The County Assessor.

Last year the tax levy was $235 on the $100. The general fund did not quite hold out, owing to a mistake in the law on court-house bonds.

This morning L. T. Hoffman was arranged before Recorder Meyer, on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses.

This is a very grave offense under the Territorial Statutes of 1883, wherein it is made punishable by not less than one year's imprisonment.

The Tucson school district this year has $5,000 to pay—$3,000 interest and $2,000 principal in sinking fund, on its bonds of $5 cents more than the levy of last year.

The bonds of the New Lobos Railroad Company amount to $50,000. For these the new levy is 8 cents.

A footing up of the whole county assessment for this year is as follows:

Territorial General Fund..... 25

County School Fund..... 15

Shiloh National Bank..... 15

County General Fund..... 18

County School Fund..... 18

Narrow Gauge Railroad..... 35

Public Enterprise..... 10

County School Fund..... 10

Court House Bonds..... 10

Total..... $240

To recapitulate: the tax levy last year was $235 on the $100. This year it is $240, or 5 cents more.

The school district, takes the tax on the side this district, $230, which is the regular county tax.

The Port Lobos and Arizona Narrow Gauge railroad bonds are also additional this year.

So that the total tax on the general fund, including the school district, is $230, or 3 cents more than the regular county tax.

The assessment roll this year is nearly $2,000,000, over $1,000,000 more than last year.

TEXAS SETTINGS.

A New Year Letter From The Pass of the South City.

El Paso, August 14, 1888.

For some time there has been state-ment in the eastern papers to the effect that the movement on foot among the Americans resident in Chihuahua to "revolutionize" and establish a republic with a view of annexation to the United States.

When it is known that there are scarcely enough Americans down there to "revolutionize" a first-class republic, the absurdity of "newspaper sensation" is apparent.

Bonuses, there are just as many Americans in that State as there are Americans, and they would naturally oppose such a scheme as detrimental to their interests.

It is doubtful if the Americans there would ever do more than get back to the States, and the few who do not, they have got too good a thing as it is.

Traveling in disguise to evade the vigilance committee, the citizens of Chihuahua are not to be taken for granted.

The following circular was received at the Citizens office, San Francisco, August 13, 1888.

To Our Friends: This Brotherhood has been shown an order addressed to all agents of the Western Associated Press, emanating from their headquarters at San Francisco.

The order, which is addressed to all agents of the Western Associated Press, is as follows:

"I know it is well known to you that the order of the Western Associated Press, is a paper of the highest quality, and it is our duty to support it in every way possible."

"We are not to be taken for granted, and we are not to be taken for granted."

"We are not to be taken for granted, and we are not to be taken for granted."

A Lively Play in Passenger Boxes, and Events in Store which will greatly exceed Expectations.

The busy note of preparation in Baltimore for the coming Summer Night Carnival is heard on all sides, and the city appears to be waking up as never before to the determination to make this year's celebration certainly the biggest event of the character ever conceived of in this or any other country.

The novel features being steadily added to the already marvellous programme speak strongly of the striking talent possessed among the good citizens who speed day and night in planning and executing.

The city illuminations promise to be upon a most extensive scale, and almost altogether in the electric line.

Many buildings will be literally ablaze with bright lights in all colors, and it is proposed to demonstrate in hitherto untried fields what can be done with electricity.

The harbor display on the opening night will be as unique as possible to imagine, and a marvellous scene.

Every description of light will be introduced, and the protean features novel and of great scope of design.

Baltimore, as the nearest Atlantic seaport to an enormous section of country, has long been a favorite harbor to the multitude of "fishermen" who, before dreamed of the reception of Lord Baltimore on the night in question, with all its attendant effects, will be something to remember for years, and imply a journey even to the most remote parts of the world.

It will also prove another memorable occasion, for never in European or American cities has a parade of such magnitude or of such remarkable richness and novelty been attempted.

Last year's pageant was conceded by New Orleans to have been the most magnificent ever seen in those cities, from Mobile, Galveston, and St. Louis, to have been beyond all comparison the grandest pageant ever witnessed in this country.

If such was the unanimous verdict last year it would be difficult to ensure the limit of the present year, as the present, now in its finishing stage, is instinctively superior, larger, grander, and in every way more magnificent than the last.

For one thing, it will feature a regiment of men and horses to put upon the street—upward of thirteen hundred in all.

Thirty thousand dollars will not begin to cover the expense of this one display.

For another thing, it will feature a parade of such magnitude and novelty as to be a thing to remember for years.

For a third thing, it will feature a parade of such magnitude and novelty as to be a thing to remember for years.

For a fourth thing, it will feature a parade of such magnitude and novelty as to be a thing to remember for years.

For a twelfth thing, it will feature a parade of such magnitude and novelty as to be a thing to remember for years.

For a sixteenth thing, it will feature a parade of such magnitude and novelty as to be a thing to remember for years.

For a seventeenth thing, it will feature a parade of such magnitude and novelty as to be a thing to remember for years.

For an eighteenth thing, it will feature a parade of such magnitude and novelty as to be a thing to remember for years.

For a nineteenth thing, it will feature a parade of such magnitude and novelty as to be a thing to remember for years.

For a twentieth thing, it will feature a parade of such magnitude and novelty as to be a thing to remember for years.

For a twenty-first thing, it will feature a parade of such magnitude and novelty as to be a thing to remember for years.

For a twenty-second thing, it will feature a parade of such magnitude and novelty as to be a thing to remember for years.

For a twenty-third thing, it will feature a parade of such magnitude and novelty as to be a thing to remember for years.

For a thirty-first thing, it will feature a parade of such magnitude and novelty as to be a thing to remember for years.

Female Receptions.

Say the New York Mail and Express: Several women followed the hounds in the first heat of the Newport season yesterday, and horse-racing rapidly increased in favor, as feminine pastime.

It is said that dancing was never so little in vogue at the summer resorts during the present season, and fashionable women affect a preference for tennis and the racquet, while even the staidest declare their devotion to many sports.

It is not difficult for persons who believe what is fashionable in England to see how fashionable in the United States, for since Queen Victoria purchased a pair of tricycles for her grandchildren that vehicle has become a favorite with the young girls of England, and the popularity is well known.

So excellent are the results of healthful outdoor recreation that it is desirable to have the fashion made permanent. It is a common boast that American women are more healthy than those of any other country, but it is to be feared that the foundation for the boast will soon disappear, unless the young girls are induced to take more exercise in the open air.

The good health of English women is due to their practice of riding several miles with daily regularity, and it would be a national benefit if the custom were to be so much at the ocean beaches than in previous seasons.

How Grant Got to West Point.

An old army acquaintance of General Grant's relates a story about how Grant got to West Point. The story is absolutely true, he said.

"When Grant was a young man living with his mother in Galena, Ill., he was sent to a boarding school to become a lawyer."

"It is a regular thing in the country for a young man to be sent to a boarding school, and he was no exception."

"Everything he had to do was to study, and he was a very good student."

"One day he was invited to a party at the house of a friend, and he went."

"The party was a very large one, and he was very much interested in the conversation."

"At one time the conversation turned to the subject of law, and he spoke of his own studies."

"The conversation then turned to the subject of the law, and he spoke of his own studies."

"The conversation then turned to the subject of the law, and he spoke of his own studies."
