

Announcements—This Evening.
The President's Proclamation.
Local Matters.
General Council.
The President's Proclamation.
Local Matters.
General Council.

Announcements—This Evening.
The President's Proclamation.
Local Matters.
General Council.
The President's Proclamation.
Local Matters.
General Council.

Announcements—This Evening.
The President's Proclamation.
Local Matters.
General Council.
The President's Proclamation.
Local Matters.
General Council.

Announcements—This Evening.
The President's Proclamation.
Local Matters.
General Council.
The President's Proclamation.
Local Matters.
General Council.

Announcements—This Evening.
The President's Proclamation.
Local Matters.
General Council.
The President's Proclamation.
Local Matters.
General Council.

Announcements—This Evening.
The President's Proclamation.
Local Matters.
General Council.
The President's Proclamation.
Local Matters.
General Council.

Announcements—This Evening.
The President's Proclamation.
Local Matters.
General Council.
The President's Proclamation.
Local Matters.
General Council.

The Daily Crescent.

OFFICIAL JOURNAL
Of the Council of the Second Municipality.

NEW ORLEANS:
FRIDAY MORNING, MAY 6, 1881.

See First and Fourth Pages.

A deflating agent of the Crescent, who has been in the city several days, had better call at the office and settle, or he may have to wait on the Recorder.

INTERESTING RUMOR.—It was currently circulated in the streets yesterday, that the Spanish Consul had received a telegraphic dispatch from the Balise, announcing a revolution in Cuba. We could not trace the rumor to any reliable authority, and we give it for what it is worth.

SECOND CALIBRE.—The new rifle which was used in the late war, is now being used in Cuba. It is a very good rifle, and is being used in Cuba.

PLACID VARIETIES.—On Monday night, Mr. Lott had his benefit. This comedian is one of the best stage men we have ever had in New Orleans, and he is now appearing in the city.

NEW MUSIC.—We have received from Messrs. Tyler & Maxwell, No. 20, the following new songs: "The World's Fair Quizzes," by William Dumas, with a beautiful vocal solo; "The World's Fair Quizzes," by William Dumas, with a beautiful vocal solo.

THE TOBACCO CRIP.—The subject of the tobacco crop in this city, will show that the prospect for the tobacco crop was discouraging even before the late severe frosts.

THE COTTON CROP.—The Greenbrough (Ala.) Beacon has the authority of some of the oldest planters in Green county for saying that the cotton crop at this time, is quite as backward and unprosperous, as was ever known in that section.

THE COLUMBIA (Ga.) Times says that the frost in that vicinity on the 31st of May was very injurious to the growing cotton crop. One fifty acre field, within nine miles of Columbus, was totally destroyed.

PAROUL was expected to give her first grand concert in Mobile yesterday. Excitement was high. No doubt that her reception was cordial and overflowing.

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS.—The Richmond papers of last Saturday were full of notices of the visit of the Hon. A. H. Stuart, Secretary of the Interior; Mr. Fillmore and daughter, and the Hon. Nathan K. Hall, Postmaster General, with his lady and daughter. The Republican says: "Mr. Fillmore and her party, who have visited this city for the first time, received the warmest welcome from our citizens, and they returned, we hope, favorably impressed with the metropolis of the Old Dominion. We should be glad to see his Excellency, the President, and his family, on their return from their tour of inspection."

CONSUL TO CUBA.—The Hon. Allen F. Owen, of Georgia, recently appointed to the American Consulate at Havana, sailed from Charleston in the steamer Isabel, on the 1st instant, for the scene of his official duties.

COMMISSIONER EWBANK.—It is stated that the charges against Commissioner Ewbank have been dismissed by the Secretary of the Interior and Attorney General, and that the statement to that effect has been sent to the gentleman.

THE MINNESOTA LEGISLATURE.—The Minnesota Legislature has substituted for the bill which was passed by the House, a bill which is more liberal in its provisions.

ABBEY OF BANK ROBBERS.—Levi Cole, the accomplice of Tom Kamoshe, who stands charged with being connected with the Phenix Bank robbery in Rhode Island, was arrested in Baltimore, on the night of the 29th ult.

FATHER MATHEW is in Louisville.

The Mississippi River at Natchez is now falling rapidly. On Tuesday, by the report of the Courier, it was 6 feet and 3 inches below the high water mark of this season.

THE THREE CENT PIECES.—Thompson's Reporter calls this new coinage a dead swindle, and says: "3333-1-3 of these pieces make a hundred dollars, and contain $833 of silver, leaving 50 cents in the hands of the $167 of an every $33." And pray let us ask if the value of the coin is not so dead a swindle.

CURTIS, S. C., April 30, 1881.—The crops—It is really that the farmers in this section have met with a season so unfavorable for making head with their crops as they have never known before. The frequent heavy rains, during the month of March and in the early part of April, so balked the earth as to render much planting necessary. In addition to this, the coldness of the season, continued almost without a day's interval, and with frequent frosts, has been so unfavorable for planting that those who have succeeded in planting early have been mostly compelled to open their fields and replant. It is only in the most general sense that it is likely to be anything but a fair stand of either cotton or corn of the first planting. (Palmetto Standard.)

FALSE RUMORS.—The Washington Republic very emphatically denies rumors which have been set on foot respecting Mr. Secretary Cameron having an interest in a claim now before the Treasury Department, and also the allegation that some coldness had existed between the President and Secretary of State.

We understand (says the New York Express) that instructions have been received from the Treasury Department, directing the revenue officers to strictly enforce the provisions of the Act of March 2, 1799, requiring, under a heavy penalty, masters both of United States and foreign vessels, on arriving within four leagues of the coast, to have on board duplicate manifests of their cargoes.

The President's Proclamation.

In the discussion of this matter, for lack of law and arguments, the Delta has found it necessary to depart from the usual course, and to make a personal issue with the editor of this paper. We wish to strengthen its position, and to make the false impression that he had attacked the conduct and motives of his own son, it has twice dragged his family before the public in the most brutal manner.

The senior editor of the Crescent, since he is driven to it, does not hesitate to say that he is proud of being descended from a stock, who never sought to influence others to do what they had not the courage to do themselves. His father fell in the struggle for the independence of Texas. That was a noble and a glorious cause. The people of Texas had stroked the blow for freedom. He went there, not with an organized expedition, but as an individual, became one of them, and identified his own fortunes with theirs. His son, an ardent and patriotic citizen, was induced to believe in the expediency of an expedition for the promotion of a cause equally pure and holy. He was fully persuaded that the revolution was to be commenced by the Creoles of Cuba, and that he and others, who were going to their assistance, would be organized into a military expedition until they were beyond the limits and jurisdiction of the United States. But he and his associates were disappointed. They found that the people of the island not only declined to take up arms, and strike for liberty and independence, but actually took up arms against them. They, therefore, came home, perfectly sick of their folly, and with a fixed determination never to go into another expedition, until they knew something about it.

Under these circumstances, though the son went into the expedition without the knowledge or consent of his father, he could not do otherwise than approve his motives, and forgive his disobedience and folly. If the people of Cuba desire to be independent and free, let them signify it by doing what they can. Let them furnish the money to buy the arms and munitions of war, and to purchase and equip the steamers necessary to a successful struggle for freedom. They will then deserve the aid and sympathies of the friends of liberty in this country, and throughout the world. Under such circumstances, we should not be behind the Delta, we trust, in our zeal for their success. Last year we were assured that they were doing all this, and we refer to our articles written under the title, to prove that we were told and unequivocal ground in favor of the revolution, on the ground that they had done all that was morally and physically possible under the circumstances. But unfortunately the result proved that we were misinformed and misled. The people of Cuba had done nothing. If they wanted to be free, they gave no proof of it, but by taking up arms against their father, they showed their abhorrence to assist them. So far as we know and believe, the Creoles and people of Cuba, up to the present hour, have given no evidence of a desire to throw off the present Government, however oppressive it may be.

THE MUNICIPAL PRINTING.—The Delta is quite distressed at the misfortune which has befallen the Crescent, by one of the proprietors having been elected printer. We beg leave to assure our readers that we were not actuated by any sordid motives in accepting the office. An enlarged philanthropy—an irresistible desire to spread the light, and the proceedings of our Municipal Council, compelled us to accept of the office. But still, our good sense of propriety has not permitted us to indulge this feeling at the ruinous cost of $6000 only for $3000 receipts. The wear and tear of the press, we think, is an item in the contract that the Delta has entered into with us, and it is not our duty to neglect it. We have never been able to understand, why the cent has never come into common use for the small transactions. The introduction of the new piece will at once reduce the price of many articles which now rate at five cents, simply because it is the lowest denomination of coin in use. But not only the cent piece will, in many instances, take the place of the larger coin. It will be of great service, to those of our population to whom every saving is of consequence. We do not know who is entitled to the credit of originating the measure. But he certainly is a democrat, in the true sense of the word. It will be a great benefit to the people, and a sufficient amount of the new piece will be coined to answer all the purposes of postage. As, however, the great majority of letters will be prepaid, the advantage of the new issue will be to keep up the stock, in some degree, of the small change, now so rapidly disappearing.

LITERARY NOTICES.
The number for May I has been received by Morgan.

THE LONDON ARMY JOURNAL.
The number for April is at Morgan's. More than this exquisite work seems to be more than a mere predecessor.

THE FERTILITY OF THE FRUIT TREES.
This is a treatise on the physiology of fruit trees, intended to illustrate the theory and practice of all operations connected with the propagation, transplanting, pruning and training of orchard and garden trees. It is the work of a New York Nurseryman, and appears to be just the book needed, being in a popular way on an interesting and important branch of agriculture. For sale at J. B. Stearns.

HERBERT SPENCER, or Sketches of Society, Civilization and Progress, taken from his "Principles of Sociology."

THE HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, made up of the literary articles of the Home Journal, which is so popular through the Union.

MISS LIND.—This charming lady's intended first concert in Baltimore was postponed on account of illness. She was expected to give two in Baltimore, and it was for charitable purposes. Her arrangement, therefore, was to give two concerts in Philadelphia, one of which was to be for the benefit of the members of the orchestra that has accompanied her South and West. On Wednesday night and last night she was announced to give two concerts in New York. They were arranged on a grand scale. The whole Theatre Royal and Opera House had been engaged for them, swelling the orchestra to over one hundred persons. Castle Garden had been rented and fitted up for this series of concerts, an arrangement affording an opportunity for a large number of persons to be present, than would be possible at any other room in the city. The price of tickets had been fixed at five cents to three dollars each, according to the location of seats, which were all to be numbered and the privilege of a choice to be offered, as at the previous concerts at the Garden, at auction.

ROBERT IN PENNSYLVANIA ARRESTED.—A young man was arrested at a house of ill-name in Philadelphia, Pa., on Monday night, on the night of the 25th ult. on suspicion of having been the partner of the late John Brown, at the time he had plundered the $2,300 from Mr. Brown, at the Merchants' Bank, Philadelphia, on Saturday, the 25th ult. His manner at Doylestown excited the suspicion of the officers, Messrs. Buck and Thomson, who followed him to Easton, where they made the arrest. The accused, on being arrested, made a full confession of the transaction, and gave his name as Charles H. Williams. About sixteen hundred dollars of the stolen money was found in his possession. He traded horse there, and gave two hundred and fifty dollars extra for the pair he took.

THE ARRIVAL OF IMMIGRANTS.—A dispatch from New York, dated April 20, says that thirty-four hundred immigrants had arrived at that port from Europe, within thirty-six hours.

Miss Charlotte Cushman made her first appearance in Newville on Monday, 23th ult.

Local Matters.

GENERAL COUNCIL.—A meeting of the members of the General Council was held last night, at the First Municipality Council Chamber. Present—Dr. Alphonse, (in the Chair), H. B. Payne, J. J. Logenbuhl, L. J. Harris, T. W. Collins, L. Surgi, G. Allan, C. M. Waterman, W. C. Thompson, John Lees, J. M. Caudin, and G. D. Ferrier.

A message from the Mayor was received, in which his honor avails himself of the occasion to state that the Liquigation Law has proved to be either inefficient in affording any relief to the fiscal condition of the city. An important feature had been declared unconstitutional, and the remaining portion was before the tribunals on a suit instituted by consent of parties, to test the legality of the same. The Mayor proceeded to say: "The uncertainty attending the administration of so important a statute, in consequence of its conflict with the organic law, has unquestionably expressed a prejudicial effect on the monetary affairs of the city. It is, therefore, my duty in pressing the hope that the next session of the General Assembly may, in its wisdom, provide for such Legislation as will enable us eventually to liquidate our liabilities with a view to public faith, and in such a manner as will weigh less heavily on the great body of taxpayers."

The Mayor alludes with pleasure to the health of the city during the past year, attributing it in part to the opening and laying out of streets in the rear, and also to the sanitary measures adopted by the Board of Health, with comparatively limited means at their disposal, had accomplished every thing that could be done towards improving the sanitary condition. The Mayor says: "The regular weekly publication of deaths by the Board have not been without their effect in checking the epidemic of cholera, which formerly prevailed in regard to the mortality of New Orleans, proving, as they have done, that with the rare exception of epidemics, in which all large cities are liable to be afflicted, as great a state of health as is enjoyed by equally populous communities."

In relation to Railroads and Internal Improvements, the Mayor holds the following language: "Since the communication which I have the honor to address to your predecessors, under date of the 10th October last, on the subject of Internal Improvements, it is gratifying in the extreme to observe that a very deep interest has been evinced in the cause by all classes of our citizens. The culpable apathy which I then took occasion to reprove, has been shaken off, and the energetic energies of the people are now so thoroughly aroused, that I participate the happiest results from the deliberations of the Board, which are now assembled here on the 16th ult. Two prominent companies, having for their object the connection of New Orleans with the Eastern and Western sections of our country, have been organized, and are being provisionally organized, and the hearty interest felt in the New Orleans, Jackson and North East Railroad, and the New Orleans, Jackson, Mobile and Madryville route, gives abundant assurance that both of these vitally important undertakings will be conducted to a successful issue."

ACCIDENT AT THE PLACIDE VARIETIES.—Last night at the above theatre, one of the actors, Mr. Charles, was accidentally stabbed through the arm, in the second act of the "Corn of Cadmore," by Mr. Wright. The accident did not prevent the performance, which was a success. Mr. Charles was taken to the hospital, and is now recovering.

RECORDED CALDWELL'S COURT.—A free woman of color, named Nancy Davis, was brought up on a charge of assault committed on Ellen Trout, in Phillips street, on Wednesday night. The person assaulted being dangerously ill from the violence of her blows, could not appear, and she was remanded.

A Suspicious Character.—On Wednesday night, about 8 o'clock, a man named P. Turner, was found secreted at the back of the office of the Cotton Press, at the corner of Techeopolis and Richard streets, by Mr. William Wilson, who, conceiving him to be there for no honest purpose, sought to take him to the police. He was taken to the police station, and is now in custody.

The Girl Street Thieves.—Edward Monaghan and David McCartney were charged with having robbed Michael Lyden, on the 20th of April, in Girod street, of $75. They were previously brought before the Recorder, and remanded, but they failed to appear. They were taken to the First District Court. The evidence proved that about five o'clock in the afternoon of the above day, Lyden was going up Girod street, and met Monaghan, who began to talk to him, and asked him who he worked at. He said he was a ditcher, and Monaghan said he worked on a steamboat, and then he went on to go into a house and rob him. He did not take anything, but he was taken to the police station, and is now in custody.

Scandal.—James White was brought up on a charge of swindling J. G. Farnsworth and C. Morton, taken from Illinois, out of thirty-five dollars in New Orleans, on the 20th of April. The case was taken up at the Recorder's office, and the case was remanded.

Stealing a Parcel and Cage.—John Williams and William Foster were charged with having stolen a parcel and cage from a house on Basin street, a few days ago. They were taken to the First District Court for trial.

Robbery.—Peter O'Rourke was brought before the Recorder for being found in the streets in disguise, and was also charged with robbing a man named Michael Shay. It appeared from the evidence, that between one and two o'clock yesterday morning, Watchman James M. Tyrrell met him at the corner of Ursaline and Old Levee streets, with his face blackened and a negro wig on. So well did he enact the negro character, that the watchman did not suspect him, and thought that he was a real blackamoor. He called the watchman aside, and told him that he had been to a ball in the Third Municipality, where an altercation took place between himself and several others, and that he had put on the disguise to get away. The watchman did not believe his statement, and took him into custody, and from information afterwards received, it was shown that about midway on Wednesday he went into a coffee-house at the corner of Louis and Marais streets, where he met Shay, and there he stole the money from him. He then threatened Shay's life, and with the help of three short blows, made of one-dollar gold pieces, with a small gold chain attached, and then he struck him on the back of the head with his hand.

Telegraphed to the "Crescent."

By the New Orleans and Ohio Line.
The following steamboats have passed this place this evening, on their way to New Orleans:
Tyler Hill, from St. Louis, at 5 P. M.
G. W. Kendall, from Cincinnati, at 8 P. M.
River still falling fast. The weather clear and pleasant.

CLAYVILLE, Tenn., April 29, P. M.—The weather is clear, warm, pleasant. River falling, with about five feet water on the shoals. The Sign passed down river, and the Susquehanna passed up river, and the weather was clear and pleasant.

GOVERNOR TRONDALE, democrat and Judge Campbell, both candidates for the office of Governor, addressed our citizens to-day. Very little excitement prevailed, and the meeting passed off quietly. The candidates leave for Dover to-morrow. In consequence of the meeting, there were no sales of tobacco to-day.

BOATMEN, April 29.—The Royal Mail steamship American Captain, which departed at 10 o'clock to-day for Liverpool with about one hundred and twenty-five passengers. Among them are Gen. Wm. H. Whited, bearer of dispatches to the Legation in London, and many Boston merchants, and others, bound to the World's Fair. In specie, she took $100,000 in American gold, and $5000 in Mexican dollars.

FROST IN WETUMPIA, Ala.—On the morning of the 21st and 22d instant, there was quite a frost in Wetumpia, Ala., and vicinity, which killed the cotton as well as much vegetation in the bottoms on the rivers and creeks. Little damage was felt in the uplands and hills. The Wetumpia State Guard of the 5th says, that this frost has done great injury to cotton, but that, indeed, the spring throughout has been one of the most unfavorable to the planting interests we have ever known in Alabama.

INTERESTING FROM CANADA.—Montreal, April 30, 1881.—The Colonial Government have just published dispatches lately received from Earl Grey, by Lord Egin, the Governor General, according to which the Imperial Government will not object to the reduction in the tariff, and will recommend the British Parliament to pay the Governor General of Canada, but, in return, will remove all troops, except from the garrisons of Quebec and Kingston, and will charge the province for ordnance, barracks, etc., also, for all presents that are made to the Indians. Earl Grey thinks that this will tend to a separation of the colonies from the mother country.

ANOTHER MAIL DEFERMENT.—Charles F. Otagar, a clerk in the Philadelphia Post-office, charged with falsifying the Philadelphia Post-office, has been examined before Commissioner Ingraham. The mail, unopened, had been found in his coat pocket, as it lay inside of the office. He was bound over in $4000 to take his trial before the U. S. District Judge, under the provisions of the act of 3d of March, 1825, relating to the Post-office. Bail was immediately returned.

Letter from Rev. James W. Johnston.
MOBILE, May 7, 1881.
My Dear Sir:—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 5th inst., and in reply to inform you that the same has been forwarded to the proper authorities for their consideration.

GOING NORTH.
The following steamboats will leave this morning for New Orleans:
Tyler Hill, from St. Louis, at 5 P. M.
G. W. Kendall, from Cincinnati, at 8 P. M.

PLACIDE VARIETIES.
The number for May I has been received by Morgan.

THE BARBER OF SEVILLE.
The number for April is at Morgan's.

Medical Circular.

The undersigned has chosen New Orleans as an abiding place for himself and family, grateful for the patronage which has been extended to him, and in order to be able to give the most accurate and reliable information to his patients, he has generally and treated them in the best manner in the day of antiquity. The advantages which the medical faculty of this city offers, are such as will be found in no other place. He has lived with and traveled much of the practice, learned the medicine and made of practice, and he has been successful in his practice. He has lived with and traveled much of the practice, learned the medicine and made of practice, and he has been successful in his practice.

From what experience I now have concerning the Medical Faculty of this city, I am fully convinced that the American medical profession is not only one of the best in the world, but also one of the most liberal and generous. It is a pity that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession, and that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession.

From what experience I now have concerning the Medical Faculty of this city, I am fully convinced that the American medical profession is not only one of the best in the world, but also one of the most liberal and generous. It is a pity that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession, and that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession.

From what experience I now have concerning the Medical Faculty of this city, I am fully convinced that the American medical profession is not only one of the best in the world, but also one of the most liberal and generous. It is a pity that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession, and that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession.

From what experience I now have concerning the Medical Faculty of this city, I am fully convinced that the American medical profession is not only one of the best in the world, but also one of the most liberal and generous. It is a pity that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession, and that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession.

From what experience I now have concerning the Medical Faculty of this city, I am fully convinced that the American medical profession is not only one of the best in the world, but also one of the most liberal and generous. It is a pity that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession, and that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession.

From what experience I now have concerning the Medical Faculty of this city, I am fully convinced that the American medical profession is not only one of the best in the world, but also one of the most liberal and generous. It is a pity that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession, and that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession.

From what experience I now have concerning the Medical Faculty of this city, I am fully convinced that the American medical profession is not only one of the best in the world, but also one of the most liberal and generous. It is a pity that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession, and that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession.

From what experience I now have concerning the Medical Faculty of this city, I am fully convinced that the American medical profession is not only one of the best in the world, but also one of the most liberal and generous. It is a pity that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession, and that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession.

From what experience I now have concerning the Medical Faculty of this city, I am fully convinced that the American medical profession is not only one of the best in the world, but also one of the most liberal and generous. It is a pity that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession, and that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession.

FOR CONSTANT.

W. K. FRYER, Indian Doctor.
The undersigned has chosen New Orleans as an abiding place for himself and family, grateful for the patronage which has been extended to him, and in order to be able to give the most accurate and reliable information to his patients, he has generally and treated them in the best manner in the day of antiquity. The advantages which the medical faculty of this city offers, are such as will be found in no other place. He has lived with and traveled much of the practice, learned the medicine and made of practice, and he has been successful in his practice.

From what experience I now have concerning the Medical Faculty of this city, I am fully convinced that the American medical profession is not only one of the best in the world, but also one of the most liberal and generous. It is a pity that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession, and that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession.

From what experience I now have concerning the Medical Faculty of this city, I am fully convinced that the American medical profession is not only one of the best in the world, but also one of the most liberal and generous. It is a pity that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession, and that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession.

From what experience I now have concerning the Medical Faculty of this city, I am fully convinced that the American medical profession is not only one of the best in the world, but also one of the most liberal and generous. It is a pity that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession, and that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession.

From what experience I now have concerning the Medical Faculty of this city, I am fully convinced that the American medical profession is not only one of the best in the world, but also one of the most liberal and generous. It is a pity that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession, and that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession.

From what experience I now have concerning the Medical Faculty of this city, I am fully convinced that the American medical profession is not only one of the best in the world, but also one of the most liberal and generous. It is a pity that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession, and that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession.

From what experience I now have concerning the Medical Faculty of this city, I am fully convinced that the American medical profession is not only one of the best in the world, but also one of the most liberal and generous. It is a pity that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession, and that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession.

From what experience I now have concerning the Medical Faculty of this city, I am fully convinced that the American medical profession is not only one of the best in the world, but also one of the most liberal and generous. It is a pity that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession, and that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession.

From what experience I now have concerning the Medical Faculty of this city, I am fully convinced that the American medical profession is not only one of the best in the world, but also one of the most liberal and generous. It is a pity that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession, and that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession.

From what experience I now have concerning the Medical Faculty of this city, I am fully convinced that the American medical profession is not only one of the best in the world, but also one of the most liberal and generous. It is a pity that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession, and that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession.

Notice to Shippers to California.

The undersigned has chosen New Orleans as an abiding place for himself and family, grateful for the patronage which has been extended to him, and in order to be able to give the most accurate and reliable information to his patients, he has generally and treated them in the best manner in the day of antiquity. The advantages which the medical faculty of this city offers, are such as will be found in no other place. He has lived with and traveled much of the practice, learned the medicine and made of practice, and he has been successful in his practice.

From what experience I now have concerning the Medical Faculty of this city, I am fully convinced that the American medical profession is not only one of the best in the world, but also one of the most liberal and generous. It is a pity that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession, and that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession.

From what experience I now have concerning the Medical Faculty of this city, I am fully convinced that the American medical profession is not only one of the best in the world, but also one of the most liberal and generous. It is a pity that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession, and that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession.

From what experience I now have concerning the Medical Faculty of this city, I am fully convinced that the American medical profession is not only one of the best in the world, but also one of the most liberal and generous. It is a pity that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession, and that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession.

From what experience I now have concerning the Medical Faculty of this city, I am fully convinced that the American medical profession is not only one of the best in the world, but also one of the most liberal and generous. It is a pity that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession, and that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession.

From what experience I now have concerning the Medical Faculty of this city, I am fully convinced that the American medical profession is not only one of the best in the world, but also one of the most liberal and generous. It is a pity that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession, and that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession.

From what experience I now have concerning the Medical Faculty of this city, I am fully convinced that the American medical profession is not only one of the best in the world, but also one of the most liberal and generous. It is a pity that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession, and that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession.

From what experience I now have concerning the Medical Faculty of this city, I am fully convinced that the American medical profession is not only one of the best in the world, but also one of the most liberal and generous. It is a pity that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession, and that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession.

From what experience I now have concerning the Medical Faculty of this city, I am fully convinced that the American medical profession is not only one of the best in the world, but also one of the most liberal and generous. It is a pity that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession, and that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession.

From what experience I now have concerning the Medical Faculty of this city, I am fully convinced that the American medical profession is not only one of the best in the world, but also one of the most liberal and generous. It is a pity that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession, and that the public is not more generally acquainted with the merits of the American medical profession.