The Democratic city convention was held at Turner Hall last night, only about half of the delegates elected at the recent primaries being in attendance.

Good order was maintained throughout. There were no contests for any of the nominations.

It was 8 o'clock when Judge R. O. Cravens, Chairman of the City Central Committee, called the convention to order. He spoke of the care taken to secure a delegation of representative Democrats, and he felt certain that the convention would in its deliberations, present the names of representative men only to the people for candidates for the offices to be filled.

Nominations for Chairman being in order, C. M. Harrison named D. W. Carmichael, who was unanimously elected.

Mr. Carmichael returned thanks for the honor conferred, and said he would endeavor, to the best of his ability, to be just in his rulings. Sacramento, he said, is near the peak of a lofty mountain, under which it had been for nearly forty years, but is now nearing the dawn of better days. He urged that men be placed at the helm of the city government, who would guide the city to brighter days.

H. H. Hawley was the unanimously elected Secretary, he being nominated by Judge Cravens.

Chairman Carmichael appointed as Assistant Secretaries, M. J. Sullivan and Charles Harrison.

COMMITTEES. The following committees were appointed by the Chairman:

Credentials—R. C. Irvine, William Murphy, Frank Hubstaller, Jr., George L. Suydam and H. P. Brown.

Permanent Organization and Order of Business—S. P. Maslin, E. W. Hale, A. D. Christianson, Grant Black and W. J. Hassett.

Platform and Resolutions—R. O. Cravens, Dr. H. W. Strader, A. E. Guthrie, W. H. Devlin, Walter Wright, Peter Flaherty, T. L. Acock, F. H. Veach, Daniel Meeker, M. R. Beard, Dr. H. L. Nichols, Frank Lyman, W. O. Bowers, John V. Powers and James G. Davis.

The Committee on Credentials recommended that the names of the delegates on the roll call be given seats in the convention.

The Committee on Permanent Organization reported recommending that the temporary officers be declared the permanent officers of the convention.

The report recommended that the City Central Committee consist of fifteen members, one to be chosen by the delegates of each of the nine wards, and six at large, to be appointed by the Chairman.

A. M. Seymour objected and moved that the report be amended so as to read, "Nine members one to be selected by the delegates of each of the several wards."

Freddie Maslin contended that the six members to be appointed by the Chairman would in reality act as an Advisory Committee to the Central Committee.

Judge Cravens said he had found that jobbery could creep into a small committee easier than large ones, and he therefore favored the larger number.

Mr. Seymour said that to allow the Chairman of the committee to name more than one-third of the members of the committee was bad practice, wrong in principle and undemocratic.

The amendment was adopted without opposition and as amended the report was adopted.

Chairman Carmichael appointed as Sergeant-at-Arms Thomas Cunningham.

At this point the roll was called and each member present walked to the Secretary's desk and deposited 50 cents to defray the expenses of the convention.

The Committee on Platform and Resolutions reported the following platform, which was applauded and on motion of W. H. Devlin, was adopted by a unanimous vote:

THE PLATFORM. "We, the representatives of the Democratic party of Sacramento in municipal convention assembled, believing the administration of municipal offices to be in urgent need of reform, do hereby enjoin upon the nominees of this convention a zealous effort and cooperation to that end. And we appeal to our fellow citizens of all political creeds to unite with us in this first and most pressing patriotic duty. "It is the duty of every branch of the municipal government to enforce and practice the most vigilant economy in conducting our public affairs. No more revenue ought to be raised than is required to defray the expenses of the city government economically administered. And for this purpose we declare an annual tax levy, not to exceed $1 on the $100 of assessed property is amply sufficient, and we hereby pledge our nominees for Mayor and Trustees to a strict observance of this limit.

"The intelligence of the people being the only sure foundation upon which a republican government can rest with safety, the maintenance of the public schools in the most efficient form is an imperative duty. To this end buildings for our public schools, with ample room for the accommodation of the pupils, equipped with the most approved systems of ventilation and sanitation for the protection of the health and comfort of the pupils and teachers, ought to be provided; and we are in favor of the immediate erection of a new building for the use of a High School. We hereby pledge our nominees for Mayor, Trustees and School Directors to an earnest effort to this end.

"We are in favor of such improvement of the sewer system, and sewage disposal as will best conserve the sanitary condition of the city and the health of its inhabitants.

"We favor the improvement of the streets and their maintenance in good condition.

"We also favor the most careful supervision of the levees, and demand that they be kept in the best condition for the protection of the city and the property of its citizens.

"While we favor such extension and improvement of the city's water system as will furnish an abundance of pure, clear water to the people at reasonable rates, we are unalterably opposed to any scheme which will in any way jeopardize the city's absolute ownership and control of its water supply.

"We hereby pledge the nominees of this convention to an earnest and faithful effort to carry out the declarations and pledges herein contained."

With respect to the plank declaring that $1 on the $100 would be sufficient to conduct the city government, the committee presented to the press an itemized statement, showing that the city tax roll, $15,610,000, would at a $1 rate, produce $159,610; receipts from other sources $160,000, or a total of $319,610; that the total necessary expenditures for the past year amounted to $314,540, leaving a surplus of $5,070.

WARD NOMINATIONS. Nominations of candidates for Trustees and School Directors for the several wards being in order, a recess was declared to allow the delegates to caucus and agree upon their respective candidates. Upon the conclusion of the recess the following nominees were reported and confirmed by the convention:

First Ward—School Director (no nomination), City Central Committeeman, Isador Townsend.

Second Ward—Trustee, R. E. Kent; City Central Committeeman, William Murphy.

Third Ward—School Director, J. S. Quire; City Central Committeeman, Grant Black.

Fourth Ward—Trustee, A. D. Christianson; City Central Committeeman, F. W. Day.

Fifth Ward—School Director, Robert H. Hawley; City Central Committeeman, L. H. Gray.

Sixth Ward—Trustee, James H. Devine; City Central Committeeman, John T. Lines.

Seventh Ward—School Director, Fred C. Cox (incumbent); City Central Committeeman, L. A. Vogel.

Eighth Ward—Trustee, M. R. Beard; City Central Committeeman, Robert Martyn.

Ninth Ward—School Director, E. J. Carragher; City Central Committeeman, D. W. Carmichael.

Each of the candidates was required to come before the convention and, with the exception of those for School Directors, was taxed the usual $5.

Trustee Devine was given an ovation upon ascending the platform, and said that he would, had he been called on to assist in framing the platform, have put in a plank respecting city lighting, as he had a plan whereby he could lay down 10,000,000 gallons of water daily and supply electricity for every street light in the city for a nominal sum of money. Mr. Devine spoke a long time and was patiently heard to the end.

The other candidates also endorsed the platform, made short speeches and paid their coin. M. R. Beard confined his talk to the financial conditions and contended that the statement in the platform that the city government could be conducted for $1 on the $100 was no dream.

STEPHENS FOR MAYOR. Nominations for Mayor being in order, Fred Cox in a brief speech named Russ D. Stephens. His candidate, he said, might be relied to put forth his best efforts for the city. Mention of Mr. Stephens' name was met with rounds of applause.

M. R. Beard seconded Stephens' nomination, and predicted a safe and economic government of the city in case he was elected.

W. H. Devlin also seconded Mr. Stephens' nomination in a neat speech, saying the affairs of the city would be in his hands.

Nominations were declared closed and Mr. Stephens was nominated by acclamation.

In accepting the nomination Mr. Stephens said the present was an age of evolution. He spoke of the rapid advance of the arts and sciences, and especially the use of electricity as a motor power. The electric current, he reminded his auditors, was the agent responsible for the sinking of the Maine, which incident obliterated all sectional lines. He told of the grand finale of the war with Spain, and said he would, elected, do for Sacramento what the war with Spain had done for the United States, fight its battles and make it respected among the cities of the Pacific Coast and the United States. He spoke of the platform adopted by the Republican city convention, and said from it he would fight the war. Republicans only had fought the war. He asserted that wherever a Republican held under the sod, there too was a Democrat, to say nothing of Generals Wheeler, Lee and others who led the armies.

Mr. Stephens charged that the Republican platform scarcely dealt with local questions. He called on the delegates to act on their own judgment and if they believed any other man could make a better race than he, to nominate him. He would, if elected, do all in his power to ratify the platform adopted by the convention.

The damage done to tracks and snowsheds will reach nearly $75,000 and the work of repair will proceed as fast as possible. The snowsheds will have to be rebuilt for nearly a mile and a half.

WAS ANOTHER DISAPPOINTMENT.

at 10:40 by anchoring a cable's length southwest of the lightship. The course signal was immediately hoisted. It was hoisted by east the wind being very light from the opposite quarter, north-west by north.

The preparatory signal was given at 10:45.

At two minutes after the gun fire the Shamrock set her staysails and dropped her anchor to port. She was then about 500 yards northwest of the committee boat, and heading to the south. The Columbia, coming from the southeast, had passed the Sandy Hook lightship, leaving it on her port hand, at about one minute before the signal.

When the staysails were let Captain Barr rolled his wheel over to port, jibbed the Columbia, broke out her balloon jib topsail, and headed for the line. The Shamrock's balloon topsail blossomed out at the same moment as the Columbia's. The Columbia had the better of the start.

The official time for the start was: Columbia 11:00:53, Shamrock 11:01:05.

The first ten minutes after the start were anxious ones for those directly interested in the Shamrock and Columbia. So light was the wind at this time that only the balloon sails seemed to be doing service on either yacht. The main sheets hung slack in between the bows and the booms, and the great main sails hung flat as boards from over the starboard side of each yacht.

Mile after mile the yachts traveled slowly to the southeast, the Columbia gaining slowly but steadily all the time.

At 1:18 the Columbia's crew sent her spinnaker out to starboard, and two minutes later the Shamrock's was set. Far away in the blue haze the outer mark was sighted at 1:15.

With the weather prevailing at that time there was the prescribed limit of five and a half hours. During the next half hour the wind dropped out almost entirely.

Their positions at 3:30, when the Columbia tacked to port, were: The Columbia was an eighth of a mile on the Shamrock's lee bow, both heading about east southeast, the wind having calmed to about south southeast. This last tack of the Columbia's was about the most interesting feature of the race outside of the start. The question was whether she could cross the Shamrock's bow or not, the latter being on the starboard tack, having the right of way.

It took just sixty seconds to decide which boat was ahead. The Columbia was forced about by the Shamrock at 3:41:30. She tacked close under the Shamrock's lee bow, and two minutes later, the signal being received from the committee boat declaring the race off, both yachts were around, hauled down their staysails and headed for home, the great excursion fleet preceding them.

Thus ended another unsatisfactory attempt to finish the thirty mile race within the limit.

Nothing more was proven to-day regarding the merits of the yachts than on Tuesday. It is simply known that both boats are good drifters, with the balance a trifle in favor of the Columbia.

The Columbia and the Shamrock, both in tow, passed in and anchored in Sandy Hook Bay at 6:30 p. m.

Captain Ben Parker and his brother William of Emperor William's fast yacht Meteor were on board the Shamrock in both Tuesday's and to-day's races. Dr. Mackie, speaking for Sir Thomas Lipton, said the two men were aboard the English boat simply because they were friends of Captain Hogarth and Wringle.

"You may say," said Dr. Mackie to the Associated Press representative this evening, "that Captain Parker is here with Emperor William's permission, but please make it plain that he has nothing whatever to do with the sailing and management of the Shamrock. Captains Hogarth and Wringle are in supreme command, and one of them has the tiller at all times during the races. The report that Captain Parker steered the Shamrock during Tuesday's race is absurd. Either Hogarth or Wringle steered throughout the contest."

C. Oliver Iselin declined to discuss to-day's race, but was disappointed at not having a steady breeze.

Pears'

What is wanted of soap for the skin is to wash it clean and not hurt it. Pure soap does that. This is why we want pure soap; and when we say pure, we mean without alkali. Pears' is pure; no free alkali. There are a thousand virtues of soap; this one is enough. You can trust a soap that has no biting alkali in it. All sorts of stores sell it, especially druggists; all sorts of people use it.
