; indeed, it was, we believe, but the third time they have attempted "Hamlet." But aside from the general supposition that was given with such sincerity, care and general satisfaction, that the company is to be congratulated upon its achievement, one full of meaning and promising great good for the stage. It is, therefore, a pleasure to commend such an effort and approve such a company of faithful, intelligent and courageous players. To-night "The New Magdalen."

The Williams big vaudeville show on Seventh street, near K, under canvas well lighted and comfortably arranged for the audience. The seats give an equally good view to all. The performance is varied, clean, free from any objectionable features and is very entertaining. Leading features are the Hartwell Sisters in a new act; the four Silvinis, who are exceedingly skilled acrobats; Robart, the waltz-toned singer, in new songs; a marvelous vocal curiosity; the two Barretts with forty trained cackoats, a performance which is quite a show by itself, and other features. There is an amusing afterpiece by the entire company. Only a nominal sum is admitted, and the show is a show worth a good sized price of admission. There is an afternoon performance daily, with a full program and the bill is repeated at night.

Maginnis Tells His Story. P. Maginnis, whom Officer Max P. Fisher claims to have prevented from registering the other day, states that he did not try to register, but only went to the Clerk's office to find out whether or not he could do so, and that before he had declared his intention of registering he stepped up and told him he could not do so.

Deputy County Clerk Pfund said yesterday that he did not know whether Maginnis tried to register or not, as there were a number of men there waiting to register. He heard Fisher tell Maginnis, however, that his records showed he had not been restored to citizenship, and that he did not want to see him (Maginnis) do anything that would get him into trouble, and had therefore warned him.

His Appetite Too Large. A man named Samuel Deuprey was yesterday arrested and charged with disturbing the peace. It is said that Deuprey entered a saloon near the southeast corner of Third and J streets and asked if he could eat 5 cents' worth of lunch. He was told to pitch in, and did so. But his appetite was bigger than his 5 cents, and because of that fact he was finally ejected.

Outside it is said he raised a rumpus, and was gathered in by the police patrol, though when the wagon arrived everything was quiet.

Suit for Insurance. Roxanna Butler has commenced suit in the Superior Court against the Grand Lodge of the Ancient Order of United Workmen to collect a benefit certificate of $2,000 on the life of Stephen W. Butler, deceased, issued in her name, with interest at 7 per cent. from December 15, 1898.

Alleges He Is Competent. Gustav Wahl, who was in March, 1896, adjudged to be incompetent, has petitioned the Superior Court to be adjudged competent and able to manage his property. Judge Johnson has made an order setting the petition for hearing on September 15th.

Adjourned Sine Die. The Railway Employees' Association held a meeting last evening at Pythian Castle. The committee appointed to revise the club's by-laws made its final report, and after much discussion it was decided to read the amendments in sections, but no final action was taken. The adjournment of the club sine die was carried by a large vote.
