

A Merry Christmas.

Don Stanford is expected to return to Tucson in a few days.

The train going north was two hours late this morning.

Hon. Charles H. Drake leaves this evening for El Paso to be gone one day.

Miss L. A. Boyce has been granted a life diploma as teacher by the state of Nevada.

The establishment of A. Goldschmidt & Co. swallowed up another car load of canned meats to-day.

There will be some fine trap shooting at the University grounds to-morrow, provided it does not rain.

The Phenix papers have fully decided who will fill the federal offices. They may perhaps be slightly mistaken.

Hon. Bart Darnall remained over to consult Hon. Chas. H. Drake and returned to Graham county last evening.

Price a hamstary are selling the best Bonons crabs cheap. Give them a call before purchasing.

There will be a regular Christmas ball of fare at the Palace hotel to-morrow for dinner.

The little folks are happy in anticipation of the annual visit of Old Santa Claus to-night.

Mrs. J. S. Noble arrived from the San Pedro yesterday and is being made welcome by her many friends.

The most varied and choicest display of cigars that has ever come to Tucson can now be seen at the Club Cigar store.

Hon. P. J. Bolas arrived from Solomonville last night and is visiting his wife during the holidays, visiting his wife.

There is to be a grand turkey shoot on Christmas day. The CITIZEN will publish the details on Monday.

Hon. Geo. H. Stevens passed up on the train this morning on his way to Phoenix. He will return to Solomonville on Monday.

Hon. Geo. H. Stevens, of Graham county, was a passenger on the east bound train last night, on his way home from Phoenix.

The friends of Tucson have engaged the Fort Lowell band to furnish the music on the occasion of the firemen's annual ball to be given at their hall in this city on New Year's eve.

The Commercial club will give a hop on the evening of January 1st, '89, for members and their ladies. Members will not be asked to subscribe anything toward expenses.

There will be a special meeting of the Bazaar Home company at the firemen's hall this evening for the transaction of such business as may come before it. A full attendance is requested.

The examination of Juan Enriquez took place before Judge Meyer this afternoon. He admits the killing but claims it was done in self defense. He will probably be held to await the action of the grand jury.

Judge Griffith, the Hon. P. M. of Nogales, is in the city looking well and enjoying the best of health. The Judge has pleased to give him a warm welcome when he comes.

Mr. Robert A. Lewis of San Francisco, who has been down to Tombstone looking after mining interests arrived in the city last evening and is in a grand mood and of course has a great many acquaintances here.

John Brown, the cattle king, has spent a number of his friends to spend his holidays in Tucson and is in a grand mood. The party will leave here on Monday and return during the latter part of the week.

The officers and teachers of the Congregational Sunday school are busy preparing for the Christmas festival to take place Monday evening when the school expects as usual to have a grand good time.

Sam Katzenstein, of the Cosmopolitan, Tucson, and one of the best hotel keepers in Arizona, is the Commercial. He comes here on legal business which may detain him several days, and will therefore have a special meeting with his many friends in Arizona.

There will be a special meeting of Tucson Lodge No. 4 F. & A. M. this evening at 7:30 o'clock for the purpose of installing the newly elected officers, which will all sit down to a banquet. All master masons in good standing are cordially invited.

An Eastern exchange says that a man stopping his paper wrote to the editor: "I think I ought to spend their money for anyone, my dear sir, but if anybody else is to be the intelligent man in this business and he had the smartest family of boys that ever dug dirt."

There was an incident fire in the railroad blacksmith shop and the alarm was sounded at about 3:30 last evening. The flames were subdued without any assistance from the city department, although the Bescon Hose Company was on hand at the time and was in readiness for a dash out had occasion required.

After the installation services in the Masonic Lodge last evening, all present sat down to an elegantly prepared banquet. Speeches appropriate to the occasion were made and an exceedingly pleasant time had throughout. It is hoped that such festive occasions will be less rare in the future.

Haged, the famous king of the air and American Blonid, will give a tight rope and trapeze performance at Levo's parlour Sunday, Dec. 30th. His statements by the press as being the greatest tight rope walker on the world. The performance commences at 2 p. m. Admission 25c, children 10c.

Charles Meadows, of Payson, this Territory, published a card in the Arizona Herald, challenging any man in the territory to an all-round cowboy contest for $500 or $1,000 a side. The contest will either of the above amounts with either three or five steers to be tied. Expert cow-punchers, make a note of this.

Recent accounts give the number of Indians at or near the Salt River reservation as 4,800, and the White Mountains near Fort Apache, at 1,800, or a total on the reservation of 5,200, an increase over former reports. Officers who have lived on the reservation for years state that the Indians are increasing very fast—shame!

Christmas Sunday will be observed at the Congregational church to-morrow by appropriate services and musical selections in the morning at 10:30 o'clock, and Sunday School concert in the evening at 7 o'clock. The concert will consist of Christmas recitations, carols, songs and choruses, a beautiful Christmas exercise, a brass band, and the pastor, Howard Hillman and the pastor. The Sunday School will meet at 12 m. as usual. The public cordially invited to attend any and all services.

Deputy United States Marshal Underwood arrived this morning from Fort Grant having in custody Wm. Willington, a negro soldier belonging to the 10th Cavalry, Troop G, who shot Sergeant Logan belonging to Troop E, on Wednesday. It seems that Logan had opened a "snag" par game when Willington bet $2.50 and lost. He then made a row when patrol were drawn and Logan shot through the head. He is still alive but little hopes are entertained of his final recovery.

C. H. Taylor has taken a contract to do some development work on the mountains of Tombstone.

McNally and the Noon district, which was recently purchased by B. Salazar.

To-night at Temple, the Old Followers expect a grand time. The ledge at that place has just built a new hall, and it will be thrown open for a grand ball.

It is said that the reason assigned by Governor Zolitor for the postponement of the execution of the Indian Friarismo is that he has some hopes of substituting Hughes for the State.

Dr. George Martin's daughter, Miss Mary, is seriously ill with pleurisy, though the Doctor thinks she is possibly some better this evening. Her mother will regret her absence from their midst during the holidays.

Dr. Martin has closed out the bulk of his stock of Xmas presents, though he yet has a few beautiful ones left. He has been in business here some time and he thoroughly understands the likes and dislikes of the people, hence he never has an old stock of any kind left on his hands.

Joseph P. Loneragan was in high spirits to-day when the reporter saw him, caused by a heavy trade during the past year and especially on holiday goods during the past few days. He sends merry Christmas greetings to his customers and friends.

There will be a candy-pulling this evening, commencing at 7 o'clock, at the Baptist church, participated in jointly by the children of the M. E. Church and Baptist church Sunday schools. A general good time is anticipated, and all friends of the schools are invited.

The tight rope and trapeze performance by Haged, the American Blonid and King of the Air, did not come off yesterday as announced. Haged has gone to Tombstone, Fairbanks and Boston and will return here in about one week.

About ten feet of the adobe fence in front of Dr. Martin's drug store yielded to the heavy rain on Saturday night and tumbled down. The adobe roof should be looked after during the coming winter, as it is in a dangerous condition.

The small boy in Tucson, unlike his northern brother, will not be able to indulge in the delightful sport of throwing snow, but if he wills to descend to the level of a "mud-slinger" the material is at hand in abundance.

Yesterday was cold, rainy and muddy and the beginning of the season, rendering it unpleasant for those who attended the Sunday School concert at the Methodist Congregational Church.

The Commercial club will give a hop on the evening of January 1st, '89, for members and their ladies. Members will not be asked to subscribe anything toward expenses.

There will be a special meeting of the Bazaar Home company at the firemen's hall this evening for the transaction of such business as may come before it. A full attendance is requested.

The examination of Juan Enriquez took place before Judge Meyer this afternoon. He admits the killing but claims it was done in self defense. He will probably be held to await the action of the grand jury.

Judge Griffith, the Hon. P. M. of Nogales, is in the city looking well and enjoying the best of health. The Judge has pleased to give him a warm welcome when he comes.

Mr. Robert A. Lewis of San Francisco, who has been down to Tombstone looking after mining interests arrived in the city last evening and is in a grand mood and of course has a great many acquaintances here.

John Brown, the cattle king, has spent a number of his friends to spend his holidays in Tucson and is in a grand mood. The party will leave here on Monday and return during the latter part of the week.

The officers and teachers of the Congregational Sunday school are busy preparing for the Christmas festival to take place Monday evening when the school expects as usual to have a grand good time.

Sam Katzenstein, of the Cosmopolitan, Tucson, and one of the best hotel keepers in Arizona, is the Commercial. He comes here on legal business which may detain him several days, and will therefore have a special meeting with his many friends in Arizona.

There will be a special meeting of Tucson Lodge No. 4 F. & A. M. this evening at 7:30 o'clock for the purpose of installing the newly elected officers, which will all sit down to a banquet. All master masons in good standing are cordially invited.

An Eastern exchange says that a man stopping his paper wrote to the editor: "I think I ought to spend their money for anyone, my dear sir, but if anybody else is to be the intelligent man in this business and he had the smartest family of boys that ever dug dirt."

There was an incident fire in the railroad blacksmith shop and the alarm was sounded at about 3:30 last evening. The flames were subdued without any assistance from the city department, although the Bescon Hose Company was on hand at the time and was in readiness for a dash out had occasion required.

After the installation services in the Masonic Lodge last evening, all present sat down to an elegantly prepared banquet. Speeches appropriate to the occasion were made and an exceedingly pleasant time had throughout. It is hoped that such festive occasions will be less rare in the future.

Haged, the famous king of the air and American Blonid, will give a tight rope and trapeze performance at Levo's parlour Sunday, Dec. 30th. His statements by the press as being the greatest tight rope walker on the world. The performance commences at 2 p. m. Admission 25c, children 10c.

Charles Meadows, of Payson, this Territory, published a card in the Arizona Herald, challenging any man in the territory to an all-round cowboy contest for $500 or $1,000 a side. The contest will either of the above amounts with either three or five steers to be tied. Expert cow-punchers, make a note of this.

Recent accounts give the number of Indians at or near the Salt River reservation as 4,800, and the White Mountains near Fort Apache, at 1,800, or a total on the reservation of 5,200, an increase over former reports. Officers who have lived on the reservation for years state that the Indians are increasing very fast—shame!

Christmas Sunday will be observed at the Congregational church to-morrow by appropriate services and musical selections in the morning at 10:30 o'clock, and Sunday School concert in the evening at 7 o'clock. The concert will consist of Christmas recitations, carols, songs and choruses, a beautiful Christmas exercise, a brass band, and the pastor, Howard Hillman and the pastor. The Sunday School will meet at 12 m. as usual. The public cordially invited to attend any and all services.

Deputy United States Marshal Underwood arrived this morning from Fort Grant having in custody Wm. Willington, a negro soldier belonging to the 10th Cavalry, Troop G, who shot Sergeant Logan belonging to Troop E, on Wednesday. It seems that Logan had opened a "snag" par game when Willington bet $2.50 and lost. He then made a row when patrol were drawn and Logan shot through the head. He is still alive but little hopes are entertained of his final recovery.

Death of Hon. Patrick Hamilton.

The Hon. Patrick Hamilton who for the past 10 years has been an officer from Congress, died at 2:15 o'clock, in the city of Cork, Ireland, in January 1883, and was therefore nearly 46 years of age at the time of his death.

At the age of 13 years he came to this country with his parents, settling in New York city where he received a liberal education. At the age of about 16 he traveled to the new El Dorado, in Colorado, where he engaged in the Colorado Volunteers, and was in fight at Pigeon's Ranch and Apache Canyon in the southern part of Colorado or northern New Mexico, shortly after the first battle of Bull Run in the east.

Mr. Hamilton was wounded in the forehead by a shot from one of these engagements, the scar of which he carries with him to the grave. The next year, 1864, he was at the battle of the Sand Creek where he was elected a member of the Legislature for Yavapai County in 1878. He subsequently was editor of the Democrat in Prescott till 1882 when he was elected a member of the Legislature of the Territory, but owing to some disagreement he started an Independent paper which he edited for some time.

He was also commissioned by the Legislature to prepare a publication on the Resources of Arizona for distribution in 1883 by Governor Tittle, and went out of office in 1887 at the expiration of his term.

He had come to Phoenix about 1884 to make this his home. In 1886 he was married in this city to Mrs. Melinda Hamilton who was the daughter of Patrick Hamilton who was one of the ablest and most pleasing writers on the Pacific coast. His productions are uniformly good, and his capacity of a speaker was rather argumentative, and easy. His place in the literature and politics of Arizona was not readily to be forgotten.

He was an honored member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows here in Phoenix, and from 1878 to 1884 he had come to Phoenix about 1884 to make this his home. In 1886 he was married in this city to Mrs. Melinda Hamilton who was the daughter of Patrick Hamilton who was one of the ablest and most pleasing writers on the Pacific coast. His productions are uniformly good, and his capacity of a speaker was rather argumentative, and easy. His place in the literature and politics of Arizona was not readily to be forgotten.

He was an honored member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows here in Phoenix, and from 1878 to 1884 he had come to Phoenix about 1884 to make this his home. In 1886 he was married in this city to Mrs. Melinda Hamilton who was the daughter of Patrick Hamilton who was one of the ablest and most pleasing writers on the Pacific coast. His productions are uniformly good, and his capacity of a speaker was rather argumentative, and easy. His place in the literature and politics of Arizona was not readily to be forgotten.

He was an honored member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows here in Phoenix, and from 1878 to 1884 he had come to Phoenix about 1884 to make this his home. In 1886 he was married in this city to Mrs. Melinda Hamilton who was the daughter of Patrick Hamilton who was one of the ablest and most pleasing writers on the Pacific coast. His productions are uniformly good, and his capacity of a speaker was rather argumentative, and easy. His place in the literature and politics of Arizona was not readily to be forgotten.

He was an honored member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows here in Phoenix, and from 1878 to 1884 he had come to Phoenix about 1884 to make this his home. In 1886 he was married in this city to Mrs. Melinda Hamilton who was the daughter of Patrick Hamilton who was one of the ablest and most pleasing writers on the Pacific coast. His productions are uniformly good, and his capacity of a speaker was rather argumentative, and easy. His place in the literature and politics of Arizona was not readily to be forgotten.

He was an honored member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows here in Phoenix, and from 1878 to 1884 he had come to Phoenix about 1884 to make this his home. In 1886 he was married in this city to Mrs. Melinda Hamilton who was the daughter of Patrick Hamilton who was one of the ablest and most pleasing writers on the Pacific coast. His productions are uniformly good, and his capacity of a speaker was rather argumentative, and easy. His place in the literature and politics of Arizona was not readily to be forgotten.

He was an honored member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows here in Phoenix, and from 1878 to 1884 he had come to Phoenix about 1884 to make this his home. In 1886 he was married in this city to Mrs. Melinda Hamilton who was the daughter of Patrick Hamilton who was one of the ablest and most pleasing writers on the Pacific coast. His productions are uniformly good, and his capacity of a speaker was rather argumentative, and easy. His place in the literature and politics of Arizona was not readily to be forgotten.

He was an honored member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows here in Phoenix, and from 1878 to 1884 he had come to Phoenix about 1884 to make this his home. In 1886 he was married in this city to Mrs. Melinda Hamilton who was the daughter of Patrick Hamilton who was one of the ablest and most pleasing writers on the Pacific coast. His productions are uniformly good, and his capacity of a speaker was rather argumentative, and easy. His place in the literature and politics of Arizona was not readily to be forgotten.

He was an honored member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows here in Phoenix, and from 1878 to 1884 he had come to Phoenix about 1884 to make this his home. In 1886 he was married in this city to Mrs. Melinda Hamilton who was the daughter of Patrick Hamilton who was one of the ablest and most pleasing writers on the Pacific coast. His productions are uniformly good, and his capacity of a speaker was rather argumentative, and easy. His place in the literature and politics of Arizona was not readily to be forgotten.

He was an honored member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows here in Phoenix, and from 1878 to 1884 he had come to Phoenix about 1884 to make this his home. In 1886 he was married in this city to Mrs. Melinda Hamilton who was the daughter of Patrick Hamilton who was one of the ablest and most pleasing writers on the Pacific coast. His productions are uniformly good, and his capacity of a speaker was rather argumentative, and easy. His place in the literature and politics of Arizona was not readily to be forgotten.

He was an honored member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows here in Phoenix, and from 1878 to 1884 he had come to Phoenix about 1884 to make this his home. In 1886 he was married in this city to Mrs. Melinda Hamilton who was the daughter of Patrick Hamilton who was one of the ablest and most pleasing writers on the Pacific coast. His productions are uniformly good, and his capacity of a speaker was rather argumentative, and easy. His place in the literature and politics of Arizona was not readily to be forgotten.

He was an honored member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows here in Phoenix, and from 1878 to 1884 he had come to Phoenix about 1884 to make this his home. In 1886 he was married in this city to Mrs. Melinda Hamilton who was the daughter of Patrick Hamilton who was one of the ablest and most pleasing writers on the Pacific coast. His productions are uniformly good, and his capacity of a speaker was rather argumentative, and easy. His place in the literature and politics of Arizona was not readily to be forgotten.

He was an honored member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows here in Phoenix, and from 1878 to 1884 he had come to Phoenix about 1884 to make this his home. In 1886 he was married in this city to Mrs. Melinda Hamilton who was the daughter of Patrick Hamilton who was one of the ablest and most pleasing writers on the Pacific coast. His productions are uniformly good, and his capacity of a speaker was rather argumentative, and easy. His place in the literature and politics of Arizona was not readily to be forgotten.

He was an honored member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows here in Phoenix, and from 1878 to 1884 he had come to Phoenix about 1884 to make this his home. In 1886 he was married in this city to Mrs. Melinda Hamilton who was the daughter of Patrick Hamilton who was one of the ablest and most pleasing writers on the Pacific coast. His productions are uniformly good, and his capacity of a speaker was rather argumentative, and easy. His place in the literature and politics of Arizona was not readily to be forgotten.

He was an honored member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows here in Phoenix, and from 1878 to 1884 he had come to Phoenix about 1884 to make this his home. In 1886 he was married in this city to Mrs. Melinda Hamilton who was the daughter of Patrick Hamilton who was one of the ablest and most pleasing writers on the Pacific coast. His productions are uniformly good, and his capacity of a speaker was rather argumentative, and easy. His place in the literature and politics of Arizona was not readily to be forgotten.

He was an honored member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows here in Phoenix, and from 1878 to 1884 he had come to Phoenix about 1884 to make this his home. In 1886 he was married in this city to Mrs. Melinda Hamilton who was the daughter of Patrick Hamilton who was one of the ablest and most pleasing writers on the Pacific coast. His productions are uniformly good, and his capacity of a speaker was rather argumentative, and easy. His place in the literature and politics of Arizona was not readily to be forgotten.

He was an honored member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows here in Phoenix, and from 1878 to 1884 he had come to Phoenix about 1884 to make this his home. In 1886 he was married in this city to Mrs. Melinda Hamilton who was the daughter of Patrick Hamilton who was one of the ablest and most pleasing writers on the Pacific coast. His productions are uniformly good, and his capacity of a speaker was rather argumentative, and easy. His place in the literature and politics of Arizona was not readily to be forgotten.

He was an honored member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows here in Phoenix, and from 1878 to 1884 he had come to Phoenix about 1884 to make this his home. In 1886 he was married in this city to Mrs. Melinda Hamilton who was the daughter of Patrick Hamilton who was one of the ablest and most pleasing writers on the Pacific coast. His productions are uniformly good, and his capacity of a speaker was rather argumentative, and easy. His place in the literature and politics of Arizona was not readily to be forgotten.

He was an honored member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows here in Phoenix, and from 1878 to 1884 he had come to Phoenix about 1884 to make this his home. In 1886 he was married in this city to Mrs. Melinda Hamilton who was the daughter of Patrick Hamilton who was one of the ablest and most pleasing writers on the Pacific coast. His productions are uniformly good, and his capacity of a speaker was rather argumentative, and easy. His place in the literature and politics of Arizona was not readily to be forgotten.

He was an honored member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows here in Phoenix, and from 1878 to 1884 he had come to Phoenix about 1884 to make this his home. In 1886 he was married in this city to Mrs. Melinda Hamilton who was the daughter of Patrick Hamilton who was one of the ablest and most pleasing writers on the Pacific coast. His productions are uniformly good, and his capacity of a speaker was rather argumentative, and easy. His place in the literature and politics of Arizona was not readily to be forgotten.

He was an honored member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows here in Phoenix, and from 1878 to 1884 he had come to Phoenix about 1884 to make this his home. In 1886 he was married in this city to Mrs. Melinda Hamilton who was the daughter of Patrick Hamilton who was one of the ablest and most pleasing writers on the Pacific coast. His productions are uniformly good, and his capacity of a speaker was rather argumentative, and easy. His place in the literature and politics of Arizona was not readily to be forgotten.

He was an honored member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows here in Phoenix, and from 1878 to 1884 he had come to Phoenix about 1884 to make this his home. In 1886 he was married in this city to Mrs. Melinda Hamilton who was the daughter of Patrick Hamilton who was one of the ablest and most pleasing writers on the Pacific coast. His productions are uniformly good, and his capacity of a speaker was rather argumentative, and easy. His place in the literature and politics of Arizona was not readily to be forgotten.

He was an honored member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows here in Phoenix, and from 1878 to 1884 he had come to Phoenix about 1884 to make this his home. In 1886 he was married in this city to Mrs. Melinda Hamilton who was the daughter of Patrick Hamilton who was one of the ablest and most pleasing writers on the Pacific coast. His productions are uniformly good, and his capacity of a speaker was rather argumentative, and easy. His place in the literature and politics of Arizona was not readily to be forgotten.

He was an honored member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows here in Phoenix, and from 1878 to 1884 he had come to Phoenix about 1884 to make this his home. In 1886 he was married in this city to Mrs. Melinda Hamilton who was the daughter of Patrick Hamilton who was one of the ablest and most pleasing writers on the Pacific coast. His productions are uniformly good, and his capacity of a speaker was rather argumentative, and easy. His place in the literature and politics of Arizona was not readily to be forgotten.

He was an honored member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows here in Phoenix, and from 1878 to 1884 he had come to Phoenix about 1884 to make this his home. In 1886 he was married in this city to Mrs. Melinda Hamilton who was the daughter of Patrick Hamilton who was one of the ablest and most pleasing writers on the Pacific coast. His productions are uniformly good, and his capacity of a speaker was rather argumentative, and easy. His place in the literature and politics of Arizona was not readily to be forgotten.

He was an honored member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows here in Phoenix, and from 1878 to 1884 he had come to Phoenix about 1884 to make this his home. In 1886 he was married in this city to Mrs. Melinda Hamilton who was the daughter of Patrick Hamilton who was one of the ablest and most pleasing writers on the Pacific coast. His productions are uniformly good, and his capacity of a speaker was rather argumentative, and easy. His place in the literature and politics of Arizona was not readily to be forgotten.

He was an honored member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows here in Phoenix, and from 1878 to 1884 he had come to Phoenix about 1884 to make this his home. In 1886 he was married in this city to Mrs. Melinda Hamilton who was the daughter of Patrick Hamilton who was one of the ablest and most pleasing writers on the Pacific coast. His productions are uniformly good, and his capacity of a speaker was rather argumentative, and easy. His place in the literature and politics of Arizona was not readily to be forgotten.

He was an honored member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows here in Phoenix, and from 1878 to 1884 he had come to Phoenix about 1884 to make this his home. In 1886 he was married in this city to Mrs. Melinda Hamilton who was the daughter of Patrick Hamilton who was one of the ablest and most pleasing writers on the Pacific coast. His productions are uniformly good, and his capacity of a speaker was rather argumentative, and easy. His place in the literature and politics of Arizona was not readily to be forgotten.

He was an honored member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows here in Phoenix, and from 1878 to 1884 he had come to Phoenix about 1884 to make this his home. In 1886 he was married in this city to Mrs. Melinda Hamilton who was the daughter of Patrick Hamilton who was one of the ablest and most pleasing writers on the Pacific coast. His productions are uniformly good, and his capacity of a speaker was rather argumentative, and easy. His place in the literature and politics of Arizona was not readily to be forgotten.

He was an honored member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows here in Phoenix, and from 1878 to 1884 he had come to Phoenix about 1884 to make this his home. In 1886 he was married in this city to Mrs. Melinda Hamilton who was the daughter of Patrick Hamilton who was one of the ablest and most pleasing writers on the Pacific coast. His productions are uniformly good, and his capacity of a speaker was rather argumentative, and easy. His place in the literature and politics of Arizona was not readily to be forgotten.

He was an honored member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows here in Phoenix, and from 1878 to 1884 he had come to Phoenix about 1884 to make this his home. In 1886 he was married in this city to Mrs. Melinda Hamilton who was the daughter of Patrick Hamilton who was one of the ablest and most pleasing writers on the Pacific coast. His productions are uniformly good, and his capacity of a speaker was rather argumentative, and easy. His place in the literature and politics of Arizona was not readily to be forgotten.

He was an honored member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows here in Phoenix, and from 1878 to 1884 he had come to Phoenix about 1884 to make this his home. In 1886 he was married in this city to Mrs. Melinda Hamilton who was the daughter of Patrick Hamilton who was one of the ablest and most pleasing writers on the Pacific coast. His productions are uniformly good, and his capacity of a speaker was rather argumentative, and easy. His place in the literature and politics of Arizona was not readily to be forgotten.

He was an honored member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows here in Phoenix, and from 1878 to 1884 he had come to Phoenix about 1884 to make this his home. In 1886 he was married in this city to Mrs. Melinda Hamilton who was the daughter of Patrick Hamilton who was one of the ablest and most pleasing writers on the Pacific coast. His productions are uniformly good, and his capacity of a speaker was rather argumentative, and easy. His place in the literature and politics of Arizona was not readily to be forgotten.

He was an honored member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows here in Phoenix, and from 1878 to 1884 he had come to Phoenix about 1884 to make this his home. In 1886 he was married in this city to Mrs. Melinda Hamilton who was the daughter of Patrick Hamilton who was one of the ablest and most pleasing writers on the Pacific coast. His productions are uniformly good, and his capacity of a speaker was rather argumentative, and easy. His place in the literature and politics of Arizona was not readily to be forgotten.

He was an honored member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows here in Phoenix, and from 1878 to 1884 he had come to Phoenix about 1884 to make this his home. In 1886 he was married in this city to Mrs. Melinda Hamilton who was the daughter of Patrick Hamilton who was one of the ablest and most pleasing writers on the Pacific coast. His productions are uniformly good, and his capacity of a speaker was rather argumentative, and easy. His place in the literature and politics of Arizona was not readily to be forgotten.

He was an honored member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows here in Phoenix, and from 1878 to 1884 he had come to Phoenix about 1884 to make this his home. In 1886 he was married in this city to Mrs. Melinda Hamilton who was the daughter of Patrick Hamilton who was one of the ablest and most pleasing writers on the Pacific coast. His productions are uniformly good, and his capacity of a speaker was rather argumentative, and easy. His place in the literature and politics of Arizona was not readily to be forgotten.

He was an honored member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows here in Phoenix, and from 1878 to 1884 he had come to Phoenix about 1884 to make this his home. In 1886 he was married in this city to Mrs. Melinda Hamilton who was the daughter of Patrick Hamilton who was one of the ablest and most pleasing writers on the Pacific coast. His productions are uniformly good, and his capacity of a speaker was rather argumentative, and easy. His place in the literature and politics of Arizona was not readily to be forgotten.

He was an honored member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows here in Phoenix, and from 1878 to 1884 he had come to Phoenix about 1884 to make this his home. In 1886 he was married in this city to Mrs. Melinda Hamilton who was the daughter of Patrick Hamilton who was one of the ablest and most pleasing writers on the Pacific coast. His productions are uniformly good, and his capacity of a speaker was rather argumentative, and easy. His place in the literature and politics of Arizona was not readily to be forgotten.

He was an honored member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows here in Phoenix, and from 1878 to 1884 he had come to Phoenix about 1884 to make this his home. In 1886 he was married in this city to Mrs. Melinda Hamilton who was the daughter of Patrick Hamilton who was one of the ablest and most pleasing writers on the Pacific coast. His productions are uniformly good, and his capacity of a speaker was rather argumentative, and easy. His place in the literature and politics of Arizona was not readily to be forgotten.

He was an honored member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows here in Phoenix, and from 1878 to 1884 he had come to Phoenix about 1884 to make this his home. In 1886 he was married in this city to Mrs. Melinda Hamilton who was the daughter of Patrick Hamilton who was one of the ablest and most pleasing writers on the Pacific coast. His productions are uniformly good, and his capacity of a speaker was rather argumentative, and easy. His place in the literature and politics of Arizona was not readily to be forgotten.

He was an honored member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows here in Phoenix, and from 1878 to 1884 he had come to Phoenix about 1884 to make this his home. In 1886 he was married in this city to Mrs. Melinda Hamilton who was the daughter of Patrick Hamilton who was one of the ablest and most pleasing writers on the Pacific coast. His productions are uniformly good, and his capacity of a speaker was rather argumentative, and easy. His place in the literature and politics of Arizona was not readily to be forgotten.

He was an honored member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows here in Phoenix, and from 1878 to 1884 he had come to Phoenix about 1884 to make this his home. In 1886 he was married in this city to Mrs. Melinda Hamilton who was the daughter of Patrick Hamilton who was one of the ablest and most pleasing writers on the Pacific coast. His productions are uniformly good, and his capacity of a speaker was rather argumentative, and easy. His place in the literature and politics of Arizona was not readily to be forgotten.

He was an honored member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows here in Phoenix, and from 1878 to 1884 he had come to Phoenix about 1884 to make this his home. In 1886 he was married in this city to Mrs. Melinda Hamilton who was the daughter of Patrick Hamilton who was one of the ablest and most pleasing writers on the Pacific coast. His productions are uniformly good, and his capacity of a speaker was rather argumentative, and easy. His place in the literature and politics of Arizona was not readily to be forgotten.

He was an honored member of the Independent Order of