

FIFTEEN CENTS A WEEK.

NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY MORNING, MARCH 21, 1850.

VOLUME III.—NUMBER 16.

BUSINESS CARDS.

Business cards for various firms including PAYNE & HARRISON, H. M. McLANE & CO., and others, listing services and contact information.

INSURANCE.

Insurance advertisements for Mutual Protection Insurance Co., Nashville, Tenn., and other insurance companies.

FANCY GOODS.

Advertisements for fancy goods and dry goods, including J. Brader Smith's commission merchant services.

SHIPPING.

Shipping notices and advertisements for various vessels and routes, including Charleston and Havana.

The Daily Crescent.

Editorial content and news articles, including a detailed report on the Webster speech and the political situation in Washington.

The Furthest Diversion.

A satirical or humorous piece titled 'The Furthest Diversion' by M. L. LAMARINE.

Some possible features of this extraordinary case.

A commentary or analysis piece discussing political events and the implications of the Webster speech.