CLAY STATUE.—The City Council of New Orleans have decided to let the Clay Statue remain where it is, on Canal street, and cut away the base, so as to allow street cars to pass.

Charles Hudnall and James Cooke had a shooting affray in a New Orleans bar-room last Saturday night, and in ten minutes both were dead. A woman was the cause of it.

SCIENCE TELLS.—It has been a common occurrence for the horse cars to run over lizards, frogs and crawfish, in New Orleans, but last Monday night one of the new electric cars ran over and killed a snake eighteen feet long. Great are the achievements of science.

The Young Men's Business League held a meeting in New Orleans last Monday night, at the suggestion of Gov. Foster, and in a few minutes four carloads of provisions were subscribed, to be sent to the suffering citizens of Nebraska. The Pelican not only feeds its young, but is always ready to assist its neighbors and respond to the call of distress.

The body of a man with a pencil behind his ear, a pair of shoes in his hand, and a pocket full of gold, has been excavated at Pompeii. This shows that there were editors in those days, same as now.

The Richmond Dispatch thinks that the North and South would both be glad to have the field of Appomattox turned into a national park. It says: "Notwithstanding the fact that the army of Lee there surrendered to the army of Grant, ex-Confederates think of Appomattox without shame."

A vibrating helmet for the cure of nervous headaches has been invented by a French Physician. It is constructed of strips of steel, put in vibration by a small electromotor, which makes 600 turns a minute. The sensation, which is described as not unpleasant, produces drowsiness; the patient falls asleep under its influence and awakes to find that the pain has ceased.

The mint is busily coining cents and nickels because they are needed. Much of the need comes from the modern style of price-fixing, which chips a few cents off every dollar. The bargain that offers a rebate is irresistible. But neither bias nor rebates will draw the purchaser without publicity. It is mainly advertising that keeps the small change rattling and makes work for mints. In fact, it is a mint itself, if its coinage facilities be capably handled.—Daily States.

Never before have the advantages of the South for the manufacture of cotton attracted so much attention. The time has passed, too, when the South is content with the manufacture of the coarser grades of cotton. Some of the mills that are to be built in Georgia in the early future will be equipped for the manufacture of the finer cotton fabrics. There is no reason why the South cannot excel in this branch of the industry as she has in that of the lower grades of cotton cloth.—Atlanta Journal.

The effect of American association upon the Oriental mind was illustrated the other night when a well dressed company heard an East Indian denounce Christian missions and ridicule the assertion of a bishop that there were 20,000 more applicants for baptism in India than his sect could baptize. The reply of the Hindoo sounded like a piece of irrelevant American wit. It was in effect: "Send over fire engines and baptize them by wholesale."

The Philadelphia Grand Jury found a true bill of indictment against Charles W. Mowbray, the English Anarchist, charging him with making a seditious speech. Mowbray was arrested last Friday night, after addressing a meeting of Anarchists.

It is to be hoped that the Pennsylvania authorities will deal justly by Mowbray. If they do, he will be compelled to raise the money to pay his passage back to the old country, with instructions to never again disgrace this country with his presence.

POPE'S UTTERANCES RESPECTING SECRECY SOCIETIES INTENDED AS A FELONY.

Minneapolis, Dec. 27.—The Journal prints an interview with a high dignitary of the Catholic Church, who is close to Archbishop Ireland, indicating that the pope's utterance as to the secret societies is by no means mandatory. He points out that in the cardinal's letter these words are used: "This decree is therefore commended to the archbishops and bishops of the United States, and may be by these ordinaries carried into effect." A similar phrase is used in Stoll's letter; all of which the dignitary maintained shows that the decree is really a sort of feeler, intended to test the sentiment of the church and not to be carried out except as each bishop shall determine in his own diocese. He points out that it is the archbishops who really rule the church in America, and that unless they choose to promulgate and effectuate the decree it will be practically a dead letter.

FRANKLIN COURT-HOUSE ROBBED.

A dispatch to the Times-Democrat, from Franklinton, dated Jan. 8, says: Unknown parties entered the office of L. A. Bickham, Clerk of Court, last night, and took therefrom valuable records, consisting of notarial deeds and succession documents. A considerable number of the papers taken were on file awaiting to be recorded. It is supposed that search was being made for papers other than those stolen, possibly those connected with a certain criminal case.

Peter Green, District Master Workman of the Knights of Labor, of Butte City, Montana, who attended the Knights of Labor Convention in New Orleans, last November, has not been seen or heard of since, and foul play is suspected. He was a strong powderly man, and belonged to the minority faction.

PAT EGAN DEAD.

Patrick Egan, an ex-convict, died at Thibodeaux, La., New Year's day. Egan killed George K. Blake in front of Baltz's saloon, No. 4 Royal street, in 1884.

A peculiar circumstance brought out immediately after the killing of Blake by Egan has been commented on in court circles and the public, ever since the commission of the crime. The superstitious incline to the belief that a piece of rope which has served as a hangman's halter brings good luck and prosperity to him who carries it about his person. On the very day of the killing of Blake, Egan, the murderer, had attended an execution at the Parish Prison. Filled with the superstitious idea about the rope, he secured a piece and made great show of it to all his acquaintances. Before the day had ended he had shot and killed a fellow being.

FIVE CENT COTTON.

Egypt and India are planting and producing more cotton every year, and they can hire all the labor necessary to produce and gather it at five cents a day in India and at almost as cheap in Egypt. This cotton comes into competition with the cotton of this country, and as the yield increases in those countries, the price will go down as long as so much is raised in the South. The Egyptian cotton is said to be very fine and long staple and is said to be used very extensively in the manufacture of certain cloths in the place of wool. It has been stated that the cotton factories of the New England States will import a million bales of cotton this year from Egypt and India.—Terrell Times-Star.

The Discovery Saved His Life. Mr. G. Callonette, Druggist, Danversville, Ill., says: "To Dr. King's New Discovery I owe my life. I was taken with La Grippe and tried all the physicians for miles about, but of no avail and was given up and told I could not live. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in my store I sent for a bottle and began to use it and from the first dose began to get better, and after using three bottles was cured and for ever free from the terrible and for ever long the weight in gold. We won't be able to get the use of this medicine. Try it once. Large bottles only fifty cents at W. C. Holst's Drug Store."

FRANKLIN COURT-HOUSE ROBBED.

Mr. W. D. Hollingshead, of New York, the noted counterfeit detector, in a recent interview said: "One of the latest efforts of counterfeiters is to imitate the well-known $2 silver certificates containing the engraving of ex-Secretary Windom. Government officials state that this is one of the most dangerous counterfeiters that has ever been issued. The work is almost perfect. The only difference noticeable are that the red sea is a little fainter in the counterfeit than in the genuine certificate; there appears to be a slight swelling in the check of the counterfeit, and the shading along the collar is not so well defined as the genuine. This counterfeit was first discovered Nov. 23, 1894, in Ohio. I have not heard of it in any other part of the country. While counterfeiting seems to be increasing, there do not appear to be as many attempts as formerly to counterfeit notes of large denomination. This is probably due to the fact that a note of large denomination is likely to be more closely examined than a lesser one. The counterfeiters are keeping up with the times. After the government discarded the parallel threads in its paper money, little silk fibres were scattered all through the paper. The counterfeiters have learned how to make paper like this. Of course the government manufactures its own paper and the counterfeiters could not get their paper from the government, so it would suggest that they have a paper mill somewhere. The only way to detect a counterfeit is to be thoroughly familiar with the genuine note. I think there is too much engraving on our paper money. The best way to prevent counterfeiting is to have clean paper, as little printing as possible and one or two portraits on the note. It is almost impossible to make an exact reproduction of a portrait. I am told that the men who make the government portrait plates cannot produce the same plate a second time. It would be much easier to tell counterfeits if the money was kept new and clean. This could be accomplished if the banks could send all soiled paper money to the government and have it exchanged for new notes without expense to the banks."

Dr. Cathell, of Baltimore, in a recent article in a medical journal recommends all, and especially weak persons, to eat before retiring to sleep. He says: "I am of the opinion that fasting during the long interval between supper and breakfast, and especially the complete emptiness of the stomach during sleep, adds greatly to the amount of emaciation, sleeplessness, and general weakness we so often meet. Physiology teaches that in the body there is a perpetual disintegration of tissue sleeping or waking; it is therefore logical to believe that the supply of nourishment should be somewhat continuous, especially in those who are below par, if we would counteract their emaciation and lower degree of vitality; and as bodily exercise is suspended during sleep, with wear and tear correspondingly diminished, while digestion, assimilation and nutritive activity continue as usual, the food furnished during this period adds more than is destroyed, and increased weight and improved general vigor are the results."

There being no further business, the Board then adjourned till the first Saturday in April 1895.

J. A. SMITH, President. NORMAN FENDLSON, Secretary and Superintendent.

ANTIQUITY OF THE HUMAN RACE.

The Department of State, at Washington, has received a dispatch from Minister Terrell, at Constantinople, announcing the results of American explorations now being conducted at the ruins of Niffer, near ancient Babylon. The expenses of the work are defrayed by an association of Philadelphia gentlemen formed under the name of the "Babylonian Exploration Fund."

The work began in 1886, and, except at occasional intervals, has been actively conducted. Dr. Peters and Prof. Heilprich, of the University of Pennsylvania, began the work, and it is still continued by Dr. Peters. From 150 to 250 Arabs have been constantly employed.

In the number of tablets, bricks, inscribed vases, and in the value of cuneiform texts found, this American enterprise rivals, if it does not excel, in the opinion of the minister, the explorations of Layard at Nineveh and Rassam's excavations at Abu-Hatba.

Prof. Heilprich remains at the museum in Constantinople, at the request of the Turkish government, translating inscriptions and arranging tablets, bowls and vases used from 1,000 to 4,000 years before Christ.

Many tons of tablets, etc. have already been procured, and the enterprise has revealed antiquity for the human race nearly ten centuries older than had before been acknowledged by Biblical students. The report of the minister is very long and full of details of interest to archaeologists.

TWO LITTLE GIRLS IN BLUE.

HIS FIRST CHARGE TO A JURY. A new justice of the peace down in Oklahoma says an ex-charge, in delivering his first charge to a jury, said: "Gentlemen of the jury, charging a jury is new business to me; this is my first case. Gentlemen of the jury, you have heard all the evidence of this case, and you have also heard the arguments of the learned counsel for both the plaintiff and the defendant. Gentlemen of the jury, if you believe what the counsel for the plaintiff has said, your verdict will be for the plaintiff; but if upon the other hand you believe what the counsel for the defendant has said, then you will be for the defendant. But, gentlemen of the jury, if you are like me, and don't believe what either of them has said, then I'll be d—d if I know what you would do. Constable, take charge of the jury."

EFFECT OF SMOKING ON BOYS.

One of the medical journals records the observations of a physician, who has been investigating with great minuteness and accuracy the effects of smoking on boys. He took for this purpose thirty-eight boys from nine to fifteen years, and carefully examined them. In twenty-seven of the number he discovered injurious traces of the habit. In twenty-two there are various disorders of the circulation and digestion, palpitation of the heart, and a more or less taste for strong drink. In twelve of the cases there occurred frequent bleeding of the nose, ten had disturbed sleep, and twelve had slight ulcerations of the mucus membrane of the mouth, which disappeared on ceasing the use of tobacco for some days. The doctor treated them all for weakness, but with little effect, until the smoking was discontinued, when health and strength was restored.
