PINAL DEMOCRATS

They Meet in Florence and Nominate Special to the Citizens.

FLORENCE, Sept. 16, 1896. The democratic convention of Pinal county, according to the dictates of its bosses met in regular session on the 14th, and to say that it was a regular cut-and-dried affair expresses it very mildly. The convention was called to order by Chairman Thos. F. Weedin, and they proceeded to elect Geo. W. Sanders of Arizona, permanent chairman and Freeman Chamberlain secretary, and after the usual formalities the temporary organization was made permanent. When the committee on resolutions was sent out to make its report then the renegades got in their deadly work on the Pima county delegate for congress. The committee went through the usual formalities and reported favorably for Sewall with Bryan, ignoring Watson, and instructed the delegates for Marcus Aurelius Schmitz (a la Reppy), contrary to the wishes of two thirds of the populace of the county, but they crowded it down their necks without a murmur, and elected Weedin, Peter B. Brady, Peter R. Young, and C. M. Marshall with Mark Smith instructions. Then the fun began. The combine thinking it necessary to add strength to their ticket laid Reppy aside for Brady for council and when it came to the assembly it was another compromise, for Mason had been selected for recorder and there was another applicant, so Mason was laid aside and placed on the ticket for assembly, and the devil of the Tribune then arose and placed his bid in nomination. He did very well for the time he was in training, for the only time the Tribune office could be used for a training school is Sunday, and Reppy is a good trainer when he has an apt scholar.

Then followed the nominations for sheriff. The old wheel horse J. G. Keating has been rustling for this office for some time, but the boss combine was too much for him. They laid him down gently but walked on him hard, and as a panacea for his wounds gave him five votes in the convention and five in nomination. Keating says he don't care much about Papago Indians voting in primaries, but he does object to long haired Pimas.

Fearing the machinery might jump a cog and the slide get disengaged, two supervisors were nominated. It wasn't according to the old established rule but this convention business was something new to the delegates, so the bosses fixed it for them.

Then following the order of business, as had been arranged, the chair announced that nominations for district attorney were in order. Then deathly stillness cast a gloom over the hall. Slowly and meekly a delegate that had been hidden behind the rail of the jury box arose and in a voice that nearly trembled with fear, nominated H. D. Cassidy, of Los Angeles, for district attorney of Pinal county. Then the spell was broken, and there being no other nominations, Cassidy was declared the nominee by acclamation.

The nomination for recorder being the next order of business, Freeman Chamberlain was placed in nomination, and a delegate from the extreme southwest nominated Chas. P. Mason. Then arose the stalwart chairman and in his bland and characteristic manner informed the delegates that Mr. Mason could not be a candidate for recorder as he had already been nominated for the assembly and requested him to withdraw his motion. And the chair was met with the prompt reply of "I will not," but it was soon pushed up and the delegate was then given the inside workings of the combine.

Then the procession was after the man for treasurer, Richard Kersey, C. E. Perkins and Peter R. Brady, Jr., were nominated. Ballots were prepared with the following results: Brady, 16; Kersey, 9; Perkins, 4. The chair declared Brady the nominee. The delegates can't understand how Brady got the nomination when the rules governing the convention required a majority of all votes cast.

Let but not least was probate judge, J. C. Harris and L. C. Herr were placed in nomination. Herr came out in the lead, and when the convention adjourned he was chosen by the nominees, most of the old war horse looking like the picture on the black wall smoking tobacco—ready to fight all the nominees.

The ticket as stated before and passed through the convention is: Council—Peter R. Brady, Sr., Florence Assembly—C. D. Reppy Sheriff—W. C. Truman Supervisors—W. R. Atchley, San Pedro Recorder—F. Chamberlain, Antelope Treasurer—P. R. Brady, Jr., Florence Dist. Atty.—H. D. Cassidy, Los Angeles Probate Judge—L. C. Herr, Florence

A Rough Diamond

General Francis H. Hoey of the San Francisco bar, formerly attorney-general of Arizona, tells one of the best stories we have heard for many a day, about the harbor improvements at Aransas Pass, Texas. The hero of this anecdote is a truck farmer named Gaylor, "a rough diamond" who is said to have owned some original stores of genuine merit than any man on the Texas coast.

When Mr. Alexander Brown, the Baltimore banker, and associates got control of the harbor enterprise at Aransas Pass, Texas, they elected Mr. Brewster Cameron general manager of the company, and he had temporary charge of the business. Subsequently they elected Mr. Charles H. Sawyer, of St. Louis a brother-in-law of one of the Baltimore investors, vice president of the company and gave him concurrent authority with Mr. Cameron. Prior to Mr. Sawyer's arrival Mr. Cameron had called for bids to construct the trunk that had grown up in the streets of the Harbor Company's "future great city." Mr. Cameron was satisfied that there was collusion between the contractors, as all of the bids submitted were for approximately three cents per lineal foot, which was excessive. He accordingly gave a capable foreign instructions to hire and put to work by the day a number of experienced and trustworthy men, as it turned out by experience that the actual cost of removing the brush was one and one quarter cents per lineal foot. Mr. Cameron's next order was to get a rough diamond, an extremely low bid, the lowest by a man named Gaylor, who proposed cutting out one mile of streets at a "trifle less than one cent per lineal foot. Gaylor was a truck farmer, and he was in hard luck, financially. He had his son intended to do the work themselves and were content to make mere wages.

Mr. Cameron has the reputation down in Texas of turning a dollar loose with his nimble fingers whenever there are two more in sight, and Sawyer immediately concluded that Gaylor had taken advantage of Cameron's prodigal liberality to secure a fat contract. The contract was almost completed when Sawyer learned of it. Cameron was absent at the time, so Sawyer rather "let it go" and Gaylor, who was streaming with perspiration and suppressed profanity over a contract that paid him less than eighty cents per day.

"Mr. Gaylor," said Sawyer, "the price which Mr. Cameron has agreed to pay you for this work is extravagant and out of all reason." "It is," replied Gaylor, "and I have cut this scattering brush out of an entire block (400 lineal feet) in one day." Gaylor is not only an athlete, but a wit, and the ridiculous performance of Sawyer struck him mainly for its originality. "Well," said Mr. Sawyer, "you had better telegraph the fact immediately to Mr. Alexander Brown, at Baltimore, for you can earn a devilish sight more money for him in cutting brush out of the streets than in playing vice-president of the Aransas Pass Harbor Co."

THE OUTLAWS

Increasing in Numbers and Getting Bold

For the last several days many rumors of the whereabouts of the Nogales bank robbers have floated about. However, when these rumors are traced to some reliable source, it is found that with every repetition the story was exaggerated beyond belief.

The robbers having become cognizant of the fact that the sheriff's posse have returned, they are coming from their mountain fastnesses and becoming bold, have sent word to different parties that they were about to start an ambuscade and a portion of the county was to be depopulated. Black Jack has a special dislike against Sheriff Fry, among other things, because the sheriff has the favorite horse of that noted personage and rides him on all occasions.

Should the robbers become too venturesome it is needless to say they will have an opportunity to brush with a posse of the officers constantly on the lookout for any sign of their whereabouts.

One report circulated is to the effect that the other robbers chased into Mexico have joined the two near Mud springs and the S. P. strikers and are planning to have increased the guard on this division.—Prospector.

It stopped the hair from falling out, stimulated a new growth of hair, and kept the scalp free from dandruff. Only an occasional application is now needed to keep my hair of good, natural color. Col. Hampson's Good Fortune

All of the old timers in Arizona will remember Col. J. H. Hampson as one of the most genial and successful of all the railroad builders on the Pacific coast. Through his genius as a railroad contractor, he laid here the foundation of the fame and good fortune that has since followed him everywhere. The money he made in Arizona he invested here in lands and cattle; his ranch interests being among the largest in the territory. Col. Hampson's friends will be glad to learn that he has been as successful in Mexico, his present home, as he was in Arizona where everything he touched turned into gold. We reproduce the following paragraph concerning Col. Hampson from a long interview of Mr. Brewster Cameron in the San Antonio Express, descriptive of a trip through picturesque Mexico:

"I had the pleasure in Mexico of meeting Col. J. H. Hampson, who is known throughout the United States as the prince of railway builders. He is president of the Mexico, Cuernavaca & Pacific railway, that is now being rapidly built from the City of Mexico to Acapulco, the best harbor on the Pacific coast. This is the most important unfinished railroad in Mexico, both for commercial and military purposes. Its completion will immediately restore the ancient commercial prestige of the port of Acapulco. A branch road will connect the city of Cuernavaca with the Pacific railway, that is now being rapidly built to the Mexican government for strategic purposes.

The high esteem in which Col. Hampson is held by President Diaz is proof that that great statesman appreciates the services of those who have substantially contributed to the material development of our republic. Col. Hampson has already taken his place in history as the greatest railroad builder that Mexico has ever known. His road to Acapulco, which will be the crown work of his life, will not only traverse a country that is rich in coal and all of the minerals, but one that produces in tropical abundance all of the agricultural and horticultural products of the temperate zone. The road also traverses a region that is beautiful beyond description in every variety of scenery, portions of the line being the most picturesque in Mexico. The road from the level of Acapulco to 10,700 feet at Tres Marias, its present terminus, where we took a ten horse coach for Cuernavaca. I shall never forget the stage ride to this spot, and the ravishingly beautiful colors of the landscape that spread out like a panorama in the valley below us. From Cuernavaca, looking up the steep mountain side from whence we had come, towering above the clouds, are the white crests of Popocatepetl and Ixtaccihuatl, whose peaks are covered with eternal snow.

"No language can describe the beauty of the valley of Cuernavaca, as seen in every direction from the roof of the governor's palace, a building that was erected by Cortez. Cuernavaca was not only the home of Cortez, but it was the winter home of Maximilian. Adjacent to the former residence of this magnificent emperor, which was built by a wealthy miner at an expense of $1,500,000. Father or time has laid a heavy hand on the architecture of this city, but its former splendor will shine through the ruins as long as the garden endures."

LONDON, Sept. 16.—The St. James Gazette this morning published a leading editorial article headed "A New Triple Alliance." The Gazette points out the official press of the continental semi-official press on the subject of Turkey and says: "We are openly hostile to European action if we are to be in Turkey against the will of the powers. But there is one combination which British statesmanship might effect. To states which have little to gain from Russia could not with us and end the tension. The United States and Italy are both understood to be friendly to Russia. Nevertheless neither is yet too deeply involved to be able to assume an independent attitude under British inspiration. Why should not England, the United States and Italy form a new Dreidrad? Plenty of Americans would regard with enthusiasm the spectacle of the Union Jack and Stars and Stripes floating side by side in the Bosphorus to back their joint demands. The Russian combination would go to pieces at the mere aspect of this genuine league of peace and a new Dreidrad might lead to a fresh grouping of the powers and delivery of Europe both from Turkish misrule and dangerous thralldom of Russia into which it is sinking.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 16.—The democratic state convention which assembled today began business with every indication of being as memorable an occasion as has ever been seen in the political history of Connecticut. While the delegates numbering 800, are almost solely for the endorsement of the Chicago platform and candidates, the whole machinery of the state and territories of Mexico.

There followed carriages containing officers of the Alliance, members of the Alliance on foot, headed by the Philharmonic band, saluting the delegates, and unique floats, Company B. N. G. A. and horsemen and bicyclists. There were carried in front of the procession two beautiful silver banners, one of Mexico the other of the United States. After a stately march the procession reached the city hall plaza and disbanded. The next feature of the celebration consisted of literary exercises, introduced by the Mexican hymn by the Philharmonic band. Addresses were delivered by Judge Lovell, Judge Wright and Messrs. Carlos Gustum and Juan Merino. There was also a Spanish recitation by Miss Margarita Rubio. These exercises were closed by the singing of the national hymn by ten voices. After this the crowd moved to the military plaza, where the celebration of the eighty-sixth anniversary of the beginning of Mexican independence went out in the roar and glare of fireworks.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—A despatch to the Herald from Constantinople, says a young Turkey party is covering the city with placards inciting people to destroy the Sultan. The report of the committee on credentials having been adopted the committee on permanent organization reported, naming ex-Congressman Hoza H. Rockwell, of Chicago, permanent chairman. He was greeted with applause. He made an able speech in accordance to the Chicago platform and ticket. The first plank of the platform is as follows: "The democratic party of the state of New York in convention assembled, unreservedly endorses the platform adopted by the democratic party national convention at Chicago, July 7, 1896, and cordially approves the nominations there made, pledges William J. Bryan and Arthur Sewall its cordial, active support, and declares as its deliberate judgment that never in the history of the democratic party has a platform been written which embodies more completely the interest of the whole people as distinguished from the interests of a few, and which is for private benefit, than that given the country by the national democratic convention of 1896." The platform denounces the Raikes excise law.

The platform as reported was unanimously adopted. The nominations for governor being in order Albany county presented the name of John Boyd Thatcher; Allegheny county, the recent Congressman Sulzer; Jefferson county presented Wills F. Potter, of Watertown. Thatcher was nominated.

and sponsors from silver and the national unionists. The convention opened this morning.

Later: Mark Smith nominated by acclamation.

Nothing Wrecks the Constitution More effectively than fever and ague. That nerve destroying malarial agent, once it takes firm root, subverts every function, exhausts the physical strength, impoverishes the blood and clouds the mental faculties. No effective resistance can be offered to its destructive career by the use of the pernicious quinine. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will, however, be found sufficient either for its eradication or prevention. These conditions of the system, such as a bilious, constipated habit, or lack of vitality, which are favorable to the contraction of the disease, are speedily reformed by this pure and efficient alternative and invigorant, which not only cures the system, but gives a healthy impulse to the various organs, whose activity is the best guarantee of health. Thoroughness of action is the chief characteristic of this leading specific and preventative, which is eminently adapted for family use.

APPROPRIATELY CELEBRATED

The Closing Exercises of Mex'cen Independence Day.

The general verdict, as expressed last evening after the day's celebration had closed, was that no such demonstration had ever taken place on any preceding 16th of September, in Tucson, and that the last Fourth of July celebration, which was indeed creditable, was eclipsed by our Mexican brethren yesterday. The patriotism, energy and harmonious unity which characterized every effort of these citizens is extremely praiseworthy, and unstinted commendation is their due.

At six o'clock yesterday morning the real celebration of the day began. At that hour the executive committee of the Spanish Alliance assembled at the city hall, and the ceremony of saluting the Mexican and United States flags was performed. The committee, headed by the military band, marched to the Catholic church and engaged in religious exercises. Nothing more was done until 4 o'clock. From the hall those intending to participate in the parade went to the military plaza, where the procession was formed. It was led by the military band, followed by a magnificently decorated float, on which the most prominent figures were Misses Francis Mouton, Mercedes Ornel and Maria Elias, representing respectively, "America," "Justice" and "Liberty." The float bore besides, twenty-seven young ladies, representing the states and territories of Mexico.

There followed carriages containing officers of the Alliance, members of the Alliance on foot, headed by the Philharmonic band, saluting the delegates, and unique floats, Company B. N. G. A. and horsemen and bicyclists. There were carried in front of the procession two beautiful silver banners, one of Mexico the other of the United States. After a stately march the procession reached the city hall plaza and disbanded. The next feature of the celebration consisted of literary exercises, introduced by the Mexican hymn by the Philharmonic band. Addresses were delivered by Judge Lovell, Judge Wright and Messrs. Carlos Gustum and Juan Merino. There was also a Spanish recitation by Miss Margarita Rubio. These exercises were closed by the singing of the national hymn by ten voices. After this the crowd moved to the military plaza, where the celebration of the eighty-sixth anniversary of the beginning of Mexican independence went out in the roar and glare of fireworks.

At the regular meeting of Arizona Lodge No. 1, A. O. U. W., last evening, the committee, with Apache Lodge No. 8, was unanimously favored. The lodge will vote upon the question tonight, and it is almost a foregone conclusion that this organization will follow the action of last evening. This consolidation will give Tucson the strongest A. O. U. W. lodge in the southwest, and it will be an organization of which any city, even of greater pretensions than the old pueblo, might be justly proud.

FEARS ENTERTAINED

Of Another Yaqui Outbreak at Nogales

Grave accounts of Yaqui and Papagoes arising, are coming in from all parts of Pima county. Liza Rider Co. W. Webb, who came in Thursday from an extended trip along the line, reports that he met numerous parties of two or three Indians well armed with plenty of ammunition. It is stated that a brisk business in arms and ammunition has been done at Tucson and the gun shops in that town have been busy repairing firearms of all kinds. There are grave apprehensions that the trouble is impending, and another descent on Nogales is among the possibilities.—Oasis.

At the regular meeting of Arizona Lodge No. 1, A. O. U. W., last evening, the committee, with Apache Lodge No. 8, was unanimously favored. The lodge will vote upon the question tonight, and it is almost a foregone conclusion that this organization will follow the action of last evening. This consolidation will give Tucson the strongest A. O. U. W. lodge in the southwest, and it will be an organization of which any city, even of greater pretensions than the old pueblo, might be justly proud.
