The Whistling Road.

The Committee on Roads and Canals have reported favorably to the great work as the only mode of connecting the two continents.

The distance between Canton and London by this route will be four-fourths, and the economy of time will be one-third.

New York and Canton is still greater, in distance one-half, and in time about five-fifths.

The construction of such a road will necessarily throw the whole commerce of the East into one line, and the whole of the New World into the great depot of Oriental wealth.

When America obtains this commerce it will be by no bloody title deeds—by no Dr. C. & C. with human life and the principles of justice, but by the iron laws of political economy.

The other day we saw floating down the Mississippi a large barge called the "Yankee Notion."

The Pope is accused of again attempting to escape from Rome, and is being hunted by the French. Unless the Pope yields to liberal intentions, there is reason to apprehend that the Papal government is near its end.

Mr. Soule's proposed amendment.—Mr. Soule has given notice to the Senate that he will propose the following five sections in lieu of the first three embraced in the Compromise Bill.

Section 1. Be it enacted, That as soon as California shall have passed a law to admit her into the Union, she shall be admitted on the same terms as the other States of the Union.

Section 2. Be it enacted, That the President of the United States shall have authority to suspend the operation of the laws of the United States in any territory or in any part thereof, when he shall deem it necessary for the public safety, or to execute the laws, or to suppress insurrection, or to quell a riot or insurrection.

Section 3. Be it enacted, That the President of the United States shall have authority to suspend the operation of the laws of the United States in any territory or in any part thereof, when he shall deem it necessary for the public safety, or to execute the laws, or to suppress insurrection, or to quell a riot or insurrection.

Section 4. Be it enacted, That the President of the United States shall have authority to suspend the operation of the laws of the United States in any territory or in any part thereof, when he shall deem it necessary for the public safety, or to execute the laws, or to suppress insurrection, or to quell a riot or insurrection.

Section 5. Be it enacted, That the President of the United States shall have authority to suspend the operation of the laws of the United States in any territory or in any part thereof, when he shall deem it necessary for the public safety, or to execute the laws, or to suppress insurrection, or to quell a riot or insurrection.

Section 6. Be it enacted, That the President of the United States shall have authority to suspend the operation of the laws of the United States in any territory or in any part thereof, when he shall deem it necessary for the public safety, or to execute the laws, or to suppress insurrection, or to quell a riot or insurrection.

Section 7. Be it enacted, That the President of the United States shall have authority to suspend the operation of the laws of the United States in any territory or in any part thereof, when he shall deem it necessary for the public safety, or to execute the laws, or to suppress insurrection, or to quell a riot or insurrection.

Section 8. Be it enacted, That the President of the United States shall have authority to suspend the operation of the laws of the United States in any territory or in any part thereof, when he shall deem it necessary for the public safety, or to execute the laws, or to suppress insurrection, or to quell a riot or insurrection.

Section 9. Be it enacted, That the President of the United States shall have authority to suspend the operation of the laws of the United States in any territory or in any part thereof, when he shall deem it necessary for the public safety, or to execute the laws, or to suppress insurrection, or to quell a riot or insurrection.

Section 10. Be it enacted, That the President of the United States shall have authority to suspend the operation of the laws of the United States in any territory or in any part thereof, when he shall deem it necessary for the public safety, or to execute the laws, or to suppress insurrection, or to quell a riot or insurrection.

Section 11. Be it enacted, That the President of the United States shall have authority to suspend the operation of the laws of the United States in any territory or in any part thereof, when he shall deem it necessary for the public safety, or to execute the laws, or to suppress insurrection, or to quell a riot or insurrection.

Section 12. Be it enacted, That the President of the United States shall have authority to suspend the operation of the laws of the United States in any territory or in any part thereof, when he shall deem it necessary for the public safety, or to execute the laws, or to suppress insurrection, or to quell a riot or insurrection.

Section 13. Be it enacted, That the President of the United States shall have authority to suspend the operation of the laws of the United States in any territory or in any part thereof, when he shall deem it necessary for the public safety, or to execute the laws, or to suppress insurrection, or to quell a riot or insurrection.

Continuation of Foreign News.

We have received the following telegraphic summary by the way of St. Louis, per steamer Venus, being twenty-four hours in advance of the mail.

France.—The debate on the Electoral bill had commenced; great excitement was manifested. After the presentation of an enormous number of amendments, from all parts of France, against the bill, and after a preliminary contest on the question of urgency, it was carried against the Mountain party, by a vote of 497 to 229.

General Cavagnac, whose name was first on the list of speakers, ascended the tribune. He rested his opposition to the measure on the letter and spirit of the Constitution, which required, not its first principle, the right of universal suffrage; the bill was not to regulate, but to destroy that suffrage; besides, it was ill-timed, as it raised, for the next two years, insurmountable difficulties in the way of the government, and dangerous, because it would give to the country the means of electing a government which should feel that they had been unjustly deprived of privileges which had been conferred upon them by the Constitution.

The next important orator was Victor Hugo, who delivered a glowing language on universal suffrage on Wednesday. There was an immense concourse around the hall of Assembly. A great sensation was created by the presentation of a petition demanding an appeal to the Nation. A correspondent of the Times writes that there can be no doubt whatever that the cabinet is only watching an opportunity for suspending the law and placing the country under the yoke of the army. The cabinet is, however, not so far from being declared martial law.

Several secret manufacturers of gunpowder have been discovered in the prosecution of the press contents unabated. The Pope is accused of again attempting to escape from Rome, and is being hunted by the French. Unless the Pope yields to liberal intentions, there is reason to apprehend that the Papal government is near its end.

Her Majesty's ship "Hesperus" has been sent to Naples by Sir William Parker, with the view of, by demanding reparation for losses sustained by the English in Greece.

The Greeks, unwary of what had passed between England and France, had honorably received Mr. Wier and resumed their relations with him. Admiral Parker has been sent to Naples by Sir William Parker, with the view of, by demanding reparation for losses sustained by the English in Greece.

Denmark and the Duchies.—Advices from Hamburg state, that the pacification of Denmark is now carried on in London. That England stands in the way of the proposal of Russia to bring matters to a summary decision.

Austria and Hungary.—The Jesuits had been again expelled into Vienna, in spite of the opposition of ecclesiastical authorities. Dalmatia has been definitely placed under the rule of the Emperor of Austria.

Germany.—The Belgian Congress of Princes closed definitely on the 10th. The Governments of the North were to be sent to Prussia—the agreement of persons to be left to Prussia—the agreement of persons to be left to Prussia.

Congressional.—Mr. Yule moved to amend the 38th section of the Missouri Compromise, so as to extend the territory of South Carolina, long and tedious as it was to-day, only served to confound and mystify the subject; but, as two extremes oppose the provision restricting the Territories from passing laws for the benefit of slavery, it is safe to say that the objection to any agitation of the slavery subject in a Territorial Legislature is very obvious.

Mr. Webster asked the Senator from Florida could expedite the motion to pass without debate. Mr. Yule said, the only question with him was, as to when the debate should take place; as, however, Senators apparently desired to debate the question now, he would not press the motion.

Mr. Foster resumed his remarks on the subject of the Missouri Compromise, and stated that he had no objection to the Missouri Compromise, but that he had no objection to the Missouri Compromise, but that he had no objection to the Missouri Compromise.

Mr. Clay hoped it would not be taken up, and gave his reasons. After a debate, the resolution was laid on the table.

Mr. Whitecomb addressed the Senate. The question was then taken on Mr. Chase's proposition, which was carried by a majority of 23 yeas and 23 nays.

Mr. Douglas moved to strike out the entire restriction in relation to slavery. Mr. Walker moved to amend the section by introducing a clause establishing "poor servitude in the territories. Pending this motion, the Senate adjourned.
