Mr. Brewster in Ohio. It is stated that Mr. Brewster is in Newport, dressed in the "old, common, long coat..."

Secretary Merrill. This gentleman has accepted a nomination for the Supreme Bench of the State Courts of Pennsylvania.

Progress. Twenty-four hundred marriage licenses have been issued by the County Clerk of Gloucester, Ohio, during the year ending the first of August.

Disorderly Order in Ohio. The disorderly Plymouth, lying at Norfolk, has been ordered to Ohio immediately, but has not yet sailed, owing to unfavorable weather.

Emigration. Within two days, the 30th and 31st of July, five thousand eight hundred and eleven emigrants arrived at New York. Most of them were from England and Ireland.

Massachusetts. Among the speech of a candidate for Governor, is the Hon. Robert C. Winthrop, formerly Speaker of the House of Representatives, and more recently U. S. Senator from Massachusetts.

Deaths of Nurses in Great Britain. In 1891, there were 498,205 more females than males in Great Britain. In 1892, the excess is 550,157. In 1893, the excess of females in the metropolis was 582,207. In 1894, it is 1,142,400—an increase greater than the whole increase of population would lead one to expect.

Another Railroad Riot. There was a disturbance on the 2nd, among the laborers on the Railroad, at Farmington, Va. The military were called out, and soon suppressed the disorder. No lives were lost, though several were severely injured. Eleven of the rioters were committed to jail for further examination.

Fire in Ashland, Mass.—On the 30th ult. the fire in Ashland, Mass., with bars and stables attached, were consumed by fire, also four valuable horses and several carriages, a large quantity of grain, etc. The furniture of the hotel was partly saved. The hotel was kept by W. A. Scott, and owned by John Dowd.

The Gardiner Fraud.—A correspondent of the New York Evening Post says that the President is sending a commissioner out to California and Missouri to investigate the whole matter, and is looking for a man to have it a white-washing commission merely. Whether they will succeed or not, will depend upon the amount of evidence that can be procured at the trial. It is, however, asserted by the friends of Gardiner, that the witness offered by Gallagher and Gardner were different from the one owned by Gardner on which the sword was made.

The Aloe.—This plant, which grows in abundance on the poorest soils in Florida, and attains an immense size, has lately been discovered to be useful for manufacturing purposes. The St. Augustine Ancient City says: "A beautiful specimen of a fishing-line has been made from the fibres of the so-called century plant, which abounds here. It has the smoothness and lustre of silk, and great strength, and will stand for a long time in water. The subject of introducing its cultivation for cordage is well worth attention."

Narrow Escape on a Locomotive.—As the passenger train from Cleveland was on its way to Columbus, on the 25th ult., the engineer, Mr. Brewster, discovered that the lining in the jacket was on fire, and got on top of the locomotive with a pail of water. Just then the engine struck a rough joint in the road, and while the train was passing at the rate of thirty-five or forty miles an hour, he was thrown from the engine. Before the train was stopped it was some five or six miles from the scene of the accident, and on its backing up Mr. Brewster was found seated in a mud hole, with folded arms, and surveying the prospect. He struck within six inches of a stump, proving that a miss may be as good as a mile. Brewster's feat of "ground and logy tumbling" can't be beat.

Another Fire at Kensington.—Mr. Wm. Altman's starch factory and the adjoining stable were consumed on the 21st July. The buildings occupied the eighth of an acre. The fire is believed to be the work of an incendiary. On the same night there was a second alarm. When the firemen came upon the ground at the second alarm, a dispute arose between the members of the Carroll and William Penn Hose companies about their respective rights to a fire plug, which ended in a fight. The disturbance was quieted by the interference of the Marshal's police.

A Chrono Mouse.—A chronos mouse has lately been discovered upon a piece of land lying in Nottingham township, Chester county, Pa. The discovery was made very soon after the property had been sold, at a low price, to the present owner, and the former proprietor, supposing that the existence of the mice was known to the purchaser at the time of the sale, has brought an action of ejectment against him, and a number of men whom he had employed to work the mine, and who were at the time twenty or thirty of the workmen, on the 17th ult., and bound them over to answer at the Court of Quarter Sessions.

Narrow Escape.—As Judge C. P. Smith, says the Woodville Republics of the 5th inst., was attempting to ford a small creek near the place, which had been suddenly swollen by the severe rain of the night, he was obliged to dismount, and it is almost miraculous that he escaped. The horse was drowned, and with the carriage struck down the current. The upset was so sudden, that the Judge did not have time to jump from his seat, and he went to the bottom before he extricated himself.

Anti-Corporate Punishment System.—A letter from one of the crews of the United States brig Bainbridge, dated at Montevideo, says: "We are proud of our naval life at present, and hope we shall have a pleasant cruise of it. The new law of Congress, abolishing the cat from the navy, works admirably—some few cases, however, but generally it is well received, and we hope they have made impression enough on us to keep us on our guard against breaking navy laws."

REMARKABLE CASE.—Dr. P. the celebrated Indian Doctor, has the credit of having cured a remarkable case of cholera, which was contracted by the late Mr. John Smith, of the City of New York. The patient was taken ill on the 10th inst., and died on the 12th. Dr. P. was called in on the 11th, and after a few days' treatment, the patient recovered. The case is a remarkable one, and is a proof of the efficacy of Dr. P.'s medicine.

It is a most valuable one for all purposes. It is a most valuable one for all purposes. It is a most valuable one for all purposes.
