EXTRACTED SPLINTERS.

A profane upstart—the man who sat on a bent pin.

The way it reads nowadays is:
"Get me behind thee, Satan."
Can archery be called an arrow-minded amusement?

Much may be said of the modern cigar, but you must draw it mild.

When you travel, imitate the elephant—alwas have your trunk in sight.

"Don't give way to despair, my dear," said a mother to her son, who was an apothecary, "but rest on hope." "Hope!" exclaimed the son, "hope is life's patent medicine, with which everybody is miserably deceived."

They were out driving. Said Theodore: "What tree, Angelina, bears the most precious fruit?" Angelina: "Oh, Dory, I can't tell, unless its a cherry tree." Theodore looked inutterable sweetness as he gazed into Angelina's eyes and said:
"The axle-tree, darling."

A gentleman by the name of Dunlop remarked that he had never heard his name punned upon, and did not believe it could be done.

"There is nothing easier, sir," replied a punster, "Just lop off one-half of the name, and it is dun."

Children who drink tea and coffee, says Dr. Ferguson, of England, as a rule only grow four pounds per annum, between the ages of fourteen and sixteen, while those who drink milk night and morning grow fifteen pounds each year! When diseases are prevalent in the neighborhood, children who use these drinks have less power to resist sickness than others.

HE WOULD MEDDLE.—Prince Peter, of Oldenburg, is at the head of the Imperial Russian College for girls, and is very diligent in performing his duties. He lately decided to see for himself whether there was any grounds for the complaints of the poor food furnished at the Smoling Convent, where 800 girls are educated. Proceeding to the institution just before the usual dinner hour, he avoided the main entrance, and walked toward the kitchen. At the door he met two servants carrying a huge steaming cudron.

"Hal!" he called out; "put that kettle down."

The servants, of course, obeyed.
"Bring me a spoon," he added!

The spoon was produced, but one of the servants ventured to begin a stammering remonstrance.

"Hold your tongue!" cried the Prince; "take off the lid. I insist on tasting it."

No further objections were raised, and the Prince took a large spoonful.

"You call this soup?" he cried,
"Why, it is dirty water!"

"It is, your Highness," replied the servants, "we have just been cleaning out the laundry."
