ST. TAMMANY PARISH.

ITS LOCATION—HEALTH—PRODUCTS—MANUFACTURING AND AGRICULTURAL ADVANTAGES, ETC.

St. Tammany parish is located twenty-two miles north of New Orleans. Covington, the county site, is ten miles further north, in the interior, and is delightfully located on the Egoe Falia.

IMMIGRANTS,

with a small amount of capital and a fair supply of industry and perseverance, cannot possibly do better than locate in our parish. The climate is as fine as any in the world. The winters are generally mild, and snow rarely falls. Spring opens early in February, with blossoms on the peach and quince trees, and vegetation comes rapidly forward. The heat of summer is moderate, and the unfeeling breezes of the evening refresh man and beast after the labors of the day.

THE SOIL

is very productive, and admirably adapted for raising sugar cane, cotton, oats, corn, rice, peanuts, etc. The vine is indigenous, and yearly bears large harvests of delicious fruit. Oranges, pears, peach, plums, quinces, figs and peaches thrive well.

CATTLE AND SHEEP

graze upon our pine lands throughout the year, and seldom are fed in winter, thus making St. Tammany the stock-growers' home. Farming and stock lands can be purchased at rates varying from $1 to $5 per acre, and Government lands to actual settlers.

WATER POWER.

There is an abundance of water power, already improved, inviting the attention of manufacturers. We have no doubt a small factory, such as already abound in Alabama and Georgia, for the purpose of converting our cotton crop into yarn, would prove a paying investment.

FIRE CLAY

is found in abundance, as well as clays suitable for pottery ware of the very finest texture, purely white, and free from sand or grit. Persons having a practical knowledge of such business would soon realize a fortune in manufacturing and shipping such wares to the New Orleans market.

MANUFACTURE OF GLASS

Sand suitable for the manufacture of glass is also abundant all along the banks of the Egoe Falia, above the town of Covington. It has been practically tested by Pittsburg manufacturers, and found to contain all the necessary properties to produce the finest glassware.

COVINGTON,

the county site, contains about eight hundred inhabitants, and is the best business point in the parish, commanding much of the trade of both St. Tammany and Washington parishes. The mail from New Orleans arrives three times a week, per steamer New Camelia, and there is some talk of building a telegraph line.

At present there is no mill or manufactory of any kind in Covington. Building sites for manufacturing purposes can be had on the most favorable terms, and every facility will be offered for immigrants to this parish.

To all honest and industrious immigrants who may wish to settle in St. Tammany, a hearty welcome is extended and protection guaranteed in their respective occupations.

HEAVEN'S FIRST LAW.—It is absolutely demanded that the mental and physical laws of our nature should be kept in equilibrium. System and order must be recognized as fundamental; any departure entails sickness, disease and death as penalties. To be healthy, beautiful and buoyant, the whole constitution must maintain regular action in all its component parts. A female who imprudently exposes herself and becomes prostrated with headache, pain in the back, fever, irregular or suppressed monthly action, with constipation and loss of appetite, must be restored to regular action, must be revitalized, recuperated at once, and for this purpose nothing equals Dr. Tromgold's ENGLISH FEMALE BITTERS. It is prepared expressly for all such diseases.

NAMING THE BABY.

"I think," said the fond mother, "that as the boy's last name is Brown, it would be better to give him some first name less common than Henry. There are eleven columns of Henry Brown's in the directory."

"Thirteen, darling," said Mr. Brown, "I counted them yesterday. What we want for the baby is a unique first name—a name that will be distinct and peculiar—that will make it possible always to identify him. Isn't that it, dearest?"

"Certainly."

"Well, I have prepared a list from which we can pick. Suppose we skim over it? Let's begin with the twelve tribes of Israel. Are there any among them that you like?"

"I think not."

"How would Gad do? Gad Brown? That would be novel, anyhow."

"But too startling, perhaps."

"Possibly. The others are all rather common. Does Ivanhoe strike you? I rather like Ivanhoe Brown. Or, if we wanted to give him a middle name, we could call him Ivanhoe Alcibiades Brown."

"It is too long; and, besides, I'm not certain I could always spell Alcibiades correctly in marking his underclothing."

"Pintareh, then?"

"Mr. Brown, that's outrageous."

"Outrageous, love! Pintareh! Why, what do you mean?"

"The child of mine shall ever be named after the god of the infernal regions!"

Mr. Brown explained the blunder and passed on. "What do you say then to Galileo? There is not a single Galileo Brown in the directory."

"Was Galileo an Israelite?"

"No, love, I think not."

"I thought from his name perhaps he came from Galilee," said Mrs. Brown, thoughtfully.

Mr. Brown was too much astonished to try to explain. He resumed the reading of his list:

"Peliah is a Scriptural name. Would you care for Peliah Brown?"

"I think not," said Mrs. Brown. "It sounds like an impeachment of the dear child's veracity. I don't think we ought to start him in life with an insinuation that he will be a story-teller."

"It might not be right. Suppose, then, we call him Petrarch?"

"Is that a Bible name?"

"No, love, not a Bible name."

"To be sure not; I was thinking of St. Peter. I think, William, I should prefer an American name of some kind, if we could find one."

Mr. Brown concealed his feelings and turned a new leaf of his list:

"I have a few Aztec names," said he, "that belong on this continent, and that are marked by strong individuality. Tecozonoc, for instance. He was an Aztec king."

"Was his last name Brown?"

"I think not. No. I am certain it wasn't; and there was Nezobualcoyotl; he was a king, too."

"Our child could never put such a name as that on an umbrella handle."

"True," said Mr. Brown. "The king probably had no umbrella. Spotted Tail, however, is a native American name, which—"

"And you would give that name to your child—your own child?"

"I don't know. Spotted Tail Brown might answer for—"

Mrs. Brown suddenly flitted out of the room, with a remark intimating that she was going home to her mother's. After she had got a cry, Mr. Brown looked up his list and agreed to call the child Thomas.

BAILEY'S SALINE APERIENT is now recognized as the best and cheapest, and most pleasant cathartic in use, for the special cure of headache, constipation, heartburn, acid stomach, dyspepsia, etc. It cools and quiets, while as a sparkling summer beverage, it is delightful.
