Woman's Suffering and Relief.

These languid, throbbing sensations, causing you to feel scarcely able to be on your feet; that constant drain that is taking from your system all its former elasticity; driving the bloom from your cheeks; that continual strain upon your vital forces, rendering you irritable and fretful, can easily be removed by the use of that marvelous remedy, Hop Bitters. Irregularities and obstructions of your system are relieved at once, while the special causes of periodical pain are permanently removed. None receive so much benefit, and none are so profoundly grateful, and show such an interest in recommending Hop Bitters as women.

A Postal Card Story.

I was affected with kidney and urinary trouble— "For twelve years" After trying all the doctors and patent medicines I could hear of, I used two bottles of Hop Bitters. And I am perfectly cured. I keep it "All the time" respectfully, B. F. Booth, Salsbury, Tenn.—May 4, 1888.

It has cured me of several diseases, such as nervousness, sickness at the stomach, monthly troubles, etc. I have not seen a sick day for a year, since I took Hop Bitters. All my neighbors use them. Mrs. FANNIE GREEN.

A WILD RIDE FOR LIFE.

How a Man on the Santa Fe Trail Was Snatched as a Brand from the Burning.

Some twenty-four years ago," said an old pioneer, yesterday, "I was in the employ of the Overland Stage Company. Reports came in that the Sioux were on the war-path and had been seen in large numbers near the Santa Fe trail, the route pursued by our stages. I was stationed at the time at Fort Dodge and had a general supervision of the stages and live stock. Feeling somewhat uneasy, as several coaches loaded with passengers and treasure were on the road, I selected one of the best horses in the stable and started west on the trail. The afternoon of the third day, upon reaching top of a low sand dune, I saw at a distance of perhaps three miles at least a score of redskins filling over a small rocky bluff.

"Putting spurs to my animal I started on the dead run, not having much fear but that I could escape. I had not proceeded many miles before a bullet whistled past my ear. This was followed by a perfect volley. At the same moment some cottonwoods several hundred yards to the right seemed suddenly to become perfectly alive with Sioux. Dashing forth with a wild whoop and mounted on fresh horses, while mine was considerably jaded, the distance was soon lessened nearly one-half. Spurring my animal to almost inconceivable efforts I soon had distanced all but three of the murderous gang, who were slowly gaining on me, keeping up an almost constant fire meanwhile. Turning in my saddle I fired at the nearest foe, who rolled from his saddle and his body was hidden in the high grass, which here grew in wild prairie abundance. This caused a momentary pause on the part of the other two, but instantly, however, they were again in full cry.

"At this moment I for the first time became aware of a new danger. I had for some time detected the odor of smoke, and looking up saw the lurid reflection of a prairie fire reflected on the sky. The sun had gone down and the shadows were fast lengthening on the plain. Almost maddened with the terrors of my position, I urged my exhausted animal to the utmost possible speed. Soon the hot breath of the flames seemed to lick my very eyeballs with their fervid tongues. In thinking of this new horror I had almost forgotten the scarcely less terrible Sioux. Glancing hastily over my shoulder I saw that the two Indians were close behind me, evidently thinking that fear of the flames would make me an easy prey.

"I was at this time on the very edge of the ocean of fire, which was hissing and crackling around me with a continuous seething roar. At this moment, upon turning, I discovered one of the redskins immediately at my horse's heels, with tomahawk raised to cleave my skull. As quick as thought I raised my rifle partially and put a bullet through his brain. We were then just within the edge of the flame, and as he fell headlong I could imagine the odor of burning flesh sizzling in the fierce blast. Wrapped in a perfect sheet of fire my maddened animal made a last desperate leap and we both fell. How long I lay there I know not. The sun was high in the heavens when I regained consciousness, and opening my burning eyes I saw a group standing around me. One glance and I saw they were friends.

It was months before I entirely recovered from my terrible burns and the fearful shock my system had sustained from the combined horrors through which I had gone."—Rocky Mountain News.
